As soon after the close of each fiscal year as the accounts of said year may be examined and adjusted the auditor shall submit to the Governor General and the Secretary of War an annual report of the fiscal concerns of the government, showing the receipts and disbursements of the various departments and bureaus of the government and of the various Provinces and municipalities, and make such other reports as may be required of him by the Governor General or the Secretary of War.

In the execution of their duties, the auditor and the deputy auditor are authorized to summon witnesses, administer oaths, and to take evidence, and, in the pursuance of these provisions, may issue subpoenas and enforce the attendance of witnesses, as now provided by law.

The office of the auditor shall be under the general supervision of the Governor General and shall consist of the auditor and deputy auditor and such necessary assistants as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 553.]

SEC. 25. [Appeal from action of auditor.] That any person aggrieved by the action or decision of the auditor in the settlement of his account or claim may, within one year, take an appeal in writing to the Governor General, which appeal shall specifically set forth the particular action of the auditor to which exception is taken, with the reason and authorities relied on for reversing such decision.

If the Governor General shall confirm the action of the auditor, he shall so indorse the appeal and transmit it to the auditor, and the action shall thereupon be final and conclusive. Should the Governor General fail to sustain the action of the auditor, he shall forthwith transmit his grounds of disapproval to the Secretary of War, together with the appeal and the papers necessary to a proper understanding of the matter. The decision of the Secretary of War in such case shall be final and conclusive. [39 Stat. L. 554.]

SEC. 26. [Courts — jurisdiction — judges.] That the supreme court and the courts of first instance of the Philippine Islands shall possess and exercise jurisdiction as heretofore provided and such additional jurisdiction as shall hereafter be prescribed by law. The municipal courts of said islands shall possess and exercise jurisdiction as now provided by law, subject in all matters to such alteration and amendment as may be hereafter enacted by law; and the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court shall hereafter be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States. The judges of the court of first instance shall be appointed by the Governor General, by and with the advice and consent of the Philippine Senate: Provided, That the admiralty jurisdiction of the supreme court and courts of first instance shall not be changed except by Act of Congress. That in all cases pending under the operation of existing laws, both criminal and civil, the jurisdiction shall continue until final judgment and determination. [39 Stat. L. 555.]

SEC. 27. [Review by United States Supreme Court of final judgments, etc.] That the Supreme Court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to review, revise, reverse, modify, or affirm the final judgments and decrees of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands in all actions, cases, causes, and proceedings now pending therein or hereafter determined thereby in which the Constitution or any statute, treaty, title, right, or privilege of the United States is involved, or in causes in which the value in controversy exceeds $25,000, or in which the title or possession of real estate exceeding in value the sum of $25,000, to be ascertained by the oath of either party or of other competent witnesses, is involved or brought in question; and such final judgments or decrees may and can be reviewed, revised, reversed, modified, or affirmed by said Supreme Court of the United States on appeal or writ of error by the party aggrieved within the same time, in the same manner, under the same regulations, and by the same procedure, as far as applicable, as the final judgments and decrees of the district courts of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 555.]

SEC. 28. [Franchises, etc.— eminent domain — involuntary servitude.] That the government of the Philippine Islands may grant franchises and rights, including the authority to exercise the right of eminent domain, for the construction and operation of works of public utility and service, and may authorize said works to be constructed and maintained over and across the public property of the United States, including streets, highways, squares, and reservations, and over similar property of the government of said islands, and may adopt rules and regulations under which the provincial and municipal governments of the islands may grant the right to use and occupy such public property belonging to said Provinces or municipalities: Provided, That no private property shall be damaged or taken for any purpose under this section without just compensation, and that such authority to take and occupy land shall not authorize the taking, use, or occupation of any land except such as is required for the actual necessary purposes for which the franchise is granted, and that no franchise or right shall be granted to any individual, firm, or corporation except under the conditions that it shall be subject to amendment, alteration, or repeal by the Congress of the United States, and that lands or right of use and occupation of lands thus granted shall revert to the governments by which they were respectively granted upon the termination of the franchises and rights under which they were granted or upon their revocation or repeal. That all franchises or rights granted under this Act shall forbid the issue of stock or bonds except in exchange for actual cash or for property at a fair valuation equal to the par value of the stock or bonds so issued; shall forbid the declaring of stock or bond dividends, and, in the case of public-service corporations, shall provide for the effective regulation of the charges thereof, for the official inspection and regulation of the books and accounts of such corporations, and for the payment of a reasonable percentage of gross earnings into the treasury of the Philippine Islands or of the Province or municipality within which such franchises are granted and exercised: Provided further, That it shall be unlawful for any corporation organized under this Act, or for any person, company, or corporation receiving any grant, franchise, or concession from the government of said islands, to use, employ, or contract for the labor of persons held in involuntary servitude; and any person, company or corporation so violating the provisions of this Act shall forfeit all charters, grants, or franchises for doing business in said islands, in an action or proceeding brought for that purpose in any court of competent jurisdiction by any officer of the Philippine government, or on the complaint of any citizen of the Philippines, under such regulations and rules as the Philippine Legislature shall prescribe, and in addition shall be deemed guilty of an offense, and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000. [39 Stat. L. 555.]

SEC. 29. [Salaries of officials — amount — payment.] That, except as in this Act otherwise provided, the salaries of all the officials of the Philippines not appointed by the President, including deputies, assistants, and other employees, shall be such and be so paid out of the revenues of the Philippines as shall from time to time be determined by the Philippine Legislature; and if the legislature shall fail to make an appropriation for such salaries, the salaries so fixed shall be paid without the necessity of further appropriations therefor. The salaries of all officers and all expenses of the offices of the various officials of the Philippines appointed as herein provided by the President shall also be paid out of the revenues of the Philippines. The annual salaries of the following-named officials appointed by the President and so to be paid shall be: The Governor General, $18,000; in addition thereto he shall be entitled to the occupancy of the buildings heretofore used by the chief executive of the Philippines, with the furniture and effects therein, free of rental; vice governor, $10,000; chief justice of the supreme court, $8,000; associate justices of the supreme court, $7,500 each; auditor, $6,000; deputy auditor, $3,000. [39 Stat. L. 556.]

SEC. 30. [Payment of salaries of certain officials, etc.] That the provisions of the foregoing section shall not apply to provincial and municipal officials; their salaries and the compensation of their deputies, assistants, and other help, as well as all other expenses incurred by the Provinces and municipalities, shall be paid out of the provincial and municipal revenues in such manner as the Philippine Legislature shall provide. [39 Stat. L. 556.]

SEC. 31. [Continuance of non-conflicting laws.] That all laws or parts of laws applicable to the Philippines not in conflict with any of the provisions of this Act are hereby continued in force and effect. [39 Stat. L. 556.]

[Taxes imposed by Philippine Legislature — ratification.] * * * The taxes imposed by the Philippine Legislature in section fourteen hundred and fifty-nine of the act numbered twenty-seven hundred and eleven, enacted by that body on March tenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, are hereby legalized and ratified, and the collection of all such taxes heretofore or hereafter is legalized, ratified, and confirmed hereby as fully to all intents and purposes as if the same by prior Act of Congress specifically had been authorized and directed. L. 951.][SEC. 1.] [Establishment of civil government—territory affected.]

That the provisions of this Act shall apply to the Island of Porto Rico and to the adjacent islands belonging to the United States, and waters of those islands; and the name Porto Rico as used in this Act shall be held to include not only the island of that name but all the adjacent islands as aforesaid.

*[39 Stat. L. 951.]BILL OF RIGHTS.

SEC. 2. [Enumeration.] That no law shall be enacted in Porto Rico which shall deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, or deny to any person therein the equal protection of the laws.

That in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to have the assistance of counsel for his defense, to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, to have a copy thereof, to have a speedy and public trial, to be confronted with the witnesses against him, and to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor.

That no person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law; and no person for the same offense shall be twice put in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself.

That all persons shall before conviction be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great.

That no law impairing the obligation of contracts shall be enacted.

That no person shall be imprisoned for debt.

That the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in case of rebellion, insurrection, or invasion the public safety may require it, in either of which events the same may be suspended by the President, or by the governor, whenever during such period the necessity for such suspension shall exist.

That no ex post facto law or bill of attainder shall be enacted.

Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use except upon payment of just compensation ascertained in the manner provided by law.

Nothing contained in this Act shall be construed to limit the power of the legislature to enact laws for the protection of the lives, health, or safety of employees.

That no law granting a title of nobility shall be enacted, and no person holding any office of profit or trust under the government of Porto Rico shall, without the consent of the Congress of the United States, accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever from any king, queen, prince, or foreign State, or any officer thereof.

That excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

That the right to be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated.

That no warrant for arrest or search shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

That slavery shall not exist in Porto Rico.

That involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall not exist in Porto Rico.

That no law shall be passed abridging the freedom of speech or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble and petition the Government for redress of grievances.

That no law shall be made respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, and that the free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship without discrimination or preference shall forever be allowed, and that no political or religious test other than an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the laws of Porto Rico shall be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the government of Porto Rico.

That no public money or property shall ever be appropriated, applied, donated, used, directly or indirectly, for the use, benefit, or support of any sect, church, denomination, sectarian institution or association, or system of religion, or for the use, benefit, or support of any priest, preacher, minister, or other religious teacher or dignitary as such, or for charitable, industrial, educational, or benevolent purposes to any person, corporation, or community not under the absolute control of Porto Rico. Contracting of polygamous or plural marriages hereafter is prohibited.

That one year after the approval of this Act and thereafter it shall be unlawful to import, manufacture, sell, or give away, or to expose for sale or gift any intoxicating drink or drug: Provided, That the legislature may authorize and regulate importation, manufacture, and sale of said liquors and drugs for medicinal, sacramental, industrial, and scientific uses only. The penalty for violations of this provision with reference to intoxicants shall be a fine of not less than $25 for the first offense, and for second and subsequent offenses a fine of not less than $50 and imprisonment for not less than one month or more than one year: And provided further, That at any general election within five years after the approval of this Act this provision may, upon petition of not less than ten per centum of the qualified electors of Porto Rico, be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of Porto Rico, and if a majority of all the qualified electors of Porto Rico voting upon such question shall vote to repeal this provision it shall thereafter not be in force and effect; otherwise it shall be in full force and effect.

That no money shall be paid out of the treasury except in pursuance of an appropriation by law, and on warrant drawn by the proper officer in pursuance thereof.

That the rule of taxation in Porto Rico shall be uniform.

That all money derived from any tax levied or assessed for a special purpose shall be treated as a special fund in the Treasury and paid out for such purpose only except upon the approval of the President of the United States.

That eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all cases of employment of laborers and mechanics by and on behalf of the government of the island on public works, except in cases of emergency.

That the employment of children under the age of fourteen years in any occupation injurious to health or morals or hazardous to life or limb is hereby prohibited. [39 Stat. L. 951.]

SEC. 3. [Export duties — taxes and assessments — internal revenue — public indebtedness — bonds — exemption from taxation.] That no export duties shall be levied or collected on exports from Porto Rico, but taxes and assessments on property, internal revenue, and license fees, and royalties for franchises, privileges, and concessions may be imposed for the purposes of the insular and municipal governments, respectively, as may be provided and defined by the Legislature of Porto Rico; and when necessary to anticipate taxes and revenues, bonds and other obligations may be issued by Porto Rico or any municipal government therein as may be provided by law, and to protect the public credit: Provided, however, That no public indebtedness of Porto Rico or of any subdivision or municipality thereof shall be authorized or allowed in excess of seven per centum of the aggregate tax valuation of its property, and all bonds issued by the government of Porto Rico, or by its authority, shall be exempt from taxation by the Government of the United States, or by the government of Porto Rico or of any political or municipal subdivision thereof, or by any State, or by any county, municipality, or other municipal subdivision of any State or Territory of the United States, or by the District of Columbia. In computing the indebtedness of the people of Porto Rico, bonds issued by the people of Porto Rico secured by an equivalent amount of bonds of municipal corporations or school boards of Porto Rico shall not be counted. [39 Stat. L. 953.]

SEC. 4. [Capital.] That the capital of Porto Rico shall be at the city of San Juan, and the seat of government shall be maintained there. [39 Stat. L. 953.]

SEC. 5. [Citizenship.] That all citizens of Porto Rico, as defined by section seven of the Act of April twelfth, nineteen hundred, "temporarily to provide revenues and a civil government for Porto Rico, and for other other purposes," and all natives of Porto Rico who were temporarily absent from that island on April eleventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, and have since returned and are permanently residing in that island, and are not citizens of any foreign country, are hereby declared, and shall be deemed and held to be, citizens of the United States: Provided, That any person hereinbefore described may retain his present political status by making a declaration, under oath, of his decision to do so within six months of the taking effect of this Act before the district court in the district in which he resides, the declaration to be in form as follows:

"I, _____, being duly sworn, hereby declare my intention not to become a citizen of the United States as provided in the Act of Congress conferring United States citizenship upon citizens of Porto Rico and certain natives permanently residing in said island."

In the case of any such person who may be absent from the island during said six months the term of this proviso may be availed of by transmitting a declaration, under oath, in the form herein provided within six months of the taking effect of this Act to the executive secretary of Porto Rico: And provided further, That any person who is born in Porto Rico of an alien parent and is permanently residing in that island may, if of full age, within six months of the taking effect of this Act, or if a minor, upon reaching his majority or within one year thereafter, make a sworn declaration of allegiance to the United States before the United States District Court for Porto Rico, setting forth therein all the facts connected with his or her birth and residence in Porto Rico and accompanying due proof thereof, and from and after the making of such declaration shall be considered to be a citizen of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 953.]

For the Act of April 12, 1900, ch. 191, § 7, mentioned in the text, see 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. 765; 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1263.

SEC. 6. [Expenses for government, etc.—payment.] That all expenses that may be incurred on account of the government of Porto Rico for salaries of officials and the conduct of their offices and departments, and all expenses and obligations contracted for the internal improvement or development of the island, not, however, including defenses, barracks, harbors, lighthouses, buoys, and other works undertaken by the United States, shall, except as otherwise specifically provided by the Congress, be paid by the treasurer of Porto Rico out of the revenue in his custody. [39 Stat. L. 954.]

SEC. 7. [Property of United States and Porto Rico — control and disposition.] That all property which may have been acquired in Porto Rico by the United States under the cession of Spain in the treaty of peace entered into on the tenth day of December, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, in any public bridges, road houses, water powers, highways, unavigable streams and the beds thereof, subterranean waters, mines or minerals under the surface of private lands, all property which at the time of the cession belonged, under the laws of Spain then in force, to the various harbor works boards of Porto Rico, all the harbor shores, docks, slips, reclaimed lands, and all public lands and buildings not heretofore reserved by the United States for public purposes, is hereby placed under the control of the government of Porto Rico, to be administered for the benefit of the people of Porto Rico; and the Legislature of Porto Rico shall have authority, subject to the limitations imposed upon all its acts, to legislate with respect to all such matters as it may deem advisable: Provided, That the President may from time to time, in his discretion, convey to the people of Porto Rico such lands, buildings, or interests in lands or other property now owned by the United States and within the territorial limits of Porto Rico as in his opinion are no longer needed for purposes of the United States. And he may from time to time accept by legislative grant from Porto Rico any lands, buildings, or other interests or property which may be needed for public purposes by the United States. [39 Stat. L. 954.]

SEC. 8. [Waters and islands — control and administration — former Act repealed.] That the harbor areas and navigable streams and bodies of water and submerged lands underlying the same in and around the island of Porto Rico and the adjacent islands and waters, now owned by the United States and not reserved by the United States for public purposes, be, and the same are hereby, placed under the control of the government of Porto Rico, to be administered in the same manner and subject to the same limitations as the property enumerated in the preceding section: Provided, That all laws of the United States for the protection and improvement of the navigable waters of the United States and the preservation of the interests of navigation and commerce, except so far as the same may be locally inapplicable, shall apply to said island and waters and to its adjacent islands and waters: Provided further, That nothing in this Act contained shall be construed so as to affect or impair in any manner the terms or conditions of any authorizations, permits, or other powers heretofore lawfully granted or exercised in or in respect of said waters and submerged lands in and surrounding said islands and its adjacent island by the Secretary of War or other authorized officer or agent of the United States: And provided further, That the Act of Congress approved June eleventh, nineteen hundred and six, entitled "An Act to empower the Secretary of War, under certain restrictions, to authorize the construction, extension, and maintenance of wharves, piers, and other structures on lands underlying harbor areas in navigable streams and bodies of water in or surrounding Porto Rico and the islands adjacent thereto," and all other laws and parts of laws in conflict with this section be, and the same are hereby, repealed. [39 Stat. L. 954.]

For the Act of June 11, 1906, ch. 3075, repealed by this section, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 516; 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1282.

SEC. 9. [Statutory laws of United States — applicability to Porto Rico — taxes under internal revenue laws — disposition.] That the statutory laws of the United States not locally inapplicable, except as hereinbefore or hereinafter otherwise provided, shall have the same force and effect in Porto Rico as in the United States, except the internal-revenue laws: Provided, however, That hereafter all taxes collected under the internal-revenue laws of the United States on articles produced in Porto Rico and transported to the United States, or consumed in the island shall be covered into the treasury of Porto Rico. [39 Stat. L. 954.]

SEC. 10. [Judicial process — criminal prosecutions by whom conducted — officials — qualifications.] That all judicial process shall run in the name of “United States of America, ss, the President of the United States,” and all penal or criminal prosecutions in the local courts shall be conducted in the name and by the authority of “The People of Porto Rico”; and all officials shall be citizens of the United States, and, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices, shall take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the laws of Porto Rico. [39 Stat. L. 954.]

SEC. 11. [Reports to United States — designation of department in United States to handle Porto Rican matters.] That all reports required by law to be made by the governor or heads of departments to any official of the United States shall hereafter be made to an executive department of the Government of the United States to be designated by the President, and the President is hereby authorized to place all matters pertaining to the government of Porto Rico in the jurisdiction of such department. [39 Stat. L. 955.]

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 12. [Governor — appointment, etc.— duties.] That the supreme executive power shall be vested in an executive officer, whose official title shall be “The Governor of Porto Rico.” He shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and hold his office at the pleasure of the President and until his successor is chosen and qualified. The governor shall reside in Porto Rico during his official incumbency and maintain his office at the seat of government. He shall have general supervision and control of all the departments and bureaus of the government in Porto Rico, so far as is not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, and shall be commander in chief of the militia. He may grant pardons and reprieves and remit fines and forfeitures for offenses against the laws of Porto Rico, and respites for all offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the President can be ascertained, and may veto any legislation enacted as hereinafter provided. He shall commission all officers that he may be authorized to appoint. He shall be responsible for the faithful execution of the laws of Porto Rico and of the United States applicable to Porto Rico, and whenever it becomes necessary he may call upon the commanders of the military and naval forces of the United States in the island, or summon the posse comitatus, or call out the militia to prevent or suppress lawless violence, invasion, insurrection, or rebellion, and he may, in case of rebellion or invasion, or imminent danger thereof, when the public safety requires it, suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus, or place the island, or any part thereof, under martial law until communication can be had with the President and the President's decision therein made known. He shall annually, and at such other times as he may be required, make official report of the transactions of the government of Porto Rico to the executive department of the Government of the United States to be designated by the President as herein provided, and his said annual report shall be transmitted to Congress, and he shall perform such additional duties and functions as may in pursuance of law be delegated to him by the President. [39 Stat. L. 955.]

SEC. 13. [Executive departments — creation — enumeration — council — duties.] That the following executive departments are hereby created: A department of justice, the head of which shall be designated as the attorney general; a department of finance, the head of which shall be designated as the treasurer; a department of interior, the head of which shall be designated as the commissioner of the interior; a department of education, the head of which shall be designated as the commissioner of education; a department of agriculture and labor, the head of which shall be designated as the commissioner of agriculture and labor; and a department of health, the head of which shall be designated as the commissioner of health. The attorney general and the commissioner of education shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, to hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President. The heads of the four remaining departments shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of Porto Rico. The heads of departments appointed by the governor shall hold office for the term of four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the governor.

Heads of departments shall reside in Porto Rico during their official incumbency, and those appointed by the governor shall have resided in Porto Rico for at least one year prior to their appointment.

The heads of departments shall collectively form a council to the governor, known as the executive council. They shall perform under the general supervision of the governor the duties hereinafter prescribed, or which may hereafter be prescribed by law and such other duties, not inconsistent with law, as the governor, with the approval of the President, may assign to them; and they shall make annual and such other reports to the governor as he may require, which shall be transmitted to the executive department of the Government of the United States to be designated by the President as herein provided: Provided, That the duties herein imposed upon the heads of departments shall not carry with them any additional compensation. [39 Stat. L. 955.]

SEC. 14. [Attorney general — duties.] That the attorney general shall have charge of the administration of justice in Porto Rico; he shall be the legal adviser of the governor and the heads of departments and shall be responsible for the proper representation of the people of Porto Rico or its duly constituted officers in all actions and proceedings, civil or criminal, in the Supreme Court of Porto Rico in which the people of Porto Rico shall be interested or a party, and he may, if directed by the governor or if in his judgment the public interest requires it, represent the people of Porto Rico or its duly constituted officers in any other court or before any other officer or board in any action or proceeding, civil or criminal, in which the people of Porto Rico may be a party or be interested. He shall also perform such other duties not inconsistent herewith as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 956.]

SEC. 15. [Treasurer — qualification — duties — depositaries of government.] That the treasurer shall give bond, approved as to form by the attorney general of Porto Rico, in such sum as the legislature may require, not less, however, than the sum of $125,000, with surety or sureties approved by the governor, and he shall collect and be the custodian of public funds, and shall disburse the same in accordance with law, on warrants signed by the auditor and countersigned by the governor, and perform such other duties as may be provided by law. He may designate banking institutions in Porto Rico and the United States as depositaries of the government of Porto Rico, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the governor, after they have filed with him satisfactory evidence of their sound financial condition and have deposited bonds of the United States or of the government of Porto Rico or other security satisfactory to the governor in such amounts as may be indicated by him; and no banking institution shall be designated a depository of the government of Porto Rico until the foregoing conditions have been complied with. Interest on deposits shall be required and paid into the treasury. [39 Stat. L. 956.]

SEC. 16. [Commissioner of interior — duties.] That the commissioner of the interior shall superintend all works of a public nature, have charge of all public buildings, grounds, and lands, except those belonging to the United States, and shall execute such requirements as may be imposed by law with respect thereto, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 956.]

SEC. 17. [Commissioner of education — duties.] That the commissioner of education shall superintend public instruction throughout Porto Rico; all proposed disbursements on account thereof must be approved by him, and all courses of study shall be prepared by him, subject to disapproval by the governor if he desires to act. He shall prepare rules governing the selection of teachers, and appointments of teachers by local school boards shall be subject to his approval, and he shall perform such other duties, not inconsistent with this Act, as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 956.]

SEC. 18. [Commissioner of agriculture and labor — duties.] That the commissioner of agriculture and labor shall have general charge of such bureaus and branches of government as have been or shall be legally constituted for the study, advancement, and benefit of agricultural and other industries, the chief purpose of this department being to foster, promote, and develop the agricultural interests and the welfare of the wage earners of Porto Rico, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment, and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 957.]

SEC. 19. [Commissioner of health — duties.] That the commissioner of health shall have general charge of all matters relating to public health, sanitation, and charities, except such as relate to the conduct of maritime quarantine, and shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 957.]

SEC. 20. [Auditor — appointment — salary — duties — decisions.] That there shall be appointed by the President an auditor, at an annual salary of $5,000, for a term of four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified, who shall examine, audit, and settle all accounts pertaining to the revenues and receipts, from whatever source, of the government of Porto Rico and of the municipal governments of Porto Rico, including public trust funds and funds derived from bond issues; and audit, in accordance with law and administrative regulations, all expenditures of funds or property pertaining to or held in trust by the government of Porto Rico or the municipalities or dependencies thereof. He shall perform a like duty with respect to all government branches.

He shall keep the general accounts of the government and preserve the vouchers pertaining thereto.

It shall be the duty of the auditor to bring to the attention of the proper administrative officer expenditures of funds or property which, in his opinion, are irregular, unnecessary, excessive, or extravagant.

In case of vacancy or of the absence from duty, from any cause, of the auditor, the Governor of Porto Rico may designate an assistant, who shall have charge of the office.

The jurisdiction of the auditor over accounts, whether of funds or property, and all vouchers and records pertaining thereto, shall be exclusive. With the approval of the governor, he shall from time to time make and promulgate general or special rules and regulations not inconsistent with law covering the methods of accounting for public funds and property, and funds and property held in trust by the government or any of its branches: Provided, That any officer accountable for public funds or property may require such additional reports or returns from his subordinates or others as he may deem necessary for his own information and protection.

The decisions of the auditor shall be final, except that appeal therefrom may be taken by the party aggrieved or the head of the department concerned within one year, in the manner hereinafter prescribed. The auditor shall, except as hereinafter provided, have like authority as that conferred by the law upon the several auditors of the United States and the Comptroller of the United States Treasury, and is authorized to communicate directly with any person having claims before him for settlement, or with any department, officer, or person having official relations with his office.

an annual report of the fiscal concerns of the government, showing the receipts and disbursements of the various departments and bureaus of the government and of the various municipalities, and make such other reports as may be required of him by the governor or the head of the executive department of the Government of the United States, to be designated by the President as herein provided.

In the execution of his duties the auditor is authorized to summon witnesses, administer oaths, and to take evidence, and, in the pursuance of these provisions, may issue subpoenas and enforce the attendance of witnesses.

The office of the auditor shall be under the general supervision of the governor and shall consist of the auditor and such necessary assistants as may be prescribed by law. [39 Stat. L. 957.]

SEC. 21. [Appeal from decision of auditor.] That any person aggrieved by the action or decision of the auditor in the settlement of his account or claim may, within one year, take an appeal in writing to the governor, which appeal shall specifically set forth the particular action of the auditor to which exception is taken, with the reason and authorities relied on for reversing such decision. The decision of the governor in such case shall be final, subject to such right of action as may be otherwise provided by law. [39 Stat. L. 958.]

SEC. 22. [Executive secretary — appointment, salary, etc.— duties — vacancy.] That there shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of Porto Rico, an executive secretary at an annual salary of $4,000, who shall record and preserve the minutes and proceedings of the public service commission hereinafter provided for and the laws enacted by the legislature and all acts and proceedings of the governor, and promulgate all proclamations and orders of the governor and all laws enacted by the legislature, and until otherwise provided by the legislature of Porto Rico perform all the duties of secretary of Porto Rico as now provided by law, except as otherwise specified in this Act, and perform such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Governor of Porto Rico. In the event of a vacancy in the office, or the absence, illness, or temporary disqualification of such officer, the governor shall designate some officer or employee of the government to discharge the functions of said office during such vacancy, absence, illness, or temporary disqualification. [39 Stat. L. 958.]

SEC. 23. [Copies of laws enacted by legislature — transmission to United States government.] That the Governor of Porto Rico, within sixty days after the end of each session of the legislature, shall transmit to the executive department of the Government of the United States, to be designated as herein provided for, which shall in turn, transmit the same to the Congress of the United States, copies of all laws enacted during the session. [39 Stat. L. 958.]

SEC. 24. [Vacancy in office of governor — how filled.] That the President may from time to time designate the head of an executive department of Porto Rico to act as governor in the case of a vacancy, the temporary removal, resignation, or disability of the governor, or his temporary absence, and the head of the department thus designated shall exercise all the powers and perform all the duties of the governor during such vacancy, disability, or absence. [39 Stat. L. 958.]

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 25. [Legislative powers — where vested.] That all local legislative powers in Porto Rico, except as herein otherwise provided, shall be vested in a legislature which shall consist of two houses, one the senate and the other the house of representatives, and the two houses shall be designated “the Legislature of Porto Rico.” [39 Stat. L. 958.]

SEC. 26. [Senate — number and term of members — qualifications — powers.] That the Senate of Porto Rico shall consist of nineteen members elected for terms of four years by the qualified electors of Porto Rico. Each of the seven senatorial districts defined as hereinafter provided shall have the right to elect two senators, and in addition thereto there shall be elected five senators at large. No person shall be a member of the Senate of Porto Rico who is not over thirty years of age, and who is not able to read and write either the Spanish or English language, and who has not been a resident of Porto Rico for at least two consecutive years, and, except in the case of senators at large, an actual resident of the senatorial district from which chosen for a period of at least one year prior to his election. Except as herein otherwise provided, the Senate of Porto Rico shall exercise all of the purely legislative powers and functions heretofore exercised by the Executive Council, including confirmation of appointments; but appointments made while the senate is not in session shall be effective either until disapproved or until the next adjournment of the senate for the session. In electing the five senators at large each elector shall be permitted to vote for but one candidate, and the five candidates receiving the largest number of votes shall be declared elected. [39 Stat. L. 958.]

SEC. 27. [House of Representatives — number and terms of members — qualifications.] That the House of Representatives of Porto Rico shall consist of thirty-nine members elected quadrennially by the qualified electors of Porto Rico, as hereinafter provided. Each of the representative districts hereinafter provided for shall have the right to elect one representative, and in addition thereto there shall be elected four representatives at large. No person shall be a member of the house of representatives who is not over twenty-five years of age, and who is not able to read and write either the Spanish or English language, except in the case of representative at large, who has not been a bona fide resident of the district from which elected for at least one year prior to his election. In electing the four representatives at large, each elector shall be permitted to vote for but one candidate and the four candidates receiving the largest number of votes shall be elected. [39 Stat. L. 959.]

SEC. 28. [Election districts.] That for the purpose of elections hereafter to the legislature the island of Porto Rico shall be divided into thirty-five representative districts, composed of contiguous and compact territory and established, so far as practicable, upon the basis of equal population. The division into and the demarcation of such districts shall be made by the Executive Council of Porto Rico. Division of districts shall be made as nearly as practicable to conform to the topographical nature of the land, with regard to roads and others means of communication and to natural barriers. Said Executive Council shall also divide the island of Porto Rico into seven senatorial districts, each composed of five contiguous and compact representative districts. They shall make their report within thirty days after the approval of this Act, which report, when approved by the governor, shall be final. [39 Stat. 959.]

SEC. 29. [Elections — time of holding — officers chosen.] That the next election in Porto Rico shall be held in the year nineteen hundred and seventeen upon the sixteenth day of July. At such election there shall be chosen senators, representatives, a Resident Commissioner to the United States, and two public-service commissioners, as herein provided. Thereafter the elections shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning with the year nineteen hundred and twenty, and every four years thereafter, and the terms of office of all municipal officials who have heretofore been elected and whose terms would otherwise expire at the beginning of the year nineteen hundred and nineteen are hereby extended until the officials who may be elected to fill such offices in nineteen hundred and twenty shall have been duly qualified. Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit the right of the Legislature of Porto Rico at any time to revise the boundaries of senatorial and representative districts and of any municipality, or to abolish any municipality and the officers provided therefor. [39 Stat. L. 959.]

SEC. 30. [Senators and representatives — term of office — vacancies — appointment to other office.] That the term of office of senators and representatives chosen by the first general election shall be until January first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and the terms of office of senators and representatives chosen at subsequent elections shall be four years from the second of January following their election. In case of vacancy among the members of the senate or in the house of representatives, special elections may be held in the districts wherein such vacancy occurred, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, but senators or representatives elected in such cases shall hold office only for the unexpired portion of the term wherein the vacancy occurred, and no senator or representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under the government of Porto Rico, nor be appointed to any office created by Act of the legislature during the time for which he shall have been elected until two years after his term of office shall have expired. [39 Stat. L. 959.]

rate of $7 per day for the first ninety days of each regular session and $1 per day for each additional day of such session while in session, and mileage for each session at the rate of 10 cents per kilometer for each kilometer actually and necessarily traveled in going from their legislative districts to the capital and therefrom to their place of residence in their districts by the usual routes of travel. [39 Stat. L. 960.]

SEC. 32. [Senate and house as sole judges, etc., of qualifications of members, etc.—time and place of convening—organization.] That the senate and house of representatives, respectively, shall be the sole judges of the elections, returns, and qualifications of their members, and they shall have and exercise all the powers with respect to the conduct of their proceedings that usually pertain to parliamentary legislative bodies. Both houses shall convene at the capital on the second Monday in February following the next election, and organize by the election of a speaker or a presiding officer, a clerk, and a sergeant at arms for each house, and such other officers and assistants as may be required. [39 Stat. L. 960.]

SEC. 33. [Regular and special sessions.] That the first regular session of the Legislature of Porto Rico, provided for by this Act, shall convene on the twenty-eighth day after the first election provided for herein, and regular sessions of the legislature shall be held biennially thereafter, convening on the second Monday in February of the year nineteen hundred and nineteen, and on the second Monday in February of each second year thereafter. The governor may call special sessions of the legislature or of the senate at any time when in his opinion the public interest may require it, but no special session shall continue longer than ten days, not including Sundays and holidays, and no legislation shall be considered at such session other than that specified in the call, and he shall call the senate in special session at least once each year on the second Monday in February of those years in which a regular session of the legislature is not provided for. [39 Stat. L. 960.]

SEC. 34. [Powers and duties of legislature—procedure—bribery of members—appropriations—payment.] That the enacting clause of the laws shall be as to acts, "Be it enacted by the Legislature of Porto Rico," and as to joint resolutions, "Be it resolved by the Legislature of Porto Rico." Except as hereinafter provided, bills and joint resolutions may originate in either house. The governor shall submit at the opening of each regular session of the legislature a budget of receipts and expenditures, which shall be the basis of the ensuing biennial appropriation bill. No bill shall become a law until it be passed in each house by a majority yea-and-nay vote of all of the members belonging to such house and entered upon the journal and be approved by the governor within ten days thereafter. If when a bill that has been passed is presented to the governor for his signature he approves the same, he shall sign it; or if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which house shall enter his objections at large on its journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of all the members of that house shall agree to pass the same it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of all the members of that house, it shall be sent to the governor, who, in case he shall then not approve, shall transmit the same to the President of the United States. The vote of each house shall be by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against shall be entered on the journal. If the President of the United States approve the same he shall sign it and it shall become a law. If he shall not approve same he shall return it to the governor so stating, and it shall not become a law: Provided, That the President of the United States shall approve or disapprove an Act submitted to him under the provisions of this section within ninety days from and after its submission for his approval; and if not approved within such time it shall become a law the same as if it had been specifically approved. If any bill presented to the governor contains several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, or any part or parts, portion or portions thereof, while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items, parts or portions thereof to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, it shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the legislature by adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall be a law if signed by the governor within thirty days after receipt by him; otherwise it shall not be a law. All laws enacted by the Legislature of Porto Rico shall be reported to the Congress of the United States, as provided in section twenty-three of this Act, which hereby reserves the power and authority to annul the same. If at the termination of any fiscal year the appropriations necessary for the support of the government for the ensuing fiscal year shall not have been made, the several sums appropriated in the last appropriation bills for the objects and purposes therein specified, so far as the same may be applicable, shall be deemed to be reappropriated item by item; and until the legislature shall act in such behalf the treasurer may, with the advice of the governor, make the payments necessary for the purposes aforesaid.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and may, in its discretion, from time to time publish the same, and the yeas and nays on any question shall, on the demand of one-fifth of the members present, be entered on the journal.

The sessions of each house and of the committees of the whole shall be open.

Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

No laws shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so altered or amended on its passage through either house as to change its original purpose.

No act of the legislature except the general appropriation bills for the expenses of the government shall take effect until ninety days after its passage, unless in case of emergency (which shall be expressed in the preamble or body of the act) the legislature shall by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house otherwise direct. No bill, except the general appropriation bill for the expenses of the government only, introduced in either house of the legislature after the first forty days of the session, shall become a law.

No bill shall be considered or become a law unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom, and printed for the use of the members: Provided, That either house may by a majority vote discharge a committee from the consideration of a measure and bring it before the body for consideration.

No bill, except general appropriation bills, shall be passed containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title; but if any subject shall be embraced in any act which shall not be expressed in the title, such act shall be void only as to so much thereof as shall not be so expressed.

No law shall be revived, or amended, or the provisions thereof extended or conferred by reference to its title only, but so much thereof as is revived, amended, extended, or conferred shall be reenacted and published at length.

The presiding officer of each house shall, in the presence of the house over which he presides, sign all bills and joint resolutions passed by the legislature, after their titles shall have been publicly read, immediately before signing; and the fact of signing shall be entered on the journal.

The legislature shall prescribe by law the number, duties, and compensation of the officers and employees of each house; and no payment shall be made for services to the legislature from the treasury, or be in any way authorized to any person, except to an acting officer or employee elected or appointed in pursuance of law.

No bill shall be passed giving any extra compensation to any public officer, servant or employee, agent or contractor, after services shall have been rendered or contract made.

Except as otherwise provided in this Act, no law shall extend the term of any public officer, or increase or diminish his salary or emoluments after his election or appointment, nor permit any officer or employee to draw compensation for more than one office or position.

All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as in case of other bills.

The general appropriation bill shall embrace nothing but appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the executive, legislative, and judicial departments, interest on the public debt, and for public schools. All other appropriations shall be made by separate bills, each embracing but one subject.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of both houses may be necessary, except on the question of adjournment, or relating solely to the transaction of business of the two houses, shall be presented to the governor, and before it shall take effect be approved by him, or, being disapproved, shall be repassed by two-thirds of both houses, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Any person who shall, directly, or indirectly, offer, give, or promise any money or thing of value, testimonial, privilege, or personal advantage to any executive or judicial officer or member of the legislature to influence him in the performance of any of his public or official duties, shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both.

The offense of corrupt solicitation of members of the legislature, or of public officers of Porto Rico, or of any municipal division thereof, and any occupation or practice of solicitation of such members or officers to influence their official action, shall be defined by law, and shall be punished by fine and imprisonment.

In case the available revenues of Porto Rico for any fiscal year, including available surplus in the insular treasury, are insufficient to meet all the appropriations made by the legislature for such year, such appropriations shall be paid in the following order, unless otherwise directed by the governor:

First class. The ordinary expenses of the legislative, executive, and judicial departments of the State government, and interest on any public debt, shall first be paid in full.

Second class. Appropriations for all institutions, such as the penitentiary, insane asylum, industrial school, and the like, where the inmates are confined involuntarily, shall next be paid in full.

Third class. Appropriations for education and educational and charitable institutions shall next be paid in full.

Fourth class. Appropriations for any other officer or officers, bureaus or boards, shall next be paid in full.

Fifth class. Appropriations for all other purposes shall next be paid.

That in case there are not sufficient revenues for any fiscal year, including available surplus in the insular treasury, to meet in full the appropriations of said year for all of the said classes of appropriations, then said revenues shall be applied to the classes in the order above named, and if, after the payment of the prior classes in full, there are not sufficient revenues for any fiscal year to pay in full the appropriations for that year for the next class, then, in that event, whatever there may be to apply on account of appropriations for said class shall be distributed among said appropriations pro rata according as the amount of each appropriation of that class shall bear to the total amount of all of said appropriations for that class for such fiscal year.

No appropriation shall be made, nor any expenditure authorized by the legislature, whereby the expenditure of the Government of Porto Rico during any fiscal year shall exceed the total revenue then provided for by law and applicable for such appropriation or expenditure, including any available surplus in the treasury, unless the legislature making such appropriation shall provide for levying a sufficient tax to pay such appropriation or expenditure within such fiscal year. [39 Stat. L. 960.]

SEC. 35. [Qualified electors.] That at the first election held pursuant to this Act the qualified electors shall be those having the qualifications of voters under the present law. Thereafter voters shall be citizens of the United States twenty-one years of age or over and have such additional qualifications as may be prescribed by the legislature of Porto Rico: Provided: That no property qualification shall ever be imposed upon or required of any voter. [39 Stat. L. 963.]

SEC. 36. [Resident commissioner to United States.] That the qualified electors of Porto Rico shall at the next general election choose a Resident Commissioner to the United States, whose term of office shall begin on the date of the issuance of his certificate of election and shall continue until the fourth of March, nineteen hundred and twenty-one. At each subsequent election, beginning with the year nineteen hundred and twenty, the qualified electors of Porto Rico shall choose a Resident Commissioner to the United States, whose term of office shall be four years from the fourth of March following such general election, and who shall be entitled to receive official recognition as such Commissioner by all of the departments of the Government of the United States, upon presentation, through the Department of State, of a certificate of election of the Governor of Porto Rico. The Resident Commissioner shall receive a salary, payable monthly by the United States, of $7,500 per annum. Such Commissioner shall be allowed the same sum for stationery and for the pay of necessary clerk hire as is now allowed to Members of the House of Representatives of the United States; and he shall be allowed the sum of $500 as mileage for each session of the House of Representatives and the franking privilege granted Members of Congress. No person shall be eligible to election as Resident Commissioner who is not a bona fide citizen of the United States and who is not more than twenty-five years of age, and who does not read and write the English language. In case of a vacancy in the office of Resident Commissioner by death, resignation, or otherwise, the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint a Resident Commissioner to fill the vacancy, who shall serve until the next general election and until his successor is elected and qualified. [39 Stat. L. 963.]

SEC. 37. [Legislative authority.] That the legislative authority herein provided shall extend to all matters of a legislative character not locally inapplicable, including power to create, consolidate, and reorganize the municipalities so far as may be necessary, and to provide and repeal laws and ordinances therefor; also the power to alter, amend, modify, or repeal any or all laws and ordinances of every character now in force in Porto Rico or municipality or district thereof in so far as such alteration, amendment, modification, or repeal may be consistent with the provisions of this Act. No executive department not provided for in this Act shall be created by the legislature, but the legislature may consolidate departments, or abolish any department, with the consent of the President of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 964.]

SEC. 38. [Franchises, rights and privileges — public service commission — interstate commerce — carriers.] That all grants of franchises, rights, and privileges of a public or quasi public nature shall be made by a public-service commission, consisting of the heads of executive departments, the auditor, and two commissioners to be elected by the qualified voters at the first general election to be held under this Act, and at each subsequent general election thereafter. The terms of said elective commissioners elected at the first general election shall commence on the twenty-eighth day following the said general election, and the terms of the said elective commissioners elected at each subsequent general election shall commence on the second day of January following their election; they shall serve for four years and until their successors are elected and qualified. Their compensation shall be $8 for each day's attendance on the sessions of the commission, but in no case shall they receive more than $400 each during any one year. The said commission is also empowered and directed to discharge all the executive functions relating to public-service corporations heretofore conferred by law upon the executive council. Franchises, rights, and privileges granted by the said commission shall not be effective until approved by the governor, and shall be reported to Congress, which hereby reserves the power to annul or modify the same.

The interstate-commerce Act and the several amendments made or to be made thereto, the safety-appliance Acts and the several amendments made or to be made thereto, and the Act of Congress entitled "An Act to amend an Act entitled 'An Act to regulate commerce,' approved February fourth, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, and all Acts amendatory thereof, by providing for a valuation of the several classes of property of carriers subject thereto and securing information concerning their stocks, bonds, and other securities," approved March first, nineteen hundred and thirteen, shall not apply to Porto Rico.

The Legislative Assembly of Porto Rico is hereby authorized to enact laws relating to the regulation of the rates, tariffs, and service of public carriers by rail in Porto Rico, and the Public-Service Commission hereby created shall have power to enforce such laws under appropriate regulation. [39 Stat. L. 964.]

For the Interstate Commerce Act and the several amendments thereto, mentioned in the text, see 3 Fed. Stat. Ann. 808 and Supplements, and 4 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 331.

For the Safety Appliance Acts and the various amendments thereto, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 718 and Supplements, and 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1155.

For the Act of March 1, 1913, ch. 92, mentioned in the text, see 1914 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 204; 4 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 495. This Act amended the Interstate Commerce Act by adding thereto a new section to be known as section 19a.

SEC. 39. [Franchises and privileges — grants as subject to amendment.]

That all grants of franchises and privileges under the section last preceding shall provide that the same shall be subject to amendment, alteration, or repeal, and shall forbid the issue of stocks or bonds except in exchange for actual cash or property at a fair valuation to be determined by the public-service commission equal in amount to the par value of the stocks or bonds issued, and shall forbid the declaring of stock or bond dividends, and in the case of public-service corporations shall provide for the effective regulation of charges thereof and for the purchase or taking of their property by the authorities at a fair and reasonable valuation.

That nothing in this Act contained shall be so construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provision contained in section three of the joint resolution approved May first, nineteen hundred, with respect to the buying, selling, or holding of real estate. That the Governor of Porto Rico shall cause to have made and submitted to Congress at the session beginning the first Monday in December, nineteen hundred and seventeen, a report of all the real estate used for the purposes of agriculture and held either directly or indirectly by corporations, partnerships, or individuals in holdings in excess of five hundred acres. [39 Stat. L. 964.]

For the Res. of May 1, 1900, No. 23, section 3, mentioned in the text, see 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. 776; 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1278.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 40. [Courts — jurisdiction — procedure — appointment of judges.]

That the judicial power shall be vested in the courts and tribunals of Porto Rico now established and in operation under and by virtue of existing laws. The jurisdiction of said courts and the form of procedure in them, and the various officers and attaches thereof, shall also continue to be as now provided until otherwise provided by law: Provided, however, That the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the United States, and the Legislature of Porto Rico shall have authority, from time to time as it may see fit, not inconsistent with this Act, to organize, modify, or rearrange the courts and their jurisdiction and procedure, except the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico. [39 Stat. L. 965.]

SEC. 41. [United States District Court — appointment of officers — jurisdiction — salaries — vacancies.] That Porto Rico shall constitute a judicial district to be called "the district of Porto Rico." The President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint one district judge, who shall serve for a term of four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified and whose salary shall be $5,000 per annum. There shall be appointed in like manner a district attorney, whose salary shall be $4,000 per annum, and a marshal for said district, whose salary shall be $3,500 per annum, each for a term of four years unless sooner removed by the President. The district court for said district shall be called "the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico," and shall have power to appoint all necessary officials and assistants, including the clerk, interpreter, and such commissioners as may be necessary, who shall be entitled to the same fees and have like powers and duties as are exercised and performed by United States commissioners. Such district court shall have jurisdiction of all cases cognizable in the district courts of the United States, and shall proceed in the same manner. In addition said district court shall have jurisdiction for the naturalization of aliens and Porto Ricans, and for this purpose residence in Porto Rico shall be counted in the same manner as residence elsewhere in the United States. Said district court shall have jurisdiction of all controversies where all of the parties on either side of the controversy are citizens or subject of a foreign State or States, or citizens of a State, Territory, or District of the United States not domiciled in Porto Rico, wherein the matter in dispute exceeds, exclusive of interest or cost, the sum or value of $3,000, and of all controversies in which there is a separable controversy involving such jurisdictional amount and in which all of the parties on either side of such separable controversy are citizens or subjects of the character aforesaid: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall be deemed to impair the jurisdiction of the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico to hear and determine all controversies pending in said court at the date of the approval of this Act. Upon the taking effect of this Act the salaries of the judge and officials of the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico, together with the court expenses, shall be paid from the United States revenues in the same manner as in other United States district courts. In case of vacancy or of the death, absence, or other legal disability on the part of the judge of the said District Court of the United States for Porto Rico, the President of the United States is authorized to designate one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico to discharge the duties of judge of said court until such absence or disability shall be removed, and thereupon such judge so designated for said service shall be fully authorized and empowered to perform the duties of said office during such absence or disability of such regular judge, and to sign all necessary papers and records as the acting judge of said court, without extra compensation. [39 Stat. L. 965.]

SEC. 42. [Appeals — removal of causes — terms — pleadings.] That the laws of the United States relating to appeals, writs of error and certiorari, removal of causes, and other matters or proceedings as between the courts of the United States and the courts of the several States shall govern in such matters and proceedings as between the district court of the United States and the courts of Porto Rico. Regular terms of said United States district court shall be held at San Juan, commencing on the first Monday in May and November of each year, and also at Ponce on the second Monday in February of each year, and special terms may be held at Mayaguez at such stated times as said judge may deem expedient. All pleadings and proceedings in said court shall be conducted in the English language. The said district court shall be attached to and included in the first circuit of the United States, with the right of appeal and review by said circuit court of appeals in all cases where the same would lie from any district court to a circuit court of appeals of the United States, and with the right of appeal and review directly by the Supreme Court of the United States in all cases where a direct appeal would lie from such district courts. [39 Stat. L. 966.]

SEC. 43. [Writs of error and appeals.] That writs of error and appeals from the final judgments and decrees of the Supreme Court of Porto Rico may be taken and prosecuted to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and to the Supreme Court of the United States, as now provided by law. [39 Stat. L. 966.]

SEC. 44. [Jurors — qualifications — selection, etc., of jury.] That the qualifications of jurors as fixed by the local laws of Porto Rico shall not apply to jurors selected to serve in the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico; but the qualifications required of jurors in said court shall be that each shall be of the age of not less than twenty-one years and not over sixty-five years, a resident of Porto Rico for not less than one year, and have a sufficient knowledge of the English language to enable him to serve as a juror; they shall also be citizens of the United States. Juries for the said court shall be selected, drawn and subject to exemption in accordance with the laws of Congress regulating the same in the United States courts in so far as locally applicable. [39 Stat. L. 966.]

SEC. 45. [Fees, fines, costs and forfeitures.] That all such fees, fines, costs, and forfeitures as would be deposited to the credit of the United States if collected and paid into a district court of the United States shall become revenues of the United States when collected and paid into the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico: Provided, That $500 a year from such fees, fines, costs, and forfeitures shall be retained by the clerk and expended for law library purposes under the direction of the judge. [39 Stat. L. 966.]

SEC. 46. [Officials and assistants — salaries.] That the Attorney General of the United States shall from time to time determine the salaries of all officials and assistants appointed by the United States district court, including the clerk, his deputies, interpreter, stenographer, and other officials and employees, the same to be paid by the United States as other salaries and expenses of like character in United States courts. [39 Stat. L. 966.]

SEC. 47. [Jurors and witnesses — pay.] That jurors and witnesses in the District Court of the United States for Porto Rico shall be entitled to and receive 15 cents for each mile necessarily traveled over any stage line or by private conveyance and 10 cents for each mile over any railway in going to and returning from said courts. But no constructive or double mileage fees shall be allowed by reason of any person being summoned both as witness and juror or as witness in two or more cases pending in the same court and triable at the same term thereof. Such jurors shall be paid $3 per day and such witnesses $1.50 per day while in attendance upon the court. [39 Stat. L. 967.]

SEC. 48. [Habeas Corpus — mandamus.] That the supreme and district courts of Porto Rico and the respective judges thereof may grant writs of habeas corpus in all cases in which the same are grantable by the judges of the district courts of the United States, and the district courts may grant writs of mandamus in all proper cases. [39 Stat. L. 967.]

SEC. 49. [Judges, marshals and secretaries — appointment.] That hereafter all judges, marshals, and secretaries of courts now established or that may hereafter be established in Porto Rico, and whose appointment by the President is not provided for by law, shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of Porto Rico. [39 Stat. L. 967.]

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 50. [Salaries — payment — bond.] That, except as in this Act otherwise provided, the salaries of all the officials of Porto Rico not appointed by the President, including deputies, assistants, and other help, shall be such and be so paid out of the revenues of Porto Rico as shall from time to time be determined by the Legislature of Porto Rico and approved by the governor; and if the legislature shall fail to make an appropriation for such salaries, the salaries theretofore fixed shall be paid without the necessity of further appropriations therefor. The salaries of all officers and all expenses of the offices of the various officials of Porto Rico appointed as herein provided by the President shall also be paid out of the revenues of Porto Rico on warrant of the auditor, counter-signed by the governor. The annual salaries of the following-named officials appointed by the President and so to be paid shall be: The governor, $10,000; in addition thereto shall be entitled to the occupancy of the buildings heretofore used by the chief executive of Porto Rico, with the furniture and effects therein, free of rental; heads of executive departments, $5,000; chief justice of the supreme court, $6,500; associate justices of the supreme court, $5,500 each.

Where any officer whose salary is fixed by this act is required to give a bond, the premium thereof shall be paid from the insular treasury. [39 Stat. L. 967.]

SEC. 51. [Salaries of municipal officials — payment.] That the provisions of the foregoing section shall not apply to municipal officials; their salaries and the compensation of their deputies, assistants, and other help, as well as all other expenses incurred by the municipalities, shall be paid out of the municipal revenues, in such manner as the legislature shall provide. [39 Stat. L. 967.]

SEC. 52. [Continuance of certain persons in office — abolishment of certain offices.] That wherever in this Act offices of the insular government of Porto Rico are provided for under the same names as in the heretofore existing Acts of Congress affecting Porto Rico, the present incumbents of those offices shall continue in office in accordance with the terms and at the salaries prescribed by this Act, excepting the heads of those departments who are to be appointed by the governor and who shall continue in office only until their successors are appointed and have qualified. The offices of secretary of Porto Rico and director of labor, charities, and correction are hereby abolished. Authority is given to the respective appointing authorities to appoint and commission persons to fill the new offices created by this Act. [39 Stat. L. 967.]

SEC. 53. [Transfer of bureau or office.] That any bureau or office belonging to any of the regular departments of the government, or hereafter created, or not assigned, may be transferred or assigned to any department by the governor with the approval of the Senate of Porto Rico. [39 Stat. L. 968.]

SEC. 54. [Deeds, etc. — acknowledgment.] That deeds and other instruments affecting land situate in the District of Columbia, or any other territory or possession of the United States, may be acknowledged in Porto Rico before any notary public appointed therein by proper authority, or any officer therein who has ex officio the powers of a notary public: Provided, That the certificate by such notary shall be accompanied by the certificate of the executive secretary of Porto Rico to the effect that the notary taking such acknowledgment is in fact such notarial officer. [39 Stat. L. 968.]

of existing courts over matters pending therein upon the approval of this Act, which jurisdiction is in all respects hereby continued, the purpose of this Act being to preserve the integrity of all of said courts and their jurisdiction until otherwise provided by law, except as in this Act otherwise specifically provided. [39 Stat. L. 968.]

SEC. 56. [When Act becomes effective.] That this Act shall take effect upon approval, but until its provisions shall severally become operative, as hereinbefore provided, the corresponding legislative and executive functions of the government in Porto Rico shall continue to be exercised and in full force and operation as now provided by law; and the executive council shall, until the assembly and organization of the Legislature of Porto Rico as herein provided, consist of the attorney general, the treasurer, the commissioner of the interior, the commissioner of education, the commissioner of health, and the commissioner of agriculture and labor, and the five additional members as now provided by law. And any functions assigned to the Senate of Porto Rico by the provisions of this Act shall, until this said senate has assembled and organized as herein provided, be exercised by the Executive Council as thus constituted: Provided, however, That all appointments made by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council as thus constituted, in the Executive Council as authorized by section thirteen of this Act or in the office of Executive Secretary of Porto Rico, shall be regarded as temporary and shall expire not later than twenty days from and after the assembly and organization of the Legislature hereinbefore provided, unless said appointments shall be ratified and made permanent by the said Senate of Porto Rico. [39 Stat. L. 968.]

SEC. 57. [Existing laws and ordinances — continuance in force.] That the laws and ordinances of Porto Rico now in force shall continue in force and effect, except as altered, amended, or modified herein, until altered, amended, or repealed by the legislative authority herein provided for Porto Rico or by Act of Congress of the United States; and such legislative authority shall have power, when not inconsistent with this Act, by due enactment to amend, alter, modify, or repeal any law or ordinance, civil or criminal continued in force by this Act as it may from time to time see fit. [39 Stat. L. 968.]

SEC. 58. [Laws continued in force — repeal of conflicting laws.] That all laws or parts of laws applicable to Porto Rico not in conflict with any of the provisions of this Act, including the laws relating to tariffs, customs, and duties on importations into Porto Rico prescribed by the Act of Congress entitled "An Act temporarily to provide revenues and a civil government for Porto Rico and for other purposes," approved April twelfth, nineteen hundred, are hereby continued in effect, and all laws and parts of laws inconsistent with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed. [39 Stat. L. 968.]

[SEC. 1.][Official Postal Guide — contracts for publication.] * * *

Hereafter contracts let for the publication of the Official Postal Guide shall provide for the supply of such copies as may be required for public use by the several executive departments and other Government establishments at a price not exceeding the cost of such guides to the Post Office Department. [39 Stat. L. 108.]

This is from the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Act of May 10, 1916, ch. 117.

An Act To amend the Act approved June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten, authorizing the postal savings system, and for other purposes.

For the Act of June 25, 1910, ch. 386, §§ 6 and 7, amended by this section, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 295, 296; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 243.

SEC. 2. [Postal savings funds — disposition — investment — “territory” — “bank.”] That postal savings funds received under the provisions of this Act shall be deposited in solvent banks, whether organized under National or State laws, and whether member banks or not of the Federal reserve system established by the Act approved December twenty-third, nineteen hundred and thirteen, being subject to National or State supervision and examination, and the sums deposited shall bear interest at the rate of not less than two and one-fourth per centum per annum, which rate shall be uniform throughout the United States and Territories thereof; but five per centum of such fund shall be withdrawn by the board of trustees and kept with the Treasurer of the United States, who shall be treasurer of the board of trustees, in lawful money as a reserve. The board of trustees shall take from such banks such security in public bonds or other securities, authorized by Act of Congress or supported by the taxing power, as the board may prescribe, approve, and deem sufficient and necessary to insure the safety and prompt payment of such deposits on demand. The funds received at the postal savings depository offices in each city, town, village, and other locality shall be deposited in banks located therein (substantially in proportion to the capital and surplus of each such bank) willing to receive such deposits under the terms of this Act and the regulations made by authority thereof: Provided, however, If one or more member banks of the Federal reserve system established by the Act approved December twenty-third, nineteen hundred and thirteen, exists in the city, town, village, or locality where the postal savings deposits are made, such deposits shall be placed in such qualified member banks substantially in proportion to the capital and surplus of each such bank, but if such member banks fail to qualify to receive such deposits, then any other bank located therein may, as hereinbefore provided, qualify and receive the same. If no such member bank and no other qualified bank exists in any city, town, village, or locality, or if none where such deposits are made will receive such deposits on the terms prescribed, then such funds shall be deposited under the terms of this Act in the bank most convenient to such locality. If no such bank in any State or Territory is willing to receive such deposits on the terms prescribed, then such funds shall be deposited with the treasurer of the board of trustees and shall be counted in making up the reserve of five per centum. Such funds may be withdrawn from the treasurer of said board of trustees, and all other postal savings funds, or any part of such funds, may be at any time withdrawn from the banks and savings depository offices for the repayment of postal savings depositors when required for that purpose. If at any time the postal savings deposits in any State or Territory shall exceed the amount which the qualified banks therein are willing to receive under the terms of this Act, and such excess amount is not required to make up the reserve fund of five per centum hereinbefore provided for, the board of trustees may invest all or any part of such excess amount in bonds or other securities of the United States. When, in the judgment of the President, the general welfare and interests of the United States so require, the board of trustees may invest all or any part of the postal savings funds, except the reserve fund of five per centum herein provided for, in bonds or other securities of the United States. The board of trustees may in its discretion purchase from the holders thereof bonds which have been or may be issued under the provisions of section ten of the Act of June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten. Interest and profit accruing from the deposits or investment of postal savings funds shall be applied to the payment of interest due to postal savings depositors, as hereinbefore provided, and the excess thereof, if any, shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as a part of the postal revenue: Provided further, That postal savings funds in the treasury of said board shall be subject to disposition as provided in this Act, and not otherwise: And provided further, That the board of trustees may at any time dispose of bonds held as postal savings investments and use the proceeds to meet withdrawals of deposits by depositors. For the purposes of this Act the word "Territory" as used herein shall be held to include the District of Columbia, the District of Alaska, and Porto Rico, and the word "bank" shall be held to include savings banks and trust companies doing a banking business. [39 Stat. L. 159.]

For the Act of June 25, 1910, ch. 386, § 10, mentioned in the text, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 297; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 246.

SEC. 3. [Empty mail bags — return to mails — pay for railroad transportation.] That the Postmaster General, in cases of emergency, between October first and April first of any year, may hereafter return to the mails empty mail bags, theretofore withdrawn therefrom as required by law, and for such times may pay for their railroad transportation out of the appropriation for inland transportation by railroad routes at not exceeding the rate per pound per mile as shown by the last adjustment for mail service on the route over which they may be carried, and pay for necessary cartage out of the appropriation for freight or expressage. [39 Stat. L. 160.]

SEC. 4. [Weights of mails — ascertainment — weighing period.] That when, during a weighing period, on account of floods or other causes, interruptions in service occur on railroad routes and the weights of mail are decreased below the normal, or where there is an omission to take weights, the Postmaster General, for the purpose of readjusting compensation on such railroad routes as are affected thereby, is hereafter authorized, in his discretion, to add to the weights of mails ascertained on such routes during that part of the weighing period when conditions are shown to have been normal the estimated weights for that part of the weighing period when conditions are shown to have been not normal, or where there has been an omission to take weights, based upon the average of weights taken during that part of the weighing period during which conditions are shown to have been normal, the actual weights and the estimated weights to form the basis for the average weight per day upon which to readjust the compensation according to law on such railroad routes for the transportation of the mails, notwithstanding the provision of the Act of Congress approved March third, nineteen hundred and five, requiring that the average weight shall be ascertained by the actual weighing of the mails for such a number of successive working days, not less than ninety, as the Postmaster General may direct: Provided further, That readjustments from July first, nineteen hundred and thirteen, may be made under this provision on routes in the first section affected by the floods in the Ohio Valley and tributary territories, commencing about March twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and thirteen. [39 Stat. L. 161.]

For the Act of March 3, 1905, ch. 1480, § 1, mentioned in this section, see 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 336; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 204.

SEC. 5. [Mail transportation — compensation — adjustment — former Act repealed.] That so much of section four of "An Act making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, and for other purposes," approved August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, as provides that no adjustment shall be made unless the diverted mails equal at least ten per centum of the average daily weight on any of the routes affected is hereby repealed. [39 Stat. L. 161.]

For the Act of Aug. 24, 1912, ch. 389, § 4, in part repealed by this section, see 1914 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 316; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 209.

SEC. 6. [Mail contracts — award — lowest bidder — R. S. sec. 3949 amended.] That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-nine of the Revised Statutes be amended to read as follows:

"All contracts for carrying the mail shall be in the name of the United States and shall be awarded to the lowest bidder tendering sufficient guaranties for faithful performance in accordance with the terms of the advertisement: Provided, however, That such contracts require due celerity, certainty, and security in the performance of the service; but the Postmaster General shall not be bound to consider the bid of any person who has willfully or negligently failed to perform a former contract." [39 Stat. L. 161.]

For R. S. sec. 3949, amended by this section, see 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. 883; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 154.

SEC. 7. [Unreasonable or fraudulent bids.] That whenever in the judgment of the Postmaster General the bids received for any star route are exorbitant or unreasonable, or whenever he has reason to believe that a combination of bidders has been entered into to fix the rate for star-route service, the Postmaster General be, and he is hereby, authorized, out of the appropriation for inland transportation by star routes, to employ and use such means or methods to provide the desired service as he may deem expedient, without reference to existing law or laws respecting the employment of personal service or the procurement of conveyances, materials, or supplies. [39 Stat. L. 161.]

SEC. 8. [Temporary mail contracts.] That whenever an accepted bidder shall fail to enter into contract, or a contractor on any mail route shall fail or refuse to perform the service on said route according to his contract, or when a new route shall be established or new service required, or when, from any other cause, there shall not be a contractor legally bound or required to perform such service, the Postmaster General may make a temporary contract for carrying the mail on such route, without advertisement, for such period as may be necessary, not in any case exceeding one year, until the service shall have commenced under a contract made according to law: Provided, That the cost of temporary service rendered necessary by reason of the failure of any accepted bidder to enter into contract or a contractor to perform service shall be charged to such bidder or contractor. [39 Stat. L. 161.]

SEC. 9. [Mail contracts — money due contractor — lien.] That if any person shall hereafter perform any service for any contractor or subcontractor in carrying the mail, he shall, upon filing in the department his contract for such service and satisfactory evidence of its performance, thereafter have a lien on any money due such contractor or subcontractor for such service to the amount of same; and if such contractor or subcontractor shall fail to pay the party or parties who have performed service as aforesaid the amount due for such service within two months after the expiration of the month in which such service shall have been performed the Postmaster General may cause the amount due to be paid said party or parties and charged to the contractor: Provided, That such payment shall not in any case exceed the rate of pay per annum of the contractor or subcontractor. [39 Stat. L. 162.]

Section 10 of this Act amends Penal Laws, § 198, and is given in PENAL LAWS, ante, p. 581.

SEC. 11. [First-class mail matter — limit of weight.] That the limit of weight of mail matter of the first class shall be the same as is applicable to mail of the fourth class: Provided, That no article or package exceeding four pounds in weight shall be admitted to the mails under the penalty privilege unless it comes within the exceptions named in the Acts of June eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-six (chapter three hundred and seventy, Twenty-ninth Statutes, page two hundred and sixty-two), and June twenty-sixth, nineteen hundred and six (chapter thirty-five hundred

For the provisions of the Act of June 26, 1906, ch. 3546, § 1, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 521; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 129.

SEC. 12. [Postage stamps — cancelling.] That postage stamps affixed to all mail matter or to stamped envelopes in which the same is enclosed shall, when deposited for mailing or delivery, be defaced by the postmaster at the mailing office: Provided, That when practicable postage stamps may be furnished to postmasters precanceled by printing on them the name of the post office at which they are to be used, under such regulations as the Postmaster General may prescribe. [39 Stat. L. 162.]

SEC. 13. [Postage stamps — affixing — mail matter in bulk — former act amended.] That section two of the Act of April twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred and four (chapter seventeen hundred and fifty-nine, Thirty-third Statutes, page four hundred and forty), be amended to read as follows:

“ That under such regulations as the Postmaster General may establish for the collection of the lawful revenue and for facilitating the handling of such matter in the mails it shall be lawful to accept for transmission in the mails, without postage stamps affixed, quantities of not less than three hundred identical pieces of third-class matter and of second-class matter, and two hundred and fifty identical pieces of fourth-class matter, and packages of money and securities mailed under postage at the first or fourth-class rate by the Treasury Department: Provided, That postage shall be fully prepaid thereon at the rate required by law for a single piece of such matter.” [39 Stat. L. 162.]

For the Act of April 28, 1904, ch. 1759, § 2, amended by this section, see 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 335; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 128.

SEC. 14. [Postmasters' claim for losses — navy mail clerks — adjustment — former Act amended.] That the Act approved January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and fourteen (Thirty-eighth Statutes, page two hundred and seventy-eight), authorizing the Postmaster General to adjust certain claims of postmasters for loss by burglary, fire, or other unavoidable casualty, be so amended as to include Navy mail clerks and assistant Navy mail clerks. [39 Stat. L. 163.]

For the Act of Jan. 21, 1914, ch. 12, amended by this section, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 189; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 57.

SEC. 15. [Contract stations — contracts for conduct of.] That hereafter the Postmaster General may enter into contracts for the conduct of contract stations for a term not exceeding two years. [39 Stat. L. 163.]

SEC. 16. [Fourth-class post offices — reclassification — salary of postmasters.] That, when the total compensation of any postmaster at a post office of the fourth class for four consecutive quarters, shall amount to $1,000, exclusive of commissions on money orders issued, and the receipts of such post office for the same period shall aggregate as much as $1,900, the Auditor for the Post Office Department shall so report to the Postmaster General, who shall, in pursuance of such report, assign such post office to its proper class, to become effective at the beginning of the next succeeding quarterly period, and fix the salary of the postmaster accordingly. [39 Stat. L. 168.]

As originally enacted, this section contained, after the initial word "That," a clause as follows: "on and after July first, nineteen hundred and sixteen." This was struck out by the Postal Service Appropriation Act of July 28, 1916, ch. 261, § 1, 39 Stat. L. 418.

SEC. 17. [Repeal of conflicting provisions.] That all laws or parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby repealed. [39 Stat. L. 163.]

An Act To provide that the United States shall aid the States in the construction of rural post roads, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Rural post roads — federal aid — freedom from tolls.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to cooperate with the States, through their respective State highway departments, in the construction of rural post roads; but no money apportioned under this Act to any State shall be expended therein until its legislature shall have assented to the provisions of this Act, except that, until the final adjournment of the first regular session of the legislature held after the passage of this Act, the assent of the governor of the State shall be sufficient. The Secretary of Agriculture and the State highway department of each State shall agree upon the roads to be constructed therein and the character and method of construction: Provided, That all roads constructed under the provisions of this Act shall be free from tolls of all kinds. [39 Stat. L. 355.]

SEC. 2. [Definitions — "rural post roads" — "State highway department" — "construction" — "properly maintained."] That for the purpose of this Act the term "rural post road" shall be construed to mean any public road over which the United States mails are now or may hereafter be transported, excluding every street and road in a place having a population, as shown by the latest available Federal census, of two thousand five hundred or more, except that portion of any such street or road along which the houses average more than two hundred feet apart; the term "State highway department" shall be construed to include any department of another name, or commission, or official or officials, of a State empowered, under its laws, to exercise the functions ordinarily exercised by a State highway department; the term "construction" shall be construed to include reconstruction and improvement of roads; "properly maintained " as used herein shall be construed to mean the making of needed repairs and the preservation of a reasonably smooth surface considering the type of the road; but shall not be held to include extraordinary repairs, nor reconstruction; necessary bridges and culverts shall be deemed parts of the respective roads covered by the provisions of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 356.]

SEC. 3. [Appropriation — apportionment.] That for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the sum of $5,000,000; for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, the sum of $10,000,000; for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, the sum of $15,000,000; for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty, the sum of $20,000,000; and for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, the sum of $25,000,000. So much of the appropriation apportioned to any State for any fiscal year as remains unexpended at the close thereof shall be available for expenditure in that State until the close of the succeeding fiscal year, except that amounts apportioned for any fiscal year to any State which has not a State highway department shall be available for expenditure in that State until the close of the third fiscal year succeeding the close of the fiscal year for which such apportionment was made. Any amount apportioned under the provisions of this Act unexpended at the end of the period during which it is available for expenditure under the terms of this section shall be reapportioned, within sixty days thereafter, to all the States in the same manner and on the same basis, and certified to the Secretary of the Treasury and to the State highway departments and to the governors of States having no State highway departments in the same way as if it were being apportioned under this Act for the first time: Provided, That in States where the constitution prohibits the State from engaging in any work of internal improvements, then the amount of the appropriation under this Act apportioned to any such State shall be turned over to the highway department of the State or to the governor of said State to be expended under the provisions of this Act and under the rules and regulations of the Department of Agriculture, when any number of counties in any such State shall appropriate or provide the proportion or share needed to be raised in order to entitle such State to its part of the appropriation apportioned under this Act. [39 Stat. L. 356.]

SEC. 4. [Deductions from appropriations.] That so much, not to exceed three per centum, of the appropriation for any fiscal year made by or under this Act as the Secretary of Agriculture may estimate to be necessary for administering the provisions of this Act shall be deducted for that purpose, available until expended. Within sixty days after the close of each fiscal year the Secretary of Agriculture shall determine what part, if any, of the sums theretofore deducted for administering the provisions of this Act will not be needed for that purpose and apportion such part, if any, for the fiscal year then current in the same manner and on the same basis, and certify it to the Secretary of the Treasury and to the State highway departments, and to the governors of States having no State highway departments, in the same way as other amounts authorized by this Act to be apportioned among all the States for such current fiscal year. The Secretary of Agriculture, after making the deduction authorized by this section, shall apportion the remainder of the appropriation for each fiscal year among the several States in the following manner: One-third in the ratio which the area of each State bears to the total area of all the States; one-third in the ratio which the population of each State bears to the total population of all the States, as shown by the latest available Federal census; one-third in the ratio which the mileage of rural delivery routes and star routes in each State bears to the total mileage of rural delivery routes and star routes in all the States, at the close of the next preceding fiscal year, as shown by the certificate of the Postmaster General, which he is directed to make and furnish annually to the Secretary of Agriculture. [39 Stat. L. 356.]

SEC. 5. [Certificates by Secretary of Agriculture.] That within sixty days after the approval of this Act the Secretary of Agriculture shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury and to each State highway department and to the governor of each State having no State highway department the sum which he has estimated to be deducted for administering the provisions of this Act and the sum which he had apportioned to each State for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and on or before January twentieth next preceding the commencement of each succeeding fiscal year shall make like certificates for such fiscal year. [39 Stat. L. 357.]

SEC. 6. [Project statements, etc.—submission by States — approval — payment of money apportioned.] That any State desiring to avail itself of the benefits of this Act shall, by its State highway department, submit to the Secretary of Agriculture project statements setting forth proposed construction of any rural post road or roads therein. If the Secretary of Agriculture approve a project, the State highway department shall furnish to him such surveys, plans, specifications, and estimates therefor as he may require: Provided, however, That the Secretary of Agriculture shall approve only such projects as may be substantial in character and the expenditure of funds hereby authorized shall be applied only to such improvements. Items included for engineering, inspection, and unforeseen contingencies shall not exceed ten per centum of the total estimated cost of the work. If the Secretary of Agriculture approve the plans, specifications, and estimates, he shall notify the State highway department and immediately certify the fact to the Secretary of the Treasury. The Secretary of the Treasury shall thereupon set aside the share of the United States payable under this Act on account of such project, which shall not exceed fifty per centum of the total estimated cost thereof. No payment of any money apportioned under this Act shall be made on any project until such statement of the project, and the plans, specifications, and estimates therefor, shall have been submitted to and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

When the Secretary of Agriculture shall find that any project so approved by him has been constructed in compliance with said plans and specifications he shall cause to be paid to the proper authority of said State the amount set aside for said project: Provided, That the Secretary of Agriculture may, in his discretion, from time to time make payments on said construction as the same progresses, but these payments including previous payments, if any, shall not be more than the United States pro rata part of the value of the labor and materials which have been actually put into said construction in conformity to said plans and specifications; nor shall any such payment be in excess of $10,000 per mile, exclusive of the cost of bridges of more than twenty feet clear span. The construction work and labor in each State shall be done in accordance with its laws, and under the direct supervision of the State highway department subject to the inspection and approval of the Secretary of Agriculture and in accordance with the rules and regulations made pursuant to this Act.

The Secretary of Agriculture and the State highway department of each State may jointly determine at what times, and in what amounts, payments, as work progresses, shall be made under this Act. Such payments shall be made by the Secretary of the Treasury, on warrants drawn by the Secretary of Agriculture, to such official, or officials, or depository, as may be designated by the State highway department and authorized under the laws of the State to receive public funds of the State or county. [39 Stat. L. 357.]

SEC. 7. [Maintenance of roads.] To maintain the roads constructed under the provisions of this Act shall be the duty of the States, or their civil subdivisions, according to the laws of the several States. If at any time the Secretary of Agriculture shall find that any road in any State constructed under the provisions of this Act is not being properly maintained he shall give notice of such fact to the highway department of such State and if within four months from the receipt of said notice said road has not been put in a proper condition of maintenance then the Secretary of Agriculture shall thereafter refuse to approve any project for road construction in said State, or the civil subdivision thereof, as the fact may be, whose duty it is to maintain said road, until it has been put in a condition of proper maintenance. [39 Stat. L. 358.]

Section 8 of this Act, relating to roads in and adjacent to national forests, is given in TIMBER LANDS AND FOREST RESERVES, post, p. 836.

SEC. 9. [Clerks — offices — supplies.] That out of the appropriations made by or under this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to employ such assistants, clerks, and other persons in the city of Washington and elsewhere, to be taken from the eligible lists of the Civil Service Commission, to rent buildings outside of the city of Washington, to purchase such supplies, material, equipment, office fixtures, and apparatus, and to incur such travel and other expense as he may deem necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 359.]

SEC. 10. [Rules and regulations.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to make rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 359.]

SEC. 11. [Time of taking effect of Act.] That this Act shall be in force from the date of its passage. [39 Stat. L. 359.]

An Act Making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Injured postal employees — substitutes — leave of absence — sick and death benefits — military service of postal employees.] * * * That hereafter the Postmaster General shall have authority to employ acting employees in place of all employees or substitutes hereinafter mentioned who are injured while on duty, who shall be granted leave of absence with full pay during the period of disability, but not exceeding one year, then at the rate of fifty per centum of the employee's salary for the period of disability exceeding one year, but not exceeding twelve months additional, and the Postmaster General is authorized to pay the sum of $2,000, which shall be exempt from payment of debts of the deceased, to the legal representatives, for the benefit of wife, children, or dependent relatives, of any railway postal clerk, substitute railway postal clerk, supervisory official of the Railway Mail Service, post-office inspector, letter carrier in the City Delivery Service, rural letter carrier, post-office clerk, special-delivery messenger, post-office laborer or any classified civil-service employee in post offices of the first and second classes who shall be killed while on duty, or who, being injured while on duty, shall die within one year thereafter as the result of such injury: Provided, That no compensation shall be paid any such employee for any injury occasioned by his own negligence. * * *

That the Postmaster General shall not approve or continue any rule or regulation which terminates the employment of any employee by reason of absence on account of illness for a period of less than one year, and that any postal employee who has entered the military service of the United States or who shall hereafter enter it shall, upon being honorably discharged therefrom, be permitted to resume the position in the postal department which he left to enter such military service. [39 Stat. L. 413.]

[Clerks — appointment — assignment — former Act amended.] That section five of the Act approved August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, entitled "An Act making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, and for other purposes," be, and the same is hereby, amended to include employees of first and second class post offices designated as "Special clerks." * * * and hereafter the appointment and assignment of clerks hereunder shall be so made during each fiscal year as not to involve a greater aggregate expenditure than the sum appropriated; and to enable the Postmaster General to carry out the provisions of the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and seven, classifying clerks and city letter carriers in first and second class post offices, he may hereafter exceed the number of clerks appropriated for particular grades: Provided, That the number of clerks in the aggregate as herein authorized be not exceeded. [39 Stat. L. 416.]

For the Act of March 2, 1907, ch. 2513, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 522; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 71.

[Employment of clerks, etc., on holidays — pay.] * * * That hereafter when the needs of the Postal Service require the employment on holidays of clerks in first and second class post offices and letter carriers in the City Delivery Service, the employees who are required and ordered to perform holiday work shall be allowed compensatory time on one of the thirty days following the holiday on which they perform such service: Provided, That for the purpose of this Act holidays shall be New Year's Day (January first); Washington's Birthday (February twenty-second); Memorial Day (May thirtieth); Independence Day (July fourth); the first Monday in September, known as Labor Day; Christmas (December twenty-fifth); and such other days as the President of the United States may set apart as fast or thanksgiving days. [39 Stat. L. 416.]

[Letter carriers — collection duty and delivery duty — salary.] * * * That hereafter there shall be no distinction in salary made between letter carriers assigned to collection duty and letter carriers assigned to delivery duty: And provided further, That letter carriers whose salaries have been reduced as the result of any order of the Post Office Department, making the maximum salary $1,000 to be paid letter carriers assigned to collection duty, shall be restored to their former grades. [39 Stat. L. 417.]

[Proposals for carrying mail — R. S. sec. 3944 amended.] * * * That section thirty-nine hundred and forty-four, Revised Statutes, is hereby amended by the elimination of the words "or the Second Assistant Postmaster General," and the Act of May seventeenth, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, is hereby amended by the substitution of the words "Postmaster General" for the words "Second Assistant Postmaster General" wherever they occur. [39 Stat. L. 418.]

For R. S. sec. 3944, amended by the text, see 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. 880; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 152.

[Mail messenger service.] * * * That postmasters may be designated by the Postmaster General as disbursing officers for the payment of mail messengers and others engaged under their supervision in transporting the mails: Provided further, That, in the discretion of the Postmaster General, postmasters, assistant postmasters, and clerks at post offices of the third and fourth classes may enter into contracts for the performance of mail messenger services, and allowances may be made therefor from this appropriation: Provided further, That the total amount payable under such contract to any postmaster, assistant postmaster, or clerk shall not exceed $300 in any one year. [39 Stat. L. 418.]

[Undelivered letters — R. S. sec. 3938 amended.] * * * That section thirty-nine hundred and thirty-eight of the Revised Statutes is hereby amended to read as follows:

“All letters of domestic origin which can not be delivered by postmasters shall be sent to the Post Office Department or to a post office designated by the Postmaster General and such as contain inclosures of value, other than correspondence, shall be recorded. If the sender or addressee can not be identified, such letters shall be held for a period of one year awaiting reclamation. If within one year they have not been claimed, they shall be disposed of as the Postmaster General may direct. All other undeliverable letters shall be disposed of without record and not held for reclamation.” [39 Stat. L. 418.]

* * * That clerks assigned as clerks in charge of crews consisting of more than one clerk shall be clerks of grades five to ten, inclusive, and may be promoted one grade only after three years' satisfactory and faithful service in such capacity: Provided further, That railway postal clerks shall be credited with full time when deadheading under orders of the department. [39 Stat. L. 419.]

[Railway postal clerks — vacations — pay — substitutes — former Acts repealed.] * * *

That the Act of March third, nineteen hundred and one (Thirty-first Statutes, page eleven hundred and five), be amended to read as follows: “The Postmaster General may allow railway postal clerks an annual vacation of fifteen days, with pay”: And provided further, That the Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and thirteen (Thirty-seventh Statutes, page seven hundred and ninety-eight), be amended to read as follows: “That hereafter the Postmaster General may, in his discretion, under such regulations as he may provide, allow any railway postal clerk leave of absence with pay for a period not exceeding thirty days, with the understanding that his duties will be performed without expense to the Government during the period for which leave is granted, he to provide a substitute at his own expense.” [39 Stat. L. 420.]

The proviso of the Act of March 3, 1901, ch. 851, § 1, 31 Stat. L. 1105, amended by the text, was as follows:

“The Postmaster-General may allow railway postal clerks whose duties require them to work six days or more per week, fifty-two weeks per year, an annual vacation of fifteen days, with pay.”

This had been superseded, prior to its amendment by the text, by the Act of March 1, 1909, ch. 232, § 1, which was in the same words but with the addition of the word “hereafter,” which rendered it permanent. See 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 526; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 206.

[Maps — post-route — rural delivery.] * * * and the Postmaster General may authorize the sale to the public of post-route maps and rural-delivery maps or blue prints at the cost of printing and ten per centum thereof added, the proceeds of such sale to be used as a further appropriation for the preparation and publication of post-route maps and rural-delivery maps or blue prints. [39 Stat. L. 422.]

[Rural mail delivery — extension of service.] * * * That rural mail delivery shall be extended so as to serve, as nearly as practicable, the entire rural population of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 423.]

[Rural mail delivery — routes — classes — letter carriers — appointment — pay — parcel post.] * * * Hereafter all rural mail delivery routes shall be divided into two classes to be known as—

Standard horse-drawn vehicle routes, which shall be twenty-four miles in length, and Standard motor-vehicle routes, which shall be fifty miles in length, and shall only be established hereafter when a majority of the proposed patrons who are heads of families residing upon such proposed routes shall by written petition ask the Post Office Department to establish the same.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the establishment of horse-drawn vehicle routes of less length than the standard of twenty-four miles: Provided, That if, in the discretion of the Postmaster General, in order to render more complete service, it should be necessary to do so the Postmaster General is hereby authorized to increase the length of routes not to exceed fifty per centum above the standards herein prescribed, and in such cases the compensation of the carrier on such horse-drawn vehicle routes shall be increased above the maximum pay heretofore fixed by law for rural carriers at the rate of $24 per annum for each mile of said routes in excess of thirty miles, and any major fraction of a mile shall be counted as a mile: Provided further, That carriers in rural mail-delivery service shall furnish and maintain at their own expense all necessary vehicle equipment for prompt handling of the mail: And provided further, That nothing herein shall be construed, and no order shall be issued, to prevent the use of motor vehicles on horse-drawn vehicle routes: Provided further, The Postmaster General in his discretion may require all carriers to furnish sufficient equipment to properly handle postal business on their routes: And provided further, That the Postmaster General may, in his discretion, allow and pay additional compensation to rural letter carriers who are required to carry pouch mail to intermediate post offices, or for intersecting loop routes, in all cases where it appears that the carriage of such pouches increases the expense of the equipment required by the carrier or materially increases the amount of labor performed by him, such compensation not to exceed the sum of $12 per annum for each mile such carrier is required to carry such pouch or pouches.

The Postmaster General is hereby authorized and directed to reorganize and readjust existing rural mail delivery service where necessary to conform to the standards herein prescribed: Provided further, That in making appointments of rural carriers for service on new routes, which may be created by the reorganization herein ordered, preference shall be given to carriers who were formerly employed in rural-delivery service and who were separated therefrom on or after June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, by reason of any previous reorganization of the service and without charges against them: And provided further, That the Postmaster General is authorized and directed to pay, out of the appropriations already made and still available and unexpended for rural free-delivery service for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, to all letter carriers in the Rural Free Delivery Service during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, their executors or administrators, the difference between what they received for their said services and the amount that would have been paid to them in accordance with the proviso contained in joint resolution making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen: Provided, That no part of the money paid under this provision shall be paid to any agent or attorney, directly or indirectly, for any alleged services in connection with this appropriation.

The Postmaster General is hereby authorized to conduct experiments in three or more communities for the purpose of determining the most practical means of extending the operations of the parcel post in the direction of promoting the marketing of farm products and furthering direct transactions between producers and consumers. Such investigation will further include the consideration of the effects on the Rural Free Delivery Service such extension of the Parcel Post System will have, and report of conclusions reached shall be made to Congress. [39 Stat. L. 423.]

SEC. 2. [Second-class mail matter — sending by freight — former Act repealed.] That so much of section one of the “ Act making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, and for other purposes,” approved August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, which provides that the Post Office Department shall not extend or enlarge its present policy of sending second-class matter by freight trains, is hereby repealed, but no publication shall be sent by freight if such method of transportation results in unfair discrimination: Provided, That whenever the owner of any publication required by an order of the Post Office Department to be transmitted by freight believes that he is unfairly discriminated against, he may apply to the Post Office Department for an opportunity to be heard; that upon such application being duly filed in writing the owner of such publication shall have opportunity for a full and fair hearing before said department, and pending final determination no change shall be made in the method of transportation of such publication as ordered by the department. The testimony in any such hearing or proceedings shall be reduced to writing and filed in the Post Office Department prior to entering an order upon such hearing. That upon such hearing if the Post Office Department decides adversely to the contention of the publisher, such publisher shall have the right, within the period of twenty days after the date of the order of the Post Office Department made upon such hearing, to appeal to the United States court of appeals of the District of Columbia, for a review of such order by said court of appeals, by filing in the court a written petition praying that the order of the Post Office Department be set aside. A copy of such petition shall be forthwith served upon the Post Office Department and thereupon the said department forthwith shall certify and file in the court a transcript of the record and testimony. Upon the filing of such transcript the court shall have jurisdiction to affirm, set aside or modify the order of the department.

The jurisdiction of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia to affirm, set aside or modify such orders of the Post Office Department shall be exclusive.

Such proceedings in the court of appeals of the District of Columbia shall be given precedence over other cases pending therein and shall be in every way expedited. [39 Stat. L. 424.]

For the provisions of the Act of Aug. 24, 1912, ch. 389, repealed by the text, see 1914 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 313; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 208.

SEC. 3. [Increased weight of mails — additional compensation.] That on account of the increased weight of mails resulting from Postmaster General's order numbered seventy-seven hundred and twenty, of December eighteenth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, respecting rates upon and limit of weight of parcel-post packages, effective from January first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, the Postmaster General is authorized to add to the compensation paid for transportation on railroad routes on and after January first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, for the remainder of the contract terms, not exceeding one per centum thereof per annum. [39 Stat. L. 425.]

SEC. 4. [Transportation of mails — additional compensation.] That on account of the increased weight of mails resulting from Postmaster General's order numbered seventy-three hundred and forty-nine, of July twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, respecting rates upon the limit of weight of parcel-post packages in the local, first, and second zones, and effective from August fifteenth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, the Postmaster General is authorized to add to the compensation paid for transportation on railroad routes on and after August fifteenth, nineteen hundred and thirteen, for the remainder of the contract terms, not exceeding one-half of one per centum thereof per annum. [39 Stat. L. 425.]

SEC. 5. [Transportation of mails — readjustment of compensation — equipment of railroad companies.] That the Postmaster General is authorized and directed to readjust the compensation to be paid to railroad companies from and after the thirtieth day of June, nineteen hundred and sixteen, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, for the transportation and handling of the mails and furnishing facilities and services in connection therewith upon the conditions and at the rates hereinafter provided.

The Postmaster General may state railroad mail routes and authorize mail service thereon of the following four classes, namely: Full railway post-office car service, apartment railway post-office car service, storage-car service, and closed-pouch service.

Full railway post-office car mail service shall be service by cars forty feet or more in length, constructed, fitted up, and maintained for the distribution of mails on trains. The authorizations of full railway post-office cars shall be for standard-sized cars sixty feet in length, inside measurement, except as hereinafter provided.

Apartment railway post-office car mail service shall be service by apartments less than forty feet in length in cars constructed, fitted up, and maintained for the distribution of mails on trains. Two standard sizes of apartment railway post-office cars may be authorized and paid for, namely, apartments fifteen feet and thirty feet in length, inside measurement, except as hereinafter provided.

Storage-car mail service shall be service by cars used for the storage and carriage of mails in transit other than by full and apartment railway post-office cars. The authorizations for storage cars shall be for cars sixty feet in length, inside measurement, except as hereinafter provided: Provided, That storage space in units of three feet, seven feet, fifteen feet, and thirty feet, both sides of car, may be authorized in baggage cars at not exceeding pro rata of the rates hereinafter named for sixty-foot storage cars.

Service by full and apartment railway post-office cars and storage cars shall include the carriage therein of all mail matter, equipment, and supplies for the mail service and the employees of the Postal Service or Post Office Department, as shall be directed by the Postmaster General to be so carried.

Closed-pouch mail service shall be the transportation and handling by railroad employees of mails on trains on which full or apartment railway post-office cars are not authorized, except as hereinbefore provided. The authorizations for closed-pouch service shall be for units of seven feet and three feet in length, both sides of car.

The rates of payment for the services authorized in accordance with this section shall be as follows, namely:

For full railway post-office car mail service at not exceeding 21 cents for each mile of service by a sixty-foot car.

In addition thereto he may allow not exceeding $4.25 as a combined initial and terminal rate for each one-way trip of a sixty-foot car.

For apartment railway post-office car mail service at not exceeding 11 cents for each mile of service by a thirty-foot apartment car and 6 cents for each mile of service by a fifteen-foot apartment car.

In addition thereto he may allow not exceeding $2.75 as a combined initial and terminal rate for each one-way trip of a thirty-foot apartment car and $2 as a combined initial and terminal rate for each one-way trip of a fifteen-foot apartment car.

For storage-car mail service at not exceeding 21 cents for each mile of service by a sixty-foot car.

In addition thereto he may allow not exceeding $4.25 as a combined initial and terminal rate for each one-way trip of a sixty-foot car.

Where authorizations are made for cars of the standard lengths of sixty, thirty, and fifteen feet, as provided by this section, and the railroad company is unable to furnish such cars of the length authorized, but furnishes cars of lesser length than those authorized, but which are determined by the department to be sufficient for the service, the Postmaster General may accept the same and pay only for the actual space furnished and used, the compensation to be not exceeding pro rata of that provided by this section for the standard length so authorized: Provided, That the Postmaster General may accept cars and apartments of greater length than those of the standard requested, but no compensation shall be allowed for such excess lengths.

For closed-pouch service, at not exceeding 11½ cents for each mile of service when a three-foot unit is authorized, and 3 cents for each mile of service when a seven-foot unit is authorized.

In addition thereto he may allow not exceeding 25 cents as the combined initial and terminal rate for each one-way trip of a three-foot unit of service and 50 cents as a combined initial and terminal rate for each one-way trip of a seven-foot unit of service.

Railroad companies whose railroads were constructed in whole or in part by a land grant made by Congress, on the condition that the mails should be transported over their roads at such price as Congress should by law direct, shall receive only eighty per centum of the compensation otherwise authorized by this section.

The initial and terminal rates provided for herein shall cover expenses of loading and unloading mails, switching, lighting, heating, cleaning mail cars, and all other expenses incidental to station service and required by the Postmaster General in connection with the mails that are not included in the car-mile rate. The allowance for full railway post-office cars, apartment railway post-office cars, and storage cars may be varied in accordance with the approximate difference in their respective cost of construction and maintenance.

In computing the car miles of the full railway post-office cars and apartment railway post-office cars, the maximum space authorized in either direction of a round-trip car run shall be regarded as the space to be computed in both directions, unless otherwise mutually agreed upon.

In computing the car miles of storage cars, the maximum space authorized in either direction of a round-trip car run shall be regarded as the space to be computed in both directions, unless the car be used by the company in the return movement, or otherwise mutually agreed upon.

New service and additional service may be authorized at not exceeding the rates herein provided, and service may be reduced or discontinued with pro rata reductions in pay, as the needs of the Postal Service may require: Provided, That no additional pay shall be allowed for additional service unless specifically authorized by the Postmaster General.

The Postmaster General is authorized to make special contracts with the railroad companies for the transportation of the mails where in his judgment the conditions warrant the application of higher rates than those herein specified, and make report to Congress of all cases where such special contracts are made and the terms and reasons therefor.

All cars or parts of cars used for the Railway Mail Service shall be of such construction, style, length, and character, and furnished in such manner as shall be required by the Postmaster General, and shall be constructed, fitted up, maintained, heated, lighted, and cleaned by and at the expense of the railroad companies. No pay shall be allowed for service by any railway post-office car which is not sound in material and construction and which is not equipped with sanitary drinking-water containers and toilet facilities, nor unless such car is regularly and thoroughly cleaned. No pay shall be allowed for service by any wooden full railway post-office car unless constructed substantially in accordance with the most approved plans and specifications of the Post Office Department for such type of cars, nor for service by any wooden full railway post-office car run in any train between adjoining steel cars, or between the engine and a steel car adjoining. After the first of July, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the Postmaster General shall not approve or allow to be used, or pay for service by, any full railway post-office car not constructed of steel or steel underframe or equally indestructible material; and all full railway post-office cars accepted for this service and contracted for by the railroad companies hereafter shall be constructed of steel. Until July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen in cases of emergency and in cases where the necessities of the service require it, the Postmaster General may provide for service by full railway post-office cars of other than steel or steel underframe construction, and fix therefor such rate of compensation within the maximum herein provided as shall give consideration to the inferior character of construction, and the railroad companies shall furnish service by such cars at such rates so fixed.

Service over property owned or controlled by another company or a terminal company shall be considered service of the railroad company using such property and not that of the other or terminal company: Provided, That service over land-grant road shall be paid for as herein provided.

Railroad companies carrying the mails shall furnish all necessary facilities for caring for and handling them while in their custody. They shall furnish all cars or parts of cars used in the transportation and distribution of the mails, except as herein otherwise provided, and place them in stations before the departure of trains at such times and when required to do so. They shall provide station space and rooms for handling, storing, and transfer of mails in transit, including the separation thereof, by packages for connecting lines, and such distribution of registered mail in transit as may be necessary, and for offices for the employees of the Railway Mail Service engaged in such station work when required by the Postmaster General, in which mail from station boxes may be distributed if it does not require additional space.

If any railroad company carrying the mails shall fail or refuse to provide cars or apartments in cars for distribution purposes when required by the Postmaster General, or shall fail or refuse to construct, fit up, maintain, heat, light, and clean such cars and provide such appliances for use in case of accident as may be required by the Postmaster General, it shall be fined such reasonable sum as may, in the discretion of the Postmaster General, be deemed proper.

The Postmaster General shall in all cases decide upon what trains and in what manner the mails shall be conveyed. Every railroad company carrying the mails shall carry on any train it operates, and with due speed, all mailable matter, equipment, and supplies directed to be carried thereon. If any such railroad company shall fail or refuse to transport the mails, equipment, and supplies when required by the Postmaster General on any train or trains it operates, such company shall be fined such reasonable amount as may, in the discretion of the Postmaster General, be deemed proper.

The Postmaster General may make deductions from the pay of railroad companies carrying the mails under the provisions of this section for reduction in service or infrequency of service where, in his judgment, the importance of the facilities withdrawn or reduced requires it, and impose fines upon them for delinquencies. He may deduct the price of the value of the service in cases where it is not performed, and not exceeding three times its value if the failure be occasioned by the fault of the railroad company.

The provisions of this section shall apply to service operated by railroad companies partly by railroad and partly by steamboats.

The provision of this section respecting the rates of compensation shall not apply to mails conveyed under special arrangement in freight trains, for which rates not exceeding the usual and just freight rates may be paid, in accordance with the classifications and tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Railroad companies carrying the mails shall submit, under oath, when and in such form as may be required by the Postmaster General, evidence as to the performance of service.

The Postmaster General shall, from time to time, request information from the Interstate Commerce Commission as to the revenue received by railroad companies from express companies for services rendered in the transportation of express matter, and may, in his discretion, arrange for the transportation of mail matter other than of the first class at rates not exceeding those so ascertained and reported to him, and it shall be the duty of the railroad companies to carry such mail matter at such rates fixed by the Postmaster General.

The Postmaster General is authorized, in his discretion, to petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for the determination of a postal carload or less-than-carload rate for transportation of mail matter of the fourth class and periodicals, and may provide for and authorize such transportation, when practicable, at such rates, and it shall be the duty of the railroad companies to provide and perform such service at such rates and on the conditions prescribed by the Postmaster General.

The Postmaster General may, in his discretion, distinguish between the several classes of mail matter and provide for less frequent dispatches of mail matter of the third and fourth classes and periodicals when lower rates for transportation or other economies may be secured thereby without material detriment to the service.

The Postmaster General is authorized to return to the mails, when practicable for the utilization of car space paid for and not needed for the mails, postal cards, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, empty mail bags, furniture, equipment, and other supplies for the Postal Service.

The Postmaster General, in cases of emergency between October first and April first of any year, may hereafter return to the mails empty mail bags and other equipment theretofore withdrawn therefrom as required by law, and, where such return requires additional authorization of car space under the provisions of this section, to pay for the transportation thereof as provided for herein out of the appropriation for inland transportation by railroad routes.

The Postmaster General may have the weights of mail taken on railroad mail routes, and computations of the average loads of the several classes of cars and other computations for statistical and administrative purposes made at such times as he may elect, and pay the expense thereof out of the appropriation for inland transportation by railroad routes.

Pending the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as hereinafter provided for, the existing method and rates of railway mail pay shall remain in effect, except on such routes or systems as the Postmaster General shall select, and to the extent he may find it practicable and necessary to place upon the space system of pay in the manner and at the rates provided in this section, with the consent and approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in order to properly present to the Interstate Commerce Commission the matters hereinafter referred thereto: Provided, That if the final decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission shall be adverse to the space system, and if the rates established by it under whatever method or system is adopted shall be greater or less than the rates under this section, the Postmaster General shall readjust the compensation of the carriers on such selected routes and systems in accordance therewith, from the dates on which the rates named in this section became effective.

All railway common carriers are hereby required to transport such mail matter as may be offered for transportation by the United States in the manner, under the conditions, and with the service prescribed by the Postmaster General and shall be entitled to receive fair and reasonable compensation for such transportation and for the service connected therewith.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is hereby empowered and directed as soon as practicable to fix and determine from time to time the fair and reasonable rates and compensation for the transportation of such mail matter by railway common carriers and the service connected therewith, prescribing the method or methods by weight, or space, or both, or otherwise, for ascertaining such rate or compensation, and to publish the same, and orders so made and published shall continue in force until changed by the commission after due notice and hearing.

In fixing and determining the fair and reasonable rates for such service the commission shall consider the relation existing between the railroads as public service corporations and the Government, and the nature of such service as distinguished, if there be a distinction, from the ordinary transportation business of the railroads.

The procedure for the ascertainment of said rates and compensation shall be as follows:

Within three months from and after the approval of this Act, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, the Postmaster General shall file with the commission a statement showing the transportation required of all railway common carriers, including the number, equipment, size, and construction of the cars necessary for the transaction of the business; the character and speed of the trains which are to carry the various kinds of mail; the service, both terminal and en route, which the carriers are to render; and all other information which may be material to the inquiry, but such other information may be filed at any time in the discretion of the commission.

The Postmaster General is authorized to employ such clerical and other assistance as shall be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and to rent quarters in Washington, District of Columbia, if necessary, for the clerical force engaged thereon, and to pay for the same out of the appropriation for inland transportation by railroad routes. The Postmaster General shall file with the commission a comprehensive plan for the transportation of the mails on said railways and shall embody therein what he believes to be the reasonable rate or compensation the said railway carriers should receive.

Thereupon the commission shall give notice of not less than thirty days to each carrier so required to transport mail and render service, and upon a day to be fixed by the commission, not later than thirty days after the expiration of the notice herein required, each of said carriers shall make answer and the commission shall proceed with the hearing as now provided by law for other hearings between carriers and shippers or associations.

All the provisions of the law for taking testimony, securing evidence, penalties, and procedure are hereby made applicable.

For the purpose of determining and fixing rates or compensation hereunder the commission is authorized to make such classification of carriers as may be just and reasonable and, where just and equitable, fix general rates applicable to all carriers in the same classification.

Pending such hearings, and the final determination of the question, if the Interstate Commerce Commission shall determine that it is necessary or advisable, in order to carry out the provisions of this section, to have additional and more frequent weighing of the mails for statistical purposes, the Postmaster General, upon request of the commission, shall provide therefor in the manner now prescribed by law, but such weighing need not be for more than thirty days.

At the conclusion of the hearing the commission shall establish by order a fair, reasonable rate or compensation to be received, at such stated times as may be named in the order, for the transportation of mail matter and the service connected therewith, and during the continuance of the order the Postmaster General shall pay the carrier from the appropriation herein made such rate or compensation.

Either the Postmaster General or any such carrier may at any time after the lapse of six months from the entry of the order assailed apply for a reexamination, and thereupon substantially similar proceedings shall be had with respect to the rate or rates for service covered by said application, provided said carrier or carriers have an interest therein.

For the purposes of this section the Interstate Commerce Commission is hereby vested with all the powers which it is now authorized by law to exercise in the investigation and ascertainment of the justness and reasonableness of freight, passenger, and express rates to be paid by private shippers.

The Interstate Commerce Commission shall allow to railroad companies whose railroads were constructed in whole or in part by a land grant made by Congress on condition that the mails should be transported over their roads at such price as Congress should by law direct only eighty per centum of the compensation paid other railroads for transporting the mails and all service by the railroads in connection therewith.

The existing law for the determination of mail pay, except as herein modified, shall continue in effect until the Interstate Commerce Commission under the provisions hereof fixes the fair, reasonable rate or compensation for such transportation and service.

That the appropriations for inland transportation by railroad routes and for railway post-office car service for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, are hereby made available for the purposes of this section.

That it shall be unlawful for any railroad company to refuse to perform mail service at the rates or methods of compensation provided by law when required by the Postmaster General so to do, and for such offense shall be fined $1,000. Each day of refusal shall constitute a separate offense. [39 Stat. L. 425.]

SEC. 6. [Fourth class mail matter — the parcel post — readjustment of classification, etc.] If the Postmaster General shall find on experience that the classification of articles mailable, as well as the weight limit, or the rates of postage, zone or zones, and other conditions of mailability, under section eight of the Act approved August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, or any of them, are such as to prevent the shipment of articles desirable, or to permanently render the cost of the service greater than the receipts of the revenue therefrom, he is hereby authorized to re-form from time to time such classification, weight limit, rates, zone or zones, or conditions, or either, in order to promote the service to the public or to insure the receipt of revenue from such service adequate to pay the cost thereof: Provided, however, That before any change is hereafter made in weight limit, rates of postage, or zone or zones, by the Postmaster General, the proposed change shall be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission after thorough and independent consideration by that body in such manner as it may determine. [39 Stat. L. 431.]

An Act Making Appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and for other purposes.

SEC. 1. [First class post offices — foremen — stenographers.] * * * That there may also be employed at any first-class post offices foremen and stenographers at a salary of $1,300 or more per annum. [39 Stat. L. 1062.]

[Clerks — appointment — assignment.] * * * That hereafter the appointment and assignment of clerks hereunder shall be so made during each fiscal year as not to involve a greater aggregate expenditure than the sum appropriated; and to enable the Postmaster General to carry out the provisions of this Act and also the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and seven, classifying clerks and city letter carriers in first and second class post offices, he may hereafter exceed the number of clerks appropriated for for [sic] particular grades: Provided, That the number of clerks in the aggregate as herein authorized be not exceeded. [39 Stat. L. 1062.]

For the provisions of the Act of March 2, 1907, ch. 2513, § 1, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 522; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 522.

First and second class post offices — holidays — special clerks — compensatory time.] * * * That hereafter when the needs of the service require the employment on holidays of "special clerks" in first and second class post offices, they shall be allowed compensatory time on one of the thirty days next following the holiday on which they perform such service. [39 Stat. L. 1062.]

[Railway postal clerks — grades — promotions — transfers — salaries.] * * * That hereafter any substitute railway postal clerk shall, after having performed service equivalent to three hundred and thirteen days, be appointed railway postal clerk of grade one, and in computing such service credit shall be allowed for service performed prior to the approval of this Act: Provided further, That hereafter when railway postal clerks are transferred from one assignment to another because of changes in the service their salaries shall not be reduced by reason of such change: Provided further, That hereafter clerks assigned as clerks in charge of crews consisting of more than one clerk shall be clerks of grades five to ten, inclusive, and may be promoted one grade only after three years' satisfactory and faithful service in such capacity: Provided further, That railway postal clerks shall be credited with full time when deadheading under orders of the department, and the appointment and assignment of clerks hereunder shall be so made during the fiscal year as not to involve a greater aggregate expenditure than this sum; and, to enable the Postmaster General to reclassify the salaries of railway postal clerks and make necessary appointments and promotions, he may exceed the number of clerks in such of the grades as may be necessary: Provided, That the number of clerks in the aggregate as herein authorized be not exceeded. [39 Stat. L. 1065.]

[Railway postal clerks — travel allowances — former Act amended.] * * * That the Act of August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, (Thirty-seventh Statutes, page five hundred and forty-eight), be amended to read as follows: "That hereafter, in addition to the salaries by law provided, the Postmaster General is hereby authorized to make travel allowances in lieu of actual expenses at fixed rates per annum, not exceeding in the aggregate the sum annually appropriated, to railway postal clerks, acting railway postal clerks, and substitute railway postal clerks, including substitute railway postal clerks for railway postal clerks granted leave with pay on account of sickness, assigned to duty in railway post-office cars, while on duty, after ten hours from the time of beginning their initial run, under such regulations as he may prescribe, and in no case shall such an allowance exceed $1.20 per day." [39 Stat. L. 1065.]

For the provisions of the Act of Aug. 24, 1912, ch. 389, § 1, amended by the text, see 1914 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 313; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 209.

That hereafter the Postmaster General is hereby authorized and empowered to enter into contracts with American citizens for the carrying of the mail between the United States and Great Britain on steamships built in the United States capable of maintaining a speed of thirty knots an hour at sea in ordinary weather and of a gross registered tonnage of not less than thirty-five thousand tons, the said service to commence not more than four years after the contract shall be let. The rate of compensation to be paid for the said ocean mail service shall not exceed the sum of $8 per mile by the shortest practicable route for each outward voyage. The Postmaster General shall have the right to reject all bids not in his opinion reasonable for the attaining of the purposes named: Provided further, That all of the provisions of the Act of March third, eighteen hundred and ninety-one, entitled "An Act to provide for ocean mail service between the United States and foreign ports, and to promote commerce," so far as they are not inconsistent herewith shall control and apply to the methods to be used and contracts to be made hereunder. [39 Stat. L. 1066.]

For the Act of March 3, 1891, ch. 519, mentioned in the text, see 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. 927; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 218.

SEC. 2. [Contracts for mail transportation — by whom signed — sealing.] Contracts made in the Post Office Department for the various classes of mail transportation may, upon order of the Postmaster General, be signed in the place and stead of the Postmaster General by the Assistant Postmaster General who is charged with the supervision of the mail transportation involved, and such officer shall attest his signature to such contracts by the seal of the Post Office Department. [39 Stat. L. 1068.]

Section 3 of this Act relates to the fiscal year 1918 only and is omitted.

SEC. 4. [Distribution of supplies — auditing and accounting.] In order to promote economy in the distribution of supplies, and in auditing and accounting, the Postmaster General may hereafter designate district and central offices in such districts through which supplies shall be distributed and accounts rendered. [39 Stat. L. 1069.]

[SEC. 1.] [Distribution of supplies — auditing and accounting — designation of offices.] * * * In order to promote economy in the distribution of supplies, and in auditing and accounting, the Postmaster General may designate districts and central offices in such districts through which supplies shall be distributed and accounts audited, but in no case shall the postmaster at the central station be given authority to abolish offices, to change officers or employees in offices included in such district. [39 Stat. L. 1110.]

This is from the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 163.

[Navy mail clerks — designation of enlisted men of Navy or Marine Corps.] * * * That the provisions of the Act of May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight (Thirty-fifth Statutes, pages four hundred and seventeen and four hundred and eighteen), as amended by the Act of August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve (Thirty-seventh Statutes, page five hundred and sixty), are hereby extended to authorize the designation of enlisted men of the Navy or Marine Corps as Navy mail clerks and assistant Navy mail clerks with expeditionary forces on shore. [39 Stat. L. 1188.]

POSTAL RATES.

SEC. 1100. [First class mail matter.] That the rate of postage on all mail matter of the first class, except postal cards, shall thirty days after the passage of this Act be, in addition to the existing rate, 1 cent for each ounce or fraction thereof: Provided, That the rate of postage on drop letters of the first class shall be 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards, and private mailing or post cards when complying with the requirements of existing law, shall be transmitted through the mails at 1 cent each in addition to the existing rate.

That letters written and mailed by soldiers, sailors, and marines assigned to duty in a foreign country engaged in the present war may be mailed free of postage, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Postmaster General. [— Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing section 1100 and the following sections 1101–1109 constitute a part of "Title XI.—Postal Rates" of an Act of Oct. 3, 1917, ch. —, entitled "An Act To provide revenue to defray war expenses, and for other purposes." For a reference to the entire Act see the notes to section 1000 thereof, given in INTERNAL REVENUE, ante, p. 382. Sections 1300 and 1302, given in INTERNAL REVENUE, ante, p. 386, respectively provide that the invalidity of any part of the Act shall not affect the validity of the remainder, and that unless otherwise specified the Act shall become effective on the day following its passage.

SEC. 1101. [Second class matter.] That on and after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, the rates of postage on publications entered as second-class matter (including sample copies to the extent of ten per centum of the weight of copies mailed to subscribers during the calendar year) when sent by the publisher thereof from the post office of publication or other post office, or when sent by a news agent to actual subscribers thereto, or to other news agents for the purpose of sale:

(a) In the case of the portion of such publication devoted to matter other than advertisements, shall be as follows: (1) On and after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and until July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cents per pound or fraction thereof; (2) on and after July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound or fraction thereof.

(b) In the case of the portion of such publication devoted to advertisements the rates per pound or fraction thereof for delivery within the several zones applicable to fourth-class matter shall be as follows (but where the space devoted to advertisements does not exceed five per centum of the total space, the rate of postage shall be the same as if the whole of such publication was devoted to matter other than advertisements): (1) On and after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and until July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, for the first and second zones, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cents; for the third zone, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cents; for the fourth zone, 2 cents; for the fifth zone, $2\frac{1}{4}$ cents; for the sixth zone, $2\frac{1}{2}$ cents; for the seventh zone, 3 cents; for the eighth zone, $3\frac{1}{4}$ cents; (2) on and after July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, and until July first, nineteen hundred and twenty, for the first and second zones, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cents; for the third zone, 2 cents; for the fourth zone, 3 cents; for the fifth zone, $3\frac{1}{2}$ cents; for the sixth zone, 4 cents; for the seventh zone, 5 cents; for the eighth zone, $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents; (3) on and after July first, nineteen hundred and twenty, and until July first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, for the first and second zones, $1\frac{3}{4}$ cents; for the third zone, $2\frac{1}{2}$ cents; for the fourth zone, 4 cents; for the fifth zone, $4\frac{3}{4}$ cents; for the sixth zone, $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents; for the seventh zone, 7 cents; for the eighth zone, $7\frac{3}{4}$ cents; (4) on and after July first, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, for the first and second zones, 2 cents; for the third zone, 3 cents; for the fourth zone, 5 cents; for the fifth zone, 6 cents; for the sixth zone, 7 cents; for the seventh zone, 9 cents; for the eighth zone, 10 cents;

(c) With the first mailing of each issue of each such publication, the publisher shall file with the postmaster a copy of such issue, together with a statement containing such information as the Postmaster General may prescribe for determining the postage chargeable thereon. [— Stat L. —.]

See the note to the preceding section 1100 of this Act.

SEC. 1102. [Daily newspapers — second class mail matter — zones.] That the rate of postage on daily newspapers, when the same are deposited in a letter-carrier office for delivery by its carriers, shall be the same as now provided by law; and nothing in this title shall affect existing law as to free circulation and existing rates on second-class mail matter within the county of publication: Provided, That the Postmaster General may hereafter require publishers to separate or make up to zones in such a manner as he may direct all mail matter of the second class when offered for mailing. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1103. [Newspapers and periodicals of religious, educational, etc. nature.] That in the case of newspapers and periodicals entitled to be entered as second-class matter and maintained by and in the interest of religious, educational, scientific, philanthropic, agricultural, labor, or fraternal organizations or associations, not organized for profit and none of the net income of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual, the second-class postage rates shall be, irrespective of the zone, in which delivered (except when the same are deposited in a letter carrier office for delivery by its carriers, in which case the rates shall be the same as now provided by law), $1\frac{1}{8}$ cents a pound or fraction thereof on and after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and until July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, and on and after July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cents a pound or fraction thereof. The publishers of such newspapers or periodicals before being entitled to the foregoing rates shall furnish to the Postmaster General, at such times and under such conditions as he may prescribe, satisfactory evidence that none of the net income of such organization inures to the benefit of any private stockholder or individual. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1104. [Total weight of edition not in excess of one pound.] That where the total weight of any one edition or issue of any publication mailed to any one zone does not exceed one pound, the rate of postage shall be 1 cent. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1105. [Zone rates — entire bulk mailed.] The zone rates provided by this title shall relate to the entire bulk mailed to any one zone and not to individually addressed packages. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1106. [Newspaper or periodical mailed by other than publisher, etc.] That where a newspaper or periodical is mailed by other than the publisher or his agent or a news agent or dealer, the rate shall be the same as now provided by law. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1107. [Payments by Postmaster General.] That the Postmaster General, on or before the tenth day of each month, shall pay into the general fund of the Treasury an amount equal to the difference between the estimated amount received during the preceding month for the transportation of first class matter through the mails and the estimated amount which would have been received under the provisions of the law in force at the time of the passage of this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1108. [Salaries of postmasters.] That the salaries of postmasters at offices of the first, second, and third classes shall not be increased after

July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, during the existence of the present war. The compensation of postmasters at offices of the fourth class shall continue to be computed on the basis of the present rates of postage. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 1100 of this Act, supra, p. 658.

SEC. 1109. [Postmasters on leave for military purposes — clerk hire.] That where postmasters at offices of the third class have been since May first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or hereafter are granted leave without pay for military purposes, the Postmaster General may allow, in addition to the maximum amounts which may now be allowed such officers for clerk hire, in accordance with law, an amount not to exceed fifty per centum of the salary of the postmaster. [— Stat. L. —.]

For section 1110 of this Act, see INTOXICATING LIQUORS, ante, p. 394.

[SEC. 1.] [Mail matter relating to naturalization — free postage — penalty for abuse of privilege.] * * * That all mail matter, of whatever class, relating to naturalization, including duplicate papers required by law or regulation to be sent to the Bureau of Naturalization by clerks of State or Federal courts, addressed to the Department of Labor, or the Bureau of Naturalization, or to any official thereof, and indorsed "Official Business," shall be transmitted free of postage, and by registered mail if necessary, and so marked: Provided further, That if any person shall make use of such indorsement to avoid payment of postage or registry fee on his or her private letter, package, or other matter in the mail, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of $300, to be prosecuted in any court of competent jurisdiction. [— Stat. L. —.]

An Act Making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Inspectors — per diem allowances.] * * * For per diem allowance of inspectors in the field while actually traveling on official business away from their homes, their official domiciles, and their headquarters, at a rate to be fixed by the Postmaster General, not to exceed $4 per day: Provided, That the Postmaster General may, in his discretion, allow inspectors per diem while temporarily located at any place on business away from their homes or their designated domiciles for a period not exceeding twenty consecutive days at any one place, and make rules and regulations governing the foregoing provisions relating to per diem: And provided further, That no per diem shall be paid to inspectors receiving annual salaries of $2,000 or more, except the thirty-two inspectors receiving $2,100 each. [— Stat. L. —.]

[Sunday or holiday service — compensation.] * * * That hereafter when any employee in the Postal Service under the law is entitled to compensatory time for Sunday or holiday service, if he so elects, he may be paid for overtime in lieu thereof. [— Stat. L. —.]

[Allowances to post offices — amount as governed by postmaster's salary.] That hereafter no allowance in excess of $300 shall be made where the salary of the postmaster is $1,000, $1,100, or $1,200; nor in excess of $400 where the salary of the postmaster is $1,300, $1,400, or $1,500; and that no allowance in excess of $500 shall be made where the salary of the postmaster is $1,600 or $1,700; nor in excess of $800 where the salary of the postmaster is $1,800 or $1,900. [— Stat. L. —.]

[Rent for post-office quarters — appropriation available.] * * * That hereafter the Postmaster General may, in the disbursement of the appropriation for such purposes, apply a part thereof to the purpose of leasing premises for the use of post offices of the first, second, and third classes at a reasonable annual rental, to be paid quarterly for a term not exceeding ten years; and that there shall not be allowed for the use of any third-class post office for rent a sum in excess of $500, nor more than $100 for fuel and light, in any one year. [— Stat. L. —.]

[Transportation of mail — carrying by freight or express.] * * *
That hereafter, when there is no competition on a route and the rate of compensation asked is excessive, or no proposal is received, the Postmaster General may require that the mails be carried as freight or express, and it shall be unlawful for any common carrier by water to refuse to carry the mails when so required, and the penalty for such offense shall be a fine of $500. Each day of refusal shall constitute a separate offense. [— Stat. L. —.]

For inland transportation of mail by electric and cable cars, * * * Provided, That the rate of compensation to be paid per mile shall not exceed the rate now paid to companies performing such service, except that the Postmaster General, in cases where the quantity of mail is large and the number of exchange points numerous, may, in his discretion, authorize payment for closed-pouch service at a rate per mile not to exceed one-third above the rate per mile now paid for closed-pouch service, and for mail cars and apartments carrying the mails not to exceed the rate of 1 cent per linear foot per car-mile of travel: Provided further, That the rates for electric car service on routes over twenty miles in length outside of cities shall not exceed the rates paid for service on steam railroads: Provided, however, That not to exceed $25,000 of the sum hereby appropriated may be expended in the discretion of the Postmaster General, where unusual conditions exist or where such service will be more expeditious and efficient and at no greater cost than otherwise, and not to exceed $100,000 of this appropriation may be expended for regulation screen or motor screen wagon service which may be authorized in lieu of electric or cable car service: Provided further, That the Interstate Commerce Commission is hereby empowered and directed as soon as practicable to fix and determine from time to time the fair and reasonable rates and compensation for the transportation of mail matter by urban and interurban electric railway common carriers and the service connected therewith, prescribing the method or methods by weight or space, or both, or otherwise, for ascertaining such rate or compensation and to publish same, and orders so made and published shall continue in force until changed by the commission after due notice and hearing: And provided further, That it shall be unlawful for any urban or interurban electric railroad to refuse to perform mail service at the rates or methods of compensation thus provided for such service when required by the Postmaster General so to do, and for such offense shall be fined $100. Each day of refusal shall constitute a separate offense. [— Stat. L. —.]

[Rural delivery service — pay of carriers.] * * * That on and after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, rural carriers assigned to horse-drawn vehicle routes on which daily service is performed shall receive $24 per mile per annum for each mile said routes are in excess of twenty-four miles or major fraction thereof, based on actual mileage, and rural carriers assigned to horse-drawn vehicle routes on which triweekly service is performed shall receive $12 per mile per annum for each mile said routes are in excess of twenty-four miles or major fraction thereof based on actual mileage: Provided further, That the pay of carriers who furnish and maintain their own motor vehicles and who serve routes not less than fifty miles in length may be fixed at not exceeding $2,160 per annum. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Pay of post office employees — postal clerks.] That during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, the annual salaries fixed by law for assistant postmasters at first and second class post offices, and supervisory officials, whose compensation is $2,200 and less per annum, shall be increased $200, and those whose compensation is in excess of $2,200 shall be increased five per centum; that clerks in first and second class post offices and letter carriers in the City Delivery Service shall be divided into six grades, as follows: First grade, salary $1,000; second grade, salary $1,100; third grade, salary $1,200; fourth grade, salary $1,300; fifth grade, salary $1,400; sixth grade, salary $1,500. Clerks and carriers shall be promoted successively to the sixth grade: Provided, That on July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, clerks in first and second class post offices and letter carriers in the City Delivery Service who are in grades two, three, four, five, and six, under the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and seven, as amended, shall pass automatically from such grades and the salaries they receive thereunder to the new grades, one, two, three, four, and five, respectively, with the salaries provided for such grades in this Act: Provided further, That the salaries of railway postal clerks shall be graded as follows: Grade one at $1,100; grade two at $1,200; grade three at $1,300; grade four at $1,400; grade five at $1,500; grade six at $1,600; grade seven at $1,700; grade eight at $1,800; grade nine at $1,900; grade ten at $2,000.

The Postmaster General shall classify and fix the salaries of railway postal clerks, under such regulations as he may prescribe, in the grades provided by law; and for the purpose of organization and establishing maximum grades to which promotions may be made successively, as hereinafter provided, he shall classify railway post offices, terminal railway post offices, and transfer offices with reference to their character and importance in three classes, with salary grades as follows:

Class A, $1,100 to $1,400; class B, $1,100 to $1,500; and Class C, $1,100 to $1,700. He may assign to the offices of division superintendents and chief clerks such railway postal clerks as may be necessary, and fix their salaries within the grades provided by law without regard to the classification of railway post offices: Provided, That on July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, railway postal clerks shall pass automatically from the grades they are in and the salaries they receive under the Act of August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, to the corresponding grade, with salaries provided for in this Act: Provided, That the classifications and increases of salaries provided for in this section shall not be continued beyond the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen: Provided further, That the salary of clerks, carriers, and railway postal clerks shall be increased during the fiscal year nineteen hundred and nineteen, not more than $200: Provided further, That the classifications herein provided for shall not become effective until July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen: Provided further, That the salaries of such other employees fixed by law or paid from lump-sum appropriations provided for in this Act, including laborers in the Railway Mail Service, who receive $800 per annum or less shall be increased twenty per centum per annum; those who receive in excess of $800 and not more than $1,500 shall be increased fifteen per centum per annum; and those who receive in excess of $1,500 and not more than $2,200 shall be increased ten per centum per annum. Rural carriers assigned to horse-drawn vehicle routes now receiving a compensation of $1,200 or less per annum, exclusive of mileage allowance for miles on routes over twenty-four miles in length, shall receive, in addition thereto, twenty per centum of the amount of such compensation. Such increases shall not apply to the special assistant to the Attorney General appropriated for in this Act and to postmasters at offices of the first, second, and third classes: Provided further, That postmasters of the fourth class shall receive the same compensation as now provided by law, except that they shall receive one hundred per centum of the cancellations of the first $80 or less per quarter: Provided further, That, if the compensation does not exceed $50 for any one quarter, fourth-class postmasters shall be allowed an increase of twenty per centum of the compensation allowed under existing law: Provided further, That no office shall be advanced to third-class by reason of the temporary increases herein provided: Provided further, That hereafter substitute, temporary, or auxiliary clerks and letter carriers at first and second-class post offices shall be paid at the rate of 40 cents an hour: Provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to employees who receive a part of their pay from any outside sources under cooperative arrangement with the Post Office Department, or to employees who serve voluntarily or receive only a nominal compensation: And provided further, That the increased compensation, at the rate of five per centum and ten per centum for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, shall not be computed as salary in construing this section. So much as may be necessary for the increases provided for in this Act is hereby appropriated. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Watchmen, messengers and laborers — postal clerks — hours of labor — Sundays and holidays.] That hereafter watchmen, messengers, and laborers in first and second class post offices, and railway postal clerks assigned to terminal railway post offices and transfer offices, shall be required to work not more than eight hours a day, and that the eight hours of service shall not extend over a longer period than ten consecutive hours, and that in cases of emergency or if the needs of the service require they may be required to work in excess of eight hours a day, and for such additional services they shall be paid in proportion to their salaries as fixed by law: Provided, That hereafter when the needs of the Postal Service require the employment on Sundays and holidays of railway postal clerks assigned to terminal railway post offices and transfer offices, they shall be granted compensatory time in the same manner as provided by law for clerks and carriers in first and second class offices. [— Stat. L. —.]

Sections 4 and 5 of this Act are omitted because they are of no general value.

SEC. 6. [Surety against losses — United States liberty loan bonds.] The Postmaster General may, under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe, accept United States liberty loan bonds in lieu of either corporate or personal surety from contractors, officers, and employees of the Postal Service to indemnify the Government against losses resulting from the failure of any contractor, officer, or employee of the Postal Service to properly discharge his official duty. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Transportation of food products — motor vehicle truck routes.] That to promote the conservation of food products and to facilitate the collection and delivery thereof from producer to consumer, and the delivery of articles necessary in the production of such food products to the producers, the Postmaster General is hereby authorized to conduct experiments in the operation of motor-vehicle truck routes in the vicinity of such cities of the United States as he may select, and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, and the cost of such experiments, not exceeding $300,000, may be paid by the Postmaster General out of any unexpended appropriations of the Postal Service, and the Postmaster General shall report the result of such experiments to the Congress at the earliest practicable date. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 8. [Transportation of mails — aeroplanes and automobiles.] That the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, deliver and turn over to the Postmaster General from time to time, and without charge therefor, for use in the Postal Service, such aeroplanes and automobiles or parts thereof as may prove to be, or as shall become, unsuitable for the purposes of the War Department but suitable for the use of the Postal Service; and the Postmaster General is hereby authorized to use the same, in his discretion, in the transportation of the mails and to pay the necessary expenses thereof out of the appropriation for inland transportation by steamboat or other power boat or by aeroplanes or star route. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 9. [Employees in military or naval service — reemployment on discharge from service.] Employees, including substitute employees, of the Postal Service who have entered the military or naval service of the United States or who shall hereafter enter it during the existence of the present war, shall, when honorably discharged from such service, be reassigned to their duties in the Postal Service at the salary to which they would have been automatically promoted had they remained in the Postal Service, provided they are physically and mentally qualified to perform the duties of such positions. [— Stat. L. —.]

Section 10 is omitted as it concerns merely the adjustment of certain claims and has no general provision.

For section 11, see WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT.

SEC. 12. [Postal savings depository — balance to credit of any one person — non-interest paying deposits.] That hereafter the balance to the credit of any one person in a postal-savings depository, exclusive of accumulated interest, shall not exceed $2,500. Non-interest paying deposits shall not be accepted. All laws inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 13. [Postal savings depositories — restriction of deposits — cards for small amounts — savings stamps.] That section six of the Act approved June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby further amended so that the proviso in said section shall read as follows:

“ Provided, That in order that smaller amounts may be accumulated for deposit, any person may purchase for 10 cents, from any postal-savings depository, specially prepared adhesive stamps to be known as ‘postal-savings stamps,’ and attach them to a card which shall be furnished for the purpose. A card with ten postal-savings stamps affixed shall be accepted as a deposit of $1 either in opening an account or in adding to an existing account, or may be redeemed in cash. [— Stat. L. —.]

For Act of June 25, 1910, ch. 243, § 6, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 295; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 243.

[SEC. 1.] [Assignment of employees by Postmaster General.] * * *
The Postmaster General shall assign to the several bureaus, offices, and divisions of the Post Office Department such number of the employees herein authorized as may be necessary to perform the work required therein; and he shall submit a statement showing such assignments and the number employed at the various salaries in the annual Book of Estimates following the estimate for salaries in the Post Office Department.

PRESIDENT

Act of Feb. 14, 1917, ch. —, 667.

Threats against President — Punishment, 667.

An Act To punish persons who make threats against the President of the United States.

[Act of Feb. 14, 1917, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[Threats against President — punishment.] That any person who knowingly and willfully deposits or causes to be deposited for conveyance in the mail or for delivery from any post office or by any letter carrier any letter, paper, writing, print, missive, or document containing any threat to take the life of or to inflict bodily harm upon the President of the United States, or who knowingly and wilfully otherwise makes any such threat against the President, shall upon conviction be fined not exceeding $1,000 or imprisoned not exceeding five years, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

Sufficiency of indictments.—In Clark v. U. S., 250 Fed. 449, plaintiff in error was convicted under this Act for the use of the following language, alleged by the indictment to have been with reference to the President: "Wilson is a wooden-headed son of a bitch. I wish Wilson was in hell, and if I had the power I would put him there." It was held that a motion to quash the indictment was properly overruled by the court below.

In U. S. v. French, 243 Fed. 785, an indictment under this Act set out letters passing from the defendant to another person as follows: "Dear Sir: if the german people can pay $20,000.00 for Wilson [the President of the United States] wholesale fires, or soldier poisoning answer yes by cutting or having 6 of the Spanish banuts off at roots, I mean the ones on front of lot close to corner of gate way. A pro-Jerman Anarclist." And also the following: "I have an invention that will destroy an entire fleet, Navy without a noise or shot, I can burn cities and poison thousands. I am not crazy or a faker but can produce the goods lets get together." It was held that these letters did not separately or taken together contain a threat to take the life of the President, or to do him bodily harm, and that a demurrer to the indictment should be sustained.

In U. S. v. Stickrath, 242 Fed. 151, the indictment charged that the defendant on a certain date "did unlawfully, knowingly, and wilfully make a threat against the President of the United States, to wit, a threat to take the life of or to inflict bodily harm upon the said President of the United States, said threat being then and there uttered and spoken by the said Pemberton W. Stickrath in words and substance as follows, to wit: 'President Wilson ought to be killed. It is a wonder some one has not done it already. If I had an opportunity, I would do it myself'—contrary to the form of the statute," etc. It was held in demurrer that the indictment was sufficient.

PRISONS AND PRISONERS

Act of July 10, 1918, ch. —, 668.

Sec. 1. United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia — Manufacture of Supplies for Use of Government — Establishment of Factories, 668.

2. Sale of Manufactured Articles — Disposition of Proceeds, 669.

7. Working Capital — Disbursement, 670.

8. Products of Industries — Limitation on Disposition, 670.

9. Repeal of Inconsistent Laws, 670.

An Act To equip the United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, for the manufacture of supplies for the use of the Government, for the compensation of prisoners for their labor, and for other purposes.

[Act of July 10, 1918, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] [United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia — manufacture of supplies for use of government — establishment of factories.] That the Attorney General of the United States is authorized and directed to establish, equip, maintain, and operate at the United States Penitentiary, Atlanta, Georgia, a factory or factories for the manufacture of cotton fabrics to supply the requirements of the War and Navy Departments, the Shipping Corporation, cotton duck suitable for tents and other army purposes and canvas for mail sacks and for the manufacture of mail sacks and other similar mail-carrying equipment for the use of the United States Government. The factory or factories shall not be so operated as to abolish any existing Government workshop or curtail the production within its present limits of any such Government workshop, and the articles so manufactured shall be sold only to the Government of the United States.

The Attorney General is hereby further authorized and directed to acquire by purchase or condemnation proceedings such tracts of land at such points as he may determine, at a total cost of not to exceed $200,000, which may be cleared, graded, and cultivated. And the Attorney General is authorized to employ the inmates of the institution herein mentioned under such regulations as he may prescribe in the work of clearing, grading, and cultivation of such acquired tracts of land. The products of any such agricultural development, including live stock, shall be utilized in said penitentiary or be sold to the Government of the United States for the use of the military and naval forces of the United States. [— Stat. L.—.]

SEC. 2. [Sale of manufactured articles — disposition of proceeds.] That articles so manufactured shall be sold at the current market prices as determined by the Attorney General or his authorized agent, and all moneys or reimbursements received from such sales shall be deposited to the credit of the working capital fund created by this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Payment to inmates or dependents of pecuniary earnings.] That the Attorney General is hereby authorized and empowered to provide for the payment to the inmates or dependents upon inmates of said penitentiary such pecuniary earnings as he may deem proper, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe. Such earnings shall be paid out of the working capital fund. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Appropriation for purchase of machinery and other equipment.] That there is authorized to be appropriated the sum of $650,000 for the purchase of machinery and other equipment to carry out the purposes of this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Working capital — creation of fund.] That there is created a fund, to be known as the working capital, which shall be available for the carrying on the industrial enterprise authorized herein or which may be authorized hereafter by law to be carried on in said penitentiary. The working capital shall consist of the sum of $150,000, which sum is authorized to be appropriated. The receipts from the sale of the products or by-products of the said industries and the sale of condemned machinery or equipment shall be credited to the working capital fund and be available for appropriation by Congress, annually, for the purposes set forth in this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Report to Congress.] That at the opening of each regular session of Congress the Attorney General shall make a detailed report to Congress of the receipts and expenditures made hereunder, the quantity of material of different kinds bought or otherwise acquired and used, the number of persons employed, the hours of labor and the wages paid, the amount and kind of goods manufactured, and the prices paid therefor; also the agricultural products grown or produced on land owned or cultivated by or under the direction of the Attorney General or by the authorities of said penitentiary, the amount used therein, the amount sold, the prices, and total amount received therefor. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Working capital — disbursement.] That said working capital shall be disbursed under the direction of the Attorney General and shall be available for the purchase, repair, or replacement of machinery or equipment, for the purchase of raw materials or parts, for the employment of necessary civilian officers and employees at the penitentiary and in Washington, for the repair and maintenance of buildings and equipment, and for all other necessary expenses in carrying out the provisions of this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 8. [Products of industries — limitation on disposition.] That the products of said industries shall not be disposed of except as provided in this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 9. [Repeal of inconsistent laws.] That all laws and parts of laws to the extent that they are in conflict with this Act are repealed. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 400. [Bonds — issue for specially designated expenditures — character — redemption.] That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to borrow on the credit of the United States from time to time such sums as in his judgment may be required to meet public expenditures on account of the Mexican situation, the construction of the armorplate plant, the construction of the Alaskan Railway, and the purchase of the Danish West Indies, or to reimburse the Treasury for such expenditures, and to prepare and issue therefor bonds of the United States not exceeding in the aggregate $100,000,000, in such form as he may prescribe, bearing interest payable quarterly at a rate not exceeding three per centum per annum; and such bonds shall be payable, principal and interest, in United States gold coin of the present standard of value, and both principal and interest shall be exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal, or local authority, and shall not be receivable by the Treasurer of the United States as security for the issue of circulating notes to national banks: Provided, That such bonds may be disposed of by the Secretary of the Treasury at not less than par, under such regulations as he may prescribe, giving all citizens of the United States an equal opportunity therefor, but no commissions shall be allowed or paid thereon; and a sum not exceeding one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of the bonds herein authorized is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of preparing, advertising, and issuing the same: And provided further, That in addition to such issue of bonds, the Secretary of the Treasury may prepare and issue for the purposes specified in this section any portion of the bonds of the United States now available for issue under authority of section thirty-nine of the Act entitled "An Act to provide revenue, equalize duties, and encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," approved August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine: And provided further, That the issue of bonds under authority of this Act and any Panama Canal bonds hereafter issued under authority of section thirty-nine of the Act entitled "An Act to provide revenue, equalize duties, and encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," approved August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine, shall be made redeemable and payable at such times within fifty years after the date of their issue as the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, may deem advisable. [39 Stat. L. 1002.]

The foregoing section 400 and the following section 401 are a part of Title IV of an Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 159, entitled "An Act To provide revenue to defray the expenses of the increased appropriations for the Army and Navy and the extensions of fortifications and for other purposes." Joint Resolution To expedite the delivery of materials, equipment, and munitions, and to secure more expeditious construction of ships.

[Res. of March 4, 1917, ch. 191, 39 Stat. L. 1201.]

of issue to twenty years from date of issue, bearing interest payable semi-annually at a rate not exceeding three per centum per annum: Provided further, That such bonds shall be issued at not less than par, shall bear interest not exceeding three per centum per annum, shall not have the circulation privilege attached, and that all citizens of the United States shall be given an equal opportunity to subscribe therefor, but no commission shall be allowed or paid thereon; both principal and interest shall be payable in United States gold coin of the present standard of value, and shall be exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal, or local authority. In order to pay the necessary expenses connected with said issue of bonds a sum not exceeding one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of bonds herein authorized is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct. [39 Stat. L. 1201.]

An Act To authorize an issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and, for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war, to extend credit to foreign governments, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Bond issue for national security and defense — amount — form — sale.] That the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, is hereby authorized to borrow, from time to time, on the credit of the United States for the purposes of this Act, and to meet expenditures authorized for the national security and defense and other public purposes authorized by law not exceeding in the aggregate $5 000,000,000, exclusive of the sums authorized by section four of this Act, and to issue therefor bonds of the United States.

The bonds herein authorized shall be in such form and subject to such terms and conditions of issue, conversion, redemption, maturities, payment, and rate and time of payment of interest, not exceeding three and one-half per centum per annum as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. The principal and interest thereof shall be payable in United States gold coin of the present standard of value and shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation, except estate or inheritance taxes, imposed by authority of the United States, or its possessions, or by any State or local taxing authority; but such bonds shall not bear the circulation privilege.

The bonds herein authorized shall first be offered at not less than par as a popular loan, under such regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury as will give all citizens of the United States an equal opportunity to participate therein; and any portion of the bonds so offered and not subscribed for may be otherwise disposed of at not less than par by the Secretary of the Treasury; but no commissions shall be allowed or paid on any bonds issued under authority of this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Establishment of credits for foreign governments — foreign bonds — purchase.] That for the purpose of more effectually providing for the national security and defense and prosecuting the war by establishing credits in the United States for foreign governments, the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, is hereby authorized, on behalf of the United States, to purchase, at par, from such foreign governments then engaged in war with the enemies of the United States, their obligations hereafter issued, bearing the same rate of interest and containing in their essentials the same terms and conditions as those of the United States issued under authority of this Act; to enter into such arrangements as may be necessary or desirable for establishing such credits and for purchasing such obligations of foreign governments and for the subsequent payment thereof before maturity, but such arrangements shall provide that if any of the bonds of the United States issued and used for the purchase of such foreign obligations shall thereafter be converted into other bonds of the United States bearing a higher rate of interest than three and one-half per centum per annum under the provisions of section five of this Act, then and in that event the obligations of such foreign governments held by the United States shall be, by such foreign governments, converted in like manner and extent into obligations bearing the same rate of interest as the bonds of the United States issued under the provisions of section five of this Act. For the purposes of this section there is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $3,000,000,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary: Provided, That the authority granted by this section to the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase bonds from foreign governments, as aforesaid, shall cease upon the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Obligations of foreign governments — sale.] That the Secretary of the Treasury, under such terms and conditions as he may prescribe, is hereby authorized to receive on or before maturity payment for any obligations of such foreign governments purchased on behalf of the United States, and to sell at not less than the purchase price any of such obligations and to apply the proceeds thereof, and any payments made by foreign governments on account of their said obligations to the redemption or purchase at not more than par and accrued interest of any bonds of the United States issued under authority of this Act; and if such bonds are not available for this purpose the Secretary of the Treasury shall redeem or purchase any other outstanding interest-bearing obligations of the United States which may at such time be subject to call or which may be purchased at not more than par and accrued interest. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Issuance of bonds under former statute — borrowing on credit of United States.] That the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, is hereby authorized to issue the bonds not already issued heretofore authorized by section thirty-nine of the Act approved August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An Act to provide revenue, equalize duties, and encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes"; section one hundred and twenty-four of the Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, entitled "An Act for making further and more effectual provision for the national defense, and for other purposes"; section thirteen of the Act of September seventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen, entitled "An Act to establish a United States shipping board for the purpose of encouraging, developing, and creating a naval auxiliary and a naval reserve and a merchant marine to meet the requirements of the commerce of the United States with its Territories and possessions and with foreign countries, to regulate carriers by water engaged in the foreign and interstate commerce of the United States, and for other purposes"; section four hundred of the Act approved March third, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An act to provide increased revenue to defray the expenses of the increased appropriations for the Army and Navy and the extensions of fortifications, and for other purposes"; and the public resolution approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "Joint resolution to expedite the delivery of materials, equipment, and munitions and to secure more expeditious construction of ships," in the manner and under the terms and conditions prescribed in section one of this Act.

That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to borrow on the credit of the United States from time to time, in addition to the sum authorized in section one of this Act, such additional amount, not exceeding $63,945,460 as may be necessary to redeem the three per cent loan of nineteen hundred and eight to nineteen hundred and eighteen, maturing August first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and to issue therefor bonds of the United States in the manner and under the terms and conditions prescribed in section one of this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Rate of interest of bonds — higher rate when allowed.] That any series of bonds issued under authority of sections one and four of this Act may, under such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, be convertible into bonds bearing a higher rate of interest than the rate at which the same were issued if any subsequent series of bonds shall be issued at a higher rate of interest before the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, the date of such termination to be fixed by a proclamation of the President of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Certificates of indebtedness.] That in addition to the bonds authorized by sections one and four of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to borrow from time to time, on the credit of the United States, for the purposes of this Act and to meet public expenditures authorized by law, such sum or sums as, in his judgment, may be necessary, and to issue therefor certificates of indebtedness at not less than par in such form and subject to such terms and conditions and at such rate of interest, not exceeding three and one-half per centum per annum, as he may prescribe; and each certificate so issued shall be payable, with the interest accrued thereon, at such time, not exceeding one year from the date of its issue, as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. Certificates of indebtedness herein authorized shall not bear the circulation privilege, and the sum of such certificates outstanding shall at no time exceed in the aggregate $2,000,000,000, and such certificates shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation, except estate or inheritance taxes, imposed by authority of the United States, or its possessions, or by any State or local taxing authority. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Proceeds of bonds and certificates — where deposited.] That the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, is hereby authorized to deposit in such banks and trust companies as he may designate the proceeds, or any part thereof, arising from the sale of the bonds and certificates of indebtedness authorized by this Act, or the bonds previously authorized as described in section four of this Act, and such deposits may bear such rate of interest and be subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe: Provided, That the amount so deposited shall not in any case exceed the amount withdrawn from any such bank or trust company and invested in such bonds or certificates of indebtedness plus the amount so invested by such bank or trust company, and such deposits shall be secured in the manner required for other deposits by section fifty-one hundred and fifty-three, Revised Statutes, and amendments thereto: Provided further, That the provisions of section fifty-one hundred and ninety-one of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the Federal Reserve Act and the amendments thereof with reference to the reserves required to be kept by national banking associations and other member banks of the Federal Reserve System, shall not apply to deposits of public moneys by the United States in designated depositories. SEC. 8. [Expenses arising under Act — how met — report.] That in order to pay all necessary expenses, including rent, connected with any operations under this Act, a sum not exceeding one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of bonds and one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of certificates of indebtedness herein authorized is hereby appropriated, or as much thereof as may be necessary, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct: Provided, That, in addition to the reports now required by law, the Secretary of the Treasury shall, on the first Monday in December, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and annually thereafter, transmit to the Congress a detailed statement of all expenditures under this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 9. [Title of Act.] That the short title of this Act shall be "First Liberty Bond Act." [— Stat. L. —.]

This was added as a new section to this Act by the Third Liberty Bond Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 7.

An Act To authorize an additional issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and, for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war, to extend additional credit to foreign Governments, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Bond issue for national security and defense—amount—form—sale.] That the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, is hereby authorized to borrow, from time to time, on the credit of the United States for the purposes of this Act, and to meet expenditures authorized for the national security and defense and other public purposes authorized by law, not exceeding in the aggregate $20,000,000,000, and to issue therefor bonds of the United States, in addition to the $2,000,000,000 bonds already issued or offered for subscription under authority of the Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An Act to authorize an issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and, for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war, to extend credit to foreign governments, and for other purposes": Provided, That of this sum $3,062,945,460 shall be in lieu of that amount of the unissued bonds authorized by sections one and four of the Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, $225,000,000 shall be in lieu of that amount of the unissued bonds authorized by section thirty-nine of the Act approved August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine, $150,000,000 shall be in lieu of the unissued bonds authorized by the joint resolution approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and $100,000,000 shall be in lieu of the unissued bonds authorized by section four hundred of the Act approved March third, nineteen hundred and seventeen.

The bonds herein authorized shall be in such form or forms and denomination or denominations and subject to such terms and conditions of issue, conversion, redemption, maturities, payment, and rate or rates of interest, not exceeding four and one-quarter per centum per annum, and time or times of payment of interest, as the Secretary of the Treasury from time to time at or before the issue thereof may prescribe. The principal and interest thereof shall be payable in United States gold coin of the present standard of value.

The bonds herein authorized shall from time to time first be offered at not less than par as a popular loan, under such regulations, prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury from time to time, as will in his opinion give the people of the United States as nearly as may be an equal opportunity to participate therein, but he may make allotment in full upon applications for smaller amounts of bonds in advance of any date which he may set for the closing of subscriptions and may reject or reduce allotments upon later applications and applications for larger amounts, and may reject or reduce allotments upon applications from incorporated banks and trust companies for their own account and make allotment in full or larger allotments to others, and may establish a graduated scale of allotments, and may from time to time adopt any or all of said methods, should any such action be deemed by him to be in the public interest: Provided, That such reduction or increase of allotments of such bonds shall be made under general rules to be prescribed by said Secretary and shall apply to all subscribers similarly situated. And any portion of the bonds so offered and not taken may be otherwise disposed of by the Secretary of the Treasury in such manner and at such price or prices, not less than par, as he may determine. The Secretary may make special arrangements for subscriptions at not less than par from persons in the military or naval forces of the United States, but any bonds issued to such persons shall be in all respects the same as other bonds of the same issue. [— Stat. L. —, as amended by — Stat. L. —, — Stat. L. —.]

This section was first amended by increasing the aggregate amount of the bond issue from $7,538,945,460, which was originally authorized, to $12,000,000,000, changing the interest rate from four per cent per annum to four and one-quarter per cent per annum, and adding the last sentence of the section relating to subscriptions from persons in the military or naval service, by the Third Liberty Bond Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 1.

As so amended it was again amended by striking out the figures "$12,000,000,000" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures $20,000,000,000, as given in the text, by the Fourth Liberty Bond Act of July 9, 1918, ch. —, § 1.

The Act of April 24 1917, ch. —, mentioned in the text, is given supra, p. 675.

For the Act of Aug. 5, 1909, ch. 6, § 39, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 834; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 417.

The Res. of March 4, 1917, ch. 191, mentioned in the text, is given supra, p. 674.

The Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 159, § 400, mentioned in the text, is given supra, p. 673.

SEC. 2. [Establishment of credits for foreign governments — foreign bond — purchase.] That for the purpose of more effectually providing for the national security and defense and prosecuting the war, the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, is hereby authorized, on behalf of the United States, to establish credits with the United States for any foreign governments then engaged in war with the enemies of the United States; and, to the extent of the credits so established from time to time, the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to purchase, at par, from such foreign governments respectively their several obligations hereafter issued, bearing such rate or rates of interest, maturing at such date or dates, not later than the bonds of the United States then last issued under the authority of this Act, or of such Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and containing such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Treasury may from time to time determine, or to make advances to or for the account of any such foreign governments and to receive such obligations at par for the amount of any such advances; but the rate or rates of interest borne by any such obligations shall not be less than the highest rate borne by any bonds of the United States which, at the time of the acquisition thereof, shall have been issued under authority of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or of this Act, and any such obligations shall contain such provisions as the Secretary of the Treasury may from time to time determine for the conversion of a proportionate part of such obligations into obligations bearing a higher rate of interest if bonds of the United States issued under authority of this Act shall be converted in other bonds of the United States bearing a higher rate of interest, but the rate of interest in such foreign obligations issued upon such conversion shall not be less than the highest rate of interest borne by such bonds of the United States; and the Secretary of the Treasury with the approval of the President, is hereby authorized to enter into such arrangements from time to time with any such foreign Governments as may be necessary or desirable for establishing such credits and for the payment of such obligations of foreign Governments before maturity. For the purposes of this section there is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $7,000,000,000, and in addition thereto the unexpended balance of the appropriations made by section two of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or so much thereof as may be necessary: Provided, That the authority granted by this section to the Secretary of the Treasury to establish credits for foreign Governments, as aforesaid, shall cease upon the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government. [— Stat. L. —, as amended by — Stat. L. —, — Stat. L. —.]

This section was first amended by substituting in the last sentence the figures $5,500,000,000 for the figures $4,000,000,000, which originally appeared, by the Third Liberty Bond Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 2 and as so amended it was again amended by striking out the figures $5,500,000,000 and inserting in lieu thereof the figures $7,000,000,000, as given in the text, by the Fourth Liberty Bond Act of July 9, 1918, ch. —, § 2.

The Act of April 24, 1917, ch. —, mentioned in the text, is given supra, p. 675.

SEC. 3. [Obligations of foreign governments — conversion into obligations containing different terms — sale.] That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized, from time to time, to exercise in respect to any obligations of foreign governments acquired under authority of this Act or of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, any privilege of conversion into obligations bearing interest at a higher rate provided for in or pursuant to this Act or said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and to convert any short-time obligations of foreign governments which may have been purchased under the authority of this Act or of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, into long-time obligations of such foreign governments, respectively, maturing not later than the bonds of the United States then last issued under the authority of this Act or of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, as the case may be, and in such form and terms as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe; but the rate or rates of interest borne by any such long-time obligations at the time of their acquisition shall not be less than the rate borne by the short-time obligations so converted into such long-time obligations; and, under such terms and conditions as he may from time to time prescribe, to receive payment, on or before maturity, of any obligations of such foreign governments acquired on behalf of the United States under authority of this Act or of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and, with the approval of the President, to sell any of such obligations (but not at less than the purchase price with accrued interest unless otherwise hereafter provided by law), and to apply the proceeds thereof, and any payments so received from foreign governments on account of the principal of their said obligations, to the redemption or purchase, at not more than par and accrued interest, of any bonds of the United States issued under authority of this Act or of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; and if such bonds can not be so redeemed or purchased the Secretary of the Treasury shall redeem or purchase any other outstanding interest-bearing obligations of the United States which may at such time be subject to redemption or which can be purchased at not more than par and accrued interest. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Convertible bonds — reissuance when authorized.] That in connection with the issue of any series of bonds under the authority of section one of this Act the Secretary of the Treasury may determine that the bonds of such series shall be convertible as provided in or pursuant to this section, and, in any such case, he may make appropriate provision to that end in offering for subscription the bonds of such series (hereinafter called convertible bonds). In any case of the issue of a series of convertible bonds, if a subsequent series of bonds (not including United States certificates of indebtedness, war savings certificates, and other obligations maturing not more than five years from the issue of such obligations, respectively) bearing interest at a higher rate shall, under the authority of this or any other Act, be issued by the United States before the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, then the holders of such convertible bonds shall have the privilege, at the option of the several holders, at any time within such period, after the public offering of bonds of such subsequent series, and under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall have prescribed, of converting their bonds, at par, into bonds bearing such higher rate of interest at such price not less than par as the Secretary of the Treasury shall have prescribed. The bonds to be issued upon such conversion under this Act shall be substantially the same in form and terms as shall be prescribed by or pursuant to law with respect to the bonds of such subsequent series, not only as to interest rate but also as to convertibility (if future bonds be issued at a still higher rate of interest) or nonconvertibility, and as to exemption from taxation, if any, and in all other respects, except that the bonds issued upon such conversion shall have the same dates of maturity, of principal, and of interest, and be subject to the same terms of redemption before maturity, as the bonds converted; and such bonds shall be issued from time to time if and when and to the extent that the privilege of conversion so conferred shall arise and shall be exercised. If the privilege of conversion so conferred under this Act shall once arise, and shall not be exercised with respect to any convertible bonds within the period so prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, then such privilege shall terminate as to such bonds and shall not arise again though again thereafter bonds be issued bearing interest at a higher rate or rates. That holders of bonds bearing interest at a higher rate than four per centum per annum, whether issued (a) under section one, or (b) upon conversion of four per centum bonds issued under section one, or (c) upon conversion of three and one-half per centum bonds issued under said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or (d) upon conversion of four per centum bonds issued upon conversion of such three and one-half per centum bonds, shall not be entitled to any privilege of conversion under or pursuant to this section or otherwise. The provisions of section seven shall extend to all such bonds.

If bonds bearing interest at a higher rate than four per centum per annum shall be issued before July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, then any bonds bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum which shall, after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and before the expiration of the six months' conversion period prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, be presented for conversion into bonds bearing interest at such higher rate, shall, for the purpose of computing the amount of interest payable, be deemed to have been converted on the dates for the payment of the semiannual interest on the respective bonds so presented for conversion, last preceding the date of such presentation. [— Stat. L. —, as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

The last two paragraphs were added to this section by the Third Liberty Bond Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 3.

The Act of April 24, 1917, ch. —, is given supra, p. 675.

SEC. 5. [Certificates of indebtedness.] That in addition to the bonds authorized by section one of this Act the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to borrow from time to time, on the credit of the United States, for the purposes of this Act and to meet public expenditures authorized by law, such sum or sums as in his judgment may be necessary, and to issue therefor certificates of indebtedness of the United States at not less than par in such form or forms and subject to such terms and conditions and at such rate or rates of interest as he may prescribe; and each certificate so issued shall be payable at such time not exceeding one year from the date of its issue, and may be redeemable before maturity upon such terms and conditions, and the interest accruing thereon shall be payable at such time or times as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. The sum of such certificates outstanding hereunder and under section six of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall not at any one time exceed in the aggregate $8,000,000,000. [— Stat. L. —, as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Third Liberty Loan Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 4, the amendment consisting of inserting the figures $8,000,000,000 in the last sentence in lieu of $4,000,000,000 which originally appeared.

SEC. 6. [War-savings certificates.] That in addition to the bonds authorized by section one of this Act and the certificates of indebtedness authorized by section five of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to borrow from time to time, on the credit of the United States, for the purposes of this Act and to meet public expenditures authorized by law, such sum or sums as in his judgment may be necessary, and to issue therefor, at such price or prices and upon such terms and conditions as he may determine, war-savings certificates of the United States on which interest to maturity may be discounted in advance at such rate or rates and computed in such manner as he may prescribe. Such war-savings certificates shall be in such form or forms and subject to such terms and conditions, and may have such provisions for payment thereof before maturity, as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. Each war-saving certificate so issued shall be payable at such time, not exceeding five years from the date of its issue, and may be redeemable before maturity, upon such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe. The sum of such war-savings certificates outstanding shall not at any one time exceed in the aggregate $2,000,000,000. The amount of war-savings certificates sold to any one person at any one time shall not exceed $100, and it shall not be lawful for any one person at any one time to hold war-savings certificates to an aggregate amount exceeding $1,000. The Secretary of the Treasury may, under such regulations and upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe, issue, or cause to be issued, stamps to evidence payments for or on account of such certificates. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Circulation privilege — exemption from taxation.] That none of the bonds authorized by section one, nor of the certificates authorized by section five, or by section six, of this Act, shall bear the circulation privilege. All such bonds and certificates shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except (a) estate or inheritance taxes, and (b) graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess profits and war-profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations. The interest on an amount of such bonds and certificates the principal of which does not exceed in the aggregate $5,000, owned by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, shall be exempt from the taxes provided for in subdivision (b) of this section. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 8. [Proceeds from sale of bonds, etc.— where deposited — foreign depositories.] That the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, is hereby authorized to deposit, in such incorporated banks and trust companies as he may designate, the proceeds, or any part thereof, arising from the sale of the bonds and certificates of indebtedness and war-savings certificates authorized by this Act, and arising from the payment of income and excess profits taxes, and such deposits shall bear such rate or rates of interest, and shall be secured in such manner, and shall be made upon and subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Treasury may from time to time prescribe: Provided, That the provisions of section fifty-one hundred and ninety-one of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the Federal Reserve Act, and the amendments thereof, with reference to the reserves required to be kept by national banking associations and other member banks of the Federal Reserve System, shall not apply to deposits of public moneys by the United States in designated depositories. The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to designate depositories in foreign countries with which shall be deposited all public money which it may be necessary or desirable to have on deposit in such countries to provide for current disbursements to the military and naval forces of the United States and to the diplomatic and consular and other representatives of the United States in and about such countries until six months after the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, and to prescribe the terms and conditions of such deposits. [Stat. L. — as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Third Liberty Bond Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 5. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 8. That the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, is hereby authorized to deposit, in such incorporated banks and trust companies as he may designate, the proceeds, or any part thereof, arising from the sale of the bonds and certificates of indebtedness and war-savings certificates authorized by this Act, and such deposits shall bear such rate or rates of interest, and shall be secured in such manner, and shall be made upon and subject to such terms and conditions, as the Secretary of the Treasury may from time to time prescribe: Provided, That the provisions of section fifty-one hundred and ninety-one of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the Federal Reserve Act, and the amendments thereof, with reference to the reserves required to be kept by national banking associations and other member banks of the Federal Reserve System, shall not apply to deposits of public moneys by the United States in designated depositories. The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to designate depositories in foreign countries, with which shall be deposited all public money which it may be necessary or desirable to have on deposit in such countries to provide for current disbursements to the military and naval forces of the United States and to the diplomatic and consular and other representatives of the United States in and about such countries until six months after the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, and to prescribe the terms and conditions of such deposits."

SEC. 9. [Government employees — services in connection with sale of bonds — compensation.] That in connection with the operations of advertising, selling, and delivering any bonds, certificates of indebtedness, or war-savings certificates of the United States provided for in this Act, the Postmaster General, under such regulations as he may prescribe, shall require, at the request of the Secretary of the Treasury, the employees of the Post Office Department and of the Postal Service to perform such services as may be necessary, desirable, or practicable, without extra compensation. [Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 10. [Expenses incident to sale of bonds etc.— appropriation — reports.] That in order to pay all necessary expenses, including rent, connected with any operations under this Act, except under section twelve, a sum not exceeding one-fifth of one per centum of the amount of bonds and war-saving certificates and one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of certificates of indebtedness herein authorized is hereby appropriated, or as much thereof as may be necessary, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct: Provided, That in addition to the reports now required by law, the Secretary of the Treasury shall, on the first Monday in December, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and annually thereafter, transmit to the Congress a detailed statement of all expenditures under this Act. [Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 11. [Issuance of bonds under earlier statute — interchange of bonds — certificates of indebtedness — exemption from taxation or duties — former Act amended.] That bonds shall not be issued under authority of sections one and four of said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in addition to the $2,000,000,000 thereof heretofore issued or offered for subscription, but bonds shall be issued from time to time upon the interchange of such bonds of different denominations and of coupon and registered bonds and upon the transfer of registered bonds, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe, and, if and to the extent that the privilege of conversion provided for in such bonds shall arise and shall be exercised, in accordance with such provision for such conversion. No bonds shall be issued under authority of the several sections of Acts and of the resolution mentioned in said section four of the Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; but the proceeds of the bonds herein authorized may be used for purposes mentioned in said section four of the Act of April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and as set forth in the Acts therein enumerated.

That section two of an Act of Congress approved February fourth, nineteen hundred and ten, entitled "An Act prescribing certain provisions and conditions under which bonds and certificates of indebtedness of the United States may be issued, and for other purposes," is hereby amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 2. That any certificates of indebtedness hereafter issued shall be exempt from all taxes or duties of the United States (but, in the case of certificates issued after September first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, only if and to the extent provided in connection with the issue thereof), as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal, or local authority; and that a sum not exceeding one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of any certificates of indebtedness issued is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of preparing, advertising, and issuing the same." [Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Feb. 4, 1910, ch. 25, § 2, amended by this section, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 309; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 418.

SEC. 12. [Auditing accounts during war — place of auditing — manner, etc.] That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized during the war, whenever it shall appear that the public interests require that any of the accounts of the Military Establishment be audited at any place other than the seat of Government, to direct the Comptroller of the Treasury and the Auditor for the War Department to exercise, either in person or through assistants, the powers and perform the duties of their offices at any place or places away from the seat of Government in the manner that is or may be required by law at the seat of Government and in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(a) That when the Secretary of the Treasury shall exercise the authority herein referred to, the powers and duties of the said comptroller and auditor, under and pursuant to the provisions of the Act of July thirty-first, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, and all other laws conferring jurisdiction upon those officers, shall be exercised and performed in the same manner as nearly as practicable and with the same effect away from the seat of Government as they are now exercised and performed and have effect at the seat of Government, and decisions authorized by law to be rendered by the comptroller at the request of disbursing officers may be rendered with the same effect by such assistants as may be authorized by him to perform that duty.

(b) That when pursuant to this section the said comptroller and auditor shall perform their duties at a place in a foreign country, the balances arising upon the settlement of accounts and claims of the Military Establishment shall be certified by the auditor to the Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants of the Treasury Department as now provided for the certification of balances by said auditor in Washington, and the balances so found due shall be final and conclusive upon all branches of the Government, except that any person whose account has been settled or the commanding officer of the Army abroad, or the comptroller may obtain a revision of such settlement by the comptroller upon application therefor within three months, the decision to be likewise final and conclusive and the differences arising upon such revision to be certified to and stated by the auditor as now provided by law: Provided, That certificates of balances due may be transmitted to and paid by the proper disbursing officer abroad instead of by warrant: Provided further, That any person whose account has been settled, or the Secretary of War, may obtain a reopening and review of any settlement made pursuant to this section upon application to the Comptroller of the Treasury in Washington within one year after the close of the war, and the action of the comptroller thereon shall be final and conclusive in the same manner as herein provided in the case of a balance found due by the auditor.

(c) That the comptroller and auditor shall preserve the accounts, and the vouchers and papers connected therewith, and the files of their offices in the foreign country and transmit them to Washington within six months after the close of the war and at such earlier time as may be directed by the Secretary of the Treasury as to any or all accounts, vouchers, papers, and files.

(d) That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to appoint an assistant comptroller and an assistant auditor and to fix their compensation, and to designate from among the persons to be employed hereunder one or more to act in the absence or disability of such assistant comptroller and assistant auditor. He shall also prescribe the number and maximum compensation to be paid to agents, accountants, clerks, translators, interpreters, and other persons who may be employed in the work under this section by the comptroller and auditor. The assistant comptroller and assistant auditor shall have full power to perform in a foreign country all the duties with reference to the settlement there of the accounts of the Military Establishment that the comptroller and auditor now have at the seat of Government and in foreign countries under the provisions of this section, and shall perform such duties in accordance with the instructions received from and rules and regulations made by the comptroller and auditor. Such persons as are residing in a foreign country when first employed hereunder shall not be required to take an oath of office or be required to be employed pursuant to the laws, rules, and regulations relating to the classified civil service, nor shall they be reimbursed for subsistence expenses at their post of duty or for expenses in traveling to or from the United States.

(e) That it shall be the duty of all contracting, purchasing, and disbursing officers to allow any representative of the comptroller or auditor to examine all books, records, and papers in any way connected with the receipt, disbursement, or disposal of public money, and to render such accounts and at such times as may be required by the comptroller. No administrative examination by the War Department shall be required of accounts rendered and settled abroad, and the time within which these accounts shall be rendered by disbursing officers shall be prescribed by the comptroller, who shall have power to waive any delinquency as to time or form in the rendition of these accounts. All contracts connected with accounts to be settled by the auditor abroad shall be filed in his office there.

(f) That any person appointed or employed under the provisions of this section who at the time is in the service of the United States shall, upon termination of his services hereunder, be restored to the position held by him at the time of such employment. No provision of existing law shall be construed to prevent the payment of money appropriated for the salary of any Government officer or employee at the seat of Government who may be detailed to perform duty under this section outside the District of Columbia, and such details are hereby authorized.

(g) That for the payment of the expenses in carrying into effect this section, including traveling expenses, per diem of $4 in lieu of subsistence for officers and employees absent from Washington, rent, cablegrams, and telegrams, printing, law books, books of reference, periodicals, stationery, office equipment and exchange thereof, supplies, and all other necessary expenses, there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, the sum of $300,000, of which not exceeding $25,000 may be expended at Washington for the purposes of this section, but no officer or employee shall receive for duty in Washington any compensation other than his regular salary.

(h) That the Secretary of the Treasury may designate not more than two persons employed hereunder to act as special disbursing agents of the appropriation herein, to serve under the direction of the comptroller, and their accounts shall be rendered to and settled by the accounting officers of the Treasury in Washington. All persons employed under this section shall perform such additional duties as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct.

(i) That the comptroller and the auditor, and such persons as may be authorized in writing by either of them, may administer oaths to American citizens in respect to any matter within the jurisdiction of either of said officers and certify the official character, when known, of any foreign officer whose jurat or certificate may be necessary on any paper to be filed with them.

(j) That persons engaged in work abroad under the provisions of this section may purchase from Army stores for cash and at cost price for their own use such articles or stores as may be sold to officers and enlisted men.

(k) That the authority granted under this section shall terminate six months after the close of the war or at such earlier date as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct, and it shall be the duty of the comptroller and auditor to make such reports as the Secretary of the Treasury may require of the expenditures made and work done pursuant to this section, and such reports shall be transmitted to the Congress at such time as he may decide to be compatible with the public interest.

(1) No officers, employees, or agents appointed or employed under this section shall receive more salary or compensation than like officers, employees, or agents of the Government now receive. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of July 31, 1894, ch. 174, mentioned in the text, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 382; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 834.

SEC. 13. [Date of termination of war.] That for the purposes of this Act the date of the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government shall be fixed by proclamation of the President of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 14. [Bonds receivable in payment of estate and inheritance tax.] That any bonds of the United States bearing interest at a higher rate than four per centum per annum (whether issued under section one of this Act or upon conversion of bonds issued under this Act or under said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen), which have been owned by any person continuously for at least six months prior to the date of his death, and which upon such date constitute part of his estate, shall, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, be receivable by the United States at par and accrued interest in payment of any estate or inheritance taxes imposed by the United States, under or by virtue of any present or future law upon such estate or the inheritance thereof. [— Stat. L. —.]

This section 14 and the following sections 15, 16 and 17 were added to this Act by the Third Liberty Bond Act of April 4, 1918, ch. —, § 6, entitled "An Act to amend an Act approved September twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled 'An Act to authorize an additional issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and, for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war, to extend additional credit to foreign governments, and for other purposes.'"

Sections 1-5 of said amending Act amended sections 1, 2, 4, 5 and 8 of this Act, supra, p. 679 et seq. Section 7 amended the Act of April 24, 1917, ch. —, by adding thereto a new section 9 given supra, p. 679. Section 8 was as follows:

"SEC. 8. That the short title of this Act shall be 'Third Liberty Bond Act.'"

SEC. 15. [Purchase of bonds by government — report.] That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized, from time to time, until the expiration of one year after the termination of the war, to purchase bonds issued under authority of this Act, including bonds issued upon conversion of bonds issued under this Act or said Act approved April twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, at such prices and upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe. The par amount of bonds of any such series which may be purchased in the twelve months' period beginning on the date of issue shall not exceed one-twentieth of the par amount of bonds of such series originally issued, and in each twelve months' period thereafter, shall not exceed one-twentieth of the amount of the bonds of such series outstanding at the beginning of such twelve months' period. The average cost of the bonds of any series purchased in any such twelve months' period shall not exceed par and accrued interest.

For the purposes of this section the Secretary of the Treasury shall set aside, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum not exceeding one-twentieth of the amount of such bonds issued before April first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and as and when any more such bonds are issued he shall set aside a sum not exceeding one-twentieth thereof. Whenever, by reason of purchases of bonds, as provided in this section, the amount so set aside falls below the sum which he deems necessary for the purposes of this section, the Secretary of the Treasury shall set aside such amount as he shall deem necessary, but not more than enough to bring the entire amount so set aside at such time up to one-twentieth of the amount of such bonds then outstanding. The amount so set aside by the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby appropriated for the purposes of this section, to be available until the expiration of one year after the termination of the war.

The Secretary of the Treasury shall make to Congress at the beginning of each regular session a report including a detailed statement of the operations under this section. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding section 14 of this Act.

SEC. 16. [Payment of principal and interest in foreign money.] That any of the bonds or certificates of indebtedness authorized by this Act may be issued by the Secretary of the Treasury payable, principal and interest, in any foreign money or foreign moneys, as expressed in such bonds or certificates, but not also in United States gold coin, and he may dispose of such bonds or certificates in such manner and at such prices, not less than par, as he may determine, without compliance with the provisions of the third paragraph of section one. In determining the amount of bonds and certificates issuable under this Act the dollar equivalent of the amount of any bonds or certificates payable in foreign money or foreign moneys shall be determined by the par of exchange at the date of issue thereof, as estimated by the Director of the Mint, and proclaimed by the Secretary of the Treasury, in pursuance of the provisions of section twenty-five of the Act approved August twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, entitled "An Act to reduce taxation, to provide revenue for the Government, and for other purposes." The Secretary of the Treasury may designate depositories in foreign countries, with which may be deposited as he may determine all or any part of the proceeds of any bonds or certificates authorized by this Act, payable in foreign money or foreign moneys. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Aug. 27, 1894, ch. 349, § 25, mentioned in the text, see 2 Fed. Stat. Ann. 143; 2 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 368.

SEC. 17. [Title of Act.] That the short title of this Act shall be "Second Liberty Bond Act." [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 14 of this Act, supra, p. 689.

SEC. 3. [Bonds held by nonresident alien, foreign corporation, etc.—taxation.] That notwithstanding the provisions of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended by the Third Liberty Bond Act, or of the War Finance Corporation Act, bonds and certificates of indebtedness of the United States payable in any foreign money or foreign moneys, and bonds of the War Finance Corporation payable in any foreign money or foreign moneys exclusively or in the alternative, shall, if and to the extent expressed in such bonds at the time of their issue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, while beneficially owned by a nonresident alien individual, or by a foreign corporation, partnership, or association, not engaged in business in the United States, be exempt both as to principal and interest from any and all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority. [— Stat. L. —.]

This section 3 and the following sections 4, 5, are from the Fourth Liberty Bond Act of July 9, 1918, ch. —, entitled "An Act To authorize an additional issue of bonds to meet expenditures for the national security and defense, and, for the purpose of assisting in the prosecution of the war, to extend additional credit to foreign Governments, and for other purposes."

Sections 1 and 2 of this Act amended the Act of Sept. 24, 1917, ch. —, §§ 1, 2, supra, pp. 675, 676.

SEC. 4. [Banks, trust companies, etc., as fiscal agents for selling bonds, etc.] That any incorporated bank or trust company designated as a depository by the Secretary of the Treasury under the authority conferred by section eight of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended by the Third Liberty Bond Act, which gives security for such deposits as, and to amounts, by him prescribed, may, upon and subject to such terms and conditions as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, act as a fiscal agent of the United States in connection with the operations of selling and delivering any bonds, certificates of indebtedness or war savings certificates of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

The Act of Sept. 24, 1917, ch. —, § 8, mentioned in the text, is given supra, p. 684.

An Act To alter and amend an Act entitled “An Act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Central Pacific Railroad, in California, to Portland, in Oregon,” approved July twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, as amended by the Acts of eighteen hundred and sixty-eight and eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, and to alter and amend an Act entitled “An Act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Portland to Astoria and McMinnville, in the State of Oregon,” approved May fourth, eighteen hundred and seventy, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Certain railroad lands revested in government.] That the title to so much of the lands granted by the Act of July twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, entitled “An Act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Central Pacific Railroad in California to Portland, in Oregon,” as amended by the Acts of eighteen hundred and sixty-eight and eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, for which patents have been issued by the United States, or for which the grantee is entitled to receive patents under said grant, and to so much of the lands granted by the Act of May fourth, eighteen hundred and seventy, entitled “An Act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Portland to Astoria and McMinnville, in the State of Oregon,” for which patents have been issued by the United States, or for which the grantee is entitled to receive patents under said grant, as had not been sold by the Oregon and California Railroad Company prior to July first, nineteen hundred and thirteen, be, and the same is hereby, revested in the United States: Provided, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the right of way to the extent of one hundred feet in width on each side of the railroad and all lands in actual use by said railroad company on December ninth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, for depots, sidetracks, wood yards, and standing grounds. [39 Stat. L. 218.]

Preceding the foregoing section was the following preamble:

"Whereas by the Acts of Congress approved April tenth, eighteen hundred and sixty-nine (Fourteenth Statutes at Large, page two hundred and thirty-nine), and May fourth, eighteen hundred and seventy (Sixteenth Statutes at Large, page ninety-four), it was provided that the lands granted to aid in the construction of certain railroads from Portland, in the State of Oregon, to the northern boundary of the State of California, and from Portland to Astoria and McMinnville, in the State of Oregon, should be sold to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres to each person and at prices not greater than $2.50 per acre; and

"Whereas the Oregon and California Railroad Company, beneficiary of said acts, has violated the terms under which the said lands were granted by selling certain of said lands to persons other than actual settlers, by selling in quantities of more than one-quarter section to each person, by selling at prices in excess of $2.50 per acre, and by refusing to sell any further portions of such lands to actual settlers at any price, and in so doing has willfully violated the terms of the statutes by which the said lands were granted; and

"Whereas in the suit instituted by the Attorney General of the United States, pursuant to the authority and direction contained in the joint resolution of April thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eight (Thirty-fifth Statutes at Large, page five hundred and seventy-one), the Supreme Court of the United States, in its decision rendered June twenty-first, nineteen hundred and fifteen (Two hundred and thirty-eighth United States, page three hundred and ninety-three), ordered that the Oregon and California Railroad Company be enjoined from making further sales of lands in violation of the law, and that the said railroad company be further enjoined from making any sales whatever of either the land or the timber thereon until Congress should have a reasonable opportunity to provide for the disposition of said lands in accordance with such policy as Congress might deem fitting under the circumstances and at the same time secure to the railroad company all the value conferred by the granting Acts; and

"Whereas it was expressly provided by section twelve of the Act of July twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six (Fourteenth Statutes at Large, page two hundred and thirty-nine), that Congress might at any time, having due regard for the rights of the grantee railroad company, add to, alter, amend, or repeal the Act making the grant; and

"Whereas the Oregon and California Railroad Company and its predecessors in interest received a large sum of money from sales of said land for prices in excess of $2.50 per acre, and from leases, interest on contracts, and so forth; and

"Whereas the aforesaid granting Acts conferred upon the said railroad company the right to receive not more than $2.50 per acre for each acre of land so granted: Therefore," etc.

The Acts mentioned in the title of this Act and the first section thereof are the Act of July 25, 1866, ch. 242, 14 Stat. L. 239; the amendatory Act of June 25, 1868, ch. 80, 15 Stat. L. 80, the amendatory Act of April 10, 1869, ch. 27, 16 Stat. L. 47, and the Act of May 4, 1870, ch. 69, 16 Stat. L. 94.

The resolution mentioned in the preamble is the Res. of April 30, 1908, No. 18, 35 Stat. L. 571.

Name of Act.—This Act is known as the Chamberlain-Ferris Act. Oregon, etc., R. C. v. U. S., 243 U. S. 549, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 890.

Constitutionality.—Vested rights of railway companies whose disregard of the covenants in certain congressional land grant Acts that the lands granted shall be sold to actual settlers only, in quantities not greater than one quarter section to one purchaser, and at a price not exceeding $2.50 an acre, had made the lands more inviting for speculation than for settlement, were not destroyed without due process of law by the enactment, in the exercise of the reserved power to alter or repeal, of the provisions of this Act, which revert the title to the unsold lands in the United States, excepting rights of way and lands in actual use for depots, sidetracks, etc., and regulate the disposition of such lands and the distribution of the proceeds, securing to the railway companies $2.50 an acre, less any off-sets properly chargeable against the railway companies on account of prior sales, the use of the timber, the evading of taxation, etc. Oregon, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 243 U. S. 549, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 890.

SEC. 2. [Classification of revested lands.] That the Secretary of the Interior, in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture, or otherwise, is hereby authorized and directed, after due examination in the field, to classify said lands by the smallest legal subdivisions thereof into three classes, as follows:

Class one. Power-site lands, which shall include only such lands as are chiefly valuable for water-power sites, which lands shall be subject to withdrawal and such use and disposition as has been or may be provided by law for other public lands of like character.

Class two. Timberlands, which shall include lands bearing a growth of timber not less than three hundred thousand feet board measure on each forty-acre subdivision.

Class three. Agricultural lands, which shall include all lands not falling within either of the two other classes:

Provided, That any of said lands, however classified, may be reclassified, if, because of a change of conditions or other reasons, such action is required to denote properly the true character and class of such lands: Provided further, That all the general laws of the United States now existing or hereafter enacted relating to the granting of rights of way over or permits for the use of public lands shall be applicable to all lands title to which is revested in the United States under the provisions of this Act. All lands disposed of under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to all rights of way which the Secretary of the Interior shall at any time deem necessary for the removal of the timber from any lands of class two. [39 Stat. L. 219.]

SEC. 3. [Effect of classification — mineral lands — disposition of timber thereon.] That the classification provided for by the preceding section shall not operate to exclude from exploration, entry, and disposition, under the mineral land laws of the United States, any of said lands, except power sites, which are chiefly valuable for the mineral deposits contained therein, and the general mineral laws are hereby extended to all of said lands, except power sites: Provided, That any person entering mineral lands of class two shall not acquire title to the timber thereon, which shall be sold as hereinafter provided in section four, but he shall have the right to use so much of the timber thereon as may be necessary in the development and operation of his mine until such time as such timber is sold by the United States. [39 Stat. L. 219.]

SEC. 4. [Nonmineral lands — disposition of timber.] That nonmineral lands of class two shall not be disposed of until the Secretary of the Interior has determined and announced that the merchantable timber thereon has been removed, and thereupon said lands shall fall into class three and be disposed of in the manner hereinafter provided for the disposal of lands of that class.

The timber on lands of class two shall be sold for cash by the Secretary of the Interior, in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture, or otherwise, to citizens of the United States, associations of such citizens, and corporations organized under the laws of the United States, or any State, Territory, or District thereof, at such times, in such quantities, and under such plan of public competitive bidding as in the judgment of the Secretary of the Interior may produce the best results: Provided, That said Secretary shall have the right to reject any bid where he has reason to believe that the price offered is inadequate, and may reoffer the timber until a satisfactory bid is received: Provided further, That upon application of a qualified purchaser that any legal subdivision shall be separately offered for sale such subdivision shall be separately offered before being included in any offer of a larger unit, if such application be filed within ninety days prior to such offer: And provided further, That said timber shall be sold as rapidly as reasonable prices can be secured therefor in a normal market.

The Secretary of the Interior shall as soon as the purchase price is fully paid by any person purchasing under the provisions of this section issue to such purchaser a patent conveying the timber and expressly reserving the land to the United States. The timber thus purchased may be cut and removed by the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, within such period as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior, which period shall be designated in the patent; all rights under said patent shall cease and terminate at the expiration of said period: Provided, That in the event the timber is removed prior to the expiration of said period the Secretary of the Interior shall make due announcement thereof, whereupon all rights under the patent shall cease.

No timber shall be removed until the issuance of patent therefor. All timber sold under this Act shall be subject to the taxing power of the States apart from the land as soon as patents are issued as provided for herein. [39 Stat. L. 219.]

SEC. 5. [Agricultural lands — entry — application of homestead laws.] That nonmineral lands of class three shall be subject to entry under the general provisions of the homestead laws of the United States, except as modified herein, and opened to entry in accordance with the provisions of the Act of September thirtieth, nineteen hundred and thirteen (Thirty-eighth Statutes at Large, page one hundred and thirteen). Fifty cents per acre shall be paid at the time the original entry is allowed and $2 per acre when final proof is made. The provisions of section twenty-three hundred and one, Revised Statutes, shall not apply to any entry hereunder and no patent shall issue until the entryman has resided upon and cultivated the land for a period of three years, proof of which shall be made at any time within five years from date of entry. The area cultivated shall be such as to satisfy the Secretary of the Interior that the entry is made in good faith for the purpose of settlement and not for speculation: Provided, That the payment of $2.50 per acre shall not be required for homestead entrymen upon lands of class two when the same shall become subject to entry as agricultural lands in class three: Provided further, That during the period fixed for the submission of applications to make entry under this section any person duly qualified to enter such lands who has resided thereon, to the same extent and in the same manner as is required under the homestead laws, since the first day of December, nineteen hundred and thirteen, and who has improved the land and devoted some portion thereof to agricultural use, and who shall have maintained his residence to the date of such application, shall have the preferred right to enter the quarter section upon which he was so residing whether such lands shall be of class two or class three and where such quarter section does not contain more than one million two hundred thousand feet board measure of timber, and where the quarter section contains more than the said quantity of timber such person may enter the forty-acre tract, or lot or lots containing approximately forty acres, upon which his improvements, or the greater part thereof, are situated: Provided further, That a prior exercise of the homestead right by any such person shall not be a bar to the exercise of such preference rights: And provided further, That all of the following described lands which may become revested in the United States by operation of this Act, to-wit: Township one south, range five east, sections twenty-three and thirty-five; township one south, range six east, sections three, five, seven, nine, seventeen, nineteen, twenty-nine, thirty-one, and thirty-three; township two south, range five east, sections one and three; township two south, range six east, sections one, three, five, seven, nine, and eleven; township two south, range seven east, section seven; township three south, range three east, section fifteen; township four south, range four east, sections eleven and thirteen; township four south, range five east, sections nineteen and twenty-nine; and township twelve south, range seven west, sections fifteen, twenty-one, twenty-three, twenty-seven, thirty-three, and thirty-five, Willamette meridian and base, State of Oregon, shall be withheld from entry or other disposition for a period of two years after the approval hereof. [39 Stat. L. 220.]

For R. S. sec. 2301, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 317; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 583.

SEC. 6. [Purchasers of timber — liability for commission — compensation of register and receiver.] That persons who purchase timber on lands of class two shall be required to pay a commission of one-fifth of one per centum of the purchase price paid, to be divided equally between the register and receiver, within the maximum compensation allowed them by law; and the register and receiver shall receive no other compensation whatever for services rendered in connection with the sales of timber under the provisions of section four of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 221.]

SEC. 7. [Suits against railroad — recovery of moneys received on account of lands — taxes.] That the Attorney General of the United States be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to institute and prosecute any and all suits in equity and actions at law against the Oregon and California Railroad Company, and any other proper party which he may deem appropriate, to have determined the amount of moneys which have been received by the said railroad company or its predecessors from or on account of any of said granted lands, whether sold or unsold, patented or unpatented, and which should be charged against it as a part of the "full value" secured to the grantees under said granting Acts as heretofore interpreted by the Supreme Court. In making this determination the court shall take into consideration and give due and proper legal effect to all receipts of money from sales of land or timber, forfeited contracts, rent, timber depredations, and interest on contracts, or from any other source relating to said lands; also to the value of timber taken from said lands and used by said grantees or their successor or successors. In making this determination in the aforementioned suit or suits the court shall also determine, on the application of the Attorney General, the amount of the taxes on said lands paid by the United States, as provided in this Act, and which should in law have been paid by the said Oregon and California Railroad Company, and the amount thus determined shall be treated as money received by said railroad company. [39 Stat. L. 221.]

SEC. 8. [Title to moneys on deposit to await outcome of suit — subrogation.] That the title to all money arising out of said grant lands and now on deposit to await the final outcome of said suit commenced by the United States in pursuance of said joint resolution of nineteen hundred and eight is hereby vested in the United States, and the United States is subrogated to all the rights and remedies of the obligee or obligees, and especially of Louis L. Sharp as commissioner, under any contract for the purchase of timber on the grant lands. [39 Stat. L. 221.]

SEC. 9. [Taxes — payment by government.] That the taxes accrued and now unpaid on the lands revested in the United States, whether situate in the State of Oregon or State of Washington, shall be paid by the Treasurer of the United States, upon the order of the Secretary of the Interior, as soon as may be after the approval of this Act, and a sum sufficient to make such payment is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated. [39 Stat. L. 221.]

SEC. 10. [Moneys received for lands and timber — special fund — liens — payments from fund.] That all moneys received from or on account of said lands and timber under the provisions of this Act shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States in a special fund, to be designated "The Oregon and California land-grant fund," which fund shall be disposed of in the following manner: The Secretary of the Interior shall ascertain as soon as may be the exact number of acres of said lands, sold or unsold, patented to the Oregon and California Railroad Company, or its predecessors, and the number of acres of unpatented lands which said railroad company is entitled to receive under the terms of said grants and the value of said lands at $2.50 per acre. From the sum thus ascertained he shall deduct the amount already received by the said railroad company and its predecessors in interest on account of said lands and which should be charged against it as determined under section seven of this Act; and a sum equal to the balance thus resulting shall be paid, as herein provided, to the said railroad company, its successors or assigns, and to those having liens on the land, as their respective interests may appear. The amount due lien holders shall be evidenced either by the consent, in writing, of the railroad company or by a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction in a suit to which the railroad company and the lien holders are parties. Payments shall be made from time to time, as the fund accumulates, by the Treasurer of the United States upon the order of the Secretary of the Interior: Provided, however, That if, upon the expiration of ten years from the approval of this Act, the proceeds derived from the sale of lands and timber are not sufficient to pay the full amount which the said railroad company, its successors or assigns, are entitled to receive, the balance due shall be paid from the general funds in the Treasury of the United States, and an appropriation shall be made therefor. After the said railroad company, its successors or assigns, and the lien holders shall have been paid the amount to which they are entitled, as provided herein, an amount equal to that paid for accumulated taxes, as provided in section nine hereof, shall be deposited in the Treasury to the credit of the United States, thereafter all other moneys received from the sales of land and timber shall be distributed as follows:

A separate account shall be kept in the General Land Office of the sales of land and timber within each county in which any of said lands are situated, and, after deducting from the amount of the proceeds arising from such sales in each county a sum equal to that applied to pay the accrued taxes in that county and a sum equal to $2.50 per acre for each acre of such land therein title to which is revested in the United States under this Act, twenty-five per centum of the remainder shall be paid to the State treasurer of the State in which the land is located, to be and become a part of the irreducible school fund of the State; twenty-five per centum shall be paid to the treasurer of the county for common schools, roads, highways, bridges, and port districts, to be apportioned by the county courts for the several purposes above named; forty per centum shall be paid into, reserved, and appropriated as a part of the fund created by the Act of Congress approved June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and two, known as the reclamation Act; ten per centum shall become a part of the general fund in the Treasury of the United States; and of the balance remaining in said Oregon and California land grant fund from whatsoever source derived twenty-five per centum shall be paid to the State treasurer of the State in which the land is located, to be and become a part of the irreducible school fund of the State; twenty-five per centum shall be paid to the treasurer of the county for common schools, roads, highways, bridges, and port districts, to be apportioned by the county courts for the several purposes above named; and the remainder shall become a part of the general fund in the Treasury of the United States. The payments herein authorized shall be made to the treasurers of the States and counties, respectively, by the Treasurer of the United States, upon the order of the Secretary of the Interior, as soon as may be after the close of each fiscal year during which the moneys were received: Provided, That none of the payments to the States and counties and to the reclamation fund in this section provided for shall be made until the amount due the Oregon and California Railroad Company, its successors or assigns, has been fully paid, and the Treasury reimbursed for all taxes paid pursuant to the provisions of section nine of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 222.]

For the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902, ch. 1093, mentioned in this section, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 1098; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1363.

SEC. 11. [Authority of Secretary of Interior — rules and regulations — perjury.] That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to perform any and all acts and to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this Act into full force and effect; and any person, applicant, purchaser, entryman, or witness who shall swear falsely in any affidavit or proceeding required hereunder or under the regulations issued by the Secretary of the Interior shall be guilty of perjury and liable to the penalties prescribed therefor. [39 Stat. L. 223.]

SEC. 12. [Appropriation to defray expense of classification.] That the sum of $100,000 be, and the same is hereby, appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to enable the Secretary of the Interior, in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture, or otherwise, to complete the classification of the lands as herein provided, which amount shall be immediately available and shall remain available until such classification shall have been completed. [39 Stat. L. 223.]

An Act To amend the Act of June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten, entitled "An Act providing that entrymen for homesteads within the reclamation projects may assign their entries upon satisfactory proof of residence, improvement, and cultivation for five years, the same as though said entry had been made under the original homestead Act."

[Homestead entries in reclamation projects — assignments — former Act amended.] That the Act of June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten (Public, Two hundred and forty-three, Thirty-sixth Statutes, page five hundred and ninety-two), entitled "An Act providing that entrymen for homesteads within reclamation projects may assign their entries upon satisfactory proof of residence, improvement, and cultivation for five years, the same as though said entry had been made under the original homestead Act," is hereby amended by adding the following proviso:

"Provided, That in the absence of any intervening valid adverse interests any assignment made between June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten, and January first, nineteen hundred and thirteen, of land upon which the assignor has submitted satisfactory final proof and the assignee purchased with the belief that the assignment was valid and under the Act of June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten, is hereby confirmed, and the assignee shall be entitled to the land assigned as under the Act of June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten, notwithstanding that said original entry was conformed to farm units and that the part assigned was canceled and eliminated from said entry prior to the date of final proof: Provided further, That all entries so assigned shall be subject to the limitations, terms, and conditions of the reclamation Act and Acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto, and all of said assignees whose entries are hereby confirmed shall, as a condition to receiving patent, make the proof heretofore required of assignees." [39 Stat. L. 65.]

For the Act of June 23, 1910, ch. 357, amended by this Act, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 319; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1376.

[SEC. 1.] [Colorado—grant of land for educational purposes—change of use—Indians.] * * * That the lands, buildings, fixtures, and all property rights granted to the State of Colorado for educational purposes by section five of the Act of Congress approved April fourth, nineteen hundred and ten (Thirty-sixth Statutes at Large, page two hundred and seventy-three), may, in lieu of the use designated in said grant, be utilized by said State for the care of the insane, as an agricultural experiment station, or for such other public purposes as may be authorized by the legislature of the State: Provided, That Indians shall always be admitted to such institutions free of charge and upon an equality with white persons. [39 Stat. L. 128.]

This is from the Indian Appropriation Act of May 18, 1916, ch. 125.

The Act mentioned in the text is the Indian Appropriation Act of April 4, 1910, ch. 140, § 5, 36 Stat. L. 273.

An Act Creating an additional land district in the State of California, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Additional land district—California.] That an additional land district is hereby created for the State of California, to embrace the lands contained in the following-described boundaries: Beginning at the intersection of the range line between ranges five and six east of the San Bernardino meridian with the southern boundary of California; thence north along the range line, between ranges five and six east, to the northwest corner of township nine south, range six east; thence east along the second standard parallel south to the southwest corner of township eight south, range seven east; thence north along the range line, between ranges six and seven east, to the northwest corner of township two south, range seven east; thence east along the township line between townships one and two south to its intersection with the Colorado River; thence southerly along the Colorado River to its intersection with the south boundary of California; thence southwesterly along the southern boundary of California to its intersection with the range line between ranges five and six east, to the place of beginning; that the land district shall be known as the Imperial district, and the Secretary of the Interior shall be authorized to select the site of the land office. [39 Stat. L. 226.]

SEC. 2. [Transfer of records.] That the Secretary of the Interior shall cause all plats, maps, records, and papers in the Los Angeles land office which relate to or form a necessary part of the records of the lands embraced in the district hereby created to be transferred to the Imperial land district. [39 Stat. L. 227.]

SEC. 3. [Register and receiver.] That the President is hereby authorized to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a register and receiver for said land district, and they shall be subject to the same laws and entitled to the same compensation as is or may be hereafter provided by law in relation to the existing land offices and officers in said State. [39 Stat. L. 227.]

An Act Authorizing leave of absence to homestead settlers upon unsurveyed lands.

[Homestead settlers—leave of absence—unsurveyed lands.] That any qualified person who has heretofore or shall hereafter in good faith make settlement upon and improve unsurveyed unreserved unappropriated public lands of the United States with intention, upon survey, of entering same under the homestead laws shall be entitled to a leave of absence in one or two periods not exceeding in the aggregate five months in each year after establishment of residence: Provided, That he shall have plainly marked on the ground the exterior boundaries of the lands claimed and have filed in the local land office notice of the approximate location of the lands settled upon and claimed, of the period of intended absence, and that he shall upon the termination of the absence and his return to the land file notice thereof in the local land office. [39 Stat. L. 341.]

An Act To amend an Act entitled "An Act to provide for an enlarged homestead," approved February nineteenth, nineteen hundred and nine, by adding a new section to be known as section seven.

[Enlarged homesteads—additional entry—former Act amended.] That the Act entitled "An Act to provide for an enlarged homestead," approved February nineteenth, nineteen hundred and nine, be amended by adding thereto an additional section to be known as section seven:

"SEC. 7. That any person who has made or shall make homestead entry of less than three hundred and twenty acres of lands of the character herein described, and who shall have submitted final proof thereon, shall have the right to enter public lands subject to the provisions of this Act, not contiguous to his first entry, which shall not with the original entry exceed three hundred and twenty acres: Provided, That the land originally entered and that covered by the additional entry shall first have been designated as subject to this Act as provided by section one thereof: Provided further, That in no case shall patent issue for the land covered by such additional entry until the person making same shall have actually and in conformity with the homestead laws resided upon and cultivated the lands so additionally entered, and otherwise complied with such laws, except that where the land embraced in the additional entry is located not exceeding twenty miles from the land embraced in the original entry no residence shall be required on such additional entry if the entryman is residing on his former entry: And provided further, That this section shall not be construed as affecting any rights as to location of soldiers' additional homesteads under section twenty-three hundred and six of the Revised Statutes." [39 Stat. L. 344.]

For the Act of Feb. 19, 1909, ch. 160, amended by this Act, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 560; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 613.

An Act Providing for the discovery, development, and protection of streams, springs, and water holes in the desert and arid public lands of the United States, for rendering the same more readily accessible, and for the establishment of and maintenance of signboards and monuments locating the same.

[SEC. 1.] [Arid public lands — discovery, etc., of water — monuments and signboards.] That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and empowered, in his discretion in so far as the authorization made herein will permit, to discover, develop, protect, and render more accessible for the benefit of the general public, springs, streams, and water holes on arid public lands of the United States; and in connection therewith to erect and maintain suitable and durable monuments and signboards at proper places and intervals along and near the accustomed lines of travel and over the general area of said desert lands, containing information and directions as to the location and nature of said springs, streams, and water holes, to the end that the same may be more readily traced and found by persons in search or need thereof; also to provide convenient and ready means, apparatus, and appliances by which water may be brought to the earth's surface at said water holes for the use of such persons; also to prepare and distribute suitable maps, reports, and general information relating to said springs, streams, and water holes, and their specific location with reference to lines of travel. [39 Stat. L. 518.]

SEC. 2. [Appropriation.] That to carry out the purposes of this Act the expenditure of $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby authorized. [39 Stat. L. 518.]

SEC. 3. [Wilful injury, etc., of monuments — impairment of water supply — penalty.] That whoever shall wilfully or maliciously injure, destroy, deface, or remove any of said monuments or signposts, or shall wilfully or maliciously fill up, render foul, or in anywise destroy or impair the utility of said springs, streams, or water holes, or shall wilfully or maliciously interfere with said monuments, signposts, streams, springs, or water holes, or the purposes for which they are maintained and used, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years, or both. [39 Stat. L. 518.]

SEC. 4. [Rules and regulations.] That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to perform any and all acts and make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this Act into full force and effect. [39 Stat. L. 518.]

An Act To open abandoned military reservations in the State of Nevada to homestead entry and desert-land entry, and to amend an Act entitled "An Act to open abandoned military reservations in the State of Nevada to homestead entry," approved October first, eighteen hundred and ninety.

[Abandoned military reservations in Nevada — disposition under homestead, etc., laws.] That all the agricultural lands embraced within the military reservations in the State of Nevada which have been placed under the control of the Secretary of the Interior for disposition be disposed of under the homestead and desert-land laws, and not otherwise: Provided, That this Act is intended to make applicable to the desert-land laws only such lands as were included under the Act of March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, providing for the disposition of public lands under the desert-land laws. [39 Stat. L. 516.]

For the Act of Oct. 1, 1890, ch. 1239, mentioned in the title of this Act, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 427; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 833.

An Act To amend sections five and six of an Act entitled "An Act to authorize the drainage of certain lands in the State of Minnesota," approved May twentieth, nineteen hundred and eight.

[Act of Sept. 5, 1916, ch. 437, 39 Stat. L. 722.]

[Public lands in Minnesota — drainage — patents to purchasers — time — delay in payments — subrogation — former Act amended.] That section five of the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the drainage of certain lands in the State of Minnesota," approved May twentieth, nineteen hundred and eight, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 5. That at any time after any sale of unentered lands has been made in the manner and for the purposes mentioned in this Act patent shall issue to the purchaser thereof upon payment to the receiver of the minimum price of $1.25 per acre, or such other price as may have been fixed by law for such lands, together with the usual fees and commissions charged in entry of like lands under the homestead laws. But purchasers at a sale of unentered lands shall have the qualification of homestead entrymen, and not more than one hundred and sixty acres of such lands shall be sold to any one purchaser under the provisions of this Act. This limitation shall not apply to sales to the State, but shall apply to purchases from the State of unentered land bid in for the State. Any part of the purchase money arising from the sale of any lands in the manner and for the purposes provided in this Act which shall be in excess of the drainage charges then delinquent shall be paid to and used by the county in which such land is located for the purpose of maintenance, improving, and extending such drainage works within the area benefited by the drainage project in which such land shall have been assessed for such drainage charge."

That section six of said Act be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 6. That any entered lands sold in the manner and for the purposes mentioned in this Act may be patented to the purchaser thereof at any time after the expiration of the period of redemption provided for in the drainage laws under which it may be sold (there having been no redemption) upon the payment to the receiver of the fees and commissions and the price mentioned in the preceding section, or so much thereof as has not already been paid by the entryman; and if the sum received at any such sale shall be in excess of the payments herein required and of the drainage assessments and costs of the sale, such excess shall be paid to the proper county officer for the benefit of and payment to the entryman. That unless the purchasers of unentered lands shall, within ninety days after the sale provided for in section three, pay to the proper receiver the fees, commissions, and purchase price to which the United States may be entitled, as provided in section five, and unless the purchasers of entered lands shall, within ninety days after the right of redemption has expired, make like payments, as provided for in this section, any person having the qualifications of a homestead entryman may pay to the proper receiver for not more than one hundred and sixty acres of land for which such payment has not been made: First, the unpaid fees, commissions, and purchase price to which the United States may then be entitled; and second, the sum due at the sale for drainage charges; and, in addition thereto, if bid in by the State, interest on the amount bid by the State at the rate of seven per centum per annum from the date of such sale, and thereupon the person making such payment shall become subrogated to the right of such purchaser to receive a patent for said land. When any payment is made to effect such subrogation the receiver shall transmit to the treasurer of the county where the land is situated the amount paid for drainage charges, together with the interest paid thereon." [39 Stat. L. 722.]

An Act To amend an Act entitled "An Act to provide for an enlarged homestead," approved June seventeenth nineteen hundred and ten.

[Enlarged homesteads in Idaho — former Act amended.] That the Act entitled "An Act to provide for an enlarged homestead," approved June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and ten, be amended by adding thereto an additional section to be known as section seven:

"SEC. 7. That any person who has made or shall make homestead entry of less than three hundred and twenty acres of lands of the character herein described, and who shall have submitted final proof thereon, shall have the right to enter public lands subject to the provisions of this Act, not contiguous to his first entry, which shall not with the original entry exceed three hundred and twenty acres: Provided, That the land originally entered and that covered by the additional entry shall first have been designated as subject to this Act or the Act of February nineteenth, nineteen hundred and nine (Thirty-fifth Statutes, page six hundred and thirty-nine), as provided by sections one of said Acts: Provided further, That in no case shall patent issue for the land covered by such additional entry until the person making same shall have actually and in conformity with the homestead laws resided upon and cultivated the lands so additionally entered, and otherwise complied with such laws, except that where the land embraced in the additional entry is located not exceeding twenty miles from the land embraced in the original entry no residence shall be required on such additional entry if the entryman is residing on his former entry: And provided further, That this section shall not be construed as affecting any rights as to location of soldiers' additional homesteads under section twenty-three hundred and six of the Revised Statutes." [39 Stat. L. 724.]

For the Act of Feb. 19, 1909, ch. 160, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 560; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 613.

An Act To provide for stock-raising homesteads, and for other purposes.

[Act of Dec. 29, 1916, ch. 9, 39 Stat. L. 862.]

[SEC. 1.] [Stock-raising homesteads — entry — unappropriated unreserved public land.] That from and after the passage of this Act it shall be lawful for any person qualified to make entry under the homestead laws of the United States to make a stock-raising homestead entry for not exceeding six hundred and forty acres of unappropriated unreserved public land in reasonably compact form: Provided, however, That the land so entered shall theretofore have been designated by the Secretary of the Interior as “stock-raising lands.” [39 Stat. L. 862.]

SEC. 2. [Designation of stock-raising lands — application — disposition.] That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized, on application or otherwise, to designate as stock-raising lands subject to entry under this Act lands the surface of which is, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible of irrigation from any known source of water supply, and are of such character that six hundred and forty acres are reasonably required for the support of a family: Provided, That where any person qualified to make original or additional entry under the provisions of this Act shall make application to enter any unappropriated public land which has not been designated as subject to entry (provided said application is accompanied and supported by properly corroborated affidavit of the applicant, in duplicate, showing prima facie that the land applied for is of the character contemplated by this Act), such application, together with the regular fees and commissions, shall be received by the register and receiver of the land district in which said land is located and suspended until it shall have been determined by the Secretary of the Interior whether said land is actually of that character. That during such suspension the land described in the application shall not be disposed of; and if the said land shall be designated under this Act, then such application shall be allowed; otherwise it shall be rejected, subject to appeal; but no right to occupy such lands shall be acquired by reason of said application until said lands have been designated as stock-raising lands. [39 Stat. L. 862.]

SEC. 3. [Entry — who may make — amount of land — location — additional entry — improvements.] That any qualified homestead entryman may make entry under the homestead laws of lands so designated by the Secretary of the Interior, according to legal subdivisions, in areas not exceeding six hundred and forty acres, and in compact form so far as may be subject to the provisions of this Act, and secure title thereto by compliance with the terms of the homestead laws: Provided, That a former homestead entry of land of the character described in section two hereof shall not be a bar to the entry of a tract within a radius of twenty miles from such former entry under the provisions of this Act, subject to the requirements of law as to residence and improvements, which, together with the former entry, shall not exceed six hundred and forty acres: Provided further, That the entryman shall be required to enter all contiguous areas of the character herein described open to entry prior to the entry of any noncontiguous land: Provided further, That instead of cultivation as required by the homestead laws the entryman shall be required to make permanent improvements upon the land entered before final proof is submitted tending to increase the value of the same for stock-raising purposes, of the value of not less than $1.25 per acre, and at least one-half of such improvements shall be placed upon the land within three years after the date of entry thereof. [39 Stat. L. 863.]

SEC. 4. [Additional entry — contiguous land — amount of land — residence — improvements.] That any homestead entryman of lands of the character herein described, who has not submitted final proof upon his existing entry shall have the right to enter, subject to the provisions of this Act, such amount of contiguous lands designated for entry under the provisions of this Act as shall not, together with the amount embraced in his original entry, exceed six hundred and forty acres, and residence upon the original entry shall be credited on both entries, but improvements must be made on the additional entry equal to $1.25 for each acre thereof. [39 Stat. L. 863.]

SEC. 5. [Additional entry — contiguous land — amount of land — proof.] That persons who have submitted final proof upon, or received patent for, lands of the character herein described under the homestead laws, and who own and reside upon the land so acquired, may, subject to the provisions of this Act, make additional entry for and obtain patent to contiguous lands designated for entry under the provisions of this Act, which, together with the area theretofore acquired under the homestead law, shall not exceed six hundred and forty acres, on proof of the expenditure required by this Act on account of permanent improvements upon the additional entry. [39 Stat. L. 863.]

SEC. 6. [Original entry — relinquishment of lands under — new entry in lieu.] That any person who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of twenty-one years and is a citizen of the United States, who has entered or acquired under the homestead laws, prior to the passage of this Act, lands of the character described in this Act, the area of which is less than six hundred and forty acres, and who is unable to exercise the right of additional entry herein conferred because no lands subject to entry under this Act adjoin the tract so entered or acquired or lie within the twenty mile limit provided for in this Act, may, upon submitting proof that he resides upon and has not sold the land so entered or acquired and against which land there are no encumbrances, relinquish or reconvey to the United States the land so occupied, entered, or acquired, and in lieu thereof, within the same land-office district, may enter and acquire title to six hundred and forty acres of the land subject to entry under this Act, but must show compliance with all the provisions of this Act respecting the new entry and with all the provisions of existing homestead laws except as modified herein. [39 Stat. L. 863.]

SEC. 7. [Homestead laws — commutation provisions.] That the commutation provisions of the homestead laws shall not apply to any entries made under this Act. [39 Stat. L. 864.]

SEC. 8. [Additional entry — right when exercised — conflicting claims — equitable division.] That any homestead entryman or patentees who shall be entitled to additional entry under this Act shall have, for ninety days after the designation of lands subject to entry under the provisions of this Act and contiguous to those entered or owned and occupied by him, the preferential right to make additional entry as provided in this Act: Provided, That where such lands contiguous to the lands of two or more entrymen or patentees entitled to additional entries under this section are not sufficient in area to enable such entrymen to secure by additional entry the maximum amounts to which they are entitled, the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to make an equitable division of the lands among the several entrymen or patentees, applying to exercise preferential rights, such division to be in tracts of not less than forty acres, or other legal subdivision, and so made as to equalize as nearly as possible the area which such entrymen and patentees will acquire by adding the tracts embraced in additional entries to the lands originally held or owned by them: Provided further, That where but one such tract of vacant land may adjoin the lands of two or more entrymen or patentees entitled to exercise preferential right hereunder, the tract in question may be entered by the person who first submits to the local land office his application to exercise said preferential right. [39 Stat. L. 864.]

SEC. 9. [Coal and other mineral deposits — reservation — mining — damages.] That all entries made and patents issued under the provisions of this Act shall be subject to and contain a reservation to the United States of all the coal and other minerals in the lands so entered and patented, together with the right to prospect for, mine, and remove the same. The coal and other mineral deposits in such lands shall be subject to disposal by the United States in accordance with the provisions of the coal and mineral land laws in force at the time of such disposal. Any person qualified to locate and enter the coal or other mineral deposits, or having the right to mine and remove the same under the laws of the United States, shall have the right at all times to enter upon the lands entered or patented, as provided by this Act, for the purpose of prospecting for coal or other mineral therein, provided he shall not injure, damage, or destroy the permanent improvements of the entryman or patentee, and shall be liable to and shall compensate the entryman or patentee for all damages to the crops on such lands by reason of such prospecting. Any person who has acquired from the United States the coal or other mineral deposits in any such land, or the right to mine and remove the same, may reenter and occupy so much of the surface thereof as may be required for all purposes reasonably incident to the mining or removal of the coal or other minerals, first, upon securing the written consent or waiver of the homestead entryman or patentee; second, upon payment of the damages to crops or other tangible improvements to the owner thereof, where agreement may be had as to the amount thereof; or, third, in lieu of either of the foregoing provisions, upon the execution of a good and sufficient bond or undertaking to the United States for the use and benefit of the entryman or owner of the land, to secure the payment of such damages to the crops or tangible improvements of the entryman or owner, as may be determined and fixed in an action brought upon the bond or undertaking in a court of competent jurisdiction against the principal and sureties thereon, such bond or undertaking to be in form and in accordance with rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior and to be filed with and approved by the register and receiver of the local land office of the district wherein the land is situate, subject to appeal to the Commissioner of the General Land Office: Provided, That all patents issued for the coal or other mineral deposits herein reserved shall contain appropriate notations declaring them to be subject to the provisions of this Act with reference to the disposition, occupancy, and use of the land as permitted to an entryman under this Act. [39 Stat. L. 864.]

SEC. 10. [Water-holes — reservation — access.] That lands containing water-holes or other bodies of water needed or used by the public for watering purposes shall not be designated under this Act but may be reserved under the provisions of the Act of June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten, and such lands heretofore or hereafter reserved shall, while so reserved, be kept and held open to the public use for such purposes under such general rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe: Provided, That the Secretary may, in his discretion, also withdraw from entry lands necessary to insure access by the public to watering places reserved hereunder and needed for use in the movement of stock to summer and winter ranges or to shipping points, and may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper administration and use of such lands: Provided further, That such driveways shall not be of greater number or width than shall be clearly necessary for the purpose proposed and in no event shall be more than one mile in width for a driveway less than twenty miles in length, not more than two miles in width for driveways over twenty and not more than thirty-five miles in length and not over five miles in width for driveways over thirty-five miles in length: Provided further, That all stock so transported over such driveways shall be moved an average of not less than three miles per day for sheep and goats and an average of not less than six miles per day for cattle and horses. [39 Stat. L. 865.]

For the Act of June 25, 1910, ch. 421, mentioned in this section, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 321; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 657.

SEC. 11. [Rules and regulations — authorization.] That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to make all necessary rules and regulations in harmony with the provisions and purposes of this Act for the purpose of carrying the same into effect. [39 Stat. L. 865.]

An Act To allow additional entries under the enlarged homestead Act.

[Enlarged homestead — additional entries.] That any person otherwise qualified who has obtained title under the homestead laws to less than one-quarter section of land may make entry and obtain title under the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for enlarged homesteads," approved February nineteenth, nineteen hundred and nine, and an Act of June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and ten, entitled "An Act to provide for an enlarged homestead," for such an area of public land as will, when one-half of such area is added to the area of the lands to which he has already obtained title, not exceed one-quarter section: Provided, That this Act shall not be construed to apply to soldiers' additional homestead entries made under section twenty-three hundred and six, United States Revised Statutes, or Acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto. [39 Stat. L. 925.]

For the Act of Feb. 19, 1909, ch. 160, mentioned in this Act, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 560; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 613.

For R. S. sec. 2306, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 324; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 588.

[Homestead — restoration of rights.] That from and after the passage of this Act any person who has heretofore entered under the homestead laws, and paid a price equivalent to or greater than $4 per acre, lands embraced in a ceded Indian reservation, shall, upon proof of such fact, if otherwise qualified, be entitled to the benefits of the homestead law as though such former entry had not been made: Provided, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to any person who has failed to pay the full price for his former entry, or whose former entry was canceled for fraud. [39 Stat. L. 926.]

An Act To punish persons who make false representations to settlers and others pertaining to the public lands of the United States.

[False representations made to settlers and others — punishment.] That any person who, for a reward paid or promised to him in that behalf, shall undertake to locate for an intending purchaser, settler, or entryman any public lands of the United States subject to disposition under the public-land laws, and who shall willfully and falsely represent to such intending purchaser, settler, or entryman that any tract of land shown to him is public land of the United States subject to sale, settlement, or entry, or that it is of a particular surveyed description, with intent to deceive the person to whom such representation is made, or who, in reckless disregard of the truth, shall falsely represent to any such person that any tract of land shown to him is public land of the United States subject to sale, settlement, or entry, or that it is of a particular surveyed description, thereby deceiving the person to whom such representation is made, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding $300 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [39 Stat. L. 936.]

[Enlarged homestead entry — desert-land entry.] That the right to make a desert-land entry shall not be denied to any applicant therefor who has already made an enlarged homestead entry of three hundred and twenty acres: Provided, That said applicant is a duly qualified entryman and the whole area to be acquired as an enlarged homestead entry and under the provisions of this Act does not exceed four hundred and eighty acres. [39 Stat. L. 946.]

An Act To amend the irrigation Act of March third, eighteen hundred and ninety-one (Twenty-sixth Statutes, page one thousand and ninety-five), section eighteen, and to amend section two of the Act of May eleventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight (Thirtieth Statutes, page four hundred and four).

[SEC. 1.] [Rights of way — grant for irrigation or drainage — former Act amended.] That section eighteen of what is generally known as the irrigation Act of March third, eighteen hundred and ninety-one (Twenty-sixth Statutes, page one thousand and ninety-five), be, and is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

“SEC. 18. That the right of way through the public lands and reservations of the United States is hereby granted to any canal or ditch company or drainage district formed for the purpose of irrigation or drainage and duly organized under the laws of any State or Territory, and which shall have filed or may hereafter file with the Secretary of the Interior a copy of its articles of incorporation and due proofs of its organization under the same, to the extent of the ground occupied by the water of the reservoir and of the canal and its laterals, and fifty feet on each side of the marginal limits thereof; also the right to take from the public lands adjacent to the line of the canal or ditch, material, earth, and stone necessary for the construction of such canal or ditch: Provided, That no such right of way shall be so located as to interfere with the proper occupation by the Government of any such reservation, and all maps of location shall be subject to the approval of the department of the Government having jurisdiction of such reservation; and the privilege herein granted shall not be construed to interfere with the control of water for irrigation and other purposes under authority of the respective States or Territories.” [39 Stat. L. 1197.]

For the Act of March 3, 1891, ch. 561, § 18, amended by this section, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 508; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 803.

SEC. 2. [Rights of way for ditches, etc.—use for what purposes — former Act amended.] That section two of the Act of May eleventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight (Thirtieth Statutes, page four hundred and four), be, and is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

“SEC. 2. That rights of way for ditches, canals, or reservoirs, heretofore or hereafter approved under the provisions of sections eighteen, nineteen, twenty, and twenty-one of the Act entitled ‘An Act to repeal timber-culture laws, and for other purposes,’ approved March third, eighteen hundred and ninety-one, may be used for purposes of a public nature; and said rights of way may be used for purposes of water transportation, for domestic purposes, or for the development of power, as subsidiary to the main purpose of irrigation or drainage.” [39 Stat. L. 1197.]

For the Act of May 11, 1893, ch. 292, § 2, amended by this section, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 512; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 810.

An Act For the relief of homestead entrymen or settlers who enter the military or naval service of the United States in time of war.

[SEC. 1.] [Homesteads — settlers or entrymen — military or naval service — effect.] That any settler upon the public lands of the United States; or any entryman whose application has been allowed; or any person who has made application for public lands which thereafter may be allowed under the homestead laws, who, after such settlement, entry, or application, enlists or is actually engaged in the military or naval service of the United States as a private soldier, officer, seaman, marine, national guardsman, or member of any other organization for offense or defense authorized by Congress during any war in which the United States may be engaged, shall, in the administration of the homestead laws, have his services therein construed to be equivalent to all intents and purposes to residence and cultivation for the same length of time upon the tract entered or settled upon; and hereafter no contest shall be initiated on the ground of abandonment, nor allegation of abandonment sustained against any such settler, entryman, or person unless it shall be alleged in the preliminary affidavit or affidavits of contest and proved at the hearing in cases hereinafter initiated that the alleged absence from the land was not due to his employment in such military or naval service; that if he shall be discharged on account of wounds received or disability incurred in the line of duty, then the term of his enlistment shall be deducted from the required length of residence, without reference to the time of actual service: Provided, That no patent shall issue to any homestead settler who has not resided upon, improved, and cultivated his homestead for a period of at least one year. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Death of settler or entryman in service.] That any settler upon the public lands of the United States; or any entryman whose application has been allowed; or any person who has made application for public lands which thereafter may be allowed under the homestead laws, who dies while actually engaged in the military or naval service of the United States as a private soldier, officer, seaman, marine, national guardsman, or member of any other organization for offense or defense authorized by Congress during any war in which the United States may be engaged, then his widow, if unmarried, or in case of her death or marriage, his minor orphan children; or his or their legal representatives, may proceed forthwith to make final proof upon such entry or application thereafter allowed, and shall be entitled to receive Government patent for such land; and that the death of such soldier while so engaged in the service of the United States shall, in the administration of the homestead laws, be construed to be equivalent to a performance of all requirements as to residence and cultivation upon such homestead. [— Stat. L. —.]

An Act For the protection of desert-land entrymen who enter the military or naval service of the United States in time of war.

[Desert-land entrymen — military or naval service — effect.] That no desert-land entry made or held under the provisions of the Act of March third, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, as amended by the Act of March third, eighteen hundred and ninety-one, by an officer or enlisted man in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Organized Militia of the United States shall be subject to contest or cancellation for failure to make or expend the sum of $1 per acre per year in improvements upon such claim, or to effect the reclamation thereof, during the period said entryman or his successor in interest is engaged in the military service of the United States during the present war with Germany, and until six months thereafter, and the time within which such entryman or claimant is required to make such expenditures and effect reclamation of the land shall be, exclusive of the time of his actual service in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Organized Militia of the United States: Provided, That said desert-land entry shall have been made by the said officer or enlisted man prior to his enlistment: Provided further, That each such entryman or claimant shall, within six months after the passage of this Act, or within six months after he is mustered into the service, file in the local land office of the district wherein his claim is situate a notice of his muster into the service of the United States and of his desire to hold said desert claim under this Act: Provided further, That the term "enlisted man," as used in this section shall include any person selected to serve in the military forces of the United States as provided by the Act entitled "An Act authorizing the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of March 3, 1877, ch. 107, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1891, ch. 561, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 392; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 692.

The Act of May 18, 1917, ch. —, also mentioned in the text, is given in WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT.

SEC. 10. [Enlarged homesteads — lands without water for domestic uses — residence — cultivation — former Act amended.] That section six of the Act of Congress approved June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and ten, "An Act to provide for an enlarged homestead," be, and the same is hereby, amended to read as follows:

" SEC. 6. That whenever the Secretary of the Interior shall find any tracts of land in the State of Idaho, subject to entry under this Act, do not have upon them such a sufficient supply of water suitable for domestic purposes as would make continuous residence upon the lands possible he may, in his discretion, designate such tracts of land, not to exceed in the aggregate one million acres, and thereafter they shall be subject to entry under this Act without the necessity of residence upon the land entered: Provided, That the entryman shall in good faith cultivate not less than one-sixteenth of the entire area of the entry which is susceptible of cultivation during the first year of the entry, not less than one-eighth during the second year, and not less than one-fourth during the third year of the entry and until final proof: Provided further, That after six months from the date of entry and until final proof the entryman shall be a resident of the State of Idaho." [— Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing section 10 is a part of an Act of Aug. 10, 1917, ch. —, entitled "An Act To provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products." Section 12 of this Act, given in AGRICULTURE, ante, p. 46, contains provisions relating to the expiration of the entire Act and should be read in connection with this section.

For the Act of June 17, 1910, ch. 298, § 6, amended by this section, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 317; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 619.

An Act Providing for an amendment to section twenty-two hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes, allowing homestead and other public land affidavits to be taken before the military commander of any person engaged in military or naval service of the United States.

[Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[Affidavits — before whom taken — persons in military or naval service.] That during the continuance of the present war with Germany, and until his discharge from service, any man serving in the armed forces of the United States, who, prior to the beginning of his services was a settler, an applicant, or entryman under the land laws of the United States, or who has, prior to enlistment, filed a contest, with the view of exercising preference right of entry therefor, may make any affidavit required by law or regulation of the department, affecting such application, entry, or contest, or necessary to the making of entry in the case of the successful termination of such contest awarding him preference right of entry, before his commanding officer as provided in section twenty-two hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which affidavits shall be as binding in law and with like penalties as if taken before the Register of the United States Land Office. [— Stat. L. —.]

For R. S. sec. 2293, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 304; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 572.

An Act To authorize absence by homestead settlers and entrymen, and for other purposes.

[Act of Dec. 20, 1917, ch. —, Stat. L. —.]

[Homestead settlers and entrymen — leave of absence pending war.]

That during the pendency of the existing war any homestead settler or entryman shall be entitled to a leave of absence from his land for the purpose of performing farm labor, and such absence, while actually engaged in farm labor, shall, upon compliance with the terms of this Act, be counted as constructive residence: Provided, That each settler or entryman within fifteen days after leaving his claim for the purpose herein provided shall file notice thereof in the United States Land Office, and at the expiration of the calendar year file in said land office of the district wherein his claim is situated a written statement, under oath and corroborated by two witnesses, giving the date or dates when he left his claim, date or dates of return thereto, and where and for whom he was engaged in farm labor during such period or periods of absence: Provided further, That nothing herein shall excuse any homestead settler or entryman from making improvements or performing the cultivation required by applicable law upon his claim or entry: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act shall apply only to homestead settlers and entrymen who may have filed their application prior to the passage of this Act. The Secretary of the Interior is authorized to provide rules and regulations for carrying this Act into effect. [— Stat. L. —.]

An Act To amend an Act entitled "An Act making appropriations to supply deficiencies in appropriations for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and fifteen and for prior years, and for other purposes."

[Act of March 21, 1918, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[Desert land entries — final proof — extension of time.] That the provisions of the last three paragraphs of section five of the Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, "An Act making appropriations to supply deficiencies in appropriations for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and fifteen, and for prior years, and for other purposes," be, and the same are hereby, extended and made applicable to any lawful pending desert-land entry made prior to March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen: Provided, That in cases where such entries have been assigned prior to the date of the Act the assignees shall, if otherwise qualified, be entitled to the benefit hereof. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of March 4, 1915, ch. 147, § 5, mentioned in the text, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 201; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 201.

[Sec. 1.] [Local land offices — registers and receivers — expenses.]

* * * That no expenses chargeable to the Government shall be incurred by registers and receivers in the conduct of local land offices except upon previous specific authorization by the Commissioner of the General Land Office. [— Stat. L. —.]

This and the following paragraph of the text are from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of July 1, 1918, ch. —.

Provisions identical with those of these paragraphs were contained in the like Appropriation Act of July 1, 1916, ch. 209, 39 Stat. L. 299, and June 12, 1907, ch. —, § 1, — Stat. L. —.

[Hearings — depositions — fees.] * * * For hearings or other proceedings held by order of the Commissioner of the General Land Office to determine the character of lands; whether alleged fraudulent entries are of that character or have been made in compliance with law; and of hearings in disbarment proceedings, $35,000: Provided, That where depositions are taken for use in such hearings the fees of the officer taking them shall be 20 cents per folio for taking and certifying same and 10 cents per folio for each copy furnished to a party on request. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding paragraph of the text.

[SEC. 1.] [Clerks from office of surveyor general — detail — traveling expenses.] * * * The Secretary of the Interior is authorized to detail temporarily clerks from the office of one surveyor general to another as the necessities of the service may require and to pay their actual necessary traveling expenses in going to and returning from such office out of the appropriation for surveying the public lands. A detailed statement of traveling expenses incurred hereunder shall be made to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Appropriation Act of July 3, 1918, ch. —. Identical provisions have appeared in like appropriation Acts for preceding years.

PUBLIC MONEYS

Act of March 21, 1916, ch. 52, 718.

Lost, Stolen or Destroyed Checks — Duplicates — R. S. Sec. 3646 Amended, 718.

An Act To amend section thirty-six hundred and forty-six of the Revised Statutes of the United States as reenacted and amended by Act of February twenty-third, nineteen hundred and nine.

[Lost, stolen or destroyed checks — duplicates — R. S. sec. 3646 amended.] That section thirty-six hundred and forty-six of the Revised Statutes be, and hereby is, amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 3646. That whenever any original check is lost, stolen, or destroyed disbursing officers and agents of the United States are authorized, within three years from the date of such check, to issue a duplicate check, under such regulations in regard to its issue and payment, and upon the execution of such bond, with sureties, to indemnify the United States, and proof of loss of original check, as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe: Provided, That whenever any original check or warrant of the Post Office Department has been lost, stolen, or destroyed the Postmaster General may authorize the issuance of a duplicate thereof, at any time within three years from the date of such original check or warrant, upon the execution by the owner thereof of such bond of indemnity as the Postmaster General may prescribe: Provided further, That when such original check or warrant does not exceed in amount the sum of $50 and the payee or owner is, at the date of the application, an officer or employee in the service of the Post Office Department, whether by contract, designation, or appointment, the Postmaster General may, in lieu of an indemnity bond, authorize the issuance of a duplicate check or warrant upon such an affidavit as he may describe, to be made before any postmaster by the payee or owner of an original check or warrant." [39 Stat. L. 37.]

For R. S. sec. 3646, amended by this Act, as originally enacted, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 563.

SEC. 6. [Double salaries restricted — exceptions.] That unless otherwise specially authorized by law, no money appropriated by this or any other Act shall be available for payment to any person receiving more than one salary when the combined amount of said salaries exceeds the sum of $2,000 per annum, but this shall not apply to retired officers or enlisted men of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard, or to officers and enlisted men of the Organized Militia and Naval Militia in the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia: Provided, That no such retired officer, officer, or enlisted man shall be denied or deprived of any of his pay, salary, or compensation as such, or of any other salary or compensation for services heretofore rendered, by reason of any decision or construction of said section six. [39 Stat. L. 120, as amended by 39 Stat. L. 582.]

This is from the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Act of May 10, 1916, ch. 117, and was amended to read as here given by the Naval Appropriation Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 417. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"Sec. 6. That unless otherwise specially authorized by law no money appropriated by this or any other Act shall be available for payment to any person receiving more than one salary when the combined amount of said salaries exceeds the sum of $2,000 per annum, but this shall not apply to retired officers of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps whenever they may be appointed or elected to public office or whenever the President shall appoint them to office by and with the advice and consent of the Senate or to officers and enlisted men of the Organized Militia and Naval Militia in the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia."

This section is not to apply to certain school teachers in the District of Columbia by virtue of the provisions of the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. —, § 9, infra, p. 721.

See the Act of July 3, 1918, ch. —, § 6, infra, p. 721.

[SEC. 1.] [Salaries — source — supplementing by individuals, etc., as misdemeanor.] * * * That on and after July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, no Government official or employee shall receive any salary in connection with his services as such an official or employee from any source other than the Government of the United States, except as may be contributed out of the treasury of any State, county, or municipality, and no person, association, or corporation shall make any contribution to, or in any way supplement the salary of, any Government official or employee for the services performed by him for the Government of the United States. Any person violating any of the terms of this proviso shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $1,000 or imprisonment for not less than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment as the court may determine. [39 Stat. L. 1106.]

This is from the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Appropriation Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 163.

SEC. 8. [Employees — increased compensation.] That in determining the right of employees to increased compensation as heretofore authorized by law at rates of five and ten per centum per annum for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and eighteen, such employees as are employed on piecework, by the hour, or at per diem rates, shall be entitled to receive, from July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, to June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, inclusive, the increased compensation at the rate of ten per centum when the fixed rate of compensation for the regular working hours and on the basis of three hundred and twelve days in said year would amount to less than $1,200, and at the rate of five per centum when not less than $1,200 and not more than $1,800: Provided, That this method of computation shall not apply to any per diem employees regularly paid a per diem for every day in the year. [— Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing section 8 and the following section 9 are from the Deficiencies Appropriation Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. —.

SEC. 9. [Persons receiving more than one salary — additional compensation.] That section six of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation Act, approved May tenth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, as amended by the naval appropriation Act, approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, shall not apply to teachers in the public schools of the District of Columbia who are also employed as teachers of night schools and vacation schools.

See the note to the preceding section 8 of this Act.

The Act of May 10, 1916, ch. 117, § 6, as amended by the Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 417, mentioned in the text, is given supra, p. 719.

SEC. 6. [Civilian employees of United States and District of Columbia — increase of salary — conditions — exceptions — appropriations.] That all civilian employees of the Governments of the United States and the District of Columbia who receive a total of compensation at the rate of $2,500 per annum or less, except as otherwise provided in this section, shall receive, during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen, additional compensation at the rate of $120 per annum: Provided, That such employees as receive a total of annual compensation at a rate more than $2,500 and less than $2,620 shall receive additional compensation at such a rate per annum as may be necessary to make their salaries, plus their additional compensation, at the rate of $2,620 per annum, and no employee shall receive additional compensation under this section at a rate which is more than thirty per centum of the rate of the total annual compensation received by such employee: Provided further, That the increased compensation at the rates of five and ten per centum for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, shall not be computed as salary in construing this section: Provided further, That where an employee in the service on June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, has received during the fiscal year nineteen hundred and eighteen, or shall receive during the fiscal year nineteen hundred and nineteen an increase of salary at a rate in excess of $200 per annum, or where an employee whether previously in the service or not, has entered the service since June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, whether such employee has received an increase in salary or not, such employees shall be granted the increased compensation provided herein only when and upon the certification of the person in the legislative branch or the head of the department or establishment employing such persons of the ability and qualifications personal to such employees as would justify such increased compensation: Provided further, That the increased compensation provided in this section to employees whose pay is adjusted from time to time through wage boards or similar authority shall be taken into consideration by such wage boards or similar authority in adjusting the pay of such employees.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to the following: Employees paid from the postal revenues and sums which may be advanced from the Treasury to meet deficiencies in the postal revenues; employees of the Panama Canal on the Canal Zone; employees of the Alaskan Engineering Commission in Alaska; employees paid from lump-sum appropriations in bureaus, divisions, commissions, or any other governmental agencies or employments created by law since January first, nineteen hundred and sixteen; employees whose duties require only a portion of their time, except charwomen, who shall be included; employees whose services are utilized for brief periods at intervals; persons employed by or through corporations, firms, or individuals acting for or on behalf of or as agents of the United States or any department or independent establishment of the Government of the United States in connection with construction work or the operation of plants; employees who receive a part of their pay from any outside sources under cooperative arrangements with the Government of the United States or the District of Columbia; employees who serve voluntarily or receive only a nominal compensation, and employees who may be provided with special allowances because of their service in foreign countries. The provisions of this section shall not apply to employees of the railroads taken over by the United States, and nothing contained herein shall be deemed a recognition of the employees of such railroads as employees of the United States.

Section six of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation Act approved May tenth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, as amended by the naval appropriation Act approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, shall not operate to prevent anyone from receiving the additional compensation provided in this section who otherwise is entitled to receive the same.

Such employees as are engaged on piecework, by the hour, or at per diem rates, if otherwise entitled to receive the additional compensation shall receive the same at the rate to which they are entitled in this section when their fixed rate of pay for the regular working hours and on the basis of three hundred and thirteen days in the said fiscal year would amount to $2,500 or less: Provided, That this method of computation shall not apply to any per diem employees regularly paid a per diem for every day in the year.

So much as may be necessary to pay the increased compensation provided in this section to employees of the Government of the United States is appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

So much as may be necessary to pay the increased compensation provided in this section to employees of the government of the District of Columbia is appropriated, one-half out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated and one-half out of the revenues of the District of Columbia, except to employees of the Washington Aqueduct and the water department, which shall be paid entirely from the revenues of the water department.

So much as may be necessary to pay the increased compensation provided in this section to persons employed under trust funds who may be construed to be employees of the Government of the United States or the District of Columbia is authorized to be paid, respectively, from such trust funds.

Reports shall be submitted to Congress on the first day of the next regular session showing for the first four months of the fiscal year the average number of employees in each department, bureau, office, or establishment receiving the increased compensation at the rate of $120 per annum and the average number by grades receiving the same at each other rate. [— Stat. L. —.]

I. NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

An Act To establish a National Park Service, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [National Park Service — creation — officers and employees — purpose of service.] That there is hereby created in the Department of the Interior a service to be called the National Park Service, which shall be under the charge of a director, who shall be appointed by the Secretary and who shall receive a salary of $4,500 per annum. There shall also be appointed by the Secretary the following assistants and other employees at the salaries designated: One assistant director, at $2,500 per annum; one chief clerk, at $2,000 per annum; one draftsman, at $1,800 per annum; one messenger, at $600 per annum; and, in addition thereto, such other employees as the Secretary of the Interior shall deem necessary: Provided, That not more than $8,100 annually shall be expended for salaries of experts, assistants, and employees within the District of Columbia not herein specifically enumerated unless previously authorized by law. The service thus established shall promote and regulate the use of the Federal areas known as national parks, monuments, and reservations hereinafter specified by such means and measures as conform to the fundamental purpose of the said parks, monuments, and reservations, which purpose is to conserve the scenery and the natural and historic objects and the wild life therein and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations. [39 Stat. L. 535.]

SEC. 2. [Duties of director — cooperation of Secretary of Agriculture.] That the director shall, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, have the supervision, management, and control of the several parks and national monuments which are now under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Interior and of the Hot Springs Reservation in the State of Arkansas, and of such other national parks and reservations of like character as may be hereafter created by Congress: Provided, That in the supervision, management, and control of national monuments contiguous to national forests the Secretary of Agriculture may cooperate with said National Park Service to such extent as may be requested by the Secretary of the Interior. [39 Stat. L. 535.]

SEC. 3. [Rules and regulations — publication — violation — disposition of timber — leases and privileges.] That the Secretary of the Interior shall make and publish such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary or proper for the use and management of the parks, monuments, and reservations under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service, and any violations of any of the rules and regulations authorized by this Act shall be punished as provided for in section fifty of the Act entitled "An Act to codify and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and nine, as amended by section six of the Act of June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten (Thirty-sixth United States Statutes at Large, page eight hundred and fifty-seven). He may also, upon terms and conditions to be fixed by him, sell or dispose of timber in those cases where in his judgment the cutting of such timber is required in order to control the attacks of insects or diseases or otherwise conserve the scenery or the natural or historic objects in any such park, monument, or reservation. He may also provide in his discretion for the destruction of such animals and of such plant life as may be detrimental to the use of any of said parks, monuments, or reservations. He may also grant privileges, leases, and permits for the use of land for the accommodation of visitors in the various parks, monuments, or other reservations herein provided for, but for periods not exceeding twenty years; and no natural curiosities, wonders, or objects of interest shall be leased, rented, or granted to anyone on such terms as to interfere with free access to them by the public: Provided, however, That the Secretary of the Interior may, under such rules and regulations and on such terms as he may prescribe, grant the privilege to graze live stock within any national park, monument, or reservation herein referred to when in his judgment such use is not detrimental to the primary purpose for which such park, monument, or reservation was created, except that this provision shall not apply to Yellowstone National Park. [39 Stat. L. 535.]

For Penal Laws, § 50, mentioned in the text, as originally enacted, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 419; for said section 50, as amended by the Act of June 25, 1910, ch. 431, § 6, mentioned in the text, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 98, 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 618.

SEC. 4. [Effect on prior Act.] That nothing in this Act contained shall affect or modify the provisions of the Act approved February fifteenth, nineteen hundred and one, entitled "An Act relating to rights of way through certain parks, reservations, and other public lands." [39 Stat. L. 536.]

II. CRATER LAKE NATIONAL PARK

An Act To accept the cession by the State of Oregon of exclusive jurisdiction over the lands embraced within the Crater Lake National Park, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Crater Lake National Park — jurisdiction of United States — laws applicable.] That the provisions of the act of the Legislature of the State of Oregon, approved January twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, ceding to the United States exclusive jurisdiction over the territory embraced within the Crater Lake National Park, are hereby accepted and sole and exclusive jurisdiction is hereby assumed by the United States over such territory, saving, however, to the said State the right to serve civil or criminal process within the limits of the aforesaid park in suits or prosecution for or on account of rights acquired, obligations incurred, or crimes committed in said State but outside of said park, and saving further to the said State the right to tax persons and corporations, their franchises and property, on the lands included in said park. All the laws applicable to places under the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the United States shall have force and effect in said park. All fugitives from justice taking refuge in said park shall be subject to the same laws as refugees from justice found in the State of Oregon. [39 Stat. L. 521.]

SEC. 2. [Judicial district.] That said park shall constitute a part of the United States judicial district for Oregon, and the district court of the United States in and for Oregon shall have jurisdiction of all offenses committed within said boundaries. [39 Stat. L. 522.]

SEC. 3. [Offenses — punishment.] That if any offense shall be committed in the Crater Lake National Park, which offense is not prohibited or the punishment for which is not specifically provided for by any law of the United States, the offender shall be subject to the same punishment as the laws of the State of Oregon in force at the time of the commission of the offense may provide for a like offense in said State; and no subsequent repeal of any such law of the State of Oregon shall affect any prosecution for said offense committed within said park. [39 Stat. L. 522.]

SEC. 4. [Hunting and fishing — rules and regulations.] That all hunting or the killing, wounding, or capturing at any time of any wild bird or animal, except dangerous animals when it is necessary to prevent them from destroying human lives or inflicting injury, is prohibited within the limits of said park; nor shall any fish be taken out of the waters of the park in any other way than by hook and line, and then only at such seasons and in such times and manner as may be directed by the Secretary of the Interior. That the Secretary of the Interior shall make and publish such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary and proper for the management and care of the park and for the protection of the property therein, especially for the preservation from injury or spoliation of all timber, mineral deposits other than those legally located prior to the passage of this Act, natural curiosities, or wonderful objects within said park, and for the protection of the animals and birds in the park from capture or destruction, and to prevent their being frightened or driven from the park; and he shall make rules and regulations governing the taking of fish from the streams or lakes of the park. Possession within said park of the dead bodies, or any part thereof, of any wild bird or animal shall be prima facie evidence that the person or persons having the same are guilty of violating this Act. Any person or persons, or stage or express company, or railway company, who knows or has reason to believe that they were taken or killed contrary to the provisions of this Act and who receives for transportation any of said animals, birds, or fish so killed, caught, or taken, or who shall violate any of the other provisions of this Act or any rule or regulation that may be promulgated by the Secretary of the Interior with reference to the management and care of the park or for the protection of the property therein, for the preservation from injury or spoliation of timber, mineral deposits other than those legally located prior to the passage of this Act, natural curiosities, or wonderful objects within said park, or for the protection of the animals, birds, or fish in the park, or who shall within said park commit any damage, injury, or spoliation to or upon any building, fence, hedge, gate, guidepost, tree, wood, underwood, timber, garden, crops, vegetables, plants, land, springs, mineral deposits other than those legally located prior to the passage of this Act, natural curiosities, or other matter or thing growing or being thereon or situate therein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings. [39 Stat. L. 522.]

SEC. 5. [Forfeiture of property used illegally.] That all guns, traps, teams, horses, or means of transportation of every nature or description used by any person or persons within said park limits when engaged in killing, trapping, ensnaring, or capturing such wild beasts, birds, or animals shall be forfeited to the United States and may be seized by the officers in said park and held pending the prosecution of any person or persons arrested under charge of violating the provisions of this Act, and upon conviction under this Act of such person or persons using said guns, traps, teams, horses, or other means of transportation, such forfeiture shall be adjudicated as a penalty in addition to the other punishment provided in this Act. Such forfeited property shall be disposed of and accounted for by and under the authority of the Secretary of the Interior. [39 Stat. L. 523.]

SEC. 6. [United States Commissioner — appointment — jurisdiction — appeals.] That the United States District Court for Oregon shall appoint a commissioner who shall reside in the park and who shall have jurisdiction to hear and act upon all complaints made of any violations of law or of the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of the Interior for the government of the park and for the protection of the animals, birds, and fish, and objects of interest therein, and for other purposes authorized by this Act.

Such commissioner shall have power, upon sworn information, to issue process in the name of the United States for the arrest of any person charged with the commission of any misdemeanor, or charged with a violation of the rules and regulations, or with a violation of any of the provisions of this Act prescribed for the government of said park and for the protection of the animals, birds, and fish in said park, and to try the person so charged, and if found guilty, to impose punishment and to adjudge the forfeiture prescribed.

In all cases of conviction an appeal shall lie from the judgment of said commissioner to the United States District Court for Oregon, and the United States court in said district shall prescribe the rules of procedure and practice for said commissioner in the trial of cases and for appeal to said United States District Court. [39 Stat. L. 523.]

SEC. 7. [Process — issuance — bail.] That any such commissioner shall also have power to issue process as hereinbefore provided for the arrest of any person charged with the commission within said boundaries of any criminal offense not covered by the provisions of section four of this Act to hear the evidence introduced, and if he is of opinion that probable cause is shown for holding the person so charged for trial shall cause such person to be safely conveyed to a secure place of confinement within the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for Oregon, and certify a transcript of the record of his proceedings and the testimony in the case to said court, which court shall have jurisdiction of the case: Provided, That the said commissioner shall grant bail in all cases bailable under the laws of the United States or of said State. [39 Stat. L. 523.]

SEC. 8. [Service of process — arrest without process.] That all process issued by the commissioner shall be directed to the marshal of the United States for the district of Oregon, but nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent the arrest by any officer or employee of the Government or any person employed by the United States in the policing of said reservation within said boundaries without process of any person taken in the act of violating the law or this Act or the regulations prescribed by said Secretary as aforesaid. [39 Stat. L. 523.]

SEC. 9. [Salary of Commissioner.] That the commissioner provided for in this Act shall be paid an annual salary of $1,500, payable quarterly: Provided, That the said commissioner shall reside within the exterior boundaries of said Crater Lake National Park, at a place to be designated by the court making such appointment: Provided further, That all fees, costs, and expenses collected by the commissioner shall be disposed of as provided in section eleven of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 523.]

SEC. 10. [Fees, costs, and expenses — payment.] That all fees, costs, and expenses arising in cases under this Act and properly chargeable to the United States shall be certified, approved, and paid as are like fees, costs, and expenses in the courts of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 524.]

SEC. 11. [Deposit of fines and costs.] That all fines and costs imposed and collected shall be deposited by said commissioner of the United States, or the marshal of the United States collecting the same, with the clerk of the United States District Court for Oregon. [39 Stat. L. 524.]

SEC. 12. [Notice of approval of Act.] That the Secretary of the Interior shall notify, in writing, the governor of the State of Oregon of the passage and approval of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 524.]

[SEC. 1.] [Crater Lake National Park — acceptance of patented lands, etc.] * * * Hereafter the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to accept patented lands or rights of way over patented lands in the Crater Lake National Park that may be donated for park purposes. [— Stat. L. —.]

III. GLACIER NATIONAL PARK

An Act To authorize an exchange of lands with owners of private holdings within the Glacier National Park.

[SEC. 1.] [Glacier National Park — elimination of private holdings — exchange of lands.] That the Secretary of the Interior, for the purpose of eliminating private holdings within the Glacier National Park and the preservation intact of the natural forest along the roads in the scenic portions of the park, both on patented and park lands, is hereby empowered, in his discretion, to obtain for the United States the complete title to any or all of the lands held in private or State ownership within the boundaries of said park within townships thirty-two and thirty-three north, ranges eighteen and nineteen west of Montana principal meridian, by the exchange of dead, decadent, or matured timber of approximately equal values that can be removed from any part of the park without injuriously affecting the scenic beauty thereof; or upon the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture, the timber to be selected or exchanged may be taken from the Government lands within the metes and bounds of the national forests within the State of Montana. [39 Stat. L. 1122.]

SEC. 2. [Value of lands offered for exchange — determination.] That the value of all patented lands within said park, including the timber thereon, offered for exchange, and the value of the timber on park lands, or on Government lands within the metes and bounds of the national forests within the State of Montana, proposed to be given in exchange for such patented lands, shall be ascertained in such manner as the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture may jointly in their discretion direct, and all expenses incident to ascertaining such values shall be paid by the owners of said patented lands; and such owners shall, before any exchange is effective, furnish the Secretary of the Interior evidence satisfactory to him of title to the patented lands offered in exchange; and if the value of timber on park lands or on the Government lands in the national forests within the State of Montana exceeds the value of the patented lands deeded to the Government in exchange, such excess shall be paid to the Secretary of the Interior by the owners of the patented lands before any timber is removed, and shall be deposited and covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts: Provided, That the lands conveyed to the Government under this Act shall become a part of the Glacier National Park. [39 Stat. L. 1122.]

SEC. 3. [Cutting and removing timber — regulations.] That all timber on Government lands in the park must be cut and removed under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior, and any damage which may result to the roads or any part of the park or the national forests in consequence of the cutting and removal of the timber therefrom shall be borne by the owners of the patented lands, and bonds satisfactory to the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture, jointly, must be given for the payment of such damages, if any, as shall be determined by the Secretary of the Interior so far as the same relates to lands within a national park and by the Secretary of Agriculture where the same relates to lands in the national forests: Provided further, That the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior shall jointly report to Congress in detail the factors upon which valuations were made. [39 Stat. L. 1122.]

* * * The Secretary of the Interior is authorized, in his discretion, to accept buildings, moneys, or other property which may be useful in the betterment of the administration and affairs of the Glacier National Park under his supervision, and which may be donated for park purposes. [— Stat. L. —.]

IV. HAWAII NATIONAL PARK

[SEC. 1.] [Hawaii National Park — creation — boundaries.] That the tracts of land on the island of Hawaii and on the island of Maui, in the Territory of Hawaii, hereinafter described, shall be perpetually dedicated and set apart as a public park or pleasure ground for the benefit and enjoyment of the people of the United States, to be known as Hawaii National Park. Said tracts of land are described as follows:

First. All that tract of land comprising portions of the lands of Kapapala and Keauhou, in the district of Kau, and Kahaualea, Panaunui, and Apua, in the district of Puna, on the island of Hawaii, containing approximately thirty-five thousand eight hundred and sixty-five acres, bounded as follows: Beginning at a point on the west edge of the Keamoku Aa Flow (lava flow of eighteen hundred and twenty-three), from which point the true azimuth and distance to Government survey trigonometrical station Ohaikea is one hundred and sixty-six degrees twenty minutes, six thousand three hundred and fifty feet, and running by true azimuths: (First) Along the west edge of the Keamoku lava flow in a northeasterly and northwesterly direction, the direct azimuth and distance being one hundred and ninety-eight degrees ten minutes, fourteen thousand seven hundred feet; (second) two hundred and fifty-six degrees, eleven thousand four hundred feet, more or less, across the land of Kapapala and Keauhou to a marked point on the Humuula trail; (third) three hundred and twenty-eight degrees fifteen minutes, eight thousand seven hundred and twenty-five feet, across the land of Keauhou to the top of the fault north of the Kau road; (fourth) along the fault in a northeasterly direction, the direction azimuth and distance being two hundred and fifty-one degrees and thirty minutes, four thousand three hundred and thirty feet; (fifth) two hundred and forty-five degrees, six thousand feet, to a point near the southwest boundary of the land of Olaa; (sixth) three hundred and thirty-seven degrees ten minutes, eight thousand six hundred and fifty feet, more or less, to the junction of the Hilo and Keauhou roads; (seventh) three hundred and thirty-three degrees and twenty minutes, three thousand three hundred feet, more or less, to the southwest corner of the land of Keaau; (eighth) three hundred and thirty-two degrees and ten minutes, seven thousand feet, along the land of Kahaualea; (ninth) two hundred and eighty-one degrees, thirty thousand three hundred and seventy-five feet, more or less, across the land of Kahaualea, passing through the north corner of the land of Panaunui, to the north corner of the land of Laeapuki; (tenth) thirty-one degrees thirty minutes, thirteen thousand two hundred feet, more or less, along the land of Laeapuki and across the land of Panaunui; (eleventh) eighty-nine degrees and ten minutes, thirty-two thousand nine hundred feet, more or less, across the land of Panaunui, Apua, and Keauhou to "Palilele-o-Kalihipaa," the boundary point of the Keauhou-Kapapala boundary; (twelfth) fifty-one degrees and thirty minutes, five thousand and five hundred feet, across the land of Kapapala; (thirteenth) one hundred and two degrees and fifty minutes, nineteen thousand one hundred and fifty feet, across the land of Kapapala to a small cone about one thousand five hundred feet southwest of Puu Koa trigonometrical station; (fourteenth) one hundred and sixty-six degrees twenty minutes, twenty-one thousand feet, across the land of Kapapala to the point of beginning.

Second. All that tract of land comprising portions of the lands of Kapapala and Kahuku, in the district of Kau, island of Hawaii; Keauhou second, in the district of North Kona; and Kaohe, in the district of Hamakua, containing seventeen thousand nine hundred and twenty acres, bounded as follows: Beginning at Pohaku Hanalei of Humuula, a small cone on the brow of Mauna Loa, and at the common boundary points of the lands of Humuula, Kapapala, and Kaohe, from which the true azimuth and distance to Government survey trigonometrical station Omaokoili is one hundred and ninety-five degrees twelve minutes eighteen seconds, seventy-eight thousand two hundred and eighty-six feet, and running by true azimuths: First two hundred and ninety-eight degrees, five thousand two hundred and forty feet; second, twenty-eight degrees, thirty-six thousand nine hundred and sixty feet; third, one hundred and eighteen degrees, twenty-one thousand one hundred and twenty feet; fourth, two hundred and eight degrees, thirty-six thousand nine hundred and sixty feet; fifth, two hundred and ninety-eight degrees, fifteen thousand eight hundred and eighty feet, to the point of beginning.

Third. A strip of land of sufficient width for a road to connect the two tracts of land on the island of Hawaii above described, the width and location of which strip shall be determined by the Secretary of the Interior.

Fourth. All that tract of land comprising portions of the lands of Honuauula and Kula, in the district of Makawao, and Kipahulu, Kaupo, and Kahikinui, in the district of Hana, on the island of Maui, containing approximately twenty-one thousand one hundred and fifty acres, bounded as follows: Beginning at a point called Kolekole, on the summit near the most western point of the rim of the crater of Haleakala, and running by approximate azimuths and distances: First, hundred and ninety-three degrees forty-five minutes nineteen thousand three hundred and fifty feet along the west slope of the crater of Haleakala to a point called Puu-o-Ili; second, two hundred and sixty-eight degrees twenty-three thousand feet up the western slope and across Koolau Gap to the point where the southwest boundary of Koolau Forest Reserve crosses the east rim of Koolau Gap; third, three hundred and six degrees thirty minutes seventeen thousand one hundred and fifty feet along the southwest boundary of Koolau Forest Reserve to a point called Palalia, on the east rim of the crater of Haleakala; fourth, along the east rim of the crater of Haleakala, the direct azimuth and distance being three hundred and fifty-four degrees fifteen minutes eighteen thousand three hundred feet to a point on the east rim of Kaupo Gap, shown on Hawaiian Government survey maps at an elevation of four thousand two hundred and eight feet; fifth, eighty-eight degrees forty-five minutes three thousand three hundred feet across Kaupo Gap to a point called Kaumikaohu, on the boundary line between the lands of Kipahulu and Kahikinui; sixth, one hundred and two degrees and thirty minutes forty thousand seven hundred and fifty feet along the south slope of the crater of Haleakala to the point of beginning. [39 Stat. L. 432.]

SEC. 2. [Existing claims, etc.—easements—rights of way.] That nothing herein contained shall affect any valid existing claim, location, or entry under the land laws of the United States, whether for homestead, mineral, right of way, or any other purpose whatsoever, or shall affect the rights of any such claimant, locator, or entryman to the full use and enjoyment of his land. Whenever consistent with the primary purposes of the park the Act of February fifteenth, nineteen hundred and one, applicable to the location of rights of way in certain national parks and the national forests for irrigation and other purposes, shall be and remain applicable to the lands included within the park. The Secretary of the Interior may, in his discretion and upon such conditions as he may deem wise, grant easements or rights of way for steam, electric, or similar transportation upon or across the park. [39 Stat. L. 433.]

For the Act of Feb. 15, 1901, ch. 372, mentioned in this section, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 513; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 811.

SEC. 3. [Land held in private or municipal ownership as subject to Act.] That no lands located within the park boundaries now held in private or municipal ownership shall be affected by or subject to the provisions of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 434.]

SEC. 4. [Management of park—leases.] That the said park shall be under the executive control of the Secretary of the Interior whose duty it shall be, as soon as practicable, to make and publish such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary or proper for the care and management of the same. Such regulations shall provide for the preservation from injury of all timber, birds, mineral deposits, and natural curiosities or wonders within said park, and their retention in their natural condition as nearly as possible. The Secretary may in his discretion grant leases for terms not exceeding twenty years, at such annual rental as he may determine, of parcels of land in said park of not more than twenty acres in all to any one person, corporation, or company for the erection and maintenance of buildings for the accommodation of visitors; but no such lease shall include any of the objects of curiosity or interest in said park or exclude the public from free and convenient approach thereto or convey, either expressly or by implication, any exclusive privilege within the park except upon the premises held thereunder and for the time granted therein; and every such lease shall require the lessee to observe and obey each and every provision in any Act of Congress and every rule, order, or regulation of the Secretary of the Interior concerning the use, care, management, or government of the park, or any object or property therein, under penalty of forfeiture of such lease. The Secretary may in his discretion grant to persons or corporations now holding leases of land in the park, upon the surrender thereof, new leases hereunder, upon the terms and stipulations contained in their present leases, with such modifications, restrictions, and reservations as he may prescribe. All of the proceeds of said leases and other revenues that may be derived from any source connected with the park shall be expended under the direction of the Secretary, in the management and protection of the same and the construction of roads and paths therein. The Secretary may also, in his discretion permit the erection and maintenance of buildings in said park for scientific purposes: Provided, That no appropriation for the maintenance, supervision, and improvement of said park in excess of $10,000 annually shall be made unless the same shall have first been expressly authorized by law: And provided further, That no appropriation shall be made for the improvement or maintenance of said park until proper conveyances shall be made to the United States of such perpetual easements and rights of way over private lands within the exterior boundaries of said park as the Secretary of the Interior shall find necessary to make said park reasonably accessible in all its parts, and said Secretary shall when such easements and rights of way have been conveyed to the United States report the same to Congress. [39 Stat. L. 437.]

V. LASSEN VOLCANIC NATIONAL PARK

An Act To establish the Lassen Volcanic National Park in the Sierra Nevada Mountains in the State of California, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Lassen Volcanic National Park — creation — boundaries.]

That all those certain tracts, pieces, or parcels of land lying and being situate in the State of California and within the boundaries particularly described as follows, to wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of section three, township thirty-one, range six east, Mount Diablo meridian, California; thence southerly to the southeast corner of said section; thence easterly to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of section eleven, said township; thence southerly to southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section fourteen, said township; thence easterly to the northeast corner of the northwest quarter of section twenty-four, said township; thence southerly to the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section twenty-five, said township; thence westerly to the southwest corner of section twenty-six, said township; thence southerly to the southeast corner of section thirty-four, said township; thence westerly along the sixth standard parallel north, allowing for the proper offsets, to the northeast corner of section three, township thirty north, range six east; thence southerly to the southeast corner of section twenty-seven, said township; thence westerly to the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section twenty-eight, said township; thence northerly to the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of said section; thence westerly to the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of said section; thence northerly to the northwest corner of said section; thence westerly to the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section twenty, said township; thence northerly to the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of said section; thence westerly to the range line between ranges five and six east; thence southerly along said range line to the southeast corner of township thirty north, range five east; thence westerly along the township line between townships twenty-nine and thirty north to the southwest corner of section thirty-three, township thirty north, range five east; thence northerly to the northwest corner of said section; thence westerly to the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section twenty-nine, said township; thence northerly to the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of said section; thence westerly to the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of said section; thence northerly to the northwest corner of said section; thence westerly to the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section twenty, township thirty north, range four east; thence northerly to the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of section eight, said township; thence easterly to the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of section nine, said township; thence northerly to the township line between townships thirty and thirty-one north; thence easterly along the sixth standard parallel north, allowing for the proper offsets, to the southwest corner of section thirty-three, township thirty-one north, range four east; thence northerly to the northwest corner of section twenty-one, said township; thence easterly to the range line between ranges four and five east; thence northerly along said range line to the northwest corner of fractional section eighteen, township thirty-one north, range five east; thence easterly to the southwest corner of section twelve, said township; thence northerly to the northwest corner of section one, said township; thence easterly along the township line between townships thirty-one and thirty-two north to the northeast corner of section three, township thirty-one north, range six east, the place of beginning, are hereby reserved and withdrawn from settlement, occupancy, disposal, or sale, under the laws of the United States, and said tracts are dedicated and set apart as a public park or pleasuring ground for the benefit and enjoyment of the people of the United States under the name and to be known and designated as the Lassen Volcanic National Park; and all persons who shall locate or settle upon or occupy the same, or any part thereof, except as hereinafter provided, shall be considered trespassers and be removed therefrom: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall affect any valid existing claim, location, or entry under the land laws of the United States or the rights of any such claimant, locator, or entryman to the full use and enjoyment of his land: Provided further, That rights of way for steam or electric railways, automobiles, or wagon roads may be acquired within said Lassen Volcanic National Park under filings or proceedings hereafter made or instituted under the laws applicable to the acquisition of such rights over or upon the national forest lands of the United States when the construction of such roads will not interfere with the objects of the national park, and that the United States Reclamation Service may enter upon and utilize for flowage or other purposes any area within said park which may be necessary for the development and maintenance of a Government reclamation project; that no lands located within the park boundaries now held in private, municipal, or State ownership shall be affected by or subject to the provisions of this Act: And provided further, That no lands within the limits of said park hereby created belonging to or claimed by any railroad or other corporation now having or claiming the right of indemnity selection by virtue of any law or contract whatsoever shall be used as a basis for indemnity selection in any State or Territory whatsoever for any loss sustained by reason of the creation of said park. [39 Stat. L. 442.]

SEC. 2. [Management — rules and regulations — leases.] That said park shall be under the exclusive control of the Secretary of the Interior, whose duty it shall be, as soon as practicable, to make and publish such rules and regulations not inconsistent with the laws of the United States as he may deem necessary or proper for the care, protection, management, and improvement of the same. Such regulations being primarily aimed at the freest use of the said park for recreation purposes by the public and for the preservation from injury or spoliation of all timber, mineral deposits, and natural curiosities or wonders within said park and their retention in their natural condition as far as practicable and for the preservation of the park in a state of nature so far as is consistent with the purposes of this Act. He shall provide against the wanton destruction of the fish and game found within said park and against their capture or destruction for purposes of merchandise or profit, and generally shall be authorized to take all such measures as shall be necessary to fully carry out the objects and purposes of this Act. Said Secretary may, in his discretion, execute leases to parcels of grounds not exceeding ten acres in extent at any one place to any one person or persons or company for not to exceed twenty years when such ground is necessary for the erection of buildings for the accommodation of visitors and to parcels of ground not exceeding one acre in extent and for not to exceed twenty years to persons who have heretofore erected, or whom he may hereafter authorize to erect, summer homes or cottages. Such leases or privileges may be renewed or extended at the expiration of the terms thereof. No exclusive privilege, however, shall be granted within the park except upon the ground leased. The regulations governing the park shall include provisions for the use of automobiles therein and the reasonable grazing of stock. [39 Stat. L. 444.]

SEC. 3. [Sale of timber.] That the Secretary of the Interior may also sell and permit the removal of such matured or dead or down timber as he may deem necessary or advisable for the protection or improvement of the park. [39 Stat. L. 444.]

SEC. 4. [Charges for leases, etc.] That the Secretary of the Interior may exact such charges as he deems proper for leases and all other privileges granted hereunder. [39 Stat. L. 444.]

SEC. 5. [Appropriation — authorization.] That no appropriation for the maintenance, supervision, or improvement of said park in excess of $5,000 annually shall be made unless the same shall have first been expressly authorized by law. [39 Stat. L. 444.]

VI. MESA VERDE NATIONAL PARK

[SEC. 1.] [Mesa Verde National Park — acceptance of patented lands, etc.] * * * Hereafter the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to accept patented lands or rights of way over patented lands in the Mesa Verde National Park that may be donated for park purposes. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of June 12, 1917, ch. —.

VII. MOUNT MCKINLEY NATIONAL PARK

[SEC. 1.] [Mount McKinley National Park — establishment — boundaries.] That the tract of land in the Territory of Alaska particularly described by and included within the metes and bounds, to wit: Beginning at a point as shown on Plate III, reconnoissance map of the Mount McKinley region, Alaska, prepared in the Geological Survey, edition of nineteen hundred and eleven, said point being at the summit of a hill between two forks of the headwaters of the Toklat River, approximate latitude sixty-three degrees forty-seven minutes, longitude one hundred and fifty degrees twenty minutes; thence south six degrees twenty minutes west nineteen miles; thence south sixty-eight degrees west sixty miles; thence in a southeasterly direction approximately twenty-eight miles to the summit of Mount Russell; thence in a northeasterly direction approximately eighty-nine miles to a point twenty-five miles due south of a point due east of the point of beginning; thence due north twenty-five miles to said point; thence due west twenty-eight and one-half miles to the point of beginning, is hereby reserved and withdrawn from settlement, occupancy, or disposal under the laws of the United States, and said tract is dedicated and set apart as a public park for the benefit and enjoyment of the people, under the name of the Mount McKinley National Park. [39 Stat. L. 938.]

SEC. 2. [Effect on existing claims, etc.] That nothing herein contained shall affect any valid existing claim, location, or entry under the land laws of the United States, whether for homestead, mineral, right of way, or any other purpose whatsoever, or shall affect the rights of any such claimant locator, or entryman to the full use and enjoyment of his land. [39 Stat. L. 938.]

SEC. 3. [Rights of way for irrigation and other purposes.] That whenever consistent with the primary purposes of the park, the Act of February fifteenth, nineteen hundred and one, applicable to the location of rights of way in certain national parks and national forests for irrigation and other purposes, shall be and remain applicable to the lands included within the park. [39 Stat. L. 938.]

For the Act of Feb. 15, 1901, ch. 372, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 513; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 811.

SEC. 4. [Mineral land laws — applicability.] Nothing in this Act shall in any way modify or effect the mineral land laws now applicable to the lands in the said park. [39 Stat. L. 938.]

SEC. 5. [Control and management — regulations.] That the said park shall be under the executive control of the Secretary of the Interior, and it shall be the duty of the said executive authority, as soon as practicable, to make and publish such rules and regulations not inconsistent with the laws of the United States as the said authority may deem necessary or proper for the care, protection, management, and improvement of the same, the said regulations being primarily aimed at the freest use of the said park for recreation purposes by the public and for the preservation of animals, birds, and fish and for the preservation of the natural curiosities and scenic beauties thereof. [39 Stat. L. 938.]

SEC. 6. [Establishment as game refuge — limitation on killing of game.] That the said park shall be, and is hereby, established as a game refuge, and no person shall kill any game in said park except under an order from the Secretary of the Interior for the protection of persons or to protect or prevent the extermination of other animals or birds: Provided, That prospectors and miners engaged in prospecting or mining in said park may take and kill therein so much game or birds as may be needed for their actual necessities when short of food; but in no case shall animals or birds be killed in said park for sale or removal therefrom, or wantonly. [39 Stat. L. 939.]

SEC. 7. [Leases — privileges and concessions.] That the said Secretary of the Interior may, in his discretion, execute leases to parcels of ground not exceeding twenty acres in extent for periods not to exceed twenty years whenever such ground is necessary for the erection of establishments for the accommodation of visitors; may grant such other necessary privileges and concessions as he deems wise for the accommodation of visitors; and may likewise arrange for the removal of such mature or dead or down timber as he may deem necessary and advisable for the protection and improvement of the park: Provided, That no appropriation for the maintenance of said park in excess of $10,000 annually shall be made unless the same shall have first been expressly authorized by law. [39 Stat. L. 939.]

SEC. 8. [Offenses — punishment.] That any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subjected to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings. [39 Stat. L. 939.]

VIII. MOUNT RAINIER NATIONAL PARK

An Act To accept the cession by the State of Washington of exclusive jurisdiction over the lands embraced within the Mount Rainier National Park, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Mount Rainier National Park—cession of jurisdiction over.] That the provisions of the act of the legislature of the State of Washington, approved March sixteenth, nineteen hundred and one, ceding to the United States exclusive jurisdiction over the territory embraced within the Mount Rainier National Park, are hereby accepted and sole and exclusive jurisdiction is hereby assumed by the United States over such territory, saving, however, to the said State the right to serve civil or criminal process within the limits of the aforesaid park in suits or prosecution for or on account of rights acquired, obligations incurred, or crimes committed in said State but outside of said park, and saving further to the said State the right to tax persons and corporations, their franchises and property, on the lands included in said park. All the laws applicable to places under the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the United States shall have force and effect in said park. All fugitives from justice taking refuge in said park shall be subject to the same laws as refugees from justice found in the State of Washington. [39 Stat. L. 243.]

SEC. 2. [Park in what judicial district.] That said park shall constitute a part of the United States judicial district for the western district of Washington, and the district court of the United States in and for said district shall have jurisdiction of all offenses committed within said boundaries. [39 Stat. L. 244.]

SEC. 3. [Offenses — punishment.] That if any offense shall be committed in the Mount Rainier National Park, which offense is not prohibited or the punishment for which is not specifically provided for by any law of the United States, the offender shall be subject to the same punishment as the laws of the State of Washington in force at the time of the commission of the offense may provide for a like offense in said State; and no subsequent repeal of any such law of the State of Washington shall affect any prosecution for said offense committed within said park. [39 Stat. L. 244.]

SEC. 4. [Hunting and fishing — rules and regulations.] That all hunting or the killing, wounding, or capturing at any time of any wild bird or animal, except dangerous animals when it is necessary to prevent them from destroying human lives or inflicting personal injury, is prohibited within the limits of said park; nor shall any fish be taken out of the waters of the park in any other way than by hook and line, and then only at such seasons and in such times and manner as may be directed by the Secretary of the Interior. That the Secretary of the Interior shall make and publish such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary and proper for the management and care of the park and for the protection of the property therein, especially for the preservation from injury or spoliation of all timber, mineral deposits other than those legally located prior to the passage of the Act of May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight (Thirty-fifth Statutes, page three hundred and sixty-five), natural curiosities, or wonderful objects within said park, and for the protection of the animals and birds in the park from capture or destruction, and to prevent their being frightened or driven from the park; and he shall make rules and regulations governing the taking of fish from the streams or lakes in the park. Possession within said park of the dead bodies, or any part thereof, of any wild bird or animal shall be prima facie evidence that the person or persons having the same are guilty of violating this Act. Any person or persons, or stage or express company, or railway company, who knows or has reason to believe that they were taken or killed contrary to the provisions of this Act and who receives for transportation any of said animals, birds, or fish so killed, caught, or taken, or who shall violate any of the other provisions of this Act or any rule or regulation that may be promulgated by the Secretary of the Interior with reference to the management and care of the park or for the protection of the property therein, for the preservation from injury or spoliation of timber, mineral deposits other than those legally located prior to the passage of the Act of May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight (Thirty-fifth Statutes, page three hundred and sixty-five), natural curiosities, or wonderful objects within said park, or for the protection of the animals, birds, or fish in the park, or who shall within said park commit any damage, injury, or spoliation to or upon any building, fence, hedge, gate, guidepost, tree, wood, underwood, timber, garden, crops, vegetables, plants, lands, springs, mineral deposits other than those legally located prior to the passage of the Act of May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight (Thirty-fifth Statutes, page three hundred and sixty-five), natural curiosities, or other matter or thing growing or being thereon or situated therein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings. [39 Stat. L. 244.]

For the provisions of the Act of May 27, 1908, ch. 200, § 1, mentioned in the text, see 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 986.

SEC. 5. [Forfeiture of guns, etc.] That all guns, traps, teams, horses, or means of transportation of every nature or description used by any person or persons within said park limits when engaged in killing, trapping, ensnaring, or capturing such wild beasts, birds, or animals shall be forfeited to the United States and may be seized by the officers in said park and held pending the prosecution of any person or persons arrested under charge of violating the provisions of this Act, and upon conviction under this Act of such person or persons using said guns, traps, teams, horses, or other means of transportation, such forfeiture shall be adjudicated as a penalty in addition to the other punishment provided in this Act. Such forfeited property shall be disposed of and accounted for by and under the authority of the Secretary of the Interior. [39 Stat. L. 245.]

shall appoint a commissioner who shall reside in the park and who shall have jurisdiction to hear and act upon all complaints made of any violations of law or of the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of the Interior for the government of the park and for the protection of the animals, birds, and fish, and objects of interest therein, and for other purposes authorized by this Act.

Such commissioner shall have power, upon sworn information, to issue process in the name of the United States for the arrest of any person charged with the commission of any misdemeanor, or charged with a violation of the rules and regulations, or with a violation of any of the provisions of this Act prescribed for the government of said park and for the protection of the animals, birds, and fish in said park, and to try the person so charged, and, if found guilty, to impose punishment and to adjudge the forfeiture prescribed.

In all cases of conviction an appeal shall lie from the judgment of said commissioner to the United States District Court for the Western District of Washington, and the United States district court in said district shall prescribe the rules of procedure and practice for said commissioner in the trial of cases and for appeal to said United States district court. [39 Stat. L. 245.]

SEC. 7. [Process — bail.] That any such commissioner shall also have power to issue process as hereinbefore provided for the arrest of any person charged with the commission within said boundaries of any criminal offense not covered by the provisions of section four of this Act to hear the evidence introduced, and if he is of opinion that probable cause is shown for holding the person so charged for trial shall cause such person to be safely conveyed to a secure place of confinement within the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the Western District of Washington, and certify a transcript of the record of his proceedings and the testimony in the case to said court, which court shall have jurisdiction of the case: Provided, That the said commissioner shall grant bail in all cases bailable under the laws of the United States or of said State. [39 Stat. L. 245.]

SEC. 8. [Service of process — arrest without process.] That all process issued by the commissioner shall be directed to the marshal of the United States for the western district of Washington, but nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent the arrest by any officer or employee of the Government or any person employed by the United States in the policing of said reservation within said boundaries without process of any person taken in the act of violating the law or this Act or the regulations prescribed by said Secretary as aforesaid. [39 Stat. L. 245.]

SEC. 9. [Salary of Commissioner.] That the commissioner provided for in this Act shall be paid an annual salary of $1,500, payable quarterly: Provided, That the said commissioner shall reside within the exterior boundaries of said Mount Rainier National Park, at a place to be designated by the court making such appointment: And provided further, That all fees, costs, and expenses collected by the commissioner shall be disposed of as provided in section eleven of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 246.]

SEC. 10. [Fees, costs, and expenses.] That all fees, costs, and expenses arising in cases under this Act and properly chargeable to the United States shall be certified, approved, and paid as are like fees, costs, and expenses in the courts of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 246.]

SEC. 11. [Fines and costs — deposits.] That all fines and costs imposed and collected shall be deposited by said commissioner of the United States, or the marshal of the United States collecting the same, with the clerk of the United States District Court for the Western District of Washington. [39 Stat. L. 246.]

SEC. 12. [Notice of passage of Act.] That the Secretary of the Interior shall notify, in writing, the governor of the State of Washington of the passage and approval of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 246.]

[SEC. 1.] [Mount Ranier National Park — acceptance of patented lands, etc.] * * * Hereafter the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to accept patented lands or rights of way over patented lands in the Mount Ranier National Park that may be donated for park purposes. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of June 12, 1917, ch. —.

IX. ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK

[SEC. 1.] [Rocky Mountain National Park — acceptance of patented lands, etc.] * * * Hereafter the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to accept patented lands or rights of way over patented lands in the Rocky Mountain National Park that may be donated for park purposes. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of June 12, 1917, ch. —.

An Act To amend “An act to protect the birds and animals in Yellowstone National Park, and to punish crimes in said park, and for other purposes,” approved May seventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-four.

[Yellowstone National Park — hunting and fishing — violation of regulations — former Act amended.] That the following paragraph, forming part of section four of an Act entitled “An Act to protect the birds and animals in Yellowstone National Park, and to punish crimes in said park, and for other purposes,” approved May seventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, to wit:

of the Interior with reference to the management and care of the park, or for the protection of the property therein, for the preservation from injury or spoliation of timber, mineral deposits, natural curiosities, or wonderful objects within said park, or for the protection of the animals, birds, and fish in the said park, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subjected to a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings," be amended to read as follows:

"Any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this Act or any rule or regulation that may be promulgated by the Secretary of the Interior with reference to the management and care of the park, or for the protection of the property therein, for the preservation from injury or spoliation of timber, mineral deposits, natural curiosities, or wonderful objects within said park, or for the protection of the animals, birds, and fish in the said park, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subjected to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings." [39 Stat. L. 238.]

Together with all privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging.

The aforesaid tracts of land containing in the aggregate one hundred and twenty-five acres, more or less, and being the property of the Guilford Battle-Ground Company, according to a survey by W. B. Trogdon and W. B. Trogdon, junior, made June eight, nineteen hundred and eleven. And the area thus inclosed shall be known as the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park. [39 Stat. L. 996.]

SEC. 2. [Control and direction of establishment — conveyance of lands.]
That the establishment of the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park shall be carried forward under the control and direction of the Secretary of War, who is hereby authorized to receive from the Guilford Battle-Ground Company, a corporation chartered by the State of North Carolina, a deed of conveyance to the United States of all the lands belonging to said corporation, embracing one hundred and twenty-five acres, more or less, and described more particularly in the preceding section. [39 Stat. L. 997.]

SEC. 3. [Additional lands — acquisition.] That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized and directed to acquire at such times and in such manner such additional lands adjacent to the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park as may be necessary for the purposes of the park and for its improvement. [39 Stat. L. 997.]

SEC. 4. [Commissioners — appointment — compensation.] That the affairs of the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park shall, subject to the supervision and direction of the Secretary of War, be in charge of three commissioners, one of whom shall be an actual resident of Guilford County, State of North Carolina, one an actual resident of the State of Maryland, and one an actual resident of the State of Delaware. They shall be appointed by the Secretary of War, the actual resident of Guilford County, State of North Carolina, so appointed to serve, unless sooner relieved, for a term of four years. The resident commissioner shall act as chairman and as secretary of the commission. One of the other commissioners so appointed shall serve for a term of three years, and the other for a term of two years, unless sooner relieved. Upon the expiration of the terms of said commissioners the Secretary of War shall, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, appoint their successors, to serve, unless sooner relieved, for a term of four years each from the date of their respective appointments. The office of said commissioners shall be in the city of Greensboro, North Carolina. The resident commissioner shall receive as compensation $1,000 per annum, the nonresident commissioners $100 per annum each, and they shall not be entitled to any other pay or allowances of any kind whatsoever. [39 Stat. L. 997.]

SEC. 5. [Commissioners — duties.] That it shall be the duty of the commission named in the preceding section, under the direction of the Secretary of War, to open or repair such roads as may be necessary to the purposes of the park, and to ascertain and mark with historical tablets or otherwise, as the Secretary of War may determine, all lines of battle of the troops engaged in the Battle of Guilford Courthouse and other historical points of interest pertaining to the battle within the park or its vicinity; and the said commission in establishing this military park shall also have authority, under the direction of the Secretary of War, to employ such labor and services and to obtain such supplies and material as may be necessary to the establishment of said park, under such regulations as he may consider best for the interest of the Government, and the Secretary of War shall make and enforce all needed regulations for the care of the park. [39 Stat. L. 998.]

SEC. 6. [Marking battle lines — entry of state troops for purpose — monuments, etc.] That it shall be lawful for any State that had troops engaged in the battle of Guilford Courthouse to enter upon the lands of the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park for the purpose of ascertaining and marking the lines of battle of its troops engaged therein: Provided, That before any such lines are permanently designated the position of the lines and the proposed methods of marking them, by monuments, tablets, or otherwise, shall be submitted to and approved by the Secretary of War; and all such lines, designs, and inscriptions for the same shall first receive the written approval of the Secretary of War. [39 Stat. L. 998.]

SEC. 7. [Offenses — punishment.] That if any person shall, except by permission of the Secretary of War, destroy, mutilate, deface, injure, or remove any monument, column, statues, memorial structures, or work of art that shall be erected or placed upon the grounds of the park by lawful authority, or shall destroy or remove any fence, railing, inclosure, or other work for the protection or ornamentation of said park, or any portion thereof, or shall destroy, cut, hack, bark, break down, or otherwise injure any tree, brush, or shrubbery that may be growing upon said park, or shall cut down or fell or remove any timber, battle relic, tree, or trees growing or being upon said park, or hunt within the limits of the park, any person so offending and found guilty thereof before any justice of the peace of the county of Guilford, State of North Carolina, shall, for each and every such offense, forfeit and pay a fine, in the discretion of the justice, according to the aggravation of the offense, of not less than $5 or more than $50, one-half for the use of the park and the other half to the informer, to be enforced and recovered before such justice in like manner as debts of like nature are now by law recoverable in the said county of Guilford, State of North Carolina. [39 Stat. L. 998.]

XI. YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

[SEC. 1.] [Extensions and improvements of roads — plan of making.]

* * * Hereafter road extensions and improvements shall be made in said park under and in harmony with the general plan of roads and improvements to be approved by the Secretary of the Interior. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of July 1, 1918, ch. —, following an appropriation for the Yellowstone National Park, to which the words "said park" refer.

XII. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

[SEC. 1.] [National parks generally — revenues — estimates of expenses.] * * * From and after July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, all revenues of the national parks, except Hot Springs Reservation, Arkansas, shall be covered into the Treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts; and the Secretary of the Interior is directed to submit, for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and nineteen and annually thereafter, estimate of the amounts required for the care, maintenance, and development of the said parks. [— Stat. L. —.]

This and the following paragraphs are from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of June 12, 1917, ch. —.

[Antietam battle field — Superintendent.] * * * For pay of superintendent of Antietam battle field, said superintendent to perform his duties under the direction of the Quartermaster Corps and to be selected and appointed by the Secretary of War, at his discretion, the person selected and appointed to this position to be an honorably discharged Union soldier, $1,500. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of June 30, 1906, ch. 3914, § 2, amended by the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 573; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1049.

[SEC. 1.] [Bureau of Engraving and Printing — bonds, notes, checks, etc.— manner of printing.] * * * The Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized, during the continuance of the war with Germany, to have all bonds, notes, checks, or other printed papers, now or hereafter authorized to be executed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing of the Treasury Department, printed in such manner and by whatever process and on any style of presses that he may consider suitable for the issue of such securities and other papers in the form that will properly safeguard the interests of the Government, except that such presses as are used in printing from intaglio plates shall be operated by plate printers: Provided, That in the execution of such work only such part of it shall be transferred from the present method of executing it as will permit of the retention in the service of such permanent plate printers as are now engaged in the execution of such work, or such temporary plate printers similarly employed and who can qualify under civil service regulations for permanent appointment, and all Acts or parts of Acts heretofore enacted relative to the use of power and hand presses in the printing of securities of the Government are hereby suspended and declared to be not in effect during the continuance of said war, and at the termination of the war such Acts or parts of Acts shall be in effect and force as heretofore. [— Stat. L. —.]

This and the following paragraph are from the Deficiencies Appropriation Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. —.

[Use of appropriations for Quartermaster Corps.] * * * That no part of the appropriations for the Quartermaster Corps shall be expended on printing unless the same shall be done at the Government Printing Office, or by contract after due notice and competition, except in such cases as the emergency will not admit of the giving notice of competition, and in cases where it is impracticable to have the necessary printing done by contract the same may be done, with the approval of the Secretary of War, by the purchase of material and hire of the necessary labor for the purpose. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding paragraph of this section.

Provisions similar to those of this paragraph have appeared in various Acts for preceding years. An identical provision appeared in the Army Appropriation Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 418, § 1, 39 Stat. L. 631.

[Employees in Government Printing Office—increase in pay—duration of increase.] * * * From and after the passage of this Act the compensation of all printer-linotype operators, printer-monotype-keyboard operators, makers-up, proofreaders, and pressmen employed in the Government Printing Office shall be at the rate of 65 cents per hour for the time actually employed, and that the pay of all compositors, bookbinders, and bookbinder-machine operators employed in the Government Printing Office shall be at the rate of 60 cents per hour for the time actually employed: Provided, That employees of the Government Printing Office whose wages are increased by the provisions of this Act shall be paid at the rates provided for herein during the period of the present war and for six months after the proclamation of peace, when the wages paid such employees shall thereafter be at the rates paid at the time of the passage of this Act, unless otherwise provided by law. [— Stat. L. —.]

PUBLIC PROPERTY, BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Act of July 1, 1916, ch. 209, 750.

Sec. 1. Public Buildings — Gas and Electric Lighting Fixtures, 750.

Public Buildings — Furniture, 751.

Assay Offices — Expenses — Appropriation Available, 751.

[SEC. 1.] [Public buildings — gas and electric lighting fixtures.] * * * That hereafter gas and electric lighting fixtures for the equipment of public buildings and extensions in course of construction under the control of the Treasury Department, except such gas and electric lighting fixtures as are under contract or may be otherwise provided for by law, shall be paid for from the respective appropriations provided for the construction of such public buildings or extensions. [39 Stat. L. 273.]

This and the two following paragraphs of the text are from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of July 1, 1916, ch. 209.

[Public buildings — furniture.] * * * That all furniture now owned by the United States in other public buildings or in buildings rented by the United States shall be used, so far as practicable, whether it corresponds with the present regulation plant for furniture or not. [39 Stat. L. 273.]

See the note to the preceding paragraph of the text.

[Assay offices — expenses — appropriation available.] * * * That hereafter the annual appropriations for the care, maintenance, and repair of Federal buildings and their mechanical and vault and safe equipments, shall be available in the same manner and to the same extent for assay offices assigned quarters in Federal buildings under the authority contained in chapter five hundred and forty-six of the Act approved July first, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight. (Thirtieth Statutes, page six hundred and fourteen), as such appropriations are available for other branches of the Government service quartered in such buildings. [39 Stat. L. 273.]

[SEC. 1.] [Land-grant railroads — compensation for transportation of troops.] * * * Land-grant railroads organized under the Act of July twenty-eighth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, chapter three hundred, shall receive the same compensation for transportation during the existing war emergency of property and troops of the United States as may be paid to land-grant railroads, organized under the land-grant Act of March third, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, and the Act of July twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, chapter two hundred and seventy-eight, for such transportation during said emergency: Provided, That this paragraph shall not be construed as changing in any other way or for any other period of time the rights and duties of the land-grant railroads first above mentioned. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Deficiencies Appropriations Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. —.

The Acts mentioned in the text are the Act of July 28, 1866, ch. 300, 14 Stat. L. 338; the Act of March 3, 1863, ch. 98, 12 Stat. L. 772, and the Act of July 27, 1866, ch. 278, 14 Stat. L. 292. These Acts, being of local nature only, are not included in either edition of Fed. Stat. Ann.

[SEC. 1.] [Transportation of troops, munitions and supplies.] * * * For the payment of Army transportation lawfully due such land-grant railroads as have not received aid in Government bonds (to be adjusted in accordance with the decisions of the Supreme Court in cases decided under such land-grant Acts), but in no case shall more than fifty per centum of full amount of service be paid: Provided, That such compensation shall be computed upon the basis of the tariff or lower special rates for like transportation performed for the public at large and shall be accepted as in full for all demands for such service: Provided further, That in expending the money appropriated by this Act a railroad company which has not received aid in bonds of the United States, and which obtained a grant of public land to aid in the construction of its railroad on condition that such railroad should be a post route and military road, subject to the use of the United States for postal, military, naval, and other Government services, and also subject to such regulations as Congress may impose restricting the charge for such Government transportation, having claims against the United States for transportation of troops and munitions of war and military supplies and property over such aided railroads, shall be paid out of the moneys appropriated by the foregoing provision only on the basis of such rate for the transportation of such troops and munitions of war and military supplies and property as the Secretary of War shall deem just and reasonable under the foregoing provision, such rate not to exceed fifty per centum of the compensation for such Government transportation as shall at that time be charged to and paid by private parties to any such company for like and similar transportation; and the amount so fixed to be paid shall be accepted as in full for all demands for such service: And provided further, That nothing in the preceding provisos shall be construed to prevent the accounting officers of the Government from making full payment to land-grant railroads for transportation of property or persons where the courts of the United States have held that such property or persons do not come within the scope of the deductions provided for in the land-grant Acts. [— Stat. L. —.]

II. SAFETY APPLIANCES AND EQUIPMENT.

An Act To amend an Act entitled “An Act to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their locomotives with safe and suitable boilers and appurtenances thereto,” approved February seventeenth, nineteen hundred and eleven.

[Act of June 26, 1918, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] [Inspectors — salaries — Locomotive Boiler Act of 1911 amended.] That the Act entitled “An Act to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their locomotives with safe and suitable boilers and appurtenances thereto,” approved February seventeenth, nineteen hundred and eleven, as amended, be, and is hereby, amended as follows:

“Amend section three so as to provide that the salary of the chief inspector shall be $5,000 per year; the salary of each assistant inspector shall be $4,000 per year.

“Amend section four so as to provide that the salary of each district inspector shall be $3,000 per year.” [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Locomotive Boiler Act of Feb. 17, 1911, ch. 103, §§ 3 and 4, amended by the text, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 339, 340; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1201.

SEC. 2. [Effect of Act.] Nothing herein contained shall be construed as amending, altering, or repealing any of the other provisions of said sections. [— Stat. L. —.]

III. HOURS OF SERVICE OF EMPLOYEES

An Act To establish an eight-hour day for employees of carriers engaged in interstate and foreign commerce, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Eight-hour day — establishment for employees of carriers engaged in interstate, etc., commerce.] That beginning January first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, eight hours shall, in contracts for labor and service, be deemed a day's work and the measure or standard of a day's work for the purpose of reckoning the compensation for services of all employees who are now or may hereafter be employed by any common carrier by railroad, except railroads independently owned and operated not exceeding one hundred miles in length, electric street railroads, and electric interurban railroads, which is subject to the provisions of the Act of February fourth, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, entitled "An Act to regulate commerce," as amended, and who are now or may hereafter be actually engaged in any capacity in the operation of trains used for the transportation of persons or property on railroads, except railroads independently owned and operated not exceeding one hundred miles in length, electric street railroads, and electric interurban railroads, from any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia to any other State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia, or from one place in a Territory to another place in the same Territory, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country, or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States: Provided, That the above exceptions shall not apply to railroads though less than one hundred miles in length whose principal business is leasing or furnishing terminal or transfer facilities to other railroads, or are themselves engaged in transfers of freight between railroads or between railroads and industrial plants. [39 Stat. L. 721.]

This is the so-called "Adamson Act." It was approved on Sept. 3 and again on Sept. 5, because the 3d fell on Sunday, and some doubt existed as to the validity of an Act approved on that day.

The constitutionality of this Act was sustained in Wilson v. Neu, 243 U. S. 332, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 755.

SEC. 2. [Commission appointed to observe effect of eight-hour standard workday — report — appropriation.] That the President shall appoint a commission of three, which shall observe the operation and effects of the institution of the eight-hour standard workday as above defined and the facts and conditions affecting the relations between such common carriers and employees during a period of not less than six months nor more than nine months, in the discretion of the commission, and within thirty days thereafter such commission shall report its findings to the President and Congress; that each member of the commission created under the provisions of this Act shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the President. That the sum of $25,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and hereby is, appropriated, out of any money in the United States Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the necessary and proper expenses incurred in connection with the work of such commission, including salaries, per diem, traveling expenses of members and employees, and rent, furniture, office fixtures and supplies, books, salaries, and other necessary expenses, the same to be approved by the chairman of said commission and audited by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury. [39 Stat. L. 722.]

SEC. 3. [Compensation pending report of commission.] That pending the report of the commission herein provided for and for a period of thirty days thereafter the compensation of railway employees subject to this Act for a standard eight-hour workday shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage, and for all necessary time in excess of eight hours such employees shall be paid at a rate not less than the pro rata rate for such standard eight-hour workday. [39 Stat. L. 722.]

SEC. 4. [Violation of Act—punishment.] That any person violating any provision of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $100 and not more than $1,000, or imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both. [39 Stat. L. 722.]

An Act To amend section three of an Act entitled “An Act to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by limiting the hours of service of employees thereon,” approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and seven.

[SEC. 1.] [Hours of service of employees—limitation—penalties—prosecutions—defenses—former Act amended.] That section three of an Act entitled “An Act to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by limiting the hours of service of employees thereon,” approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and seven, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

“SEC. 3. That any such common carrier, or any officer or agent thereof, requiring or permitting any employee to go, be, or remain on duty in violation of the second section hereof shall be liable to a penalty of not less than $100 nor more than $500 for each and every violation, to be recovered in a suit or suits to be brought by the United States district attorney in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction in the locality where such violations shall have been committed; and it shall be the duty of such district attorney to bring such suit upon satisfactory information being lodged with him; but no such suit shall be brought after the expiration of one year from the date of such violation; and it shall also be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to lodge with the proper district attorney information of any such violations as may come to its knowledge. In all prosecutions under this Act the common carrier shall be deemed to have knowledge of all acts of all its officers and agents: Provided, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply in any case of casualty or unavoidable accident of the act of God; nor where the delay was the result of a cause not known to the carrier or its officer or agent in charge of such employee at the time said employee left a terminal, and which could not have been foreseen: Provided further, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the crews of wrecking or relief trains.” [39 Stat. L. 61.]

For the Act of March 4, 1907, ch. 2939, § 3, amended by this Act, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 583; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1406.

SEC. 2. [Effect on prior or pending suits.] That nothing in this Act shall affect, or be held to affect, any suit that may be instituted for recovery of penalty for violation of the Act hereby amended occurring prior to the approval of this Act, or any suit for such penalty or growing out of alleged violation of the Act hereby amended which may be pending in any court at the time of the approval of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 61.]

IV. FEDERAL CONTROL

An Act To provide for the operation of transportation systems while under Federal control, for the just compensation of their owners, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Railroads — federal control — compensation — payment — income — excess of income over compensation — computation — taxes — maintenance.] That the President, having in time of war taken over the possession, use, control, and operation (called herein Federal control) of certain railroads and systems of transportation (called herein carriers), is hereby authorized to agree with and to guarantee to any such carrier making operating returns to the Interstate commerce commission, that during the period of such Federal control it shall receive as just compensation an annual sum, payable from time to time in reasonable installments, for each year and pro rata for any fractional year of such Federal control, not exceeding a sum equivalent as nearly as may be to its average annual railway operating income for the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen.

That any railway operating income accruing during the period of Federal control in excess of such just compensation shall remain the property of the United States. In the computation of such income, debits and credits arising from the accounts called in the monthly reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission equipment rents and joint facility rents shall be included, but debits and credits arising from the operation of such street electric passenger railways, including railways commonly called inter-urbans, as are at the time of the agreement not under Federal control, shall be excluded. If any lines were acquired by, leased to, or consolidated with such railroad or system between July first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, and December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, both inclusive, and separate operating returns to the Interstate Commerce Commission were not made for such lines after such acquisition, lease, or consolidation, there shall (before the average is computed) be added to the total railway operating income of such railroad or system for the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the total railway operating income of the lines so acquired, leased, or consolidated, for the period beginning July first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, and ending on the date of such acquisition, lease, or consolidation, or on December thirty-first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, whichever is the earlier. The average annual railway operating income shall be ascertained by the Interstate Commerce Commission and certified by it to the President. Its certificate shall, for the purpose of such agreement, be taken as conclusive of the amount of such average annual railway operating income.

Every such agreement shall provide that any Federal taxes under the Act of October third, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or Acts in addition thereto or in amendment thereof, commonly called war taxes, assessed for the period of Federal control beginning January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, or any part of such period, shall be paid by the carrier out of its own funds, or shall be charged against or deducted from the just compensation; that other taxes assessed under Federal or any other governmental authority for the period of Federal control or any part thereof, either on the property used under such Federal control or on the right to operate as a carrier, or on the revenues or any part thereof derived from operation (not including, however, assessments for public improvements or taxes assessed on property under construction, and chargeable under the classification of the Interstate Commerce Commission to investment in road and equipment), shall be paid out of revenues derived from railway operations while under Federal control; that all taxes assessed under Federal or any other governmental authority for the period prior to January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, whenever levied or payable, shall be paid by the carrier out of its own funds, or shall be charged against or deducted from the just compensation.

Every such agreement shall also contain adequate and appropriate provisions for the maintenance, repair, renewals, and depreciation of the property, for the creation of any reserves or reserve funds found necessary in connection therewith, and for such accounting and adjustments of charges and payments, both during and at the end of Federal control as may be requisite in order that the property of each carrier may be returned to it in substantially as good repair and in substantially as complete equipment as it was in at the beginning of Federal control, and also that the United States may, by deductions from the just compensations or by other proper means and charges, be reimbursed for the cost of any additions, repairs, renewals, and betterments to such property not justly chargeable to the United States; in making such accounting and adjustments, due consideration shall be given to the amounts expended or reserved by each carrier for maintenance, repairs, renewals, and depreciation during the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, to the condition of the property at the beginning and at the end of the Federal control and to any other pertinent facts and circumstances.

The President is further authorized in such agreement to make all other reasonable provisions, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or of the Act entitled "An Act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other purposes," approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, that he may deem necessary or proper for such Federal control or for the determination of the mutual rights and obligations of the parties to the agreement arising from or out of such Federal control.

If the President shall find that the condition of any carrier was during all or a substantial portion of the period of three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, because of nonoperation, receivership, or where recent expenditures for additions or improvements or equipment were not fully reflected in the operating railway income of said three years or a substantial portion thereof, or because of any undeveloped or abnormal conditions, so exceptional as to make the basis of earnings hereinabove provided for plainly inequitable as a fair measure of just compensation, then the President may make with the carrier such agreement for such amount as just compensation as under the circumstances of the particular case he shall find just.

That every railroad not owned, controlled, or operated by another carrier company, and which has heretofore competed for traffic with a railroad or railroads of which the President has taken the possession, use, and control, or which connects with such railroads and is engaged as a common carrier in general transportation, shall be held and considered as within "Federal control," as herein defined, and necessary for the prosecution of the war, and shall be entitled to the benefit of all the provisions of this Act: Provided, however, That nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as including any street or interurban electric railway which has as its principal source of operating revenue urban, suburban, or interurban passenger traffic, or sale of power, heat and light, or both.

The agreement shall also provide that the carrier shall accept all the terms and conditions of this Act and any regulation or order made by or through the President under authority of this Act or of that portion of the Act entitled "An Act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other purposes," approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, which authorizes the President in time of war to take possession, assume control, and utilize systems of transportation. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Army Appropriation Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 418, § 1, see WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT.

Jurisdiction of negligence cases against railroad.—In Muir v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 247 Fed. 888, (1918 D. C. W. D. Ky.) it was held that an action against a railroad company, for an accident occurring December 20, 1917, and therefore before the President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, taking control of the railroad under this Act, should be remanded from a federal court, to which it had been removed from a state court, back to the state court, as the federal court had no jurisdiction. The contention of the railroad company was that the action arose under the constitution and laws of the United States.

Garnishment proceedings will not lie against a railroad company under government control, by reason of the fact that the President's proclamation of December 26, 1917, taking over the railroads expressly prevented levies by lien or final process. Dooley v. Penn. R. Co., (1918 D. C. Minn.) 250 Fed. 142. See also Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Steel, (Ky. 1918) 202 S. W. 878.

SEC. 2. [Compensation in absence of agreement — payment — excess of profits over compensation.] That if no such agreement is made, or pending the execution of an agreement, the President may nevertheless pay to any carrier while under Federal control an annual amount, payable in reasonable installments, not exceeding ninety per centum of the estimated annual amount of just compensation, remitting such carrier, in case where no agreement is made, to its legal rights for any balance claimed to the remedies provided in section three hereof. Any amount thereafter found due such carrier above the amount paid shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum. The acceptance of any benefits under this section shall constitute an acceptance by the carrier of all the provisions of this Act and shall obligate the carrier to pay to the United States, with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from a date or dates fixed in proceedings under section three, the amount by which the sums received under this section exceed the sum due in such proceedings. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Adjustment of claims for compensation — boards for adjustment — powers, duties, etc.— agreements.] That all claims for just compensation not adjusted (as provided in section one) shall, on the application of the President or of any carrier, be submitted to boards, each consisting of three referees to be appointed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, members of which and the official force thereof being eligible for service on such boards without additional compensation. Such boards of referees are hereby authorized to summon witnesses, require the production of records, books, correspondence, documents, memoranda, and other papers, view properties, administer oaths, and may hold hearings in Washington and elsewhere, as their duties and the convenience of the parties may require. In case of disobedience to a subpoena the board may invoke the aid of any district court of the United States in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence, and such court within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any person, corporation, partnership, or association, issue an order requiring appearance before the board, or the production of documentary evidence if so ordered, or the giving of evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof. Such cases may be heard separately or together or by classes, by such boards as the Interstate Commerce Commission in the first instance, or any board of referees to which any such cases shall be referred may determine. Said boards shall give full hearings to such carriers and to the United States; shall consider all the facts and circumstances, and shall report as soon as practicable in each case to the President the just compensation, calculated on an annual basis and otherwise in such form as to be convenient and available for the making of such agreement as is authorized in section one. The President is authorized to enter into an agreement with such carrier for just compensation upon a basis not in excess of that reported by such board, and may include therein provisions similar to those authorized under section one. Failing such agreement, either the United States or such carrier may file a petition in the Court of Claims for the purpose of determining the amount of such just compensation, and in the proceedings in said court the report of said referees shall be prima facie evidence of the amount of just compensation and of the facts therein stated. Proceedings in the Court of Claims under this section shall be given precedence and expedited in every practicable way. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Increase of compensation.] That the just compensation that may be determined as hereinbefore provided by agreement or that may be adjudicated by the Court of Claims, shall be increased by an amount reckoned at a reasonable rate per centum to be fixed by the President upon the cost of any additions and betterments, less retirements, and upon the cost of road extensions to the property of such carrier made by such carrier with the approval of or by order of the President while such property is under Federal control. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Dividends.] That no carrier while under Federal control shall, without the prior approval of the President, declare or pay any dividend in excess of its regular rate of dividends during the three years ended June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen: Provided, however, That such carriers as have paid no regular dividends or no dividends during said period may, with the prior approval of the President, pay dividends at such rate as the President may determine. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Appropriation — expenditure — improvement of equipment, etc.— adjustment of losses — purchase of transportation facilities.] That the sum of $500,000,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, which, together with any funds available from any operating income of said carriers, may be used by the President as a revolving fund for the purpose of paying the expenses of the Federal control, and so far as necessary the amount of just compensation, and to provide terminals, motive power, cars, and other necessary equipment, such terminals, motive power, cars, and equipment to be used and accounted for as the President may direct and to be disposed of as Congress may hereafter by law provide.

The President may also make or order any carrier to make any additions, betterments, or road extensions, and to provide terminals, motive power, cars and other equipment necessary or desirable for war purposes or in the public interest on or in connection with the property of any carrier. He may from said revolving fund advance to such carrier all or any part of the expense of such additions, betterments, or road extensions, and to provide terminals, motive power, cars, and other necessary equipment so ordered and constructed by such carrier or by the President, such advances to be charged against such carrier and to bear interest at such rate and be payable on such terms as may be determined by the President, to the end that the United States may be fully reimbursed for any sums so advanced.

Any loss claimed by any carrier by reason of any such additions, betterments, or road extensions so ordered and constructed may be determined by agreement between the President and such carrier; failing such agreement the amount of such loss shall be ascertained as provided in section three hereof.

From said revolving fund the President may expend such an amount as he may deem necessary or desirable for the utilization and operation of canals, or for the purchase, construction, or utilization and operation of boats, barges, tugs, and other transportation facilities on the inland, canal, and coastwise waterways, and may in the operation and use of such facilities create or employ such agencies and enter into such contracts and agreements as he shall deem in the public interest. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Bonds, etc.— issue — approval of President — purchase and sale by United States — annual reports.] That for the purpose of providing funds requisite for maturing obligations or for other legal and proper expenditures, or for reorganizing railroads in receivership, carriers may, during the period of Federal control, issue such bonds, notes, equipment trust certificates, stock, and other forms of securities, secured or unsecured by mortgage, as the President may first approve as consistent with the public interest. The President may, out of the revolving fund created by this Act, purchase for the United States all or any part of such securities at prices not exceeding par, and may sell such securities whenever in his judgment it is desirable at prices not less than the cost thereof. Any securities so purchased shall be held by the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall, under the direction of the President, represent the United States in all matters in connection therewith in the same manner as a private holder thereof. The President shall each year as soon as practicable after January first, cause a detailed report to be submitted to the Congress of all receipts and expenditures made under this section and section six during the preceding calendar year. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 8. [Authority of President — agencies.] That the President may execute any of the powers herein and heretofore granted him with relation to Federal control through such agencies as he may determine, and may fix the reasonable compensation for the performance of services in connection therewith, and may avail himself of the advice, assistance, and cooperation of the Interstate Commerce Commission and of the members and employees thereof, and may also call upon any department, commission, or board of the Government for such services as he may deem expedient. But no such official or employee of the United States shall receive any additional compensation for such services except as now permitted by law. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 9. [Effect on former Act — application of Act.] That the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other purposes," approved August twenty-ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, shall remain in force and effect except as expressly modified and restricted by this Act; and the President, in addition to the powers conferred by this Act, shall have and is hereby given such other and further powers necessary or appropriate to give effect to the powers herein and heretofore conferred. The provisions of this Act shall also apply to any carriers to which Federal control may be hereafter extended. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Aug. 29, 1918, ch. 418, § 1, mentioned in the text, see WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT.

SEC. 10. [Carriers under Federal control — liabilities — suits by or against — new rates, charges, classifications, etc.] That carriers while under Federal control shall be subject to all laws and liabilities as common carriers, whether arising under State or Federal laws or at common law, except in so far as may be inconsistent with the provisions of this Act or any other Act applicable to such Federal control or with any order of the President. Actions at law or suits in equity may be brought by and against such carriers and judgments rendered as now provided by law; and in any action at law or suit in equity against the carrier, no defense shall be made thereto upon the ground that the carrier is an instrumentality or agency of the Federal Government. Nor shall any such carrier be entitled to have transferred to a Federal court any action heretofore or hereafter instituted by or against it, which action was not so transferable prior to the Federal control of such carrier; and any action which has heretofore been so transferred because of such Federal control or of any Act of Congress or official order or proclamation relating thereto shall upon motion of either party be retransferred to the court in which it was originally instituted. But no process, mesne or final, shall be levied against any property under such Federal control.

That during the period of Federal control, whenever in his opinion the public interest requires, the President may initiate rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, and practices by filing the same with the Interstate Commerce Commission, which said rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, and practices shall not be suspended by the commission pending final determination.

Said rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, and practices shall be reasonable and just and shall take effect at such time and upon such notice as he may direct, but the Interstate Commerce Commission shall, upon complaint, enter upon a hearing concerning the justness and reasonableness of so much of any order of the President as establishes or changes any rate, fare, charge, classification, regulation, or practice of any carrier under Federal control, and may consider all the facts and circumstances existing at the time of the making of the same. In determining any question concerning any such rates, fares, charges, classifications, regulations, or practices or changes therein, the Interstate Commerce Commission shall give due consideration to the fact that the transportation systems are being operated under a unified and coordinated national control and not in competition.

After full hearing the commission may make such findings and orders as are authorized by the Act to regulate commerce as amended, and said findings and orders shall be enforced as provided in said Act: Provided, however, That when the President shall find and certify to the Interstate Commerce Commission that in order to defray the expenses of Federal control and operation fairly chargeable to railway operating expenses, and also to pay railway tax accruals other than war taxes, net rents for joint facilities and equipment, and compensation to the carriers, operating as a unit, it is necessary to increase the railway operating revenues, the Interstate Commerce Commission in determining the justness and reasonableness of any rate, fare, charge, classification, regulation, or practice shall take into consideration said finding and certificate by the President, together with such recommendations as he may make. [— Stat. L. —.]

First paragraph construed.—The effect of the first paragraph of this section is to entirely suspend the right of issuing and levying executions, attachments, or other like process against the property of common carriers under federal control, during the continuance of such control; but it does not prevent a litigant from bringing his action against the latter in any court of competent jurisdiction, or such court from granting him such relief in the form of a judgment or otherwise, short of the coercive payment or satisfaction of such judgment by the levy of an execution or other like process upon or against any property of the carrier, as the litigant might, but for the passage of the act, under the laws of the state of his residence, have been entitled to. In other words, he may, notwithstanding the act, bring his action and obtain judgment against the carrier; but he cannot enforce against the latter the satisfaction of the judgment, when obtained, by execution or similar process. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Steel, 202 S. W. 878.

SEC. 11. [Violation of Act—interference with use, etc., of property, etc.—violation of orders, etc.—penalty—embezzlement of funds, etc.—prosecutions.] That every person or corporation, whether carrier or shipper, or any receiver, trustee, lessee, agent, or person acting for or employed by a carrier or shipper, or other person, who shall knowingly violate or fail to observe any of the provisions of this Act, or shall knowingly interfere with or impede the possession, use, operation, or control of any railroad property, railroad, or transportation system hitherto or hereafter taken over by the President, or shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of any order or regulation made in pursuance of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000, or, if a person, by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both. Each independent transaction constituting a violation of, or a failure to observe, any of the provisions of this Act, or any order entered in pursuance hereof, shall constitute a separate offense. For the taking or conversion to his own use or the embezzlement of money or property derived from or used in connection with the possession, use, or operation of said railroads or transportation systems, the criminal statutes of the United States, as well as the criminal statutes of the various States where applicable, shall apply to all officers, agents, and employees engaged in said railroad and transportation service, while the same is under Federal control, to the same extent as to persons employed in the regular service of the United States. Prosecutions for violations of this Act or of any order entered hereunder shall be in the district courts of the United States, under the direction of the Attorney General, in accordance with the procedure for the collection and imposing of fines and penalties now existing in said courts. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 12. [Income derived from operation — disposition — disbursements — taxes.] That moneys and other property derived from the operation of the carriers during Federal control are hereby declared to be the property of the United States. Unless otherwise directed by the President, such moneys shall not be covered into the Treasury, but such moneys and property shall remain in the custody of the same officers, and the accounting thereof shall be in the same manner and form as before Federal control. Disbursements therefrom shall, without further appropriation, be made in the same manner as before Federal control and for such purposes as under the Interstate Commerce Commission classification of accounts in force on December twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and seventeen, are chargeable to operating expenses or to railway tax accruals and for such other purposes in connection with Federal control as the President may direct, except that taxes under Titles One and Two of the Act entitled "An Act to provide revenue to defray war expenses, and for other purposes," approved October third, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or any Act in addition thereto or in amendment thereof, shall be paid by the carrier out of its own funds. If Federal control begins or ends during the tax year for which any taxes so chargeable to railway tax accruals are assessed, the taxes for such year shall be apportioned to the date of the beginning or ending of such Federal control, and disbursements shall be made only for that portion of such taxes as is due for the part of such tax year which falls within the period of Federal control.

At such periods as the President may direct, the books shall be closed and the balance of revenues over disbursements shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the revolving fund created by this Act. If such revenues are insufficient to meet such disbursements, the deficit shall be paid out of such revolving fund in such manner as the President may direct. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Oct. 3, 1917, ch. —, Titles I and II, mentioned in the text, see INTERNAL REVENUE, ante, pp. 336, 341.

SEC. 13. [Determination of pending cases.] That all pending cases in the courts of the United States affecting railroads or other transportation systems brought under the Act to regulate commerce, approved February fourth, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, as amended and supplemented, including the commodities clause, so called, or under the Act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies, approved July second, eighteen hundred and ninety, and amendments thereto, shall proceed to final determination as soon as may be, as if the United States had not assumed control of transportation systems; but in any such case the court having jurisdiction may, upon the application of the United States, stay execution of final judgment or decree until such time as it shall deem proper. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Feb. 4, 1887, ch. 104, mentioned in the text, see 3 Fed. Stat. Ann. 809, and for said Act as subsequently amended, including the commodities clause, see 4 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 337.

For the Sherman Act of July 2, 1890, ch. 647, mentioned in the text, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 336; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 642.

SEC. 14. [Duration of Federal control.] That the Federal control of railroads and transportation systems herein and heretofore provided for shall continue for and during the period of the war and for a reasonable time thereafter, which shall not exceed one year and nine months next following the date of the proclamation by the President of the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace: Provided, however, That the President may, prior to July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, relinquish control of all or any part of any railroad or system of transportation, further Federal control of which the President shall deem not needful or desirable; and the President may at any time during the period of Federal control agree with the owners thereof to relinquish all or any part of any railroad or system of transportation. The President may relinquish all railroads and systems of transportation under Federal control at any time he shall deem such action needful or desirable. No right to compensation shall accrue to such owners from and after the date of relinquishment for the property so relinquished. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 15. [Effect on existing laws or powers of States.] That nothing in this Act shall be construed to amend, repeal, impair, or affect the existing laws or powers of the States in relation to taxation or the lawful police regulations of the several States, except wherein such laws, powers, or regulations may affect the transportation of troops, war materials, Government supplies, or the issue of stocks and bonds. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 16. [Act as emergency legislation — effect on future policy of government.] That this Act is expressly declared to be emergency legislation enacted to meet conditions growing out of war; and nothing herein is to be construed as expressing or prejudicing the future policy of the Federal Government concerning the ownership, control, or regulation of carriers or the method or basis of the capitalization thereof. I. NAVIGABLE WATERS

SEC. 7. [Regulation for navigable waters or channel improvements — former Act amended.] That section four of the river and harbor Act of August eighteenth, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, as amended by section eleven of the river and harbor Act of June thirteenth, nineteen hundred and two, be, and is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

“ SEC. 4. That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of War to prescribe such regulations for the use, administration, and navigation of the navigable waters of the United States as in his judgment the public necessity may require for the protection of life and property, or of operations of the United States in channel improvement, covering all matters not specifically delegated by law to some other executive department. Such regulations shall be posted, in conspicuous and appropriate places, for the information of the public; and every person and every corporation which shall violate such regulations shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof in any district court of the United States within whose territorial jurisdiction such offense may have been committed, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment (in the case of a natural person) not exceeding six months, in the discretion of the court.” [— Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing section 7 and the following sections 8, 15–17 are from the River and Harbor Appropriation Act of Aug. 8, 1917, ch. —.

For the Act of Aug. 18, 1894, ch. 299, § 4, as amended by the Act of June 13, 1902, ch. 1079, § 11, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 792; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 18.

SEC. 8. [Regulation for use and navigation of waters endangered by gunfire, mines, etc.] That, in the interest of the national defense and for the better protection of life and property on said waters, the Secretary of War is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe such regulations as he may deem best for the use and navigation of any portion of areas of the navigable waters of the United States or waters under the jurisdiction of the United States endangered or likely to be endangered by Coast Artillery fire in target practice or otherwise, or by the proving operations of the Government ordnance proving ground at Sandy Hook, New Jersey, or at any Government ordnance proving ground that may be established elsewhere on or near such waters, and of any portion or area of said waters occupied by submarine mines, mine fields, submarine cables, or other material and accessories pertaining to seacoast fortifications; and the said Secretary of War shall have like power to regulate the transportation of explosives upon any of said waters.

That to enforce the regulations prescribed pursuant to this section the Secretary of War may detail any public vessel in the service of the War Department, or, upon the request of the Secretary of War, the head of any other department may enforce, and the head of any such department is hereby authorized to enforce, such regulations by means of any public vessel of such department. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 15. [Mosquito Creek, South Carolina — declared nonnavigable.] That Mosquito Creek, in Colleton County, South Carolina, be, and the same is hereby, declared to be a nonnavigable stream within the meaning of the Constitution and laws of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 7 of this Act, supra, p. 768.

SEC. 16. [Bayou Meto, Arkansas — declared nonnavigable.] That Bayou Meto, in the State of Arkansas, be, and the same is hereby, declared to be a nonnavigable stream within the meaning of the Constitution and laws of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 7 of this Act, supra, p. 768.

SEC. 17. [Saint Marys River, Ohio and Indiana — declared nonnavigable.] That Saint Marys River, Ohio and Indiana, be, and the same hereby is, declared to be a nonnavigable stream within the meaning of the Constitution and laws of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 7 of this Act, supra, p. 768.

II. IMPROVEMENTS

[SEC. 1.] [Printing — payment — former Act repealed.] * * * Section thirteen of the river and harbor appropriation Act approved July twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and twelve, which authorizes the payment for printing of matter relating to river and harbor works from river and harbor appropriations, is repealed, and hereafter such printing shall be done and paid for out of regular annual appropriations for printing and binding for the War Department. [39 Stat. L. 330.]

For the Act of July 25, 1912, ch. 253, § 13, repealed by the text, see 1914 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 369; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 37.

SEC. 3. [Government dredging plant — construction or use.] That in all cases where the authorized project for a work of river or harbor improvement provides for the construction or use of Government dredging plant, the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, have the work done by contract if reasonable prices can be obtained. [— Stat. L. —.]

This section and the following sections 4, 5, 9 and 13 are from the Rivers and Harbors Appropriation Act of Aug. 8, 1917, ch. —.

SEC. 4. [New government works — surveys — supplemental reports and estimates — Cape Cod Canal.] That no preliminary examination, survey, project, or estimate for new works other than those designated in this or some prior Act or joint resolution shall be made: Provided further, That after the regular or formal reports made as required by law on any examination, survey, project, or work under way or proposed are submitted no supplemental or additional report or estimate shall be made unless ordered by a concurrent resolution of Congress: And provided further, That the Government shall not be deemed to have entered upon any project for the improvement of any waterway or harbor mentioned in this Act until funds for the commencement of the proposed work shall have been actually appropriated by law.

* * * The Secretary of War is hereby authorized and directed to cause preliminary examinations and surveys to be made at the following-named localities, and a sufficient sum to pay the cost thereof may be allotted from the amount provided in this section: * * *

Waterway connecting Buzzards Bay and Cape Cod Bay, Massachusetts: The Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of Commerce are hereby authorized to examine and appraise the value of the works and franchises of the Cape Cod Canal, Massachusetts, connecting Buzzards and Cape Cod Bays, with reference to the advisability of the purchase of said canal by the United States and the construction over the route of the said canal of a free waterway, with or without a guard lock, and having a depth and capacity sufficient to accommodate the navigation interests that are affected thereby. This investigation shall be conducted under the direction of the Secretary of War and the supervision of the Chief of Engineers in the usual manner provided by law for making preliminary examinations and surveys except that the Secretary of War shall call upon the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of Commerce for such data and evidence as these Secretaries may wish to have incorporated in the report of survey, and further, that the final report of the investigation, with its conclusions upon probable cost and commercial advantages, and military and naval uses of the said canal, shall be submitted to the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of Commerce for their action before it is transmitted to Congress.

If the said Secretaries are all in favor of the acquisition of the said canal, the Secretary of War is hereby further authorized to enter into negotiations for its purchase, including all property, franchises, and appurtenances used or acquired for use in connection therewith or appertaining thereto; and he is further authorized, if in the judgment of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of Commerce, that the price for such canal is reasonable and satisfactory, to make contracts for the purchase of the same, at the option of the United States, subject to future ratification and appropriation by the Congress; or, in the event of the inability of the Secretary of War to make a satisfactory contract for the voluntary purchase of said Cape Cod Canal and its appurtenances, he is hereby authorized and directed, through the Attorney General, to institute and carry to completion proceedings for the condemnation of said canal and its appurtenances, the acceptance of the award in said proceedings to be subject to the future ratification and appropriation by Congress. Such condemnation proceedings shall be instituted and conducted in, and jurisdiction of said proceedings is hereby given to, the district court of the United States for the district of Massachusetts, substantially as provided in "An Act to authorize condemnation of land for sites for public buildings, and for other purposes," approved August first, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight; and the sum of $5,000 is hereby appropriated to pay the necessary costs thereof and expenses in connection therewith. The Secretary of War is further authorized and directed to report the proceedings hereunder to Congress. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 3 of this Act, supra, p. 769.

For the Act of Aug. 1, 1888, ch. 728, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 700; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1111.

SEC. 5. [Authorization to states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota — improvement of navigation — controlling floods.] That Congress hereby consents that the States of Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota, or any two of them, may enter into any agreement or agreements with each other to aid in improving navigation and to prevent and control floods on boundary waters of said States and the waters tributary thereto. And said States, or any two of them, may agree with each other upon any project or projects for the purpose of making such improvements, and upon the amount of money to be contributed by each to carry out such projects. The Secretary of War is authorized and directed to make a survey of any project proposed, as aforesaid, by said States, or any two of them, to determine the feasibility and practicability thereof and the expenses of carrying the same into effect and what share of such expenses should be borne by the respective States, local interests, or by the National Government. If the Secretary of War approves any such projects, he may authorize the States to make such improvements at their own expense, but under his supervision. That the sum of $25,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of any funds in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of enabling the Secretary of War to make the surveys and estimates herein contemplated. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 3 of this Act, supra, p. 769.

SEC. 9. [Land or easement needed in work of harbor improvement — procurement — condemnation proceedings.] That whenever any State, or any reclamation, flood control or drainage district, or other public agency created by any State, shall undertake to secure any land or easement therein, needed in connection with a work of river and harbor improvement duly authorized by Congress, for the purpose of conveying the same to the United States free of cost, and shall be unable for any reason to obtain the same by purchase and acquire a valid title thereto, the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, cause proceedings to be instituted in the name of the United States for the acquirement by condemnation of said land or easement, and it shall be the duty of the Attorney General of the United States to institute and conduct such proceedings upon the request of the Secretary of War: Provided, That all expenses of said proceedings and any award that may be made thereunder shall be paid by such State, or reclamation, flood control or drainage district, or other public agency as aforesaid, to secure which payment the Secretary of War may require such State, or reclamation, flood control or drainage district, or other public agency as aforesaid, to execute a proper bond in such amount as he may deem necessary before said proceedings are commenced. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 3 of this Act, supra, p. 769.

SEC. 13. [Rents from government plants—how disposed of.] That amounts hereafter paid by private parties or other agencies for rental of plant owned by the Government in connection with the prosecution of river and harbor works shall be deposited in each case to the credit of the appropriation to which the plant belongs. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 3 of this Act, supra, p. 769.

An Act Making appropriations for the construction, repair, and preservation of certain public works on rivers and harbors, and for other purposes.

[Act of July 18, 1918, ch. —, —Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Improvements—private contracts.] That no part of the funds herein or hereafter appropriated for works of river and harbor improvement shall be used to pay for any work done by private contract if the contract price is more than twenty-five per centum in excess of the estimated cost of doing the work by Government plant: Provided, That in estimating the cost of doing the work by Government plant, including the cost of labor and materials, there shall also be taken into account proper charges for depreciation of plant and all supervising and overhead expenses and interest on the capital invested in the Government plant, but the rate of interest shall not exceed the maximum prevailing rate being paid by the United States on current issues of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness. [— Stat. L. —.]

The sections preceding this section are omitted as temporary only.

SEC. 5. [Condemnation proceedings—possession—compensation—security.] That whenever the Secretary of War, in pursuance of authority conferred on him by law, causes proceedings to be instituted in the name of the United States for the acquirement by condemnation of any lands, easements, or rights of way needed for a work of river and harbor improvement duly authorized by Congress, the United States, upon the filing of the petition in any such proceedings, shall have the right to take immediate possession of said lands, easements, or rights of way, to the extent of the interest to be acquired, and proceed with such public works thereon as have been authorized by Congress: Provided, That certain and adequate provision shall have been made for the payment of just compensation to the party or parties entitled thereto, either by previous appropriation by the United States or by the deposit of moneys or other form of security in such amount and form as shall be approved by the court in which such proceedings shall be instituted. The respondent or respondents may move at any time in the court to increase or change the amounts or securities, and the court shall make such order as shall be just in the premises and as shall adequately protect the respondents. In every case the proceedings in condemnation shall be diligently prosecuted on the part of the United States in order that such compensation may be promptly ascertained and paid. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Condemnation proceedings — compensation — benefits to land not taken.] That in all cases where private property shall be taken by the United States for the public use in connection with any improvement of rivers, harbors, canals, or waterways of the United States, and in all condemnation proceedings by the United States to acquire lands or easements for such improvements, where a part only of any such parcel, lot, or tract of land shall be taken, the jury or other tribunal awarding the just compensation or assessing the damages to the owner, whether for the value of the part taken or for any injury to the part not taken, shall take into consideration by way of reducing the amount of compensation or damages any special and direct benefits to the remainder arising from the improvement, and shall render their award or verdict accordingly. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Report of Chief of Engineers.] That hereafter the Chief of Engineers, United States Army, shall indicate in his annual reports the character of the terminal and transfer facilities existing on every harbor or waterway under maintenance or improvement by the United States, and state whether they are considered adequate for existing commerce. He shall also submit one or more special reports on this subject, as soon as possible, including, among other things, the following:

(a) A brief description of such water terminals, including location and the suitability of such terminals to the existing traffic conditions, and whether such terminals are publicly or privately owned, and the terms and conditions under which they may be subjected to public use.

(b) Whether such water terminals are connected by a belt or spur line of railroad with all the railroads serving the same territory or municipality, and whether such connecting railroad is owned by the public and the conditions upon which the same may be used, and also whether there is an interchange of traffic between the water carriers and the railroad or railroads as to such traffic which is carried partly by rail and partly by water to its destination, and also whether improved and adequate highways have been constructed connecting such water terminal with the other lines of railways.

(c) If no water terminals have been constructed by the municipality or other existing public agency there shall be included in his report an expression of opinion in general terms as to the necessity, number, and appropriate location of such a terminal or terminals.

(d) An investigation of the general subject of water terminals, with descriptions and general plans of terminals of appropriate types and construction for the harbors and waterways of the United States suitable for various commercial purposes and adapted to the varying conditions of tides, floods, and other physical characteristics. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 8. [Improvements — uncompleted contracts — modifications and readjustments.] That if the Secretary of War shall determine that any of the contracts for work of river and harbor improvements entered into but not completed prior to April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the date of the entrance of the United States into the war with Germany, have become inequitable and unjust on account of increased costs of materials and labor and the other unforeseen conditions arising out of the war, he is hereby authorized, in his discretion and with the consent of the contractors, to modify and readjust the terms of said contracts in such manner as he may deem equitable and just: Provided, That such modifications and readjustments shall apply only to work under said contracts remaining to be done hereafter and shall not include any relief for work performed heretofore under said contracts, and any such sum as may be necessary to provide for the increased cost of the contracts due to said modifications and readjustments, not exceeding the sum of $2,000,000, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated: Provided further, That as a condition of any such contract being so modified, the Secretary of War shall have the right, at the end of any fiscal year, until the contract is completed, to make such further modifications as in his judgment shall be advantageous to the United States and just to the contractor. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 9. [Expenses of field work or travel on official business — how met — per diem.] That hereafter when the expenses of persons engaged in field work or traveling on official business outside of the District of Columbia and away from their designated posts of duty are chargeable to appropriations of the Engineer Department, a per diem of not exceeding $4 may be allowed in lieu of subsistence when not otherwise fixed by law. [— Stat. L. —.]

III. MISSISSIPPI RIVER COMMISSION

[SEC. 1.] [Mississippi River Commission — jurisdiction — extension — funds for improving river — expenditure.] The jurisdiction of the Mississippi River Commission is hereby extended so as to include that part of the Arkansas River between its mouth and the intersection thereof with the division line between Lincoln and Jefferson Counties, and any funds which are herein or may be hereafter appropriated by Congress for improving the Mississippi River between Head of Passes and the mouth of the Ohio River, and which may be allotted to levees and bank revetment, may be expended within the limits of said extended jurisdiction under the direction of the Secretary of War, in accordance with the plans, specifications, and recommendations of the Mississippi River Commission, as approved by the Chief of Engineers, and upon like terms and conditions for levees and bank revetment upon any part of the Mississippi River now under the jurisdiction of said commission, and in such manner as will best promote and accomplish the purposes for which commission was created, in so far as the territory hereby added to its said jurisdiction may be involved.

Any funds which are herein, or may hereafter be, appropriated by Congress for improving the Mississippi River between Head of Passes and the mouth of the Ohio River, and which may be allotted to levees, may be expended, under the direction of the Secretary of War, in accordance with the plans, specifications, and recommendations of the Mississippi River Commission, as approved by the Chief of Engineers, for levees upon any part of said river between Head of Passes and Rock Island, Illinois, in such manner as, in their opinion, shall best improve navigation and promote the interest of commerce at all stages of the river. [39 Stat. L. 402.]

This is from the Rivers and Harbors Appropriation Act of July 27, 1916, ch. 260.

IV. WATERWAYS COMMISSION

SEC. 18. [Waterways Commission — creation — members — duties.]

That a commission, to be known as the Waterways Commission, consisting of seven members to be appointed by the President of the United States, at least one of whom shall be chosen from the active or retired list of the Engineers Corps of the Army, at least one of whom shall be an expert hydraulic engineer from civil life, and the remaining five of whom may each be selected either from civil life or the public service, is hereby created and authorized, under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe, and subject to the approval of the heads of the several executive departments concerned, to bring into coordination and cooperation the engineering, scientific, and constructive services, bureaus, boards, and commissions of the several governmental departments of the United States and commissions created by Congress that relate to study, development, or control of waterways and water resources and subjects related thereto, or to the development and regulation of interstate and foreign commerce, with a view to uniting such services in investigating, with respect to all watersheds in the United States, questions relating to the development, improvement, regulation, and control of navigation as a part of interstate and foreign commerce, including therein the related questions of irrigation, drainage, forestry, arid and swamp land reclamation, clarification of streams, regulation of flow, control of floods, utilization of water power, prevention of soil erosion and waste, storage, and conservation of water for agricultural, industrial, municipal, and domestic uses, cooperation of railways and waterways, and promotion of terminal and transfer facilities, to secure the necessary data, and to formulate and report to Congress, as early as practicable, a comprehensive plan or plans for the development of waterways and the water resources of the United States for the purposes of navigation and for every useful purpose, and recommendations for the modification or discontinuance of any project herein or heretofore adopted. Any member appointed from the retired list shall receive the same pay and allowances as he would if on the active list, and no member selected from the public service shall receive additional compensation for services on said commission, and members selected from civil life shall receive compensation of $7,500 per annum.

In all matters done, or to be done, under this section relating to any of the subjects, investigations, or questions to be considered hereunder and in formulating plans, and in the preparation of a report or reports, as herein provided, consideration shall be given to all matters which are to be undertaken, either independently by the United States or by cooperation between the United States and the several States, political subdivisions thereof, municipalities, communities, corporations, and individuals within the jurisdiction, powers, and rights of each, respectively, and with a view to assigning to the United States such portion of such development, promotion, regulation, and control as may be undertaken by the United States, and to the States, political subdivisions thereof, municipalities, communities, corporations, and individuals such portions as belong to their respective jurisdictions, rights, and interests.

The commission is authorized to employ or retain, and fix the compensation for the services of such engineers, transportation experts, experts in water development and utilization, and constructors of eminence as it may deem necessary to make such investigations and to carry out the purposes of this section. And in order to defray the expenses made necessary by the provisions of this section there is hereby authorized to be appropriated such sums as Congress may hereafter determine, and the sum of $100,000 is hereby appropriated, available until expended, to be paid out upon warrants drawn on the Secretary of the Treasury by the chairman of said commission.

The commission shall have power to make every expenditure requisite for and incident to its authorized work, and to employ in the District of Columbia and in the field such clerical, legal, engineering, artistic, and expert services as it may deem advisable, including the payment of per diem in lieu of subsistence for employees engaged in field work or traveling on official business, rent of offices in the District of Columbia and in the field, and the purchase of books, maps, and office equipment.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed to delay, prevent, or interfere with the completion of any survey, investigation, project, or work herein or heretofore or hereafter adopted or authorized upon or for the improvement of any of the rivers or harbors of the United States or with legislative action upon reports heretofore or hereafter presented. [— Stat. L. —.]

V. PANAMA CANAL AND CANAL ZONE

[SEC. 1.] [Canal Zone — expenditures from sale of bonds.] * * *

That all expenditures from the appropriations heretofore herein, and hereafter made for the construction of the Panama Canal, including any portion of such appropriations which may be used for the construction of dry docks, repair shops, yards, docks, wharves, warehouses, storehouses, and other necessary facilities and appurtenances, for the purpose of providing coal and other materials, labor, repairs, and supplies, for the construction of office buildings, and quarters, and other necessary buildings, exclusive of fortifications, colliers, dock six at Cristobal, and reboiling of steamships "Ancon" and "Cristobal," which steamships shall not be transferred to the Secretary of the Navy, as provided in the Act of May twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eight, and exclusive of the fair value of the American legation building in Panama, as approved by the Secretary of War and Secretary of State, which building is authorized to be transferred without charge to the jurisdiction of the Secretary of State, and exclusive of the amount used for operating and maintaining the canal, and exclusive of the amount expended for sanitation and civil government after January first, nineteen hundred and fifteen, may be paid from or reimbursed to the Treasury of the United States out of the proceeds of the sale of bonds authorized in section eight of the said Act approved June twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred and two, and section thirty-nine of the tariff Act approved August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine. [39 Stat. L. 334.]

The foregoing provisions of section 1 and the following section 2 are from the Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of July 1, 1916, ch. 209.

For the Act of June 28, 1902, ch. 1302, § 8, mentioned in the text, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 838; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 416.

For the Tariff Act of Aug. 5, 1909, ch. 6, § 39, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 834; 8 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 417.

The Sundry Civil Appropriation Act of May 27, 1908, ch. 200, § 1, 35 Stat. L. 385, mentioned in the text, provided for the purchase of two steamships, which should be transferred to the Secretary of the Navy when no longer needed in the construction of the Panama Canal.

[SEC. 2.] [Panama Canal — Joint Land Commission — jurisdiction.]

That the Joint Land Commission established under article fifteen of the treaty between the United States and the Republic of Panama, proclaimed February twenty-sixth, nineteen hundred and four, shall not have jurisdiction to adjudicate or settle any claim originating under any lease or contract for occupancy heretofore or hereafter made by the Panama Railroad Company of lands or property owned by said Panama Railroad Company in the Canal Zone, and no part of the moneys appropriated by this or any other Act shall be used to pay such claims. [39 Stat. L. 336.]

See the note to the preceding section 1 of this Act.

Article XV of the treaty mentioned in the text is given in 33 Stat. L. 2238.

An Act Extending certain privileges of canal employees to other officials on the Canal Zone and authorizing the President to make rules and regulations affecting health, sanitation, quarantine, taxation, public roads, self-propelled vehicles, and police powers on the Canal Zone, and for other purposes, including provision as to certain fees, money orders, and interest deposits.

[SEC. 1.] Canal Zone — health and quarantine.] That, until otherwise provided by Congress, the President is authorized to make rules and regulations in matters of sanitation, health, and quarantine for the Canal Zone or to modify or change existing rules and regulations and those hereafter made from time to time. Violations of any quarantine regulations provided for herein shall be punished by fine not to exceed $500 or by imprisonment in jail not to exceed ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the court's discretion; and a violation of any sanitary regulations hereunder shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $25 or by imprisonment in jail not to exceed thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the court's discretion. Each day such violation may continue shall constitute a separate offense. [39 Stat. L. 527.]

SEC. 2. [Taxes — collection — amount.] That, until otherwise provided by Congress, the President is hereby authorized to make and from time to time change rules and regulations for levying, assessing, and collecting ad valorem, excise, license, and franchise taxes in the Canal Zone, or to modify or change existing rules or regulations for that purpose. Ad valorem taxes imposed shall not exceed one per centum of the value of the property, nor shall franchise or excise taxes exceed two per centum of gross earnings. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 3. [Roads and highways — use.] That, until otherwise provided by Congress, it shall be lawful for the President to make, publish, and enforce all rules and regulations for the use of the public roads and highways in the Canal Zone, and also for regulating, licensing, and taxing the use and operation of all self-propelled vehicles using the public highways, including speed limit, signals, tags, license fees, and all detailed regulations which may be from time to time deemed necessary in the exercise of the authority hereby conferred. The taxes on automobiles may be graded according to the value or the power of the machine, and such rules and regulations as now exist may be changed by such order from time to time, and any that may be hereafter made be changed from time to time. The President may make mutual agreements with the Republic of Panama touching the reciprocal use of the highways of the Canal Zone and the Republic of Panama by self-propelled vehicles touching taxes and license fees, and any other matter of regulation to establish comity for the convenience of the residents of the two jurisdictions. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 4. [Breaches of peace, etc.— police power.] That it shall be unlawful to commit any breach of the peace or engage in or permit any disorderly, indecent, or immoral conduct in the Canal Zone. The President is authorized to enforce this provision by making rules and regulations to assert and exercise the police power in the Canal Zone, or for any portion or division thereof, and he may amend or change any such regulation now existing or hereafter made. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 5. [Violations of rules and regulations — punishment.] That any person who commits any act or who carries on any business, trade, or occupation in the Canal Zone without complying with the rules and regulations established by the President for the levying, assessing, and collecting of taxes, or who violates any rules or regulations for the use of the public roads and highways, or who violates any rules and regulations touching the licensing, taxes, operation, and use of self-propelled vehicles, or who violates any of the police regulations authorized hereunder, shall be punished by fine not to exceed $25 or by imprisonment in jail not to exceed thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the court's discretion. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 6. [Deposit money orders — interest.] That deposit money orders issued in the Canal Zone in lieu of postal savings certificates in accordance with the rules and regulations heretofore established by the President, or that may hereafter be established by him, shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding two per centum per annum. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 7. [Interest from money-order funds — use.] That the interest received from the Canal Zone money-order funds deposited in banks under Canal Zone regulations shall be available to pay the interest on deposit money orders authorized by the preceding section. Such interest shall also be available to pay any losses which are chargeable to the Canal Zone postal service. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 8. [Fees of customs officers.] That whenever a customs officer of the Canal Zone shall certify an invoice, landing certificate, or other similar document, or shall register a marine note of protest, or shall perform any notarial services, he shall be authorized to collect a fee equivalent to the fee prescribed by the United States consular regulations for the same act or service when performed by consular officials. [39 Stat. L. 528.]

SEC. 9. [Laws relating to seamen.] The laws relating to seamen of vessels of the United States on foreign voyages shall apply to seamen of all vessels of the United States at the Panama Canal Zone, whether such vessels be registered or enrolled and licensed, and the powers in respect of such seamen of such vessels bestowed by law upon consular officers of the United States in foreign ports and upon shipping commissioners in ports of the United States are hereby bestowed upon the shipping commissioner and deputy shipping commissioners on the Panama Canal Zone. [39 Stat. L. 529.]

SEC. 10. [Rules affecting right of persons to enter and remain in Canal Zone — authority to make — violations.] The President is hereby authorized to make rules and regulations, and to alter or amend the same from time to time, touching the right of any person to enter or remain upon or pass over any part of the Canal Zone; for the detention of any person entering the Canal Zone in violation of such rules and regulations, and return of such person to the country whence he or she came, on the vessel bringing such person to the Canal Zone, or any other vessel belonging to the same owner or interest, and at the expense of such owner or interest; and in addition to the punishment prescribed by this section for violation of any such rules and regulations, the authorities of the Canal Zone may withhold the clearance of such vessel from any port in the Canal Zone until any fine imposed and the cost of maintenance of such person are paid. Any person violating any of such rules or regulations shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction in the district court of the Canal Zone shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment not exceeding a year, or both in the discretion of the court. It shall be unlawful for any person, by any means or in any way, to injure or obstruct or attempt to injure or obstruct, any part of the Panama Canal or the locks thereof or the approaches thereto. Any person violating this provision shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction in the district court of the Canal Zone shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $10,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding twenty years, or both, in the discretion of the court. If the act shall cause the death of any person within a year and a day thereafter, the person so convicted shall be guilty of murder and shall be punished accordingly. [39 Stat. L. 529.]

SEC. 11. [Repeal of conflicting laws.] That all laws, orders, or ordinances in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed. [39 Stat. L. 529.]

[SEC. 1.] [Panama Canal — tolls — refund.] * * * There is appropriated, out of any money hereafter received as tolls, before such money is covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts, amounts necessary to refund to the parties entitled thereto amounts which heretofore or may hereafter be erroneously received as tolls and covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Civil Sundry Appropriation Act of June 12, 1917, ch. —.

VI. MISCELLANEOUS

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Chesapeake and Delaware Canal — purchase by government.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to enter into negotiations for the purchase of the existing Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, and all the property, rights of property, franchises, and appurtenances used or acquired for use in connection therewith or appertaining thereto; and he is further authorized, if in his judgment the price is reasonable and satisfactory, to make a contract for the purchase of the same, subject to future ratification and appropriation by Congress. In the event of the inability of the Secretary of War to make a satisfactory contract for the voluntary purchase of said canal and its appurtenances, he is hereby authorized and directed through the Attorney General to institute and to carry to completion proceedings for the condemnation of the said canal and its appurtenances, the acceptance of the award in said proceedings to be subject to future ratification and appropriation by Congress. Such condemnation proceedings shall be instituted and conducted in, and jurisdiction of said proceedings is hereby given to, the District Court of the United States for the District of Delaware substantially as provided in

“An Act to authorize condemnation of land for sites for public buildings, and for other purposes,” approved August first, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight. [— Stat. L. —.]

An Act To amend section fourteen of the seamen's Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen.

[Act of June 12, 1916, ch. 141, 39 Stat. L. 224.]

[Life-saving appliances — life buoys — former Act amended.] That section fourteen of the seamen's Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, be amended by striking out subdivisions third and fourth of subsection headed "Life jackets and life buoys," regarding the number of life buoys with which steamers navigating the ocean, or any lake, bay, or sound of the United States shall be equipped, and inserting, in lieu thereof, the following:

"Third. The minimum number of life buoys with which vessels are to be provided is fixed as follows:

"Vessels under one hundred feet in length, minimum number of buoys, two; vessels one hundred feet and less than two hundred feet in length, minimum number of buoys, four, of which two shall be luminous; vessels two hundred feet and less than three hundred feet in length, minimum number of buoys, six, of which two shall be luminous; vessels three hundred feet and less than four hundred feet in length, minimum number of buoys, twelve, of which four shall be luminous; vessels four hundred feet and less than six hundred feet in length, minimum number of buoys, eighteen, of which nine shall be luminous; vessels six hundred feet and less than eight hundred feet in length, minimum number of buoys, twenty-four, of which twelve shall be luminous; vessels eight hundred feet and over in length, minimum number of buoys, thirty, of which fifteen shall be luminous.

"Fourth. All the buoys shall be fitted with beackets securely seized. Where two buoys only are carried, one shall be fitted with a life line at least fifteen fathoms in length, and where more than two buoys are carried, at least one buoy on each side shall be fitted with a life line of at least fifteen fathoms in length. The lights shall be efficient self-igniting lights which cannot be extinguished in water and they shall be kept near the buoys to which they belong, with the necessary means of attachment." [39 Stat. L. 224.]

An Act To establish a United States Shipping Board for the purpose of encouraging, developing, and creating a naval auxiliary and naval reserve and a merchant marine to meet the requirements of the commerce of the United States with its Territories and possessions and with foreign countries; to regulate carriers by water engaged in the foreign and interstate commerce of the United States; and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [United States Shipping Board Act — definitions — “common carrier by water in foreign commerce” — “common carrier by water in interstate commerce” — “common carrier by water” — “other persons subject to this Act” — “person” — “vessel” — “documented under the laws of the United States.”] That when used in this Act:

The term “common carrier by water in foreign commerce” means a common carrier, except ferryboats running on regular routes, engaged in the transportation by water of passengers or property between the United States or any of its Districts, Territories, or possessions and a foreign country, whether in the import or export trade: Provided, That a cargo boat commonly called an ocean tramp shall not be deemed such “common carrier by water in foreign commerce.”

The term “common carrier by water in interstate commerce” means a common carrier engaged in the transportation by water of passengers or property on the high seas or the Great Lakes on regular routes from port to port between one State, Territory, District, or possession of the United States and any other State, Territory, District, or possession of the United States, or between places in the same Territory, District, or possession.

The term “common carrier by water” means a common carrier by water in foreign commerce or a common carrier by water in interstate commerce on the high seas or the Great Lakes on regular routes from port to port.

The term "other person subject to this Act" means any person not included in the term "common carrier by water," carrying on the business of forwarding or furnishing wharfage, dock, warehouse, or other terminal facilities in connection with a common carrier by water.

The term "person" includes corporations, partnerships, and associations, existing under or authorized by the laws of the United States, or any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof, or of any foreign country.

The term "vessel" includes all water craft and other artificial contrivances of whatever description and at whatever stage of construction, whether on the stocks or launched, which are used or are capable of being or are intended to be used as a means of transportation on water.

The term "documented under the laws of the United States," means registered, enrolled, or licensed under the laws of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 728 as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

The last two paragraphs of this section were added by the Act of July 15, 1918, ch. —, § 1.

SEC. 2. [Corporation, etc., as citizen — applicability of Act to receivers and trustees — controlling interest in corporation — alien ownership.]

That within the meaning of this Act no corporation, partnership, or association shall be deemed a citizen of the United States unless the controlling interest therein is owned by citizens of the United States, and, in the case of a corporation, unless its president and managing directors are citizens of the United States and the corporation itself is organized under the laws of the United States or of a State, Territory, District, or possession thereof.

The provisions of this Act shall apply to receivers and trustees of all persons to whom the Act applies, and to the successors or assignees of such persons.

The controlling interest in a corporation shall not be deemed to be owned by citizens of the United States (a) if the title to a majority of the stock thereof is not vested in such citizens free from any trust or fiduciary obligation in favor of any person not a citizen of the United States; or (b) if the majority of the voting power in such corporation is not vested in citizens of the United States; or (c) if through any contract or understanding it is so arranged that the majority of the voting power may be exercised, directly or indirectly, in behalf of any person who is not a citizen of the United States; or (d) if by any other means whatsoever control of the corporation is conferred upon or permitted to be exercised by any person who is not a citizen of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 729 as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of July 15, 1918, ch. —, § 2, the amendment consisting in the addition of the last paragraph relating to the controlling interest in corporations.

SEC. 3. [United States Shipping Board created — membership — official seal — rules and regulations.] That a board is hereby created, to be known as the United States Shipping Board, and hereinafter referred to as the board. The board shall be composed of five commissioners, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; said board shall annually elect one of its members as chairman and one as vice chairman.

The first commissioners appointed shall continue in office for terms of two, three, four, five, and six years, respectively, from the date of their appointment, the term of each to be designated by the President, but their successors shall be appointed for terms of six years, except that any person chosen to fill a vacancy shall be appointed only for the unexpired term of the commissioner whom he succeeds.

The commissioners shall be appointed with due regard to their fitness for the efficient discharge of the duties imposed on them by this Act, and to a fair representation of the geographical divisions of the country. Not more than three of the commissioners shall be appointed from the same political party. No commissioner shall be in the employ of or hold any official relation to any common carrier by water or other person subject to this Act, or own any stocks or bonds thereof, or be pecuniarily interested therein. No commissioner shall actively engage in any other business, vocation, or employment. Any commissioner may be removed by the President for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. A vacancy in the board shall not impair the right of the remaining members of the board to exercise all its powers. The board shall have an official seal, which shall be judicially noticed.

The board may adopt rules and regulations in regard to its procedure and the conduct of its business. [39 Stat. L. 729.]

SEC. 4. [Salaries of members and employees — expenses — offices — auditing accounts.] That each member of the board shall receive a salary of $7,500 per annum. The board shall appoint a secretary, at a salary of $5,000 per annum, and employ and fix the compensation of such attorneys, officers, naval architects, special experts, examiners, clerks, and other employees as it may find necessary for the proper performance of its duties and as may be appropriated for by the Congress. The President, upon the request of the board, may authorize the detail of officers of the military, naval, or other services of the United States for such duties as the board may deem necessary in connection with its business.

With the exception of the secretary, a clerk to each commissioner, the attorneys, naval architects, and such special experts and examiners as the board may from time to time find necessary to employ for the conduct of its work, all employees of the board shall be appointed from lists of eligibles to be supplied by the Civil Service Commission and in accordance with the civil-service law.

The expenses of the board, including necessary expenses for transportation, incurred by the members of the board or by its employees under its orders, in making any investigation, or upon official business in any other place than in the city of Washington, shall be allowed and paid on the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the chairman of the board.

Until otherwise provided by law the board may rent suitable offices for its use.

The Auditor for the State and Other Departments shall receive and examine all accounts of expenditures of the board. [39 Stat. L. 729.]

SEC. 5. [Authority of board to construct, etc., vessels.] That the board, with the approval of the President, is authorized to have constructed and equipped in American shipyards and navy yards or elsewhere, giving preference, other things being equal, to domestic yards, or to purchase, lease, or charter, vessels suitable as far as the commercial requirements of the marine trade of the United States may permit, for use as naval auxiliaries or Army transports, or for other naval or military purposes, and to make necessary repairs on and alterations of such vessels: Provided, That neither the board nor any corporation formed under section eleven in which the United States is then a stockholder shall purchase, lease, or charter any vessel —

(a) Which is then engaged in the foreign or domestic commerce of the United States, unless it is about to be withdrawn from such commerce without any intention on the part of the owner to return it thereto within a reasonable time;

(b) Which is under the registry or flag or [of] a foreign country which is then engaged in war;

(c) Which is not adapted, or can not by reasonable alterations and repairs be adapted, to the purpose specified in this section;

(d) Which, upon expert examination made under the direction of the board, a written report of such examination being filed as a public record, is not without alteration or repair found to be at least seventy-five per centum as efficient as at the time it was originally put in commission as a seaworthy vessel. [39 Stat. L. 730.]

SEC. 6. [Transfer of vessels to board by President.] That the President may transfer either permanently or for limited periods to the board such vessels belonging to the War or Navy Department as are suitable for commercial uses and not required for military or naval use in time of peace, and cause to be transferred to the board vessels owned by the Panama Railroad Company and not required in its business. [39 Stat. L. 730.]

SEC. 7. [Authority of board to charter, etc., vessels to citizens.] That the board, upon terms and conditions prescribed by it and approved by the President, may charter, lease, or sell to any person, a citizen of the United States, any vessel so purchased, constructed, or transferred. [39 Stat. L. 730.]

SEC. 8. [Sale of vessels unsuited to purposes of Act.] That when any vessel purchased or constructed by or transferred to the board as herein provided, and owned by the United States, becomes, in the opinion of the board, unfit for the purposes of this Act, it shall be appraised and sold at public or private competitive sale after due advertisement free from the conditions and restrictions of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 730.]

SEC. 9. [Registry, etc., of vessels — transfers, sales, etc.—penalty.] That any vessel purchased, chartered, or leased from the board may be registered or enrolled and licensed, or both registered and enrolled and licensed, as a vessel of the United States and entitled to the benefits and privileges appertaining thereto: Provided, That foreign-built vessels admitted to American registry or enrollment and license under this Act, and vessels owned, chartered, or leased by any corporation in which the United States is a stockholder, and vessels sold, leased, or chartered to any person a citizen of the United States, as provided in this Act, may engage in the coastwise trade of the United States while owned, leased, or chartered by such a person.

Every vessel purchased, chartered, or leased from the board shall, unless otherwise authorized by the board, be operated only under such registry or enrollment and license. Such vessels while employed solely as merchant vessels shall be subject to all laws, regulations, and liabilities governing merchant vessels, whether the United States be interested therein as owner, in whole or in part, or hold any mortgage, lien, or other interest therein. No such vessel, without the approval of the board, shall be transferred to a foreign registry or flag, or sold; nor, except under regulations prescribed by the board, be chartered or leased.

No vessel documented under the laws of the United States or owned by any person a citizen of the United States or by a corporation organized under the laws of the United States or of any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof, except one which the board is prohibited from purchasing, shall be sold to any person not a citizen of the United States or transferred to or placed under a foreign registry or flag, unless such vessel is first tendered to the board at the price in good faith offered by others, or, if no such offer, at a fair price to be determined in the manner provided in section ten.

Any vessel sold, chartered, leased, transferred to or placed under a foreign registry or flag, or operated, in violation of any provision of this section shall be forfeited to the United States, and whoever violates any provision of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not more than $5,000 or to imprisonment for not more than five years, or both. [39 Stat. L. 730, as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of July 15, 1918, ch. —, § 3. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 9. That any vessel purchased, chartered, or leased from the board may be registered or enrolled and licensed, or both registered and enrolled and licensed, as a vessel of the United States and entitled to the benefits and privileges appertaining thereto: Provided, That foreign-built vessels admitted to American registry or enrollment and license under this Act, and vessels owned, chartered, or leased by any corporation to which the United States is a stockholder, and vessels sold, leased, or chartered to any person a citizen of the United States, as provided in this Act, may engage in the coastwise trade of the United States.

"Every vessel purchased, chartered, or leased from the board shall, unless otherwise authorized by the board, be operated only under such registry or enrollment and license. Such vessels while employed solely as merchant vessels shall be subject to all laws, regulations, and liabilities governing merchant vessels, whether the United States be interested therein as owner, in whole or in part, or hold any mortgage, lien, or other interest therein. No such vessel, without the approval of the board, shall be transferred to a foreign registry or flag, or sold; nor, except under regulations prescribed by the board, be chartered or leased.

"When the United States is at war, or during any national emergency the existence of which is declared by proclamation of the President, no vessel registered or enrolled and licensed under the laws of the United States shall, without the approval of the board, be sold, leased, or chartered to any person not a citizen of the United States, or transferred to a foreign registry or flag. No vessel registered or enrolled and licensed under the laws of the United States, or owned by any person a citizen of the United States, except one which the board is prohibited from purchasing, shall be sold to any person not a citizen of the United States or transferred to a foreign registry or flag, unless such vessel is first tendered to the board at the price in good faith offered by others, or, if no such offer, at a fair price to be determined in the manner provided in section ten.

"Any vessel sold, chartered, leased, transferred, or operated in violation of this section shall be forfeited to the United States, and whoever violates any provision of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not more than $5,000 or to imprisonment of not more than five years, or both such fine and imprisonment."

"Employed solely as a merchant vessel," as used in the second paragraph of this section, is applicable to a vessel chartered to the French Government by the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, and carrying a cargo of food for that government, and such vessel is subject to libel if it collides with a British vessel on the high seas. The Florence H., 248 Fed. 1012.

SEC. 10. [Authority of President to take possession of vessels purchased, etc., from board for naval, etc., purposes — compensation.] That the President, upon giving to the person interested such reasonable notice in writing as in his judgment the circumstances permit, may take possession, absolutely or temporarily, for any naval or military purpose of any vessel purchased, leased, or chartered from the board: Provided, That if, in the judgment of the President, an emergency exists requiring such action he may take possession of any such vessel without notice.

Thereafter, upon ascertainment by agreement or otherwise, the United States shall pay the person interested the fair actual value based upon normal conditions at the time of taking of the interest of such person in every vessel taken absolutely, or if taken for a limited period, the fair charter value under normal conditions for such period. In case of disagreement as to such fair value it shall be determined by appraisers, one to be appointed by the board, one by the person interested, and a third by the two so appointed. The finding of such appraisers shall be final and binding upon both parties. [39 Stat. L. 731.]

SEC. 11. [Formation of corporations by board for purchase, etc., of merchant vessels — conditions precedent to operation.] That the board, if in its judgment such action is necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act, may form under the laws of the District of Columbia one or more corporations for the purchase, construction, equipment, lease, charter, maintenance, and operation of merchant vessels in the commerce of the United States. The total capital stock thereof shall not exceed $50,000,000. The board may, for and on behalf of the United States, subscribe to, purchase, and vote not less than a majority of the capital stock of any such corporation, and do all other things in regard thereto necessary to protect the interests of the United States and to carry out the purposes of this Act. The board, with the approval of the President, may sell any or all of the stock of the United States in such corporation, but at no time shall it be a minority stockholder therein: Provided, That no corporation in which the United States is a stockholder, formed under the authority of this section, shall engage in the operation of any vessel constructed, purchased, leased, chartered, or transferred under the authority of this Act unless the board shall be unable, after a bona fide effort, to contract with any person a citizen of the United States for the purchase, lease, or charter of such vessel under such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by the board.

The board shall give public notice of the fact that vessels are offered and the terms and conditions upon which a contract will be made, and shall invite competitive offerings. In the event the board shall, after full compliance with the terms of this proviso, determine that it is unable to enter into a contract with such private parties for the purchase, lease, or charter of such vessel, it shall make a full report to the President, who shall examine such report, and if he shall approve the same he shall make an order declaring that the conditions have been found to exist which justify the operation of such vessel by a corporation formed under the provisions of this section.

At the expiration of five years from the conclusion of the present European war the operation of vessels on the part of any such corporation in which the United States is then a stockholder shall cease and the said corporation stand dissolved. The date of the conclusion of the war shall be declared by proclamation of the President. The vessels and other property of any such corporation shall revert to the board. The board may sell, lease, or charter such vessels as provided in section seven and shall dispose of the property other than vessels on the best available terms and, after payment of all debts and obligations, deposit the proceeds thereof in the Treasury to its credit. All stock in such corporations owned by others than the United States at the time of dissolution shall be taken over by the board at a fair and reasonable value and paid for with funds to the credit of the board. In case of disagreement, such value shall be determined in the manner provided in section ten. [39 Stat. L. 731.]

SEC. 12. [Investigations by board as to cost of building vessels, etc.—reports.] That the board shall investigate the relative cost of building merchant vessels in the United States and in foreign maritime countries, and the relative cost, advantages, and disadvantages of operating in the foreign trade vessels under United States registry and under foreign registry. It shall examine the rules under which vessels are constructed abroad and in the United States, and the methods of classifying and rating same, and it shall examine into the subject of marine insurance, the number of companies in the United States, domestic and foreign, engaging in marine insurance, the extent of the insurance on hulls and cargoes placed or written in the United States, and the extent of reinsurance of American maritime risks in foreign companies, and ascertain what steps may be necessary to develop an ample marine insurance system as an aid in the development of an American merchant marine. It shall examine the navigation laws of the United States and the rules and regulations thereunder, and make such recommendations to the Congress as it deems proper for the amendment, improvement, and revision of such laws, and for the development of the American merchant marine. It shall investigate the legal status of mortgage loans on vessel property, with a view to means of improving the security of such loans and of encouraging investment in American shipping.

It shall, on or before the first day of December in each year, make a report to the Congress, which shall include its recommendations and the results of its investigations, a summary of its transactions, and a statement of all expenditures and receipts under this Act, and of the operations of any corporation in which the United States is a stockholder, and the names and compensation of all persons employed by the board. [39 Stat. L. 731.]

SEC. 13. [Limit on liability incurred — bonds.] That for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of sections five and eleven no liability shall be incurred exceeding a total of $50,000,000 and the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the request of the board, approved by the President, shall from time to time issue and sell or use any of the bonds of the United States now available in the Treasury under the Acts of August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine, February fourth, nineteen hundred and ten, and March second, nineteen hundred and eleven, relating to the issue of bonds for the construction of the Panama Canal, to a total amount not to exceed $50,000,000: Provided, That any bonds issued and sold or used under the provisions of this section may be made payable at such time within fifty years after issue as the Secretary of the Treasury may fix, instead of fifty years after the date of issue, as prescribed in the Act of August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine.

The proceeds of such bonds and the net proceeds of all sales, charters, and leases of vessels and of sales of stock made by the board, and all other moneys received by it from any source, shall be covered into the Treasury to the credit of the board, and are hereby permanently appropriated for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of sections five and eleven. [39 Stat. L. 732.]

SEC. 14. [Common carriers by water — combinations and discriminations prohibited — penalty.] That no common carrier by water shall directly or indirectly —

First. Pay, or allow, or enter into any combination, agreement, or understanding, express or implied, to pay or allow, a deferred rebate to any shipper. The term “deferred rebate” in this Act means a return of any portion of the freight money by a carrier to any shipper as a consideration for the giving of all or any portion of his shipments to the same or any other carrier, or for any other purpose, the payment of which is deferred beyond the completion of the service for which it is paid, and is made only if, during both the period for which computed and the period of deferment, the shipper has complied with the terms of the rebate agreement or arrangement.

Second. Use a fighting ship either separately or in conjunction with any other carrier, through agreement or otherwise. The term “fighting ship” in this Act means a vessel used in a particular trade by a carrier or group of carriers for the purpose of excluding, preventing, or reducing competition by driving another carrier out of said trade.

Third. Retaliate against any shipper by refusing, or threatening to refuse, space accommodations when such are available, or resort to other discriminating or unfair methods, because such shipper has patronized any other carrier or has filed a complaint charging unfair treatment, or for any other reason.

Fourth. Make any unfair or unjustly discriminatory contract with any shipper based on the volume of freight offered, or unfairly treat or unjustly discriminate against any shipper in the matter of (a) cargo space accommodations or other facilities, due regard being had for the proper loading of the vessel and the available tonnage; (b) the loading and landing of freight in proper condition; or (c) the adjustment and settlement of claims.

Any carrier who violates any provision of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $25,000 for each offense. [39 Stat. L. 733.]

SEC. 15. [Agreements between carriers, etc.—approval by board—penalties.] That every common carrier by water, or other person subject to this Act, shall file immediately with the board a true copy, or, if oral, a true and complete memorandum, of every agreement with another such carrier or other person subject to this Act, or modification or cancellation thereof, to which it may be a party or conform in whole or in part, fixing or regulating transportation rates or fares; giving or receiving special rates, accommodations, or other special privileges or advantages; controlling, regulating, preventing, or destroying competition; pooling or apportioning earnings, losses, or traffic; allotting ports or restricting or otherwise regulating the number and character of sailings between ports; limiting or regulating in any way the volume or character of freight or passenger traffic to be carried; or in any manner providing for an exclusive, preferential, or cooperative working arrangement. The term "agreement" in this section includes understandings, conferences, and other arrangements.

The board may by order disapprove, cancel, or modify any agreement, or any modification or cancellation thereof, whether or not previously approved by it, that it finds to be unjustly discriminatory or unfair as between carriers, shippers, exporters, importers, or ports, or between exporters from the United States and their foreign competitors, or to operate to the detriment of the commerce of the United States, or to be in violation of this Act, and shall approve all other agreements, modifications, or cancellations.

Agreements existing at the time of the organization of the board shall be lawful until disapproved by the board. It shall be unlawful to carry out any agreement or any portion thereof disapproved by the board.

All agreements, modifications, or cancellations made after the organization of the board shall be lawful only when and as long as approved by the board, and before approval or after disapproval it shall be unlawful to carry out in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, any such agreement, modification, or cancellation.

Every agreement, modification, or cancellation lawful under this section shall be excepted from the provisions of the Act approved July second, eighteen hundred and ninety, entitled "An Act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies," and amendments and Acts supplementary thereto, and the provisions of sections seventy-three to seventy-seven, both inclusive, of the Act approved August twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and ninety-four, entitled "An Act to reduce taxation, to provide revenue for the Government, and for other purposes." and amendments and Acts supplementary thereto.

Whoever violates any provision of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each day such violation continues, to be recovered by the United States in a civil action. [39 Stat. L. 733.]

For the Act of July 2, 1890, ch. 647, mentioned in the text, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 336, and for said Acts and amendments and Acts supplementary thereto see 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 644.

For the Act of July 27, 1894, ch. 349, §§ 73–77, mentioned in the text, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 346, and for said Act and amendments and Acts supplementary thereto see 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 642.

SEC. 16. [Preference or advantages by common carriers, etc., prohibited — insurance.] That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier by water, or other person subject to this Act, either alone or in conjunction with any other person, directly or indirectly —

First. To make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, locality, or description of traffic in any respect whatsoever, or to subject any particular person, locality, or description of traffic to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever.

Second. To allow any person to obtain transportation for property at less than the regular rates then established and enforced on the line of such carrier, by means of false billing, false classification, false weighing, false report of weight, or by any other unjust or unfair device or means.

Third. To induce, persuade, or otherwise influence any marine insurance company or underwriter, or agent thereof, not to give a competing carrier by water as favorable a rate of insurance on vessel or cargo, having due regard to the class of vessel or cargo, as is granted to such carrier or other person subject to this Act. [39 Stat. L. 734.]

SEC. 17. [Discriminatory rates, etc.—receiving, etc., property — reasonable regulations.] That no common carrier by water in foreign commerce shall demand, charge, or collect any rate, fare, or charge which is unjustly discriminatory between shippers or ports, or unjustly prejudicial to exporters of the United States as compared with their foreign competitors. Whenever the board finds that any such rate, fare, or charge is demanded, charged, or collected it may alter the same to the extent necessary to correct such unjust discrimination or prejudice and make an order that the carrier shall discontinue demanding, charging, or collecting any such unjustly discriminatory or prejudicial rate, fare, or charge.

Every such carrier and every other person subject to this Act shall establish, observe, and enforce just and reasonable regulations and practices relating to or connected with the receiving, handling, storing, or delivering of property. Whenever the board finds that any such regulation or practice is unjust or unreasonable it may determine, prescribe, and order enforced a just and reasonable regulation or practice. [39 Stat. L. 734.]

SEC. 18. [Reasonable rates, etc.—tariffs.] That every common carrier by water in interstate commerce shall establish, observe, and enforce just and reasonable rates, fares, charges, classifications, and tariffs, and just and reasonable regulations and practices relating thereto and to the issuance, form, and substance of tickets, receipts, and bills of lading, the manner and method of presenting, marking, packing, and delivering property for transportation, the carrying of personal, sample, and excess baggage, the facilities for transportation, and all other matters relating to or connected with the receiving, handling, transporting, storing, or delivering of property.

Every such carrier shall file with the board and keep open to public inspection, in the form and manner and within the time prescribed by the board, the maximum rates, fares, and charges for or in connection with transportation between points on its own route; and if a through route has been established, the maximum rates, fares, and charges for or in connection with transportation between points on its own route and points on the route of any other carrier by water.

No such carrier shall demand, charge, or collect a greater compensation for such transportation than the rates, fares, and charges filed in compliance with this section, except with the approval of the board and after ten days' public notice in the form and manner prescribed by the board, stating the increase proposed to be made; but the board for good cause shown may waive such notice.

Whenever the board finds that any rate, fare, charge, classification, tariff, regulation, or practice, demanded, charged, collected, or observed by such carrier is unjust or unreasonable, it may determine, prescribe, and order enforced a just and reasonable maximum rate, fare, or charge, or a just and reasonable classification, tariff, regulation, or practice. [39 Stat. L. 735.]

SEC. 19. [Reduction of rates to injure competitor — subsequent increase regulated.] That whenever a common carrier by water in interstate commerce reduces its rates on the carriage of any species of freight to or from competitive points below a fair and remunerative basis with the intent of driving out or otherwise injuring a competitive carrier by water, it shall not increase such rates unless after hearing the board finds that such proposed increase rests upon changed conditions other than the elimination of said competition. [39 Stat. L. 735.]

SEC. 20. [Disclosure of information — prohibition.] That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier by water or other person subject to this Act, or any officer, receiver, trustee, lessee, agent, or employee of such carrier or person, or for any other person authorized by such carrier or person to receive information, knowingly to disclose to or permit to be acquired by any person other than the shipper or consignee, without the consent of such shipper or consignee, any information concerning the nature, kind, quantity, destination, consignee, or routing of any property tendered or delivered to such common carrier or other person subject to this Act for transportation in interstate or foreign commerce, which information may be used to the detriment or prejudice of such shipper or consignee, or which may improperly disclose his business transactions to a competitor, or which may be used to the detriment or prejudice of any carrier; and it shall also be unlawful for any person to solicit or knowingly receive any such information which may be so used.

Nothing in this Act shall be construed to prevent the giving of such information in response to any legal process issued under the authority of any court, or to any officer or agent of the Government of the United States, or of any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof, in the exercise of his powers, or to any officer or other duly authorized person seeking such information for the prosecution of persons charged with or suspected of crime, or to another carrier, or its duly authorized agent, for the purpose of adjusting mutual traffic accounts in the ordinary course of business of such carriers. [39 Stat. L. 735.]

SEC. 21. [Reports, etc., filed by carrier with board — failure to file — falsification, destruction, etc. — penalty.] That the board may require any common carrier by water, or other person subject to this Act, or any officer, receiver, trustee, lessee, agent, or employee thereof, to file with it any periodical or special report, or any account, record, rate, or charge, or any memorandum of any facts and transactions appertaining to the business of such carrier or other person subject to this Act. Such report, account, record, rate, charge, or memorandum shall be under oath whenever the board so requires, and shall be furnished in the form and within the time prescribed by the board. Whoever fails to file any report, account, record, rate, charge, or memorandum as required by this section shall forfeit to the United States the sum of $100 for each day of such default.

Whoever willfully falsifies, destroys, mutilates, or alters any such report, account, record, rate, charge, or memorandum, or willfully files a false report, account, record, rate, charge, or memorandum shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and subject upon conviction to a fine of not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or to both such fine and imprisonment. [39 Stat. L. 736.]

SEC. 22. [Violations of Act — complaints — investigations by board.] That any person may file with the board a sworn complaint setting forth any violation of this Act by a common carrier by water, or other person subject to this Act, and asking reparation for the injury, if any, caused thereby. The board shall furnish a copy of the complaint to such carrier or other person, who shall, within a reasonable time specified by the board, satisfy the complaint or answer it in writing. If the complaint is not satisfied the board shall, except as otherwise provided in this Act, investigate it in such manner and by such means, and make such order as it deems proper. The board, if the complaint is filed within two years after the cause of action accrued, may direct the payment, on or before a day named, of full reparation to the complainant for the injury caused by such violation.

The board, upon its own motion, may in like manner and, except as to orders for the payment of money, with the same powers, investigate any violation of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 736.]

SEC. 23. [Orders of board.] Orders of the board relating to any violation of this Act shall be made only after full hearing, and upon a sworn complaint or in proceedings instituted of its own motion.

All orders of the board other than for the payment of money made under this Act shall continue in force for such time, not exceeding two years, as shall be prescribed therein by the board, unless suspended, modified, or set aside by the board or any court of competent jurisdiction. [39 Stat. L. 736.]

SEC. 24. [Reports of board as to investigations resulting in a hearing — use as evidence.] That the board shall enter of record a written report of every investigation made under this Act in which a hearing has been held, stating its conclusions, decisions, and order, and, if reparation is awarded, the findings of fact on which the award is made, and shall furnish a copy of such report to all parties to the investigation.

The board may publish such reports in the form best adapted for public information and use, and such authorized publications shall, without further proof or authentication, be competent evidence of such reports in all courts of the United States and of the States, Territories, Districts, and possessions thereof. [39 Stat. L. 736.]

SEC. 25. [Authority of board to reverse, etc., orders.] That the board may reverse, suspend, or modify, upon such notice and in such manner as it deems proper, any order made by it. Upon application of any party to a decision or order it may grant a rehearing of the same or any matter determined therein, but no such application for or allowance of a rehearing shall, except by special order of the board, operate as a stay of such order. [39 Stat. L. 736.]

SEC. 26. [Investigations of action of foreign government affecting United States shipping.] The board shall have power, and it shall be its duty whenever complaint shall be made to it, to investigate the action of any foreign Government with respect to the privileges afforded and burdens imposed upon vessels of the United States engaged in foreign trade whenever it shall appear that the laws, regulations, or practices of any foreign Government operate in such a manner that vessels of the United States are not accorded equal privileges in foreign trade with vessels of such foreign countries or vessels of other foreign countries, either in trade to or from the ports of such foreign country or in respect of the passage or transportation through such foreign country of passengers of goods intended for shipment or transportation in such vessels of the United States, either to or from ports of such foreign country or to or from ports of other foreign countries. It shall be the duty of the board to report the results of its investigation to the President with its recommendations and the President is hereby authorized and empowered to secure by diplomatic action equal privileges for vessels of the United States engaged in such foreign trade. And if by such diplomatic action the President shall be unable to secure such equal privileges then the President shall advise Congress as to the facts and his conclusions by special message, if deemed important in the public interest, in order that proper action may be taken thereon. [39 Stat. L. 737.]

compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, documents, and other evidence from any place in the United States at any designated place of hearing. Subpœnas may be signed by any commissioner, and oaths or affirmations may be administered, witnesses examined, and evidence received by any commissioner or examiner, or, under the direction of the board, by any person authorized under the laws of the United States or of any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof to administer oaths. Persons so acting under the direction of the board and witnesses shall, unless employees of the board, be entitled to the same fees and mileage as in the courts of the United States. Obedience to any such subpoena shall, on application by the board, be enforced as are orders of the board other than for the payment of money. [39 Stat. L. 737.]

SEC. 28. [Witnesses.] That no person shall be excused on the ground that it may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, from attending and testifying, or producing books, papers, documents, and other evidence, in obedience to the subpoena of the board or of any court in any proceeding based upon or growing out of any alleged violation of this Act; but no natural person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing as to which, in obedience to a subpoena and under oath, he may so testify or produce evidence, except that no person shall be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying. [39 Stat. L. 737.]

SEC. 29. [Orders not for payment of money — enforcement — injunction.] That in case of violation of any order of the board, other than an order for the payment of money, the board, or any party injured by such violation, or the Attorney General, may apply to a district court having jurisdiction of the parties; and if, after hearing, the court determines that the order was regularly made and duly issued, it shall enforce obedience thereto by a writ of injunction or other proper process, mandatory or otherwise. [39 Stat. L. 737.]

SEC. 30. [Orders for payment of money — enforcement.] That in case of violation of any order of the board for the payment of money the person to whom such award was made may file in the district court for the district in which such person resides, or in which is located any office of the carrier or other person to whom the order was directed, or in which is located any point of call on a regular route operated by the carrier, or in any court of general jurisdiction of a State, Territory, District, or possession of the United States having jurisdiction of the parties, a petition or suit setting forth briefly the causes for which he claims damages and the order of the board in the premises.

In the district court the findings and order of the board shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated, and the petitioner shall not be liable for costs, nor shall he be liable for costs at any subsequent stage of the proceedings unless they accrue upon his appeal. If a petitioner in a district court finally prevails, he shall be allowed a reasonable attorney's fee, to be taxed and collected as part of the costs of the suit.

All parties in whose favor the board has made an award of reparation by a single order may be joined as plaintiffs, and all other parties to such order may be joined as defendants, in a single suit in any district in which any one such plaintiff could maintain a suit against any one such defendant. Service of process against any such defendant not found in that district may be made in any district in which is located any office of, or point of call on a regular route operated by, such defendant. Judgment may be entered in favor of any plaintiff against the defendant liable to that plaintiff.

No petition or suit for the enforcement of an order for the payment of money shall be maintained unless filed within one year from the date of the order. [39 Stat. L. 737.]

SEC. 31. [Suits in United States courts to enforce, etc., orders of board — venue and procedure.] That the venue and procedure in the courts of the United States in suits brought to enforce, suspend, or set aside, in whole or in part, any order of the board shall, except as herein otherwise provided, be the same as in similar suits in regard to orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but such suits may also be maintained in any district court having jurisdiction of the parties. [39 Stat. L. 738.]

SEC. 32. [Violation of provisions of Act — punishment.] That whoever violates any provision of this Act, except where a different penalty is provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by fine of not to exceed $5,000. [39 Stat. L. 738.]

SEC. 33. [Construction of Act — Interstate Commerce Commission.] That this Act shall not be construed to affect the power or jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, nor to confer upon the board concurrent power or jurisdiction over any matter within the power or jurisdiction of such commission; nor shall this Act be construed to apply to intrastate commerce. [39 Stat. L. 738.]

SEC. 34. Invalidity of part of Act — effect as to remainder.] That if any provision of this Act, or the application of such provision to certain circumstances, is held unconstitutional, the remainder of the Act, and the application of such provision to circumstances other than those as to which it is held unconstitutional, shall not be affected thereby. [39 Stat. L. 738.]

SEC. 35. [Appropriation for defraying expenses incurred.] That for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the sum of $100,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the establishment and maintenance of the board, including the payment of salaries herein authorized. [39 Stat. L. 738.]

SEC. 36. [Refusal of clearance by Secretary of Treasury — grounds.] The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to refuse a clearance to any vessel or other vehicle laden with merchandise destined for a foreign or domestic port whenever he shall have satisfactory reason to believe that the master, owner, or other officer of such vessel or other vehicle refuses or declines to accept or receive freight or cargo in good condition tendered for such port of destination or for some intermediate port of call, together with the proper freight or transportation charges therefor, by any citizen of the United States, unless the same is fully laden and has no space accommodations for the freight or cargo so tendered, due regard being had for the proper loading of such vessel or vehicle, or unless such freight or cargo consists of merchandise for which such vessel or vehicle is not adaptable. [39 Stat. L. 738.]

See the following section of this Act and the note thereto.

SEC. 37. [War or national emergency — condition precedent to foreign registry or ownership — violation of provisions — forfeiture — other penalties.] That when the United States is at war or during any national emergency, the existence of which is declared by proclamation of the President, it shall be unlawful, without first obtaining the approval of the board:

(a) To transfer to or place under any foreign registry or flag any vessel owned in whole or in part by any person a citizen of the United States or by a corporation organized under the laws of the United States, or of any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof; or

(b) To sell, mortgage, lease, charter, deliver, or in any manner transfer, or agree to sell, mortgage, lease, charter, deliver or in any manner transfer to any person not a citizen of the United States, (1) any such vessel or any interest therein, or (2) any vessel documented under the laws of the United States, or any interest therein, or (3) any shipyard, dry dock, ship-building or ship-repairing plant or facilities, or any interest therein; or

(c) To enter into any contract, agreement, or understanding to construct a vessel within the United States for or to be delivered to any person not a citizen of the United States, without expressly stipulating that such construction shall not begin until after the war or emergency proclaimed by the President has ended; or

(d) To make any agreement or effect any understanding whereby there is vested in or for the benefit of any person not a citizen of the United States, the controlling interest or a majority of the voting power in a corporation which is organized under the laws of the United States, or of any State, Territory, District, or possession thereof, and which owns any vessel, shipyard, dry dock, or ship-building or ship-repairing plant or facilities; or

(e) To cause or procure any vessel constructed in whole or in part within the United States, which has never cleared for any foreign port, to depart from a port of the United States before it has been documented under the laws of the United States.

Whoever violates, or attempts or conspires to violate, any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than five years, or both.

Any vessel, shipyard, dry dock, ship-building or ship-repairing plant or facilities, or interest therein, sold, mortgaged, leased, chartered, delivered, transferred, or documented, or agreed to be sold, mortgaged, leased, chartered, delivered, transferred, or documented, in violation of any of the provisions of this section, and any stocks, bonds, or other securities sold or transferred, or agreed to be sold or transferred, in violation of any of such provisions, or any vessel departing in violation of the provisions of subdivision (e), shall be forfeited to the United States.

Any such sale, mortgage, lease, charter, delivery, transfer, documentation, or agreement therefor shall be void, whether made within or without the United States, and any consideration paid therefor or deposited in connection therewith shall be recoverable at the suit of the person who has paid or deposited the same, or of his successor or assigns, after the tender of such vessel, shipyard, dry dock, ship building or ship repairing plant or facilities, or interest therein, or of such stocks, bonds or other securities, to the person entitled thereto, or after forfeiture thereof to the United States, unless the person to whom the consideration was paid, or in whose interest it was deposited, entered into the transaction in the honest belief that the person who paid or deposited such consideration was a citizen of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing section 37 and the following sections 38-40 were added to this Act by the Act of July 15, 1918, ch. —, entitled "An Act To amend the Act approved September seventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen, entitled 'An Act to establish a United States Shipping Board for the purpose of encouraging, developing, and creating a naval auxiliary and naval reserve and a merchant marine to meet the requirements of the commerce of the United States with its Territories and possessions and with foreign countries; to regulate carriers by water in the foreign and interstate commerce of the United States; and for other purposes,'" which provided in section 4 thereof "That said Act is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof eight sections, as follows," etc.

Sections 1, 2 and 3 of said amendatory Act amended sections 1, 2 and 9, respectively, of this Act.

SEC. 38. [Prosecution of forfeitures.] That all forfeitures incurred under the provisions of this Act may be prosecuted in the same court, and may be disposed of in the same manner, as forfeitures incurred for offenses against the law relating to the collection of duties. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding section 37 of this Act.

SEC. 39. [Evidence in forfeiture proceedings.] That in any action or proceeding under the provisions of this Act to enforce a forfeiture the conviction in a court of criminal jurisdiction of any person for a violation thereof with respect to the subject of the forfeiture shall constitute prima facie evidence of such violation against the person so convicted. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 37 of this Act, supra, this page.

SEC. 40. [Transfer of interests in vessels — formalities — violations.] That whenever any bill of sale, mortgage, hypothecation, or conveyance of any vessel, or part thereof, or interest therein, is presented to any collector of the customs to be recorded, the vendee, mortgagee, or transferee, shall file therewith a written declaration in such form as the board may by regulation prescribe, setting forth the facts relating to his citizenship, and such other facts as the board requires, showing that the transaction does not involve a violation of any of the provisions of section nine or thirty-seven. Unless the board, before such presentation, has failed to prescribe such form, no such bill of sale, mortgage, hypothecation, or conveyance shall be valid against any person whatsoever until such declaration has been filed. Any declaration filed by or in behalf of a corporation shall be signed by the president, secretary, or treasurer thereof.

Whoever knowingly makes any false statement of a material fact in any such declaration shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not more than $5,000, or to imprisonment for not more than five years, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 37 of this Act, supra, 800.

SEC. 41. [Approval of shipping board — how accorded — conditions — false statements.] That whenever by said section nine or thirty-seven the approval of the board is required to render any act or transaction lawful, such approval may be accorded either absolutely or upon such conditions as the board prescribes. Whenever the approval of the board is accorded upon any condition a statement of such condition shall be entered upon its records and incorporated in the same document or paper which notifies the applicant of such approval. A violation of such condition so incorporated shall constitute a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by fine and imprisonment in the same manner, and shall subject the vessel, stocks, bonds, or other subject matter of the application conditionally approved to forfeiture in the same manner, as though the act conditionally approved had been done without the approval of the board, but the offense shall be deemed to have been committed at the time of the violation of the condition.

Whenever by this Act the approval of the board is required to render any act or transaction lawful, whoever knowingly makes any false statement of a material fact to the board, or to any member thereof, or to any officer, attorney, or agent thereof, for the purpose of securing such approval, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not more than $5,000 or to imprisonment for not more than five years, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 37 of this Act, supra, 800.

SEC. 42. [Character of vessel as documented — period of continuance.] That any vessel registered, enrolled, or licensed under the laws of the United States shall be deemed to continue to be documented under the laws of the United States within the meaning of subdivision (b) of section thirty-seven, until such registry, enrollment, or license is surrendered with the approval of the board, the provisions of any other Act of Congress to the contrary notwithstanding. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 37 of this Act, supra, 800.

SEC. 43. [Ending of war or national emergency — how evidenced.] That the fact that a war or emergency has ended shall, for the purposes of this Act, be evidenced by a proclamation of the President. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 37 of this Act, supra, 800.

SEC. 44. [Short title of Act.] That this Act may be cited as Shipping Act, 1916. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 37 of this Act, supra, p. 800.

Joint Resolution Authorizing the President to take over for the United States the possession and title of any vessel within its jurisdiction, which at the time of coming therein was owned in whole or in part by any corporation, citizen, or subject of any nation with which the United States may be at war, or was under register of any such nation, and for other purposes.

[Joint Res. of May 12, 1917, No. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] [Foreign vessels in American waters owned in enemy country — seizure by President.] That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to take over to the United States the immediate possession and title of any vessel within the jurisdiction thereof, including the Canal Zone and all territories and insular possessions of the United States except the American Virgin Islands, which at the time of coming into such jurisdiction was owned in whole or in part by any corporation, citizen, or subject of any nation with which the United States may be at war when such vessel shall be taken, or was flying the flag of or was under register of any such nation or any political subdivision or municipality thereof; and, through the United States Shipping Board, or any department or agency of the Government, to operate, lease, charter, and equip such vessel in any service of the United States, or in any commerce, foreign or coastwise. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Board of survey — appointment — duties.] That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to appoint, subject to the approval of the President, a board of survey, whose duty it shall be to ascertain the actual value of the vessel, its equipment, appurtenances, and all property contained therein, at the time of its taking, and to make a written report of their findings to the Secretary of the Navy, who shall preserve such report with the records of his department. These findings shall be considered as competent evidence in all proceedings on any claim for compensation. [— Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] [Emergency shipping fund — acquisition of ships or material or plants for production thereof — acquisition of transportation facilities — transportation of shipyard employees — compliance with orders — compensation — definitions — authority of President, expiration — expenditures — limit.] * * * The President is hereby authorized and empowered, within the limits of the amounts herein authorized —

(a) To place an order with any person for such ships or material as the necessities of the Government, to be determined by the President, may require during the period of the war and which are of the nature, kind and quantity usually produced or capable of being produced by such person.

(b) To modify, suspend, cancel, or requisition any existing or future contract for the building, production, or purchase of ships or material, or take possession, lease or assume control of, any street railroad, interurban railroad, or part thereof, cars and other equipment necessary to operation.

(c) To require the owner or occupier of any plant in which ships or materials are built or produced to place at the disposal of the United States the whole or any part of the output of such plant, to deliver such output or part thereof in such quantities and at such times as may be specified in the order.

(d) To requisition and take over for use or occupation by the United States any plant, or any part thereof without taking possession of the entire plant, whether the United States has or has not any contract or agreement with the owner or occupier of such plant.

(e) To purchase, requisition, or take over the title to, or the possession of, for use or operation by the United States any ship now constructed or in the process of construction or hereafter constructed, or any part thereof, or charter of such ship.

(f) To take possession of, lease or assume control of, any street railroad, interurban railroad, or part thereof wherever operated, and all cars, appurtenances, and franchises or parts thereof commonly used in connection with the operation thereof necessary for the transfer and transportation of employees of shipyards or plants engaged or that may hereafter be engaged in the construction of ships or equipment therefor for the United States.

Compliance with all orders issued hereunder shall be obligatory on any person to whom such order is given, and such order shall take precedence over all other orders and contracts placed with such person. If any person owning any ship, charter, or material, or owning, leasing, or operating any plant equipped for the building or production of ships or material shall refuse or fail to comply therewith or to give to the United States such preference in the execution of such order, or shall refuse to build, supply, furnish, or manufacture the kind, quantities or qualities of the ships or material so ordered, at such reasonable price as shall be determined by the President, the President may take immediate possession of any ship, charter, material or plant of such person, or any part thereof without taking possession of the entire plant, and may use the same at such times and in such manner as he may consider necessary or expedient.

Whenever the United States shall cancel, modify, suspend or requisition any contract, make use of, assume, occupy, requisition, acquire or take over any plant or part thereof, or any ship, charter, or material in accordance with the provisions hereof, it shall make just compensation therefor, to be determined by the President; and if the amount thereof, so determined by the President, is unsatisfactory to the person entitled to receive the same, such person shall be paid seventy-five per centum of the amount so determined by the President and shall be entitled to sue the United States to recover such further sum as, added to said seventy-five per centum, will make up such amount as will be just compensation therefor, in the manner provided for by section twenty-four, paragraph twenty, and section one hundred and forty-five of the Judicial Code.

The President may exercise the power and authority hereby vested in him, and expend the money herein and hereafter appropriated through such agency or agencies as he shall determine from time to time: Provided, That all money turned over to the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation may be expended as other moneys of said corporation are now expended. All ships constructed, purchased, or requisitioned under authority herein, or heretofore or hereafter acquired by the United States, shall be managed, operated, and disposed of as the President may direct.

The word "person" as used herein, shall include any individual, trustee, firm, association, company, corporation, or contractor.

The word "ship" shall include any boat, vessel, or submarine and the parts thereof.

The word "material" shall include stores, supplies, and equipment for ships, and everything required for or in connection with the production thereof.

The word "plant" shall include any factory, workshop, warehouse, engine works; buildings used for manufacture, assembling, construction, or any process; any shipyard or dockyard and discharging terminal or other facilities connected therewith.

The words "United States" shall include all lands and waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States of America.

All authority granted to the President herein, or by him delegated, shall cease six months after a final treaty of peace is proclaimed between this Government and the German Empire.

The cost of purchasing, requisitioning, or otherwise acquiring plants, material, charters, or ships now constructed or in the course of construction and the expediting of construction of ships thus under construction shall not exceed the sum of $250,000,000, exclusive of the cost of ships turned over to the Army and Navy, the expenditure of which is hereby authorized, and in executing the authority granted by this Act for such purpose the President shall not expend or obligate the United States to expend more than the said sum; and there is hereby appropriated for said purpose, $150,000,000: Provided, That this appropriation shall be reimbursed from available funds under the War and Navy Departments for vessels turned over for the exclusive use of those departments or either of them.

The cost of construction of ships authorized herein shall not exceed the sum of $500,000,000, the expenditure of which is hereby authorized, and in executing the authority granted herein for such purpose the President shall not expend or obligate the United States to expend more than said sum; and there is hereby appropriated for said purpose, $250,000,000.

For the operation of the ships herein authorized or in any way acquired by the United States, except those acquired for the Army or Navy, and for every expenditure incident thereto, $5,000,000. [— Stat. L. — as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing paragraph and that following are from the Deficiencies Appropriation Act of June 15, 1917, ch. —.

For Judicial Code, § 145, mentioned in the text, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 200; 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 649.

Subdivision "(b)" of this section was amended to read as given in the text by an Act of April 22, 1918, ch. —, § 2, the amendment consisting of the addition after the word "materials" of the provisions relating to street railroads, etc.

Subdivision "(f)" was added to this section by the Act of April 22, 1918, ch. —, § 1. See section 3 of said Act, infra, p. 809.

[Vessels transporting fuel — purchase by president.] * * * That when, in the opinion of the President, the prices asked for the charter of vessels for the transportation of fuel are excessive, he is authorized to purchase vessels suitable for the purpose and, if money is not otherwise available, to pay for them from the appropriation "Fuel and transportation." [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding paragraph of the text.

TITLE II

VESSELS IN PORTS OF THE UNITED STATES

SECTION 1. [National emergency — seizure of vessels by government.] Whenever the President by proclamation or Executive order declares a national emergency to exist by reason of actual or threatened war, insurrection, or invasion, or disturbance or threatened disturbance of the international relations of the United States, the Secretary of the Treasury may make, subject to the approval of the President, rules and regulations governing the anchorage and movement of any vessel, foreign or domestic, in the territorial waters of the United States, may inspect such vessel at any time, place guards thereon, and, if necessary in his opinion in order to secure such vessels from damage or injury, or to prevent damage or injury to any harbor or waters of the United States, or to secure the observance of the rights and obligations of the United States, may take, by and with the consent of the President, for such purposes, full possession and control of such vessel and remove therefrom the officers and crew thereof and all other persons not specially authorized by him to go or remain on board thereof.

Within the territory and waters of the Canal Zone the Governor of the Panama Canal, with the approval of the President, shall exercise all the powers conferred by this section on the Secretary of the Treasury. [— Stat. L. —.]

This Title II, consisting of the foregoing section 1 and the following sections 2-4, and the following Title III are from the Act of June 15, 1917, ch. —, entitled "An Act To punish acts of interference with the foreign relations, the neutrality, and the foreign commerce of the United States, to punish espionage, and better to enforce the criminal laws of the United States, and for other purposes." Title XIII of this Act, given in CRIMINAL LAW, ante, p. 133, contains provisions applicable alike to both Title II and Title III, and should be read in connection therewith.

SEC. 2. [Interference with seizure — punishment.] If any owner, agent, master, officer, or person in charge, or any member of the crew of any such vessel fails to comply with any regulation or rule issued or order given by the Secretary of the Treasury or the Governor of the Panama Canal under the provisions of this title, or obstructs or interferes with the exercise of any power conferred by this title, the vessel, together with her tackle, apparel, furniture, and equipment, shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture, to the United States in the same manner as merchandise is forfeited for violation of the customs revenue laws; and the person guilty of such failure, obstruction, or interference shall be fined not more than $10,000, or imprisoned not more than two years, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding section 1 of this Act.

SEC. 3. [Destruction or injury of vessel by owner, etc.—making improper use of vessels — forfeiture.] It shall be unlawful for the owner or master or any other person in charge or command of any private vessel, foreign or domestic, or for any member of the crew or other person, within the territorial waters of the United States, willfully to cause or permit the destruction or injury of such vessel or knowingly to permit said vessel to be used as a place of resort for any person conspiring with another or preparing to commit any offense against the United States, or in violation of the treaties of the United States or of the obligations of the United States under the law of nations, or to defraud the United States, or knowingly to permit such vessels to be used in violation of the rights and obligations of the United States under the law of nations; and in case such vessel shall be so used, with the knowledge of the owner or master or other person in charge or command thereof, the vessel together with her tackle, apparel, furniture, and equipment, shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture to the United States in the same manner as merchandise is forfeited for violation of the customs revenue laws; and whoever violates this section shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 806.

SEC. 4. [Enforcement of purpose of title.] The President may employ such part of the land or naval forces of the United States as he may deem necessary to carry out the purpose of this title. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 806.

TITLE III

INJURING VESSELS ENGAGED IN FOREIGN COMMERCE

SECTION 1. [Nature of injury — punishment of persons committing.] Whoever shall set fire to any vessel of foreign registry, or any vessel of American registry entitled to engage in commerce with foreign nations, or to any vessel of the United States as defined in section three hundred and ten of the Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," or to the cargo of the same, or shall tamper with the motive power or instrumentalities of navigation of such vessel, or shall place bombs or explosives in or upon such vessel, or shall do any other act to or upon such vessel while within the jurisdiction of the United States, or, if such vessel is of American registry, while she is on the high sea, with intent to injure or endanger the safety of the vessel or of her cargo, or of persons on board, whether the injury or danger is so intended to take place within the jurisdiction of the United States, or after the vessel shall have departed therefrom; or whoever shall attempt or conspire to do any such acts with such intent, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than twenty years, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

See the notes to section 1, Title II, supra, p. 806.

For Penal Laws, § 310, mentioned in the text, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 490; 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 964.

An Act Giving the United States Shipping Board power to suspend present provisions of law and permit vessels of foreign registry and foreign-built vessels admitted to American registry under the Act of August eighteenth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, to engage in the coastwise trade during the present war and for a period of one hundred and twenty days thereafter, except the coastwise trade with Alaska.

[Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[American registry of foreign built ships.] That during the present war with Germany and for a period of one hundred and twenty days thereafter the United States Shipping Board may, if in its judgment the interests of the United States require, suspend the present provisions of law and permit vessels of foreign registry, and foreign-built vessels admitted to American registry under the Act of August eighteenth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, to engage in the coastwise trade of the United States: Provided, That no such vessel shall engage in the coastwise trade except upon a permit issued by the United States Shipping Board, which permit shall limit or define the scope of the trade and the time of such employment: Provided further, That in issuing permits the board shall give preference to vessels of foreign registry owned, leased, or chartered by citizens of the United States or corporations thereof: And provided further, That the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the coastwise trade with Alaska or between Alaskan ports. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Aug. 18, 1914, ch. 256, mentioned in the title of this Act, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 252; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 295.

SEC. 3. [Compensation for property acquired through emergency shipping fund.] That upon taking possession of such property, or leasing or assuming control thereof, just compensation shall be made therefor, to be determined by the President, and if the amount thereof so determined by the President is unsatisfactory to the person entitled to receive the same, such person shall be paid seventy-five per centum of the amount so determined by the President and shall be entitled to sue the United States of America to recover such further sums as added to seventy-five per centum will make up such amount as will be just compensation therefor, in the manner provided for by section twenty-four, paragraph twenty, and section one hundred and forty-five of the Judicial Code.

The President may exercise the power and authority hereby vested in him through the several departments of the Government, and through such agency or agencies as he shall determine from time to time. [— Stat. L. —.]

This is the last section of the Act of April 22, 1918, ch. —, entitled "An Act To amend the emergency shipping fund provisions of the urgent deficiency appropriation Act approved June fifteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, so as to empower the President and his designated agents to take over certain transportation systems for the transportation of shipyard and plant employees, and for other purposes."

Sections 1 and 2 of this Act amended the Act of June 15, 1917, ch. —, § 1, and are incorporated therein, supra, p. 803.

For Judicial Code, § 24, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. p. 138; 4 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 838.

An Act To require numbering and recording of undocumented vessels.

[SEC. 1.] [Undocumented vessels — numbering.] That every undocumented vessel, operated in whole or in part by machinery, owned in the United States and found on the navigable waters thereof, except public vessels, and vessels not exceeding sixteen feet in length measured from end to end over the deck excluding sheer, temporarily equipped with detachable motors, shall be numbered. Such numbers shall be not less in size than three inches and painted or attached to each bow of the vessel in such manner and color as to be distinctly visible and legible. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Numbers by whom awarded — recording numbers.] That the said numbers, on application of the owner or master, shall be awarded by the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel is owned and a record thereof kept in the custom-house of the district in which the owner or managing owner resides. No numbers not so awarded shall be carried on the bows of such vessel. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Destruction or abandonment of vessels numbered — change of ownership — notice — numbering anew.] That notice of destruction or abandonment of such vessels or change in their ownership shall be furnished within ten days by the owners to the collectors of customs of the districts where such numbers were awarded. Such vessel sold into another customs district may be numbered anew in the latter district. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Violation of Act — penalties — jurisdiction.] That the penalty for violation of any provision of this Act shall be $10, for which the vessel shall be liable and may be seized and proceeded against in the district court of the United States in any district in which such vessel may be found. Such penalty on application may be mitigated or remitted by the Secretary of Commerce. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Regulation by Secretary of Commerce.] That the Secretary of Commerce shall make such regulations as may be necessary to secure proper execution of this Act by collectors of customs and other officers of the Government. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Act when effective.] That this Act shall take effect six months after its passage. [— Stat. L. —.]

[Hydrographic office — detail of naval officers.] * * * That the Secretary of the Navy is authorized to detail such naval officers as may be necessary to the Hydrographic Office. [— Stat. L. —.]

This and the paragraph which follows are from the Naval Appropriation Act of July 1, 1918, ch. —.

[Bureau of Navigation — clerical force and office expenses.] * * * That the clerical force and office expenses provided for the Division of Naval Militia Affairs shall be transferred to the Bureau of Navigation. [— Stat. L. —.]

See note to the preceding paragraph of the text.

An Act To extend protection to the civil rights of members of the Military and Naval Establishments of the United States engaged in the present war.

[Act of March 8, 1918, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

ARTICLE I.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 100. [Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act — suspension of legal proceedings and transactions.] That for the purpose of enabling the United States the more successfully to prosecute and carry on the war in which it is at present engaged, protection is hereby extended to persons in military service of the United States in order to prevent prejudice or injury to their civil rights during their term of service and to enable them to devote their entire energy to the military needs of the Nation, and to this end the following provisions are made for the temporary suspension of legal proceedings and transactions which may prejudice the civil rights of persons in such service during the continuance of the present war. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 101. [Definitions.] (1) That the term “persons in military service,” as used in this Act, shall include the following persons and no others: All officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, the Regular Army Reserve, the Officers' Reserve Corps, and the Enlisted Reserve Corps; all officers and enlisted men of the National Guard and National Guard Reserve recognized by the Militia Bureau of the War Department; all forces raised under the Act entitled “An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States,” approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; all officers and enlisted men of the Navy, the Marine Corps, and the Coast Guard; all officers and enlisted men of the Naval Militia, Naval Reserve force, Marine Corps Reserve, and National Naval Volunteers recognized by the Navy Department; all officers of the Public Health Service detailed by the Secretary of the Treasury for duty either with the Army or the Navy; and any of the personnel of the Lighthouse Service and of the Coast and Geodetic Survey transferred by the President to the service and jurisdiction of the War Department or of the Navy Department; members of the Nurse Corps;

Army field clerks; field clerks, Quartermaster Corps; civilian clerks and employees on duty with the military forces detailed for service abroad in accordance with provisions of existing law; and members of any other body who have heretofore or may hereafter become a part of the military or naval forces of the United States. The term "military service," as used in this definition, shall signify active service in any branch of service heretofore mentioned or referred to, but reserves and persons on the retired list shall not be included in the term "persons in military service" until ordered to active service. The term "active service" shall include the period during which a person in military service is absent from duty on account of sickness, wounds, leave, or other lawful cause.

(2) The term "period of military service," as used in this Act, shall include the time between the following dates: For persons in active service at the date of the approval of this Act it shall begin with the date of approval of this Act; for persons entering active service after the date of this Act, with the date of entering active service. It shall terminate with the date of discharge from active service or death which in active service, but in no case later than the date when this Act ceases to be in force.

(3) The term "person," as used in this Act, with reference to the holder of any right alleged to exist against a person in military service or against a person secondarily liable under such right, shall include individuals, partnerships, corporations, and any other forms of business association.

(4) The term "court" as used in this Act shall include any court of competent jurisdiction of the United States or of any State, whether or not a court of record.

(5) The term "termination of the war" as used in this Act shall mean the termination of the present war by the treaty of peace as proclaimed by the President. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 102. [Territory affected — Courts — procedure for enforcing Act.]

(1) That the provisions of this Act shall apply to the United States, the several States and Territories, the District of Columbia, and all territory subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and to proceedings commenced in any court therein, and shall be enforced through the usual forms of procedure obtaining in such courts or under such regulations as may be by them prescribed.

(2) When under this Act any application is required to be made to a court in which no proceeding has already been commenced with respect to the matter, such application may be made to any court. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 103. [Sureties, guarantors, indorsers, etc.] Whenever pursuant to any of the provisions of this Act the enforcement of any obligation or liability, the prosecution of any suit or proceeding, the entry or enforcement of any order, writ, judgment or decree, or the performance of any other act, may be stayed, postponed, or suspended, such stay, postponement, or suspension may, in the discretion of the court; likewise be granted to sureties, guarantors, indorsers, and others subject to the obligation or liability, the performance or enforcement of which is stayed, postponed, or suspended.

When a judgment or decree is vacated or set aside in whole or in part, as provided in this Act, the same may, in the discretion of the court, likewise be set aside and vacated as to any surety, guarantor, indorser, or other person liable upon the contract or liability for the enforcement of which the judgment or decree was entered. [— Stat. L. —.]

ARTICLE II.

GENERAL RELIEF.

SEC. 200. (1) [Default judgments — conditions precedent to entry — affidavit as to military service.] That in any action or proceeding commenced in any court if there shall be a default of an appearance by the defendant the plaintiff before entering judgment shall file in the court an affidavit setting forth facts showing that the defendant is not in military service. If unable to file such affidavit plaintiff shall in lieu thereof file an affidavit setting forth either that the defendant is in the military service or that plaintiff is not able to determine whether or not defendant is in such service. If an affidavit is not filed showing that the defendant is not in the military service, no judgment shall be entered without first securing an order of court directing such entry, and no such order shall be made if the defendant is in such service until after the court shall have appointed an attorney to represent defendant and protect his interest and the court shall on application make such appointment. Unless it appears that the defendant is not in such service the court may require as a condition before judgment is entered that the plaintiff file a bond approved by the court conditioned to indemnify the defendant, if in military service, against any loss or damage that he may suffer by reason of any judgment should the judgment be thereafter set aside in whole or in part. And the court may make such other and further order or enter such judgment as in its opinion may be necessary to protect the rights of the defendant under this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

(2) [Penalty for false affidavit.] Any person who shall make or use an affidavit required under this section knowing it to be false shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by imprisonment not to exceed one year or by fine not to exceed $1,000, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

(3) [Attorneys to represent persons in military service.] In any action or proceeding in which a person in military service is a party if such party does not personally appear therein or is not represented by an authorized attorney, the court may appoint an attorney to represent him; and in such case a like bond may be required and an order made to protect the rights of such person. But no attorney appointed under this Act to protect a person in military service shall have power to waive any right of the person for whom he is appointed or bind him by his acts. [— Stat. L. —.]

against any person in military service during the period of such service or within thirty days thereafter, and it appears that such person was prejudiced by reason of his military service in making his defense thereto, such judgment may, upon application, made by such person or his legal representative, not later than ninety days after the termination of such service, be opened by the court rendering the same and such defendant or his legal representative let in to defend; provided it is made to appear that the defendant has a meritorious or legal defense to the action or some part thereof. Vacating, setting aside, or reversing any judgment because of any of the provisions of this Act shall not impair any right or title acquired by any bona fide purchaser for value under such judgment. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 201. [Staying actions or proceedings — when permitted.] That at any stage thereof any action or proceeding commenced in any court by or against a person in military service during the period of such service or within sixty days thereafter may, in the discretion of the court in which it is pending, on its own motion, and shall, on application to it by such person or some person on his behalf, be stayed as provided in this Act, unless, in the opinion of the court, the ability of plaintiff to prosecute the action or the defendant to conduct his defense is not materially affected by reason of his military service. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 202. [Staying action on contract — effect.] That when an action for compliance with the terms of any contract is stayed pursuant to this Act no fine or penalty shall accrue by reason of failure to comply with the terms of such contract during the period of such stay, and in any case where a person fails to perform any obligation and a fine or penalty for such nonperformance is incurred a court may, on such terms as may be just, relieve against the enforcement of such fine or penalty if it shall appear that the person who would suffer by such fine or penalty was in the military service when the penalty was incurred and that by reason of such service the ability of such person to pay or perform was thereby materially impaired. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 203. [Staying execution of judgments, etc.—attachments and garnishments.] That in any action or proceeding commenced in any court against a person in military service, before or during the period of such service, or within sixty days thereafter, the court may, in its discretion, on its own motion, or on application to it by such person or some person on his behalf shall, unless in the opinion of the court the ability of the defendant to comply with the judgment or order entered or sought is not materially affected by reason of his military service:

(1) Stay the execution of any judgment or order entered against such person, as provided in this Act, and

(2) Vacate or stay any attachment or garnishment of property, money, or debts in the hands of another, whether before or after judgment, as provided in this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 204. [Period of stay of actions, etc.—codefendants.] That any stay of any action, proceeding, attachment, or execution, ordered by any court under the provisions of this Act may, except as otherwise provided, be ordered for the period of military service and three months thereafter or any part of such period, and subject to such terms as may be just, whether as to payment in installments of such amounts and at such times as the court may fix or otherwise. Where the person in military service is a codefendant with others the plaintiff may nevertheless by leave of court proceed against the others. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 205. [Computing period for bringing actions — inclusive of period of military service.] That the period of military service shall not be included in computing any period now or hereafter to be limited by any law for the bringing of any action by or against any person in military service or by or against his heirs, executors, administrators, or assigns, whether such cause of action shall have accrued prior to or during the period of such service. [— Stat. L. —.]

ARTICLE III.

RENT, INSTALLMENT CONTRACTS, MORTGAGES.

SEC 302. (1) [Eviction or distress — leave of court.] That no eviction or distress shall be made during the period of military service in respect of any premises for which the agreed rent does not exceed $50 per month, occupied chiefly for dwelling purposes by the wife, children, or other dependents of a person in military service, except upon leave of court granted upon application therefor or granted in an action or proceeding affecting the right of possession. [— Stat. L. —.]

(2) [Stay of proceedings.] On any such application or in any such action the court may, in its discretion, on its own motion, and shall, on application, unless in the opinion of the court the ability of the tenant to pay the agreed rent is not materially affected by reason of such military service, stay the proceedings for not longer than three months, as provided in this Act, or it may make such other order as may be just. [— Stat. L. —.]

(3) [Violation of provisions of section — penalty.] Any person who shall knowingly take part in any eviction or distress otherwise than as provided in subsection (1) hereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by imprisonment not to exceed one year or by fine not to exceed $1,000, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

(4) [Rent — satisfaction — allotment of pay.] The Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy, as the case may be, is hereby empowered, subject to such regulations as he may prescribe, to order an allotment of the pay of a person in military service in reasonable proportion to discharge the rent of premises occupied for dwelling purposes by the wife, children, or other dependents of such person. [— Stat. L. —.]

301. (1) [Installments or deposits for property sold or leased — nonpayment and forfeitures — rescission of contracts.] That no person who has received, or whose assignor has received, under a contract for the purchase of real or personal property, or of lease or bailment with a view to purchase of such property, a deposit or installment of the purchase price from a person or from the assignor of a person who, after the date of payment of such deposit or installment, has entered military service, shall exercise any right or option under such contract to rescind or terminate the contract or resume possession of the property for nonpayment of any installment falling due during the period of such military service, except by action in a court of competent jurisdiction. [— Stat. L. —.]

(1a) [Violation of provisions of section — penalty.] Any person who shall knowingly resume possession of property which is the subject of this section otherwise than as provided in subsection (1) hereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by imprisonment not to exceed one year or by fine not to exceed $1,000, or both. [— Stat. L. —.]

(2) [Repayment of prior installments or deposits.] Upon the hearing of such action the court may order the repayment of prior installments or deposits or any part thereof, as a condition of terminating the contract and resuming possession of the property, or may, in its discretion, on its own motion, and shall, on application to it by such person in military service or some person on his behalf, order a stay of proceedings as provided in this Act unless, in the opinion of the court, the ability of the defendant to comply with the terms of the contract is not materially affected by reason of such service; or it may make such other disposition of the case as may be equitable to conserve the interest of all parties. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 302. (1) [Secured obligations.] That the provisions of this section shall apply only to obligations originating prior to the date of approval of this Act and secured by mortgage, trust deed, or other security in the nature of a mortgage upon real or personal property owned by a person in military service at the commencement of the period of the military service and still so owned by him. [— Stat. L. —.]

(2) [Proceedings to enforce — stay, etc.] In any proceeding commenced in any court during the period of military service to enforce such obligation arising out of nonpayment of any sum thereunder due or out of any other breach of the terms thereof occurring prior to or during the period of such service, the court may, after hearing, in its discretion, on its own motion, and shall, on application to it by such person in military service or some person on his behalf, unless in the opinion of the court the ability of the defendant to comply with the terms of the obligation is not materially affected by reason of his military service —

(a) Stay the proceedings as provided in this Act; or

(b) Make such other disposition of the case as may be equitable to conserve the interests of all parties. [— Stat. L. —.]

(3) [Sales under judgments.] No sale under a power of sale or under a judgment entered upon warrant of attorney to confess judgment contained in any such obligation shall be valid if made during the period of military service or within three months thereafter, unless upon an order of sale previously granted by the court and a return thereof made and approved by the court. [— Stat. L. —.]

ARTICLE IV.

INSURANCE.

SEC. 400. [Insurance — definitions — “policy” — “premiums” — “insured” — “insurer.”] That in this Article the term “policy” shall include any contract of life insurance on the level premium or legal reserve plan. It shall also include any benefit in the nature of life insurance arising out of membership in any fraternal or beneficial association; the term “premium” shall include membership dues or assessments in such association, and the date of issuance of policy as herein limited shall refer to the date of admission to membership in such association; the term “insured” shall include any person who is the holder of a policy as defined in this Article; the term “insurer” shall include any corporation, partnership, or other form of association which secures or provides insurance under any policy as defined in this Article. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 401. [Persons entitled to benefits of Article — forms — contents — disposition — duties of Bureau of War Risk Insurance.] That the benefits of this Article shall apply to any person in military service who is the holder of a policy of life insurance, when such holder shall apply for such benefits on a form prepared in accordance with regulations which shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury. Such form shall set forth particularly that the application therein made is a consent to such modification of the terms of the original contract of insurance as are made necessary by the provisions of this Article and by receiving and filing the same the insurer shall be deemed to have assented thereto, to the extent, if any, to which the policy on which the application is made is within the provisions of this Article. The original of such application shall be sent by the insured to the insurer, and a copy thereof to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance shall issue through suitable military and naval channels a notice explaining the provisions of this Article and shall furnish forms to be distributed to those desiring to make application for its benefits. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 402. [Policies to which Act applies.] That the benefits of this Act shall be available to any person in military service in respect of contracts of insurance in force under their terms up to but not exceeding a face value of $5,000, irrespective of the number of policies held by such person whether in one or more companies, when such contracts were made and a premium was paid thereon before September first, nineteen hundred and seventeen; but in no event shall the provisions of this Article apply to any policy on which premiums are due and unpaid for a period of more than one year at the time when application for the benefits of this Article is made or in respect of any policy on which there is outstanding a policy loan or other indebtedness equal to or greater than fifty per centum of the cash surrender value of the policy. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 403. [List of applicants — Bureau of War Risk Insurance — rejection of applications.] That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance shall, subject to regulations, which shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, compile and maintain a list of such persons in military service as have made application for the benefits of this Article, and shall (1) reject any applications for such benefits made by persons who are not persons in military service; (2) reject any applications for such benefits in excess of the amount permitted by section four hundred and two; and (3) reject any applications in respect of contracts of insurance otherwise not entitled to the benefits of this Article. Said bureau shall immediately notify the insurer and the insured in writing of every rejection or approval. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 404. [Rejection of applications in excess of amount allowed — preferences.] That when one or more applications are made under this Article by any one person in military service in respect of insurance exceeding a total face value of $5,000, whether on one or more policies or in one or more companies, and the insured shall not in his application indicate an order of preference, the Bureau of War Risk Insurance shall reject such policies as have the inferior cash surrender value, so as to reduce the total benefits conferred within the face value of $5,000, and where necessary for this purpose shall direct the insurer to divide any policy into two separate policies. The said bureau shall immediately notify the insurer and the insured in writing of such selection. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 405. [Forfeiture of policy for nonpayment of premium.] That no policy which has not lapsed for the nonpayment of premium before the commencement of the period of military service of the insured, and which has been brought within the benefits of this Article, shall lapse or be forfeited for the nonpayment of premium during the period of such service or during one year after the expiration of such period: Provided, That in no case shall this prohibition extend for more than one year after the termination of the war. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 406. [Reports by insurers — contents.] That within the first fifteen days of each calendar month after the date of approval of this Act until the expiration of one year after the termination of the war, every insurance corporation or association to which application has been made as herein provided, or the benefits of this Article, shall render to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance a report, duly verified, setting forth the following facts:

First. The names of the persons who have applied for such benefits, and the face value of the policies in respect of which such benefits have been applied for by such persons, during the preceding calendar month;

Second. A list as far as practicable of the premiums in respect of policies entitled to the benefits of this Article which remain unpaid on the last day of the preceding calendar month, which day is at least thirty-one days after the due date of the premiums, provided such premiums have not previously been so reported as in default;

Third. A list of premiums which, having been previously reported as in default, have been paid by the policyholder or some one on his behalf in whole or in part during the preceding calendar month;

Fourth. A computation of the difference between the total amount of defaulted premiums therein reported and the total amount of premiums paid as therein reported, after having been previously reported as in default. From this sum shall be deducted the total sum of any premiums previously reported as in default, upon policies in respect of which the Bureau of War Risk Insurance has, since the date of such report, rejected an application for the benefits of this Article. The final sum so arrived at shall be denominated the monthly difference. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 407. [Verification and certification of reports.] That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance shall verify the computation of monthly difference reported by each insurer, and shall certify it, as corrected, to the Secretary of the Treasury and the insurer. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 408. [Delivery of bonds to insurers — insolvency of insurers — semiannual statements by insurers.] That the Secretary of the Treasury shall, within ten days thereafter, deliver each month to the proper officer of each insurer, bonds of the United States to the amount of that multiple of $100 nearest to the monthly difference certified in respect of each insurer. Such bonds shall be registered in the names of the respective insurers, who shall be entitled to receive the interest accruing thereon, and such bonds shall not be transferred, or again registered, except upon the approval of the Director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, and shall remain in the possession of the insurer until settlement is made in accordance with this Article: Provided, That whenever the fact of insolvency shall be ascertained by the Director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance all obligations on the part of the United States, under this Article, for future premiums on policies of such insurer shall thereupon terminate. An insurer shall furnish semiannual statements to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 409. [Bonds as security for unpaid interest — lien of United States on policy — loans and dividends.] That the bonds so delivered shall be held by the respective insurers as security for the payment of the defaulted premiums with interest. To indemnify it against loss the United States shall have a first lien upon any policy receiving the benefits of this Article, subject only to any lien existing at the time the policy became subject to this Act, and no loan or settlement or payment of dividend shall be made by the insurer on such policy which may prejudice the security of such lien. Before any dividend is paid or any loan or settlement is made the written consent of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance must be obtained. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 410. [Death of insured — unpaid premiums.] That in the event that the military service of any person being the holder of a policy receiving the benefits of this Article shall be terminated by death, the amount of any unpaid premiums, with interest at the rate provided for in the policy for policy loans, shall be deducted from the proceeds of the policy and shall be included in the next monthly report of the insurer as premiums paid. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 411. [Failure to pay past due premiums — effect on policy.] That if the insured does not within one year after the termination of his period of military service pay to the insurer all past due premiums with interest thereon from their several due dates at the rate provided in the policy for policy loans, the policy shall at the end of such year immediately lapse and become void, and the insurer shall thereupon become liable to pay the cash surrender value thereof, if any: Provided, That if the insured is in the military service at the termination of the war such lapse shall occur and surrender value be payable at the expiration of one year after the termination of the war. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 412. [Account stated between United States and insurer — items credited to insurer.] That at the expiration of one year after the termination of the war there shall be an account stated between each insurer and the United States, in which the following items shall be credited to the insurer:

(1) The total amount of the monthly differences reported under this Article;

(2) The difference between the total interest received by the insurer upon the bonds held by it as security and the total interest upon such monthly differences at the rate of five per centum per annum; and in which there shall be credited to the United States the amount of the cash surrender value of each policy lapsed or forfeited as provided in section four hundred and eleven, but not in any case a greater amount on any policy than the total of the unpaid premiums with interest thereon at the rate provided for in the policy for policy loans. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 413. [Payment of balance in favor of insurer.] That the balance in favor of the insurer shall, in each case, be paid to it by the United States upon the surrender by the insurer of the bonds delivered to it from time to time by the Secretary of the Treasury under the provisions of this Article. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 414. [Policies to which Act does not apply.] That this Article shall not apply to any policy which is void or which may at the option of the insurer be voidable, if the insured is in military service, either in this country or abroad, nor to any policy which as a result of being in military service, either in this country or abroad, provides for the payment of any sum less than the face thereof or for the payment of an additional amount as premium. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 415. [Insurers to which Act applies.] That this Article shall apply only to insurance companies or associations which are required by the law under which they are organized or doing business to maintain a reserve, or, which if not so required, have made or shall make provision for the collection from all those insured in such insurer of a premium to cover the special war risk of those insured persons who are in military service. [— Stat. L. —.]

ARTICLE V.

TAXES AND PUBLIC LANDS.

SEC. 500. (1) [Taxes and assessments.] That the provisions of this section shall apply when any taxes or assessments, whether general or special, falling due during the period of military service in respect of real property owned and occupied for dwelling or business purposes by a person in military service or his dependents at the commencement of his period of military service and still so occupied by his dependents or employees are not paid. [— Stat. L. —.]

(2) [Enforcement of collection — stay.] When any person in military service, or any person in his behalf, shall file with the collector of taxes, or other officer whose duty it is to enforce the collection of taxes or assessments, an affidavit showing (a) that a tax or assessment has been assessed upon property which is the subject of this section, (b) that such tax or assessment is unpaid, and (c) that by reason of such military service the ability of such person to pay such tax or assessment is materially affected, no sale of such property shall be made to enforce the collection of such tax or assessment, or any proceeding or action for such purpose commenced, except upon leave of court granted upon an application made therefor by such collector or other officer. The court thereupon may stay such proceedings or such sale, as provided in this Act, for a period extending not more than six months after the termination of the war. [— Stat. L. —.]

(3) [Redemption of property sold or forfeited.] When by law such property may be sold or forfeited to enforce the collection of such tax or assessment, such person in military service shall have the right to redeem or commence an action to redeem such property, at any time not later than six months after the termination of such service, but in no case later than six months after the termination of the war; but this shall not be taken to shorten any period, now or hereafter provided by the laws of any State or Territory for such redemption. [— Stat. L. —.]

(4) [Unpaid taxes or assessments — interest — penalties.] Whenever any tax or assessment shall not be paid when due, such tax or assessment due and unpaid shall bear interest until paid at the rate of six per centum per annum, and no other penalty or interest shall be incurred by reason of such nonpayment. Any lien for such unpaid taxes or assessment shall also include such interest thereon. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 501. [Public lands — entrymen and settlers in military service — protection of rights.] That no right to any public lands initiated or acquired prior to entering military service by any person under the homestead laws, the desert-land laws, the mining-land laws, or any other laws of the United States, shall be forfeited or prejudiced by reason of his absence from such land, or of his failure to perform any work or make any improvements thereon, or to do any other act required by any such law during the period of such service. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to deprive a person in military service or his heirs or devisees of any benefits to which he or they may be entitled under the Act entitled "An Act for the relief of homestead entrymen or settlers who enter the military or naval service of the United States in time of war," approved July twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; the Act entitled "An Act for the protection of desert-land entrymen who enter the military or naval service of the United States in time of war," approved August seventh, nineteen hundred and seventeen; the Act entitled "An Act to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products," approved August tenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; the joint resolution "To relieve the owners of mining claims who have been mustered into the military or naval service of the United States as officers or enlisted men, from performing assessment work during the term of such service," approved July seventeenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen; or any other Act or resolution of Congress: Provided, That nothing in this section contained shall be construed to limit or affect the right of a person in the military service to take any action during his term of service that may be authorized by law, or the regulations of the Interior Department thereunder, for the perfection, defense, or further assertion of rights initiated prior to the date of entering military service, and it shall be lawful for any person while in military service to make any affidavit or submit any proof that may be required by law, or the practice of the General Land Office in connection with the entry, perfection, defense, or further assertion of any rights initiated prior to entering military service, before the officer in immediate command and holding a commission in the branch of the service in which the party is engaged, which affidavits shall be as binding in law and with like penalties as if taken before the Register of the United States Land Office. [— Stat. L. —.]

ARTICLE VI.

ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES.

SEC. 600. [Transfers of property, etc., with intent to delay — effect on power of court to ignore provisions of Act.] That where in any proceeding to enforce a civil right in any court it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that any interest, property, or contract has since the date of the approval of this Act been transferred or acquired with intent to delay the just enforcement of such right by taking advantage of this Act, the court shall enter such judgment or make such order as might lawfully be entered or made the provisions of this Act to the contrary notwithstanding. [— Stat. L.—.]

SEC. 601. (1) [Evidence of military service.] That in any proceeding under this Act a certificate signed by The Adjutant General of the Army as to persons in the Army or in any branch of the United States service while serving pursuant to law with the Army, signed by the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department as to persons in the Navy or in any other branch of the United States service while serving pursuant to law with the Navy, and signed by the Major General, Commandant, United States Marine Corps, as to persons in the Marine Corps, or in any other branch of the United States service while serving pursuant to law with the Marine Corps, or signed by an officer designated by any of them, respectively, for the purpose, shall when produced be prima facie evidence as to any of the following facts stated in such certificate:

That a person named has not been, or is, or has been in military service; the time when and the place where such person entered military service, his residence at that time, and the rank, branch, and unit of such service that he entered, the dates within which he was in military service, the monthly pay received by such person at the date of issuing the certificate, the time when and place where such person died in or was discharged from such service.

It shall be the duty of the foregoing officers to furnish such certificate on application, and any such certificate when purporting to be signed by any one of such officers or by any person purporting upon the face of the certificate to have been so authorized shall be prima facie evidence of its contents and of the authority of the signer to issue the same. [— Stat. L. —.]

(2) [Continuance in service—missing or dead persons.] Where a person in military service has been reported missing he shall be presumed to continue in the service until accounted for, and no period herein limited which begins or ends with the death of such person shall begin or end until the death of such person is in fact reported to or found by the Department of War or Navy, or any court or board thereof, or until such death is found by a court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, That no period herein limited which begins or ends with the death of such person shall be extended hereby beyond a period of six months after the termination of the war. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 602. [Interlocutory orders.] That any interlocutory order made by any court under the provisions of this Act may, upon the court's own motion or otherwise, be revoked, modified, or extended by it upon such notice to the parties affected as it may require. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 603. [Termination of Act.] That this Act shall remain in force until the termination of the war, and for six months thereafter: Provided,

That wherever under any section or provision of this Act a proceeding, remedy, privilege, stay, limitation, accounting, or other transaction has been authorized or provided, the due exercise or enjoyment of which may extend beyond the period herein fixed for the termination of this Act, such section or provision shall be deemed to continue in full force and effect so long as may be necessary to the exercise or enjoyment of the proceeding, remedy, privilege, stay, limitation, accounting, or transaction aforesaid. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 604. [Name of Act.] That this Act may be cited as the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

An Act To amend section forty-four hundred and sixty-four of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to number of passengers to be stated in certificates of inspection of passenger vessels, and section forty-four hundred and sixty-five of the Revised Statutes of the United States, prescribing penalty for carrying excessive number of passengers on passenger vessels, and section forty-four hundred and sixty-six of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to special permits for excursions on passenger steamers.

That section forty-four hundred and sixty-four of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

“SEC. 4464. The board of local inspectors shall state in every certificate of inspection granted to vessels carrying passengers, other than ferryboats, the number of passengers of each class that any such vessel has accommodation for and can carry with prudence and safety. They shall report their action to the supervising inspector of the district, who may at any time order the number of such passengers decreased, giving his reasons therefor in writing and thereupon the board of local inspectors shall change the certificate of inspection of such vessel to conform with the decision of the supervising inspector. Whenever the allowance of passengers shall be increased by any board of local inspectors such increase shall be reported to the supervising inspector of the district, together with the reasons therefor, and such increase shall not become effective until the same has been approved in writing by the supervising inspector.”

For R. S. sec. 4464, amended by this section, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 182; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 451.

SEC. 2. [Penalty for carrying too great a number of passengers — R. S. sec. 4465 amended.] That section forty-four hundred and sixty-five of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 4465. It shall not be lawful to take on board of any vessel a greater number of passengers than is stated in the certificate of inspection, and for every violation of this provision the master or owner shall be liable to any person suing for the same to forfeit the amount of passage money and $10 for each passenger beyond the number allowed.

"The master or owner of the vessel, or either or any of them, who shall knowingly violate this provision shall be liable to a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment of not more than thirty days, or both." [39 Stat. L. 918.]

For R. S. sec. 4465, amended by the text, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 184; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 452.

That section forty-four hundred and sixty-six of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and is hereby, amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 4466. If any passenger vessel engages in excursions, the board of local inspectors shall issue to such vessel a special permit, in writing, for the occasion, in which shall be stated the additional number of passengers that may be carried and the number and kind of life-saving appliances that shall be provided for the safety of such additional passengers; and they shall also, in their discretion, limit the route and distance for such excursions: Provided, however, That the issuance of such special permit shall be reported by the board of local inspectors to the supervising inspector of the district, and such special permit shall not be effective until approved by the said supervising inspector." [39 Stat. L. 918.]

An Act To amend the Act of March third, nineteen hundred and thirteen, entitled "An Act to regulate the officering and manning of vessels subject to the inspection laws of the United States."

[SEC. 1.] [Officers and crew — number — certificate of inspection — entries — deficiency in crew — penalty — R. S. sec. 4463 amended.] That section forty-four hundred and sixty-three of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and it is hereby, amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 4463. No vessel of the United States subject to the provisions of this title or to the inspection laws of the United States shall be navigated unless she shall have in her service and on board such complement of licensed officers and crew including certificated lifeboat men, separately stated, as may, in the judgment of the local inspectors who inspect the vessel, be necessary for her safe navigation. The local inspectors shall make in the certificate of inspection of the vessel an entry of such complement of officers and crew including certificated lifeboat men, separately stated, which may be changed from time to time by indorsement on such certificate by local inspectors by reason of change of conditions or employment. Such entry or indorsement shall be subject to a right of appeal, under regulations to be made by the Secretary of Commerce, to the supervising inspector and from him to the Supervising Inspector General, who shall have the power to revise, set aside, or affirm the said determination of the local inspectors.

"If any such vessel is deprived of the services of any number of the crew including certificated lifeboat men, separately stated, without the consent, fault, or collusion of the master, owner, or any person interested in the vessel, the vessel may proceed on her voyage if, in the judgment of the master, she is sufficiently manned for such voyage: Provided, That the master shall ship, if obtainable, a number equal to the number of those whose services he has been deprived of by desertion or casualty, who must be of the same grade or of a higher rating with those whose places they fill. If the master shall fail to explain in writing the cause of such deficiency in the crew including certificated lifeboat men, separately stated, to the local inspectors within twelve hours of the time of the arrival of the vessel at her destination, he shall be liable to a penalty of $50. If the vessel shall not be manned as provided in this Act, the owner shall be liable to a penalty of $100, or in case of an insufficient number of licensed officers to a penalty of $500." [— Stat. L. —.]

For R. S. sec. 4463, before amendment, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 181; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 449.

SEC. 2. [Certificate of inspection — entries — licensed master — licensed mates — increase of licensed officers.] That the board of local inspectors shall make an entry in the certificate of inspection of every ocean and coastwise seagoing merchant vessel of the United States propelled by machinery, and every ocean-going vessel carrying passengers, the minimum number of licensed deck officers required for her safe navigation according to the following scale:

That no such vessel shall be navigated unless she shall have on board and in her service one duly licensed master.

That every such vessel of one thousand gross tons and over, propelled by machinery, shall have in her service and on board three licensed mates, who shall stand in three watches while such vessel is being navigated, unless such vessel is engaged in a run of less than four hundred miles from the port of departure to the port of final destination, then such vessel shall have two licensed mates; and every vessel of two hundred gross tons and less than one thousand gross tons, propelled by machinery, shall have two licensed mates.

That every such vessel of one hundred gross tons and under two hundred gross tons, propelled by machinery, shall have on board and in her service one licensed mate, but if such vessel is engaged in a trade in which the time required to make the passage from the port of departure to the port of destination exceeds twenty-four hours, then such vessel shall have two licensed mates.

That nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prevent local inspectors from increasing the number of licensed officers on any vessel subject to the inspection laws of the United States, if, in their judgment, such vessel is not sufficiently manned for her safe navigation: Provided, That this section shall not apply to fishing or whaling vessels, yachts, or motor boats as defined in the Act of June ninth, nineteen hundred and ten, or to wrecking vessels. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Period of duty of officers.] That it shall be unlawful for the master, owner, agent, or other person having authority to permit an officer of any vessel to take charge of the deck watch of the vessel upon leaving or immediately after leaving port, unless such officer shall have had at least six hours off duty within the twelve hours immediately preceding the time of sailing, and no licensed officer on any ocean or coastwise vessel shall be required to do duty to exceed nine hours of any twenty-four while in port, including the date of arrival, or more than twelve hours of any twenty-four at sea, except in a case of emergency when life or property is endangered. Any violation of this section shall subject the person or persons guilty thereof to a penalty of $100. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Repeal of conflicting laws.] That all laws or parts of laws in conflict with this Act are hereby repealed. [— Stat. L. —.]

An Act To provide for appeals from decisions of boards of local inspectors of vessels, and for other purposes.

[Act of June 10, 1918, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] Appeal from board of local inspectors of vessels and supervising inspectors — application when made — counsel — witnesses.] That whenever any person directly interested in or affected by any decision or action of any board of local inspectors of vessels shall feel aggrieved by such decision or action, he may appeal therefrom to the supervising inspector of the district; and a like appeal shall be allowed from any decision or action of a supervising inspector to the Supervising Inspector General, whose decision, when approved by the Secretary of Commerce, shall be final: Provided, however, That application for such reexamination of the case by a supervising inspector or by the Supervising Inspector General shall be made within thirty days after the decision or action appealed from shall have been rendered or taken: And provided further, That in all cases reviewed under the provisions of this Act where the issue is the suspension or revocation of the license of a licensed officer such officer shall be allowed to be represented by counsel and to testify in his own behalf. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Disagreement between local inspectors — reporting case for review — authority of supervising inspectors and Supervising Inspector general to review.] That whenever there shall be a disagreement between the local inspectors in regard to any matter before them for decision they shall report the case to the supervising inspector of the district, who shall investigate and decide the same. Any supervising inspector may within thirty days thereafter, upon his own motion, review any decision or action of any board of local inspectors within his district and in like manner the Supervising Inspector General may within thirty days thereafter review any decision or action of any supervising inspector or board of local inspectors, and the decision of the Supervising Inspector General in such case shall, when approved by the Secretary of Commerce, be final. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Authority of reviewing officers to revoke, change or modify decisions — authority as to witnesses.] That any decision or action reviewed by the Supervising Inspector General or by any supervising inspector, as provided in sections one and two of this Act, may be revoked, changed, or modified by such reviewing officer, who shall have power to administer oaths and to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses by a similar process as in the district courts of the United States; and the disbursing clerk, Department of Commerce, shall pay, on properly certified vouchers, such fees to any witness so summoned for his actual travel and attendance as shall be officially certified to by the officer reviewing the case, not exceeding the rate allowed for fees to witnesses for travel and attendance in the district courts of the United States. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Regulations by Secretary of Commerce.] That the Secretary of Commerce shall make such regulations as may be necessary to secure a proper enforcement of the provisions of this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [R. S. 4452 repealed.] That section forty-four hundred and fifty-two of the Revised Statutes, as amended by section six of the Act of March third, nineteen hundred and five, is hereby repealed. [— Stat. L. —.]

For R. S. sec. 4452, see 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 248; 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1261.

An Act To amend sections forty-four hundred and two, forty-four hundred and four, and forty-four hundred and fourteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

[Act of July 2, 1918, ch. —, — Stat. L. —.]

[Supervising inspector general and deputy supervising inspectors — local and other inspectors — R. S. secs. 4402, 4404, 4414 amended.] That sections forty-four hundred and two, forty-four hundred and four, and forty-four hundred and fourteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and they are hereby, amended to read as follows:

“SEC. 4402. That there shall be a supervising inspector general, who shall be appointed from time to time by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and who shall be selected with reference to his fitness and ability to systematize and carry into effect all the provisions of law relating to the Steamboat-Inspection Service, and who shall be entitled to a salary of $5,000 a year and his actual necessary traveling expenses while traveling on official business assigned to him by competent authority, together with his actual and reasonable expenses for transportation of instruments, which shall be certified and sworn to under such instructions as shall be given by the Secretary of Commerce.

“The Secretary of Commerce may appoint a deputy supervising inspector general, who shall be the chief clerk of the bureau and in the absence of the supervising inspector general have power to act in his stead, and who shall be entitled to a salary of $3,000 per year.

“SEC. 4404. There shall be eleven supervising inspectors, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Each of them shall be selected for his knowledge, skill, and practical experience in the uses of steam for navigation, and shall be a competent judge of the character and qualities of steam vessels and of all parts of the machinery employed in steaming. Each supervising inspector shall be entitled to a salary of $3,450 a year and his actual necessary traveling expenses while traveling on official business assigned him by competent authority, together with his actual and reasonable expenses for transportation of instruments, which shall be certified and sworn to under such instructions as shall be given by the Secretary of Commerce.

Alaska; Point Pleasant, West Virginia; and Burlington, Vermont; Honolulu, Hawaii; and San Juan, Porto Rico; one inspector of hulls and one inspector of boilers.

“The inspector of hulls and the inspector of boilers in the districts and ports enumerated in the preceding paragraphs shall be entitled to the following salaries, to be paid under the direction of the Secretary of Commerce, namely:

“For the port of New York, New York; at the rate of $2,950 per year for each local inspector.

“For the districts of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Baltimore, Maryland; San Francisco, California; and Puget Sound, Washington; and the ports of Boston, Massachusetts; Buffalo, New York; and New Orleans, Louisiana; at the rate of $2,700 per year for each local inspector.

“For the districts of Michigan, Michigan; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Duluth, Minnesota; Providence, Rhode Island; Chicago, Illinois; and the ports of Albany, New York; Cleveland, Ohio; Portland, Maine; Los Angeles, California; Juneau, Alaska; Saint Michael, Alaska; and Norfolk, Virginia; Honolulu, Hawaii; and San Juan, Porto Rico; at the rate of $2,500 per year for each local inspector.

“For the districts of Oswego, New York; Willamette, Oregon; Detroit, Michigan; and Mobile, Alabama; and the ports of Saint Louis, Missouri; and Port Huron, Michigan; at the rate of $2,350 per year for each local inspector.

“For the districts of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; New Haven, Connecticut; Savannah, Georgia; Charleston, South Carolina; Galveston, Texas; New London, Connecticut; Superior, Michigan; Bangor, Maine; and Apalachicola, Florida; and the ports of Dubuque, Iowa; Toledo, Ohio; Evansville, Indiana; Memphis, Tennessee; Nashville, Tennessee; Point Pleasant, West Virginia; Burlington, Vermont; Jacksonville, Florida; Tampa, Florida; Louisville, Kentucky; and Cincinnati, Ohio; at the rate of $2,100 per year for each local inspector.

“And in addition the Secretary of Commerce may appoint, in districts or ports where the volume of work requires them, assistant inspectors, at a salary, for the port of New York, $2,500 a year each; for the port of New Orleans, Louisiana; the districts of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Baltimore, Maryland; the ports of Boston, Massachusetts; Providence, Rhode Island; and the district of San Francisco, California, at $2,350 per year each, and for all other districts and ports at a salary of $2,100 a year each; and he may appoint a clerk to any such board at a compensation not exceeding $1,500 a year to each person so appointed. Every inspector provided for in this or the preceding sections of this title shall be paid his actual necessary traveling expenses while traveling on official business assigned him by competent authority, together with his actual and reasonable expenses for transportation of instruments, which shall be certified and sworn to under such instructions as shall be given by the Secretary of Commerce.

“Assistant inspectors, appointed as provided by law, shall perform such duties of actual inspection as may be assigned to them under the direction, supervision, and control of the local inspectors.

“The Secretary of Commerce may appoint not exceeding four traveling inspectors when in his judgment they are necessary for the improvement of the service, each of whom shall be entitled to a salary of $3,000 a year and his actual and necessary traveling expenses while traveling on official business.

Government Control of Wires and Radio Systems — Compensation, 834.

Joint Resolution To authorize the President, in time of war, to supervise or take possession and assume control of any telegraph, telephone, marine cable, or radio system or systems or any part thereof and to operate the same in such manner as may be needful or desirable for the duration of the war, and to provide just compensation therefor.

[Res. of July 16, 1918, No. —, — Stat. L. —.]

That the President during the continuance of the present war is authorized and empowered, whenever he shall deem it necessary for the national security or defense, to supervise or to take possession and assume control of any telegraph, telephone, marine cable, or radio system or systems, or any part thereof, and to operate the same in such manner as may be needful or desirable for the duration of the war, which supervision, possession, control, or operation shall not extend beyond the date of the proclamation by the President of the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace: Provided, That just compensation shall be made for such supervision, possession, control, or operation, to be determined by the President; and if the amount thereof, so determined by the President, is unsatisfactory to the person entitled to receive the same, such person shall be paid seventy-five per centum of the amount so determined by the President and shall be entitled to sue the United States to recover such further sum as, added to said seventy-five per centum, will make up such amount as will be just compensation therefor, in the manner provided for by section twenty-four, paragraph twenty, and section one hundred and forty-five of the Judicial Code: Provided further, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to amend, repeal, impair, or affect existing laws or powers of the States in relation to taxation or the lawful police regulations of the several States, except wherein such laws, powers, or regulations may affect the transmission of Government communications, or the issue of stocks and bonds by such system or systems. *[— Stat. [Florida National Forest — consolidation of lands.] That the Secretary of the Interior, for the purpose of consolidating the forest lands belonging to the United States within the Florida National Forest, be, and he is hereby, authorized and empowered, upon the recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture, to exchange lands belonging to the United States which are part of the Florida National Forest for privately owned lands of approximately equal value, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, within the exterior limits of said national forest, which lands upon the consummation of the exchange shall become a part of the Florida National Forest. [39 Stat. L. 344.]

SEC. 8. [Roads in and adjacent to national forests — appropriation.] That there is hereby appropriated and made available until expended, out of any moneys in the National Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $1,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and each fiscal year thereafter, up to and including the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and twenty-six, in all $10,000,000, to be available until expended under the supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture, upon request from the proper officers of the State, Territory, or county for the survey, construction, and maintenance of roads and trails within or only partly within the national forests, when necessary for the use and development of resources upon which communities within and adjacent to the national forests are dependent: Provided, That the State, Territory, or county shall enter into a cooperative agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture for the survey, construction, and maintenance of such roads or trails upon a basis equitable to both the State, Territory, or county, and the United States: And provided also, That the aggregate expenditures in any State, Territory, or county shall not exceed ten per centum of the value, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, of the timber and forage resources which are or will be available for income upon the national forest lands within the respective county or counties wherein the roads or trails will be constructed; and the Secretary of Agriculture shall make annual report to Congress of the amounts expended hereunder.

That immediately upon the execution of any cooperative agreement hereunder the Secretary of Agriculture shall notify the Secretary of the Treasury of the amount to be expended by the United States within or adjacent to any national forest thereunder, and beginning with the next fiscal year and each fiscal year thereafter the Secretary of the Treasury shall apply from any and all revenues from such forest ten per centum thereof to reimburse the United States for expenditures made under such agreement until the whole amount advanced under such agreement shall have been returned from the receipts from such national forest. 5. Repeals, 843.

An Act To save daylight and to provide standard time for the United States.

[SEC. 1.] [Saving daylight — new standard time — zones.] That, for the purpose of establishing the standard time of the United States, the territory of continental United States shall be divided into five zones in the manner hereinafter provided. The standard time of the first zone shall be based on the mean astronomical time of the seventy-fifth degree of longitude west from Greenwich; that of the second zone on the ninetieth degree; that of the third zone on the one hundred and fifth degree; that of the fourth zone on the one hundred and twentieth degree; and that of the fifth zone, which shall include only Alaska, on the one hundred and fiftieth degree. That the limits of each zone shall be defined by an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, having regard for the convenience of commerce and the existing junction points and division points of common carriers engaged in commerce between the several States and with foreign nations, and such order may be modified from time to time. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Duty to observe new time.] That within the respective zones created under the authority hereof the standard time of the zone shall govern the movement of all common carriers engaged in commerce between the several States or between a State and any of the Territories of the United States, or between a State or the Territory of Alaska and any of the insular possessions of the United States or any foreign country. In all statutes, orders, rules, and regulations relating to the time of performance of any act by any officer or department of the United States, whether in the legislative, executive, or judicial branches of the Government, or relating to the time within which any rights shall accrue or determine, or within which any act shall or shall not be performed by any person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, it shall be understood and intended that the time shall be the United States standard time of the zone within which the act is to be performed. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Period for observing new time.] That at two o'clock antemeridian of the last Sunday in March of each year the standard time of each zone shall be advanced one hour, and at two o'clock antemeridian of the last Sunday in October in each year the standard time of each zone shall, by the retarding of one hour, be returned to the mean astronomical time of the degree of longitude governing said zone, so that between the last Sunday in March at two o'clock antemeridian and the last Sunday in October at two o'clock antemeridian in each year the standard time in each zone shall be one hour in advance of the mean astronomical time of the degree of longitude governing each zone, respectively. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Time of each zone — how designated.] That the standard time of the first zone shall be known and designated as United States Standard Eastern Time; that of the second zone shall be known and designated as United States Standard Central Time; that of the third zone shall be known and designated as United States Standard Mountain Time; that of the fourth zone shall be known and designated as United States Standard Pacific Time; and that of the fifth zone shall be known and designated as United States Standard Alaska Time. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Repeals.] That all Acts and parts of Acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [— Stat. L. —.]

Joint Resolution Extending until January first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, the effective date of section ten of the Act entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes," approved October fifteenth, nineteen hundred and fourteen.

[Res. of Jan. 12, 1918, — Stat. L. —.]

[Clayton Anti-Trust Act of Oct. 15, 1914, ch. 323, sec. 10 — time of taking effect.] That the effective date on and after which the provisions of section ten of the Act entitled "An Act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes," approved October fifteenth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, shall become and be effective is hereby deferred and extended to January first, nineteen hundred and nineteen: Provided, That said section shall become effective on January eighth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, as to any corporations hereafter organized. [— Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of Oct. 15, 1914, ch. 323, § 10, mentioned in the text, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 272, 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 741.

The time of taking effect of the section mentioned in the text had previously been extended to April 15, 1917, by a Res. of Aug. 31, 1916, ch. 427, 39 Stat. L. 674, and again extended to Jan. 8, 1918, by a Res. of March 4, 1917, ch. 190, 39 Stat. L. 1201.

An Act To extend temporarily the time for filing applications and fees and taking action in the United States Patent Office in favor of nations granting reciprocal rights to United States citizens.

[SEC. 1.] [Filing applications — extension of time.] That any applicant for letters patent or for the registration of any trade-mark, print, or label, being within the provisions of this Act, if unable on account of the existing and continuing state of war to file any application or pay any official fee or take any required action within the period now limited by law, shall be granted an extension of nine months beyond the expiration of said period. [39 Stat. L. 516.]

Since this Act affects applications for patents as well as trademarks, it is also given under PATENTS, ante, p. 575.

SEC. 2. [Persons entitled to privilege.] That the provisions of this Act shall be limited to citizens or subjects of countries which extend substantially similar privileges to the citizens of the United States, and no extension shall be granted under this Act to the citizens or subjects of any country while said country is at war with the United States. [39 Stat. L. 516.]

SEC. 3. [Time of taking effect.] That this Act shall be operative to relieve from default under existing law occurring since August first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, and before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and all applications and letters patent and registrations in the filing or prosecution whereof default has occurred for which this Act grants relief shall have the same force and effect as if said default had not occurred. [39 Stat. L. 516.]

An Act To define, regulate, and punish trading with the enemy, and for other purposes.

[Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 106, 40 Stat. L. 411.]

[SEC. 1.] [Title of Act.] That this Act shall be known as the "Trading with the enemy Act." [40 Stat. L. 411.]

SEC. 2. [Definitions — "enemy."] That the word "enemy," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean, for the purposes of such trading and of this Act —

(a) Any individual, partnership, or other body of individuals, of any nationality, resident within the territory (including that occupied by the military and naval forces) of any nation with which the United States is at war, or resident outside the United States and doing business within such territory, and any corporation incorporated within such territory of any nation with which the United States is at war or incorporated within any country other than the United States and doing business within such territory.

(b) The government of any nation with which the United States is at war, or any political or municipal subdivision thereof, or any officer, official, agent, or agency thereof.

(c) Such other individuals, or body or class of individuals, as may be natives, citizens, or subjects of any nation with which the United States is at war, other than citizens of the United States, wherever resident or wherever doing business, as the President, if he shall find the safety of the United States or the successful prosecution of the war shall so require, may, by proclamation, include within the term "enemy."

["Ally of enemy."] The words "ally of enemy," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean —

(a) Any individual, partnership, or other body of individuals, of any nationality, resident within the territory (including that occupied by the military and naval forces) of any nation which is an ally of a nation with which the United States is at war, or resident outside the United States and doing business within such territory, and any corporation incorporated within such territory of such ally nation, or incorporated within any country other than the United States and doing business within such territory.

(b) The government of any nation which is an ally of a nation with which the United States is at war, or any political or municipal subdivision of such ally nation, or any officer, official, agent, or agency thereof.

(c) Such other individuals, or body or class of individuals, as may be natives, citizens, or subjects of any nation which is an ally of a nation with which the United States is at war, other than citizens of the United States, wherever resident or wherever doing business, as the President, if he shall find the safety of the United States or the successful prosecution of the war shall so require, may, by proclamation, include within the term "ally of enemy."

["Person."] The word "person," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean an individual, partnership, association, company, or other unincorporated body of individuals, or corporation or body politic.

["United States."] The word "United States," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean all land and water, continental or insular, in any way within the jurisdiction of the United States or occupied by the military or naval forces thereof.

["The beginning of the war."] The words "the beginning of the war," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean midnight ending the day on which Congress has declared or shall declare war or the existence of a state of war.

["End of the war."] The words "end of the war," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean the date of proclamation of exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace, unless the President shall, by proclamation, declare a prior date, in which case the date so proclaimed shall be deemed to be the "end of the war" within the meaning of this Act.

["Bank or banks."] The words "bank or banks," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean and include national banks, State banks, trust companies, or other banks or banking associations doing business under the laws of the United States, or of any State of the United States.

["To trade."] The words "to trade," as used herein, shall be deemed to mean —

(a) Pay, satisfy, compromise, or give security for the payment or satisfaction of any debt or obligation.

(b) Draw, accept, pay, present for acceptance or payment, or indorse any negotiable instrument or chose in action.

(c) Enter into, carry on, complete, or perform any contract, agreement, or obligation.

(d) Buy or sell, loan or extend credit, trade in, deal with, exchange, transmit, transfer, assign, or otherwise dispose of, or receive any form of property.

(e) To have any form of business or commercial communication or intercourse with. [40 Stat. L. 411.]

SEC. 3. That it shall be unlawful —

(a) [Trading or attempting to trade — license.] For any person in the United States, except with the license of the President, granted to such person, or to the enemy, or ally of enemy, as provided in this Act, to trade, or attempt to trade, either directly or indirectly, with, to, or from, or for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of, any other person, with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that such other person is an enemy or ally of enemy, or is conducting or taking part in such trade, directly or indirectly, for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of, an enemy or ally of enemy.

(b) [Transportation of subjects or citizens of enemy or ally of enemy nation.] For any person, except with the license of the President, to transport or attempt to transport into or from the United States, or for any owner, master, or other person in charge of a vessel of American registry to transport or attempt to transport from any place to any other place, any subject or citizen of an enemy or ally of enemy nation, with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that the person transported or attempted to be transported is such subject or citizen.

(c) [Mail matter or other communication, etc.—bringing into or sending out of United States — exceptions.] For any person (other than a person in the service of the United States Government or of the Government of any nation, except that of an enemy or ally of enemy nation, and other than such persons or classes of persons as may be exempted hereunder by the President or by such person as he may direct), to send, or take out of, or bring into, or attempt to send, or take out of, or bring into the United States, any letter or other writing or tangible form of communication, except in the regular course of the mail; and it shall be unlawful for any person to send, take, or transmit, or attempt to send, take, or transmit out of the United States, any letter or other writing, book, map, plan, or other paper, picture, or any telegram, cablegram, or wireless message, or other form of communication intended for or to be delivered, directly or indirectly, to an enemy or ally of enemy: Provided, however, That any person may send, take, or transmit out of the United States anything herein forbidden if he shall first submit the same to the President, or to such officer as the President may direct, and shall obtain the license or consent of the President, under such rules and regulations, and with such exemptions, as shall be prescribed by the President.

"To an enemy or ally of an enemy" does not apply to the first paragraph ending at the semicolon, but only to the second paragraph. The first paragraph was intended to apply to any tangible communication, whether innocent or not, and whether intended for or delivered to a friendly or innocent person. U. S. v. Welsh, (S. D. N. Y. 1918) 309.

"Written or tangible form of communication" does not include a 6 per cent. coupon gold note of a private corporation unless there is extraneous matter on it. U. S. v. Van Werkhoven, (S. D. N. Y. 1918) 250 Fed. 311.

(d) [Censorship of communications.] Whenever, during the present war, the President shall deem that the public safety demands it, he may cause to be censored under such rules and regulations as he may from time to time establish, communications by mail, cable, radio, or other means of transmission passing between the United States and any foreign country he may from time to time specify, or which may be carried by any vessel or other means of transportation touching at any port, place, or territory of the United States and bound to or from any foreign country. Any person who willfully evades or attempts to evade the submission of any such communication to such censorship or willfully uses or attempts to use any code or other device for the purpose of concealing from such censorship the intended meaning of such communication shall be punished as provided in section sixteen of this Act. [40 Stat. L. 412.]

SEC. 4. (a) [Insurance, reinsurance or other business company — license — transmission of funds out of United States — existing contracts.] Every enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, and every enemy or ally of enemy, doing business within the United States through an agency or branch office, or otherwise, may, within thirty days after the passage of this Act, apply to the President for a license to continue to do business; and, within thirty days after such application, the President may enter an order either granting or refusing to grant such license. The license, if granted, may be temporary or otherwise, and for such period of time, and may contain such provisions and conditions regulating the business, agencies, managers and trustees and the control and disposition of the funds of the company, or of such enemy or ally of enemy, as the President shall deem necessary for the safety of the United States; and any license granted hereunder may be revoked or regranted or renewed in such manner and at such times as the President shall determine: Provided, however, That reasonable notice of his intent to refuse to grant a license or to revoke a license granted to any reinsurance company shall be given by him to all insurance companies incorporated within the United States and known to the President to be doing business with such reinsurance company. Provided further, That no insurance company, organized within the United States, shall be obligated to continue any existing contract, entered into prior to the beginning of the war, with any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, but any such company may abrogate and cancel any such contract by serving thirty days' notice in writing upon the President of its election to abrogate such contract.

For a period of thirty days after the passage of this Act, and further pending the entry of such order by the President, after application made by any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, within such thirty days as above provided, the provisions of the President's proclamation of April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, relative to agencies in the United States of certain insurance companies, as modified by the provisions of the President's proclamation of July thirteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, relative to marine and war-risk insurance, shall remain in full force and effect so far as it applies to such German insurance companies, and the conditions of said proclamation of April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, as modified by said proclamation of July thirteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall also during said period of thirty days after the passage of this Act, and pending the order of the President as herein provided, apply to any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding. It shall be unlawful for any enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, to whom license is granted, to transmit out of the United States any funds belonging to or held for the benefit of such company or to use any such funds as the basis for the establishment directly or indirectly of any credit within or outside of the United States to, or for the benefit of, or on behalf of, or on account of, an enemy or ally of enemy.

For a period of thirty days after the passage of this Act, and further pending the entry of such order by the President, after application made within such thirty days by any enemy or ally of enemy, other than an insurance or reinsurance company as above provided, it shall be lawful for such enemy or ally of enemy to continue to do business in this country and for any person to trade with, to, from, for, on account of, on behalf of or for the benefit of such enemy or ally of enemy, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, however, That the provisions of sections three and sixteen hereof shall apply to any act or attempted act of transmission or transfer of money or other property out of the United States and to the use or attempted use of such money or property as the basis for the establishment of any credit within or outside of the United States to, or for the benefit of, or on behalf of, or on account of, an enemy or ally of enemy.

If no license is applied for within thirty days after the passage of this Act, or if a license shall be refused to any enemy or ally of enemy, whether insurance or reinsurance company or other person, making application, or if any license granted shall be revoked by the President, the provisions of sections three and sixteen hereof shall forthwith apply to all trade or to any attempt to trade with, to, from, for, by, on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of such company or other person: Provided, however, That after such refusal or revocation, anything in this Act to the contrary notwithstanding, it shall be lawful for a policyholder or for an insurance company, not an enemy or ally of enemy, holding insurance or having effected reinsurance in or with such enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company, to receive payment of, and for such enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company to pay any premium, return premium, claim, money, security, or other property due or which may become due on or in respect to such insurance or reinsurance in force at the date of such refusal or revocation of license; and nothing in this Act shall vitiate or nullify then existing policies or contracts of insurance or reinsurance, or the conditions thereof; and any such policyholder or insurance company, not an enemy or ally of enemy, having any claim to or upon money or other property of the enemy or ally of enemy insurance or reinsurance company in the custody or control of the alien property custodian, hereinafter provided for, or of the Treasurer of the United States, may make application for the payment thereof and may institute suit as provided in section nine hereof.

(b) [Change of name of company, etc.—license to do business.] That, during the present war, no enemy, or ally of enemy, and no partnership of which he is a member or was a member at the beginning of the war, shall for any purpose assume or use any name other than that by which such enemy or partnership was ordinarily known at the beginning of the war, except under license from the President.

Whenever, during the present war, in the opinion of the President the public safety or public interest requires, the President may prohibit any or all foreign insurance companies from doing business in the United States, or the President may license such company or companies to do business upon such terms as he may deem proper. [40 Stat. L. 413.]

SEC. 5. (a) [Suspension of Act — granting, revoking, etc., of licenses.] That the President, if he shall find it compatible with the safety of the United States and with the successful prosecution of the war, may, by proclamation, suspend the provisions of this Act so far as they apply to an ally of enemy, and he may revoke or renew such suspension from time to time; and the President may grant licenses, special or general, temporary or otherwise, and for such period of time and containing such provisions and conditions as he shall prescribe, to any person or class of persons to do business as provided in subsection (a) of section four hereof, and to perform any act made unlawful without such license in section three hereof, and to file and prosecute applications under subsection (b) of section ten hereof; and he may revoke or renew such licenses from time to time, if he shall be of opinion that such grant or revocation or renewal shall be compatible with the safety of the United States and with the successful prosecution of the war; and he may make such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as may be necessary and proper to carry out the provisions of this Act; and the President may exercise any power or authority conferred by this Act through such officer or officers as he shall direct.

If the President shall have reasonable cause to believe that any act is about to be performed in violation of section three hereof he shall have authority to order the postponement of the performance of such act for a period not exceeding ninety days, pending investigation of the facts by him.

(b) [Investigation, regulation or prohibition of transactions in foreign exchange, coin, bullion, credit, evidences of indebtedness, etc.] That the President may investigate, regulate, or prohibit, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, by means of licenses or otherwise, any transaction in foreign exchange, export or earmarkings of gold or silver coin or bullion or currency, transfers of credit in any form (other than credits relating solely to transactions to be executed wholly within the United States), and transfers of evidences of indebtedness or of the ownership of property between the United States and any foreign country, whether enemy, ally of enemy or otherwise, or between residents of one or more foreign countries, by any person within the United States; and he may require any such person engaged in any such transaction to furnish, under oath, complete information relative thereto, including the production of any books of account, contracts, letters or other papers, in connection therewith in the custody or control of such person, either before or after such transaction is completed [40 Stat. L. 415.]

SEC. 6. [Alien property custodian — appointment — salary — powers — bond — employees — report.] That the President is authorized to appoint, prescribe the duties of, and fix the salary (not to exceed $5,000 per annum), of an official to be known as the alien property custodian, who shall be empowered to receive all money and property in the United States due or belonging to an enemy, or ally of enemy, which may be paid, conveyed, transferred, assigned, or delivered to said custodian under the provisions of this Act; and to hold, administer, and account for the same under the general direction of the President and as provided in this Act. The alien property custodian shall give such bond or bonds, and in such form and amount, and with such security as the President shall prescribe. The President may further employ in the District of Columbia and elsewhere and fix the compensation of such clerks, attorneys, investigators, accountants, and other employees as he may find necessary for the due administration of the provisions of this Act: Provided, That such clerks, investigators, accountants, and other employees shall be appointed from lists of eligibles to be supplied by the Civil Service Commission and in accordance with the civil service law: Provided further, That the President shall cause a detailed report to be made to Congress on the first day of January of each year of all proceedings had under this Act during the year preceding. Such report shall contain a list of all persons appointed or employed, with the salary or compensation paid to each, and a statement of the different kinds of property taken into custody and the disposition made thereof. [40 Stat. L. 415.]

SEC. 7. (a) [Lists of officers, directors, stockholders, etc., of corporations — reports of indebtedness to enemy, etc.] That every corporation incorporated within the United States, and every unincorporated association, or company, or trustee, or trustees within the United States, issuing shares or certificates representing beneficial interests, shall, under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe and, within sixty days after the passage of this Act, and at such other times thereafter as the President may require, transmit to the alien property custodian a full list, duly sworn to, of every officer, director, or stockholder known to be, or whom the representative of such corporation, association, company, or trustee has reasonable cause to believe to be an enemy or ally of enemy resident within the territory, or a subject or citizen residing outside of the United States, of any nation with which the United States is at war, or resident within the territory, or a subject or citizen residing outside of the United States, of any ally of any nation with which the United States is at war, together with the amount of stock or shares owned by each such officer, director, or stockholder, or in which he has any interest.

The President may also require a similar list to be transmitted of all stock or shares owned on February third, nineteen hundred and seventeen, by any person now defined as an enemy or ally of enemy, or in which any such person had any interest; and he may also require a list to be transmitted of all cases in which said corporation, association, company, or trustee has reasonable cause to believe that the stock or shares on February third, nineteen hundred and seventeen, were owned or are owned by such enemy or ally of enemy, though standing on the books in the name of another: Provided, however, That the name of any such officer, director, or stockholder shall be stricken permanently or temporarily from such list by the alien property custodian when he shall be satisfied that he is not such enemy or ally of enemy.

Any person in the United States who holds or has or shall hold or have custody or control of any property beneficial or otherwise, alone or jointly with others, of, for, or on behalf of an enemy or ally of enemy, or of any person whom he may have reasonable cause to believe to be an enemy or ally of enemy and any person in the United States who is or shall be indebted in any way to an enemy or ally of enemy, or to any person whom he may have reasonable cause to believe to be an enemy or ally of enemy, shall, with such exceptions and under such rules and regulations as the President shall prescribe, and within thirty days after the passage of this Act, or within thirty days after such property shall come within his custody or control, or after such debt shall become due, report the fact to the alien-property custodian by written statement under oath containing such particulars as said custodian shall require. The President may also require a similar report of all property so held, of, for, or on behalf of, and of all debts so owed to, any person now defined as an enemy or ally of enemy, on February third, nineteen hundred and seventeen: Provided, That the name of any person shall be stricken from the said report by the alien-property custodian, either temporarily or permanently, when he shall be satisfied that such person is not an enemy or ally of enemy. The President may extend the time for filing the lists or reports required by this section for an additional period not exceeding ninety days.

(b) [Prior illegal acts — transfer, etc., of money — completion of contracts — payments for benefit of enemies, etc. — suits by or against enemies, etc.] Nothing in this Act contained shall render valid or legal, or be construed to recognize as valid or legal, any act or transaction constituting trade with, to, from, for or on account of, or on behalf or for the benefit of an enemy performed or engaged in since the beginning of the war and prior to the passage of this Act, or any such act or transaction hereafter performed or engaged in except as authorized hereunder, which would otherwise have been or be void, illegal, or invalid at law. No conveyance, transfer, delivery, payment, or loan of money or other property, in violation of section three hereof, made after the passage of this Act, and not under license as herein provided shall confer or create any right or remedy in respect thereof; and no person shall by virtue of any assignment, indorsement, or delivery to him of any debt, bill, note, or other obligation or chose in action by, from, or on behalf of, or on account of, or for the benefit of an enemy or ally of enemy have any right or remedy against the debtor, obligor, or other person liable to pay, fulfill, or perform the same unless said assignment, indorsement, or delivery was made prior to the beginning of the war or shall be made under license as herein provided, or unless, if made after the beginning of the war and prior to the date of passage of this Act, the person to whom the same was made shall prove lack of knowledge and of reasonable cause to believe on his part that the same was made by, from or on behalf of, or on account of, or for the benefit of an enemy or ally of enemy; and any person who knowingly pays, discharges, or satisfies any such debt, note, bill, or other obligation or chose in action shall, on conviction thereof, be deemed to violate section three hereof: Provided, That nothing in this Act contained shall prevent the carrying out, completion, or performance of any contract, agreement, or obligation originally made with or entered into by an enemy or ally of enemy where, prior to the beginning of the war and not in contemplation thereof, the interest of such enemy or ally of enemy devolved by assignment or otherwise upon a person not an enemy or ally of enemy, and no enemy or ally of enemy will be benefited by such carrying out, completion, or performance otherwise than by release from obligation thereunder.

Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent payment of money belonging or owing to an enemy or ally of enemy to a person within the United States not an enemy or ally of enemy, for the benefit of such person or of any other person within the United States, not an enemy or ally of enemy, if the funds so paid shall have been received prior to the beginning of the war and such payments arise out of transactions entered into prior to the beginning of the war, and not in contemplation thereof: Provided, That such payment shall not be made without the license of the President, general or special, as provided in this Act.

Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to authorize the prosecution of any suit or action at law or in equity in any court within the United States by an enemy or ally of enemy prior to the end of the war, except as provided in section ten hereof: Provided, however, That an enemy or ally of enemy licensed to do business under this Act may prosecute and maintain any such suit or action so far as the same arises solely out of the business transacted within the United States under such license and so long as such license remains in full force and effect: And provided further, That an enemy or ally of enemy may defend by counsel any suit in equity or action at law which may be brought against him.

Receipt of notice from the President to the effect that he has reasonable ground to believe that any person is an enemy or ally of enemy shall be prima facie defense to any one receiving the same, in any suit or action at law or in equity brought or maintained, or to any right to set-off or recoupment asserted by, such person and based on failure to complete or perform since the beginning of the war any contract or other obligation. In any prosecution under section sixteen hereof, proof of receipt of notice from the President to the effect that he has reasonable cause to believe that any person is an enemy or ally of enemy shall be prima facie evidence that the person receiving such notice has reasonable cause to believe such other person to be an enemy or ally of enemy within the meaning of section three hereof.

(c) [Delivery of property, etc., to alien property custodian.] If the President shall so require, any money or other property owing or belonging to or held for, by, on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of an enemy or ally of enemy not holding a license granted by the President hereunder, which the President after investigation shall determine is so owing or so belongs or is so held, shall be conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid over to the alien property custodian.

(d) [Transfer of money, property, etc., to alien property custodian.] If not required to pay, convey, transfer, assign, or deliver under the provisions of subsection (c) hereof, any person not an enemy or ally of enemy who owes to, or holds for, or on account of, or on behalf of, or for the benefit of an enemy or of an ally of enemy not holding a license granted by the President hereunder, any money or other property, or to whom any obligation or form of liability to such enemy or ally of enemy is presented for payment, may, at his option, with the consent of the President, pay, convey, transfer, assign, or deliver to the alien property custodian said money or other property under such rules and regulations as the President shall prescribe.

(e) [Liability for acts done under Presidential regulation — effect of transfer of property, etc., to alien property custodian — certificate of authority of custodian, etc.] No person shall be held liable in any court for or in respect to anything done or omitted in pursuance of any order, rule, or regulation made by the President under the authority of this Act.

Any payment, conveyance, transfer, assignment, or delivery of money or property made to the alien property custodian hereunder shall be a full acquittance and discharge for all purposes of the obligation of the person making the same to the extent of same. The alien property custodian and such other persons as the President may appoint shall have power to execute, acknowledge, and deliver any such instrument or instruments as may be necessary or proper to evidence upon the record or otherwise such acquittance and discharge, and shall, in case of payment to the alien property custodian of any debt or obligation owed to an enemy or ally of enemy, deliver up any notes, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness or obligation, or any security therefor in which such enemy or ally of enemy had any right or interest that may have come into the possession of the alien property custodian, with like effect as if he or they, respectively, were duly appointed by the enemy or ally of enemy, creditor, or obligee. The President shall issue to every person so appointed a certificate of the appointment and authority of such person, and such certificate shall be received in evidence in all courts within the United States. Whenever any such certificate of authority shall be offered to any registrar, clerk, or other recording officer, Federal or otherwise, within the United States, such officer shall record the same in like manner as a power of attorney, and such record or a duly certified copy thereof shall be received in evidence in all courts of the United States or other courts within the United States. [40 Stat. L. 416.]

SEC. 8. (a) [Mortgage, pledge, lien, contract, etc.—termination—disposition of surplus.] That any person not an enemy or ally of enemy holding a lawful mortgage, pledge, or lien, or other right in the nature of security in property of an enemy or ally of enemy which, by law or by the terms of the instrument creating such mortgage, pledge, or lien, or right, may be disposed of on notice or presentation or demand, and any person not an enemy or ally of enemy who is a party to any lawful contract with an enemy or ally of enemy, the terms of which provide for a termination thereof upon notice or for acceleration of maturity on presentation or demand, may continue to hold said property, and, after default, may dispose of the property in accordance with law or may terminate or mature such contract by notice or presentation or demand served or made on the alien property custodian in accordance with the law and the terms of such instrument or contract and under such rules and regulations as the President shall prescribe; and such notice and such presentation and demand shall have, in all respects, the same force and effect as if duly served or made upon the enemy or ally of enemy personally: Provided, That no such rule or regulation shall require that notice or presentation or demand shall be served or made in any case in which, by law or by the terms of said instrument or contract, no notice, presentation, or demand was, prior to the passage of this Act, required; and that in case where, by law or by the terms of such instrument or contract, notice is required, no longer period of notice shall be required: Provided further, That if, on any such disposition of property, a surplus shall remain after the satisfaction of the mortgage, pledge, lien, or other right in the nature of security, notice of that fact shall be given to the President pursuant to such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, and such surplus shall be held subject to his further order.

(b) [Abrogation of contracts.] That any contract entered into prior to the beginning of the war between any citizen of the United States or any corporation organized within the United States, and an enemy or ally of any enemy, the terms of which provide for the delivery, during or after any war in which a present enemy or ally of enemy nation has been or is now engaged, of anything produced, mined, or manufactured in the United States, may be abrogated by such citizen or corporation by serving thirty days' notice in writing upon the alien property custodian of his or its election to abrogate such contract.

(c) [Suspension of statute of limitations.] The running of any statute of limitations shall be suspended with reference to the rights or remedies on any contract or obligation entered into prior to the beginning of the war between parties neither of whom is an enemy or ally of enemy, and containing any promise to pay or liability for payment which is evidenced by drafts or other commercial paper drawn against or secured by funds or other property situated in an enemy or ally of enemy country, and no suit shall be maintained on any such contract or obligation in any court within the United States until after the end of the war, or until the said funds or property shall be released for the payment or satisfaction of such contract or obligation: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the suspension of the running of the statute of limitations in all other cases where such suspension would occur under existing law. [40 Stat. L. 418.]

SEC. 9. [Claims of enemy, etc., for property — suits against claimant — liability of property for lien, attachment, etc.] That any person, not an enemy, or ally of enemy, claiming any interest, right, or title in any money or other property which may have been conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid to the alien property custodian hereunder, and held by him or by the Treasurer of the United States, or to whom any debt may be owing from an enemy, or ally of enemy, whose property or any part thereof shall have been conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid to the alien property custodian hereunder, and held by him or by the Treasurer of the United States, may file with the said custodian a notice of his claim under oath and in such form and containing such particulars as the said custodian shall require; and the President, if application is made therefor by the claimant, may, with the assent of the owner of said property and of all persons claiming any right, title, or interest therein, order the payment, conveyance, transfer, assignment or delivery to said claimant of the money or other property so held by the alien property custodian or by the Treasurer of the United States or of the interest therein to which the President shall determine said claimant is entitled: Provided, That no such order by the President shall bar any person from the prosecution of any suit at law or in equity against the claimant to establish any right, title or interest which he may have in such money or other property. If the President shall not so order within sixty days after the filing of such application, or if the claimant shall have filed the notice as above required and shall have made no application to the President, said claimant may, at any time before the expiration of six months, after the end of the war, institute a suit in equity in the district court of the United States for the district in which such claimant resides, or, if a corporation, where it has its principal place of business (to which suit the alien property custodian or the Treasurer of the United States, as the case may be, shall be made a party defendant), to establish the interest, right, title, or debt so claimed, and if suit shall be so instituted then the money or other property of the enemy, or ally of enemy, against whom such interest, right, or title is asserted, or debt claimed, shall be retained in the custody of the alien property custodian, or in the Treasury of the United States, as provided in this Act, and until any final judgment or decree which shall be entered in favor of the claimant shall be fully satisfied by payment or conveyance, transfer, assignment, or delivery by the defendant or by the alien property custodian or Treasurer of the United States on order of the court, or until final judgment or decree shall be entered against the claimant, or suit otherwise terminated.

Except as herein provided, the money or other property conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid to the alien property custodian shall not be liable to lien, attachment, garnishment, trustee process, or execution, or subject to any order or decree of any court.

This section shall not apply, however, to money paid to the alien property custodian under section ten hereof. [40 Stat. L. 419.]

SEC. 10. That nothing contained in this Act shall be held to make unlawful any of the following Acts:

(a) [Application for patent, trademark or copyright.] An enemy, or ally of enemy, may file and prosecute in the United States an application for letters patent, or for registration of trade-mark, print, label, or copyright, and may pay any fees therefor in accordance with and as required by the provisions of existing law and fees for attorneys or agents for filing and prosecuting such applications. Any such enemy, or ally of enemy, who is unable during war, or within six months thereafter, on account of conditions arising out of war, to file any such application, or to pay any official fee, or to take any action required by law within the period prescribed by law, may be granted an extension of nine months beyond the expiration of said period, provided the nation of which the said applicant is a citizen, subject, or corporation shall extend substantially similar privileges to citizens and corporations of the United States.

(b) [Payment of fees, etc., to enemy, etc., for patents or trademarks or copyrights.] Any citizen of the United States, or any corporation organized within the United States, may, when duly authorized by the President, pay to an enemy or ally of enemy any tax, annuity, or fee which may be required by the laws of such enemy or ally of enemy nation in relation to patents and trademarks, prints, labels, and copyrights; and any such citizen or corporation may file and prosecute an application for letters patent or for registration of trademark, print, label, or copyright in the country of an enemy, or of an ally of enemy after first submitting such application to the President and receiving license so to file and prosecute, and to pay the fees required by law and customary agents' fees, the maximum amount of which in each case shall be subject to the control of the President.

(c) [Use of enemy, etc., trademarks, copyrights, etc.—license.] Any citizen of the United States or any corporation organized within the United States desiring to manufacture, or cause to be manufactured, a machine, manufacture, composition of matter, or design, or to carry on, or to use any trade-mark, print, label or cause to be carried on, a process under any patent or copyrighted matter owned or controlled by an enemy or ally of enemy at any time during the existence of a state of war may apply to the President for a licensee; and the President is hereby authorized to grant such a license, nonexclusive or exclusive as he shall deem best, provided he shall be of the opinion that such grant is for the public welfare, and that the applicant is able and intends in good faith to manufacture, or cause to be manufactured, the machine, manufacture, composition of matter, or design, or to carry on, or cause to be carried on, the process or to use the trade-mark, print, label or copyrighted matter. The President may prescribe the conditions of this license, including the fixing of prices of articles and products necessary to the health of the military and naval forces of the United States or the successful prosecution of the war, and the rules and regulations under which such license may be granted and the fee which shall be charged therefor, not exceeding $100, and not exceeding one per centum of the fund deposited as hereinafter provided. Such license shall be a complete defense to any suit at law or in equity instituted by the enemy or ally of enemy owners of the letters patent, trade-mark, print, label or copyright, or otherwise, against the licensee for infringement or for damages, royalty, or other money award on account of anything done by the licensee under such license, except as provided in subsection (f) hereof.

(d) [Statement of use of enemy trademarks, copyrights, etc.—payment therefor.] The licensee shall file with the President a full statement of the extent of the use and enjoyment of the license, and of the prices received in such form and at such stated periods (at least annually) as the President may prescribe; and the licensee shall pay at such times as may be required to the alien property custodian not to exceed five per centum of the gross sums received by the licensee from the sale of said inventions or use of the trademark, print, label, or copyrighted matter, or, if the President shall so order, five per centum of the value of the use of such inventions, trade-marks, prints, labels or copyrighted matter to the licensee as established by the President; and sums so paid shall be deposited by said alien property custodian forthwith in the Treasury of the United States as a trust fund for the said licensee and for the owner of the said patent, trade-mark, print, label or copyright registration as hereinafter provided, to be paid from the Treasury upon order of the court, as provided in subdivision (f) of this section, or upon the direction of the alien property custodian.

(e) [Duration of license—termination.] Unless surrendered or terminated as provided in this Act, any license granted hereunder shall continue during the term fixed in the license or in the absence of any such limitation during the term of the patent, trade-mark, print, label, or copyright registration under which it is granted. Upon violation by the licensee of any of the provisions of this Act, or of the conditions of the license, the President may, after due notice and hearing, cancel any license granted by him.

(f) [Suits by enemy, etc., against licensee, etc., degree — injunction.] The owner of any patent, trade-mark, print, label, or copyright under which a license is granted hereunder may, after the end of the war and until the expiration of one year thereafter, file a bill in equity against the licensee in the district court of the United States for the district in which the said licensee resides, or, if a corporation, in which it has its principal place of business (to which suit the Treasurer of the United States shall be made a party,) for recovery from the said licensee for all use and enjoyment of the said patented invention, trade-mark, print, label, or copyrighted matter: Provided, however, That whenever suit is brought, as above, notice shall be filed with the alien property custodian within thirty days after date of entry of suit: Provided further, That the licensee may make any and all defenses which would be available were no license granted. The court on due proceedings had may adjudge and decree to the said owner payment of a reasonable royalty. The amount of said judgment and decree, when final, shall be paid on order of the court to the owner of the patent from the fund deposited by the licensee, so far as such deposit will satisfy said judgment and decree; and the said payment shall be in full or partial satisfaction of said judgment and decree, as the facts may appear; and if, after payment of all such judgments and decrees, there shall remain any balance of said deposit, such balance shall be repaid to the licensee on order of the alien property custodian. If no suit is brought within one year after the end of the war, or no notice is filed as above required, then the licensee shall not be liable to make any further deposits, and all funds deposited by him shall be repaid to him on order of the alien property custodian. Upon entry of suit and notice filed as above required, or upon repayment of funds as above provided, the liability of the licensee to make further reports to the President shall cease.

If suit is brought as above provided, the court may, at any time, terminate the license, and may, in such event, issue an injunction to restrain the licensee from infringement thereafter, or the court, in case the licensee, prior to suit, shall have made investment of capital based on possession of the license, may continue the license for such period and upon such terms and with such royalties as it shall find to be just and reasonable.

(g) [Suits by enemy, etc., against infringers of patents, trademarks, etc.—decree—injunction.] Any enemy, or ally of enemy, may institute and prosecute suits in equity against any person other than a licensee under this Act to enjoin infringement of letters patent, trade-mark, print, label, and copyrights in the United States owned or controlled by said enemy or ally of enemy, in the same manner and to the extent that he would be entitled so to do if the United States was not at war: Provided, That no final judgment or decree shall be entered in favor of such enemy or ally of enemy by any court except after thirty days' notice to the alien property custodian. Such notice shall be in writing and shall be served in the same manner as civil process of Federal courts.

(h) [Powers of attorney.] All powers of attorney heretofore or hereafter granted by an enemy or ally of enemy to any person within the United States, in so far as they may be requisite to the performance of acts authorized in subsections (a) and (g) of this section, shall be valid.

(i) [Publication of inventions, etc.] Whenever the publication of an invention by the granting of a patent may, in the opinion of the President, be detrimental to the public safety or defense, or may assist the enemy or endanger the successful prosecution of the war, he may order that the invention be kept secret and withhold the grant of a patent until the end of the war: Provided, That the invention disclosed in the application for said patent may be held abandoned upon it being established before or by the Commissioner of Patents that, in violation of said order, said invention has been published or that an application for a patent therefor has been filed in any other country, by the inventor or his assigns or legal representatives, without the consent or approval of the commissioner or under a license of the President.

When an applicant whose patent is withheld as herein provided and who faithfully obeys the order of the President above referred to shall tender his invention to the Government of the United States for its use, he shall, if he ultimately receives a patent, have the right to sue for compensation in the Court of Claims, such right to compensation to begin from the date of the use of the invention by the Government. [40 Stat. L. 420.]

SEC. 11. [Prohibition of imports.] Whenever during the present war the President shall find that the public safety so requires and shall make proclamation thereof it shall be unlawful to import into the United States from any country named in such proclamation any article or articles mentioned in such proclamation except at such time or times, and under such regulations or orders, and subject to such limitations and exceptions as the President shall prescribe, until otherwise ordered by the President or by Congress: Provided, however, That no preference shall be given to the ports of the State over those of another. [40 Stat. L. 422.]

SEC. 12. [Disposition of money, property, etc., received by alien property custodian — duties and powers of custodian — claims of enemy, etc., for property.] That all moneys (including checks and drafts payable on demand) paid to or received by the alien property custodian pursuant to this Act shall be deposited forthwith in the Treasury of the United States, and may be invested and reinvested by the Secretary of the Treasury in United States bonds or United States certificates of indebtedness, under such rules and regulations as the President shall prescribe for such deposit, investment, and sale of securities; and as soon after the end of the war as the President shall deem practicable, such securities shall be sold and the proceeds deposited in the Treasury.

All other property of an enemy, or ally of enemy, conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid to the alien property custodian hereunder shall be safely held and administered by him except as hereinafter provided; and the President is authorized to designate as a depositary, or depositaries, of property of an enemy or ally of enemy, any bank, or banks, or trust company, or trust companies, or other suitable depositary or depositaries, located and doing business in the United States. The alien property custodian may deposit with such designated depositary or depositaries, or with the Secretary of the Treasury, any stocks, bonds, notes, time drafts, time bills of exchange, or other securities, or property (except money or checks or drafts payable on demand which are required to be deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury) and such depositary or depositaries shall be authorized and empowered to collect any dividends or interest or income that may become due and any maturing obligations held for the account of such custodian. Any moneys collected on said account shall be paid and deposited forthwith by said depositary or by the alien property custodian into the Treasury of the United States as hereinbefore provided.

The President shall require all such designated depositaries to execute and file bonds sufficient in his judgment to protect property on deposit, such bonds to be conditioned as he may direct.

The alien property custodian shall be vested with all of the powers of a common-law trustee in respect of all property, other than money, which has been or shall be, or which has been or shall be required to be, conveyed, transferred, assigned, delivered, or paid over to him in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, and, in addition thereto, acting under the supervision and direction of the President, and under such rules and regulations as the President shall prescribe, shall have power to manage such property and do any act or things in respect thereof or make any disposition thereof or of any part thereof, by sale or otherwise, and exercise any rights or powers which may be or become appurtenant thereto or to the ownership thereof in like manner as though he were the absolute owner thereof: Provided, That any property sold under this Act, except when sold to the United States, shall be sold only to American citizens, at public sale to the highest bidder, after public advertisement of time and place of sale which shall be where the property or a major portion thereof is situated, unless the President stating the reasons therefor, in the public interest shall otherwise determine: Provided further, That when sold at public sale, the alien property custodian upon the order of the President stating the reasons therefor, shall have the right to reject all bids and resell such property at public sale or otherwise as the President may direct. Any person purchasing property from the alien property custodian for an undisclosed principal, or for re-sale to a person not a citizen of the United States, or for the benefit of a person not a citizen of the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be subject to a fine of not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than ten years, or both, and the property shall be forfeited to the United States. It shall be the duty of every corporation incorporated within the United States and every unincorporated association, or company, or trustee, or trustees within the United States issuing shares or certificates representing beneficial interests to transfer such shares or certificates upon its, his, or their books into the name of the alien property custodian upon demand, accompanied by the presentation of the certificates which represent such shares or beneficial interests. The alien property custodian shall forthwith deposit in the Treasury of the United States, as hereinbefore provided, the proceeds of any such property or rights so sold by him.

Any money or property required or authorized by the provisions of this Act to be paid, conveyed, transferred, assigned, or delivered to the alien property custodian shall, if said custodian shall so direct by written order, be paid, conveyed, transferred, assigned, or delivered to the Treasurer of the United States with the same effect as if to the alien property custodian.

After the end of the war any claim of any enemy or of an ally of enemy to any money or other property received and held by the alien property custodian or deposited in the United States Treasury, shall be settled as Congress shall direct: Provided, however, That on order of President as set forth in section nine hereof, or of the court, as set forth in sections nine and ten hereof, the alien property custodian or the Treasurer of the United States, as the case may be, shall forthwith convey, transfer, assign, and pay to the person to whom the President shall so order, or in whose behalf the court shall enter final judgment or decree, any property of an enemy or ally of enemy held by said custodian or by said Treasurer, so far as may be necessary to comply with said order of the President or said final judgment or decree of the court: And provided further, That the Treasurer of the United States, on order of the alien property custodian shall, as provided in section ten hereof, repay to the licensee any funds deposited by said licensee. [40 Stat. L. 423, as amended by — Stat. L. —.]

The fourth paragraph of this section was amended to read as given in the text by the Deficiency Appropriation Act of March 28, 1918, ch. —. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"The alien property custodian shall be vested with all of the powers of a common-law trustee in respect of all property, other than money, which shall come into his possession in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, and, acting under the supervision and direction of the President, and under such rules and regulations as the President shall prescribe, may manage such property and do any act or things in respect thereof or make any disposition thereof or of any part thereof, by sale or otherwise, and exercise any rights which may be or become appurtenant thereto or to the ownership thereof, if and when necessary to prevent waste and protect such property and to the end that interests of the United States in such property and rights or of such person as may ultimately become entitled thereto, or to the proceeds thereof, may be preserved and safeguarded. It shall be the duty of every corporation incorporated within the United States and every unincorporated association, or company, or trustee, or trustees within the United States issuing shares or certificates representing beneficial interests to transfer such shares or certificates upon its, his, or their books into the name of the alien property custodian upon demand, accompanied by the presentation of the certificates which represent such shares or beneficial interests. The alien property custodian shall forthwith deposit in the Treasury of the United States, as hereinbefore provided, the proceeds of any such property or rights so sold by him."

SEC. 13. [Statements by masters, etc., of vessels.] That, during the present war, in addition to the facts required by sections forty-one hundred and ninety-seven, forty-one hundred and ninety-eight, and forty-two hundred of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the Act of June fifteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, to be set out in the master's and shipper's manifests before clearance will be issued to vessels bound to foreign ports, the master or person in charge of any vessel, before departure of such vessel from port, shall deliver to the collector of customs of the district wherein such vessel is located a statement duly verified by oath that the cargo is not shipped or to be delivered in violation of this Act, and the owners, shippers, or consignors of the cargo of such vessels shall in like manner deliver to the collector like statement under oath as to the cargo or the parts thereof laden or shipped by them, respectively, which statement shall contain also the names and addresses of the actual consignees of the cargo, or if the shipment is made to a bank or other broker, factor, or agent, the names and addresses of the persons who are the actual consignees on whose account the shipment is made. The master or person in control of the vessel shall, on reaching port of destination of any of the cargo, deliver a copy of the manifest and of the said master's, owner's, shipper's, or consignor's statement to the American consular officer of the district in which the cargo is unladen. [40 Stat. L. 424.]

For R. S. secs. 4197, 4198, 4200, mentioned in this section, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. pp. 45, 46; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 296.

For the amending Act of June 15, 1917, ch. —, mentioned in this section, see NEUTRALITY, ante, p. 570.

SEC. 14. [Clearance of vessels — refusal — report of coin, bullion, etc., intended for export.] That, during the present war, whenever there is reasonable cause to believe that the manifest or the additional statements under oath required by the preceding section are false or that any vessel, domestic or foreign, is about to carry out of the United States any property to or for the account or benefit of an enemy, or ally of enemy, or any property or person whose export, taking out, or transport will be in violation of law, the collector of customs for the district in which such vessel is located is hereby authorized and empowered subject to review by the President to refuse clearance to any such vessel, domestic or foreign, for which clearance is required by law, and by formal notice served upon the owners, master, or person or persons in command or charge of any domestic vessel for which clearance is not required by law, to forbid the departure of such vessel from the port, and it shall thereupon be unlawful for such vessel to depart.

The collector of customs shall, during the present war, in each case report to the President the amount of gold or silver coin or bullion or other moneys of the United States contained in any cargo intended for export. Such report shall include the names and addresses of the consignors and consignees, together with any facts known to the collector with reference to such shipment and particularly those which may indicate that such gold or silver coin or bullion or moneys of the United States may be intended for delivery or may be delivered, directly or indirectly, to an enemy or an ally of enemy. [40 Stat. L. 424.]

SEC. 15. [Appropriation.] That the sum of $450,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, to be used in the discretion of the President for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act during the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and for the payment of salaries of all persons employed under this Act, together with the necessary expenses for transportation, subsistence, rental of quarters in the District of Columbia, books of reference, periodicals, stationery, typewriters and exchanges thereof, miscellaneous supplies, printing to be done at the Government Printing Office, and all other necessary expenses not included in the foregoing. [40 Stat. L. 425.]

SEC. 16. [Violations of Act or regulations thereunder—penalty.] That whoever shall willfully violate any of the provisions of this Act or of any license, rule, or regulation issued thereunder, and whoever shall willfully violate, neglect, or refuse to comply with any order of the President issued in compliance with the provisions of this Act shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than $10,000, or, if a natural person, imprisoned for not more than ten years, or both; and the officer, director, or agent of any corporation who knowingly participates in such violation shall be punished by a like fine, imprisonment, or both, and any property, funds, securities, papers, or other articles or documents, or any vessel, together with her tackle, apparel, furniture, and equipment, concerned in such violation shall be forfeited to the United States. [40 Stat. L. 425.]

SEC. 17. [Jurisdiction of courts.] That the district courts of the United States are hereby given jurisdiction to make and enter all such rules as to notice and otherwise, and all such orders and decrees, and to issue such process as may be necessary and proper in the premises to enforce the provisions of this Act, with a right of appeal from the final order or decree of such court as provided in sections one hundred and twenty-eight and two hundred and thirty-eight of the Act of March third, nineteen hundred and eleven, entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the laws relating to the judiciary." [40 Stat. L. 425.]

For Judicial Code, §§ 128, 238, mentioned in the text, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. pp. 195, 231; 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 607, 794.

SEC. 18. [Courts of Philippine Islands and Canal Zone.] That the several courts of first instance in the Philippine Islands and the district court of the Canal Zone shall have jurisdiction of offenses under this Act committed within their respective districts, and concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts of the United States of offenses under this Act committed upon the high seas and of conspiracies to commit such offense as defined by section thirty-seven of the Act entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and nine, and the provisions of such section for the purpose of this Act are hereby extended to the Philippine Islands and to the Canal Zone. [40 Stat. L. 425.]

For Penal Laws, § 37, mentioned in this section, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. p. 415; 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 534.

SEC. 19. [Publications in foreign language concerning the Government, conduct of the war, etc.—filing translation—permit to publish without translation—penalty for false affidavit.] That ten days after the approval of this Act and until the end of the war, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association, to print, publish, or circulate, or cause to be printed, published, or circulated in any foreign language, any news item, editorial or other printed matter, respecting the Government of the United States, or of any nation engaged in the present war, its policies, international relations, the state or conduct of the war, or any matter relating thereto: Provided, That this section shall not apply to any print, newspaper, or publication where the publisher or distributor thereof, on or before offering the same for mailing, or in any manner distributing it to the public, has filed with the postmaster at the place of publication, in the form of an affidavit, a true and complete translation of the entire article containing such matter proposed to be published in such print, newspaper, or publication, and has caused to be printed, in plain type in the English language, at the head of each such item, editorial, or other matter, on each copy of such print, newspaper, or publication, the words "True translation filed with the postmaster at _____ on _____ (naming the post office where the translation was filed, and the date of filing thereof), as required by the Act of _____ (here giving the date of this Act).

Any print, newspaper, or publication in any foreign language which does not conform to the provisions of this section is hereby declared to be nonmailable, and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or association, to transport, carry, or otherwise publish or distribute the same, or to transport, carry or otherwise publish or distribute any matter which is made nonmailable by the provisions of the Act relating to espionage, approved June fifteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen: Provided further, That upon evidence satisfactory to him that any print, newspaper, or publication, printed in a foreign language may be printed, published, and distributed free from the foregoing restrictions and conditions without detriment to the United States in the conduct of the present war, the President may cause to be issued to the printers or publishers of such print, newspaper, or publication, a permit to print, publish, and circulate the issue or issues of their print, newspaper, or publication, free from such restrictions and requirements, such permits to be subject to revocation at his discretion. And the Postmaster General shall cause copies of all such permits and revocations of permits to be furnished to the postmaster of the post office serving the place from which the print, newspaper, or publication, granted the permit is to emanate. All matter printed, published and distributed under permits shall bear at the head thereof in plain type in the English language, the words, "Published and distributed under permit authorized by the Act of (here giving date of this Act), on file at the post office of (giving name of office)."

Any person who shall make an affidavit containing any false statement in connection with the translation provided for in this section shall be guilty of the crime of perjury and subject to the punishment provided therefor by section one hundred and twenty-five of the Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An Act to codify, revise, and amend the penal laws of the United States," and any person, firm, corporation, or association, violating any other requirement of this section shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than $500, or by imprisonment of not more than one year, or, in the discretion of the court, may be both fined and imprisoned. SEC. 800. [Definitions.] That when used in this title the term "person" includes partnerships, corporations, and associations. [39 Stat. L. 798.]

The foregoing section 800 and the following sections 801–806 constitute "Title VIII, Unfair Competition," of the Act of Sept. 8, 1916, ch. 463, entitled An Act To increase the revenue and for other purposes. For a reference to the entire Act see the notes to section 15 thereof in INTERNAL REVENUE, ante, p. 374, sections 900, 902 of this Act, given in INTERNAL REVENUE, ante, p. 381, provide respectively that the invalidity of any part of the Act shall not affect the remainder and that the Act shall take effect on the day following its passage unless otherwise provided.

SEC. 801. [Importation — sales below actual market value.] That it shall be unlawful for any person importing or assisting in importing any articles from any foreign country into the United States, commonly and systematically to import, sell or cause to be imported or sold such articles within the United States at a price substantially less than the actual market value or wholesale price of such articles, at the time of exportation to the United States, in the principal markets of the country of their production, or of other foreign countries to which they are commonly exported after adding to such market value or wholesale price, freight, duty, and other charges and expenses necessarily incident to the importation and sale thereof in the United States: Provided, That such act or acts be done with the intent of destroying or injuring an industry in the United States, or of preventing the establishment of an industry in the United States, or of restraining or monopolizing any part of trade and commerce in such articles in the United States.

Any person who violates or combines or conspires with any other person to violate this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

Any person injured in his business or property by reason of any violation of, or combination or conspiracy to violate, this section, may sue therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the defendant resides or is found or has an agent, without respect to the amount in controversy, and shall recover threefold the damages sustained, and the cost of the suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

The foregoing provisions shall not be construed to deprive the proper State courts of jurisdiction in actions for damages thereunder. [39 Stat. L. 798.]

See the note to the preceding section 800 of this Act.

SEC. 802. [Agreements restricting purchase, etc., of imported goods.] That if any article produced in a foreign country is imported into the United States under any agreement, understanding, or condition that the importer thereof or any other person in the United States shall not use, purchase, or deal in, or shall be restricted in his using, purchasing, or dealing in, the articles of any other person, there shall be levied, collected, and paid thereon, in addition to the duty otherwise imposed by law, a special duty equal to double the amount of such duty: Provided, That the above shall not be interpreted to prevent the establishing in this country on the part of a foreign producer of an exclusive agency for the sale in the United States of the products of said foreign producer or merchant, nor to prevent such exclusive agent from agreeing not to use, purchase, or deal in the article of any other person, but the proviso shall not be construed to exempt from the provisions of this section any article imported by such exclusive agent if such agent is required by the foreign producer or if it is agreed between such agent and such foreign producer that any agreement, understanding or condition set out in this section shall be imposed by such agent upon the sale or other disposition of such article to any person in the United States. [39 Stat. L. 799.]

See the note to section 800 of this Act, supra, p. 871.

SEC. 803. [Rules and regulations.] 'That the Secretary of the Treasury shall make such rules and regulations as are necessary for the carrying out of the provisions of section eight hundred and two. [39 Stat. L. 799.]

See the note to section 800 of this Act, supra, p. 871.

SEC. 804. [Retaliatory measures against countries prohibiting importations.] That whenever any country, dependency, or colony shall prohibit the importation of any article the product of the soil or industry of the United States and not injurious to health or morals, the President shall have power to prohibit, during the period such prohibition is in force, the importation into the United States of similar articles, or in case the United States does not import similar articles from that country, then other articles, the products of such country, dependency, or colony.

And the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, shall make such rules and regulations as are necessary for the execution of the provisions of this section. [39 Stat. L. 799.]

See the note to section 800 of this Act, supra, p. 871.

SEC. 805. [Retaliatory measures against countries at war.] That whenever during the existence of a war in which the United States is not engaged, the President shall be satisfied that there is reasonable ground to believe that under the laws, regulations, or practices of any country, colony, or dependency contrary to the law and practice of nations, the importation into their own or any other country, dependency, or colony of any article the product of the soil or industry of the United States and not injurious to health or morals is prevented or restricted the President is authorized and empowered to prohibit or restrict during the period such prohibition or restriction is in force, the importation into the United States of similar or other articles, products of such country, dependency, or colony as in his opinion the public interest may require; and in such case he shall make proclamation stating the article or articles which are prohibited from importation into the United States; and any person or persons who shall import, or attempt or conspire to import, or be concerned in importing, such article or articles into the United States contrary to the prohibition in such proclamation, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $2,000 nor more than $50,000, or to imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both, in the discretion of the court. The President may change, modify, revoke, or renew such proclamation in his discretion. [39 Stat. L. 799.]

See the note to section 800 of this Act, supra, p. 871.

SEC. 806. [Same.] That whenever during the existence of a war in which the United States is not engaged, the President shall be satisfied that there is reasonable ground to believe that any vessel, American or foreign, is, on account of the laws, regulations, or practices of a belligerent Government, making or giving any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage in any respect whatsoever to any particular person, company, firm, or corporation, or any particular description of traffic in the United States or its possessions or to any citizens of the United States residing in neutral countries abroad, or is subjecting any particular person, company, firm, or corporation or any particular description of traffic in the United States or its possessions, or any citizens of the United States residing in neutral countries abroad to any undue or unreasonable prejudice, disadvantage, injury, or discrimination in regard to accepting, receiving, transporting, or delivering, or refusing to accept, receive, transfer, or deliver any cargo, freight or passengers, or in any other respect whatsoever, he is hereby authorized and empowered to direct the detention of such vessels by withholding clearance or by formal notice forbidding departure, and to revoke, modify, or renew any such direction.

That whenever, during the existence of a war in which the United States is not engaged, the President shall be satisfied that there is reasonable ground to believe that under the laws, regulations, or practices of any belligerent country or Government, American ships or American citizens are not accorded any of the facilities of commerce which the vessels or citizens of that belligerent country enjoy in the United States or its possessions, or are not accorded by such belligerent equal privileges or facilities of trade with vessels or citizens of any nationality other than that of such belligerent, the President is hereby authorized and empowered to withhold clearance from one or more vessels of such belligerent country until such belligerent shall restore to such American vessels and American citizens reciprocal liberty of commerce and equal facilities of trade; or the President may direct that similar privileges and facilities, if any, enjoyed by vessels or citizens of such belligerent in the United States or its possessions be refused to vessels or citizens of such belligerent; and in such case he shall make proclamation of his direction, stating the facilities and privileges which shall be refused, and the belligerent to whose vessels or citizens they are to be refused, and thereafter the furnishing of such prohibited privileges and facilities to any vessel or citizen of the belligerent named in such proclamation shall be unlawful; and he may change, modify, revoke, or renew such proclamation; and any person or persons who shall furnish or attempt or conspire to furnish or be concerned in furnishing or in the concealment of furnishing facilities or privileges to ships or persons contrary to the prohibition in such proclamation shall be liable to a fine of not less than $2,000 nor more than $50,000 or to imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both, in the discretion of the court.

In case any vessel which is detained by virtue of this Act, shall depart or attempt to depart from the jurisdiction of the United States without clearance or other lawful authority, the owner or master or person or persons having charge or command of such vessel shall be severally liable to a fine of not less than $2,000 nor more than $10,000, or to imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both, and in addition such vessel shall be forfeited to the United States.

That the President of the United States is hereby authorized and empowered to employ such part of the land or naval forces of the United States as shall be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 799.]

An Act To provide for vocational rehabilitation and return to civil employment of disabled persons discharged from the military or naval forces of the United States, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] ["Vocational Rehabilitation Act"—"board"—"bureau."] That this Act shall be known as the Vocational Rehabilitation Act. That the word "board," as hereinafter used in this Act, shall mean the "Federal Board for Vocational Education." That the word "bureau," as hereinafter used in this Act, shall mean the "Bureau of War-Risk Insurance." [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Persons affected by Act — course of vocational rehabilitation prescribed — monthly compensation — family allowances.] That every person who is disabled under circumstances entitling him, after discharge from the military or naval forces of the United States, to compensation under Article III of the Act entitled "An Act to amend an Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War-Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department,' " approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, hereinafter referred to as "said Act," and who, after his discharge, in the opinion of the board, is unable to carry on a gainful occupation, to resume his former occupation, or to enter upon some other occupation, or having resumed or entered upon such occupation is unable to continue the same successfully, shall be furnished by the said board, where vocational rehabilitation is feasible, such course of vocational rehabilitation as the board shall prescribe and provide.

The board shall have power, and it shall be its duty, to furnish the persons included in this section suitable courses of vocational rehabilitation to be prescribed and provided by the board, and every person electing to follow such a course of vocational rehabilitation shall, while following the same, receive monthly compensation equal to the amount of his monthly pay for the last month of his active service, or equal to the amount to which he would be entitled under Article III of said Act, whichever amount is the greater. If such person was an enlisted man at the time of his discharge, for the period during which he is so afforded a course of rehabilitation, his family shall receive compulsory allotment and family allowance according to the terms of Article II of said Act in the same manner as if he were an enlisted man, and for the purpose of computing and paying compulsory allotment and family allowance his compensation shall be treated as his monthly pay: Provided, That if such person willfully fails or refuses to follow the prescribed course of vocational rehabilitation which he has elected to follow, in a manner satisfactory to the board, the said board in its discretion may certify to that effect to the bureau and the said bureau shall, during such period of failure or refusal, withhold any part or all of the monthly compensation due such person and not subject to compulsory allotment which the said board may have determined should be withheld: Provided, however, That no vocational teaching shall be carried on in any hospital until the medical authorities certify that the condition of the patient is such as to justify such teaching.

The military and naval family allowance appropriation provided for in section eighteen of said Act shall be available for the payment of the family allowances provided by this section; and the military and naval compensation appropriation provided for in section nineteen of said Act shall be available for the payment of the monthly compensation herein provided. No compensation under Article III of said Act shall be paid for the period during which any such person is furnished by said board a course of vocational rehabilitation except as is hereinbefore provided. [— Stat. L. —]

For the War Risk Insurance Act of Sept. 2, 1914, ch. 293, art. III, as amended by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, mentioned in the text, see WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT.

SEC. 3. [Cost of instruction.] That the courses of vocational rehabilitation provided for under this Act shall, as far as practicable and under such conditions as the board may prescribe, be made available without cost for instruction for the benefit of any person who is disabled under circumstances entitling him, after discharge from the military or naval forces of the United States, to compensation under Article III of said Act and who is not included in section two hereof. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Board for vocational education — powers.] That the board shall have the power and it shall be its duty to provide such facilities, instructors, and courses as may be necessary to insure proper training for such persons as are required to follow such courses as herein provided; to prescribe the courses to be followed by such persons; to pay, when in the discretion of the board such payment is necessary, the expense of travel, lodging, subsistence, and other necessary expenses of such persons while following the prescribed courses; to do all things necessary to insure vocational rehabilitation; to provide for the placement of rehabilitated persons in suitable or gainful occupations. The board shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper performance of its duties as prescribed by this Act, and is hereby authorized and directed to utilize, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, the facilities of the Department of Labor, in so far as may be practicable, in the placement of rehabilitated persons in suitable or gainful occupations. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Studies, investigations, and reports.] That it shall also be the duty of the board to make or cause to have made studies, investigations, and reports regarding the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons and their placement in suitable or gainful occupations. When the board deems it advisable, such studies, investigations, and reports may be made in cooperation with or through other departments and bureaus of the Government, and the board in its discretion may cooperate with such public or private agencies as it may deem advisable in performing the duties imposed upon it by this Act. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Medical and surgical work or other treatment — control — cooperation of Board with War and Navy Department.] That all medical and surgical work or other treatment necessary to give functional and mental restoration to disabled persons prior to their discharge from the military or naval forces of the United States shall be under the control of the War Department and the Navy Department, respectively. Whenever training is employed as a therapeutic measure by the War Department or the Navy Department a plan may be established between these agencies and the board acting in an advisory capacity to insure, in so far as medical requirements permit, a proper process of training and the proper preparation of instructors for such training. A plan may also be established between the War and Navy Departments and the board whereby these departments shall act in an advisory capacity with the board in the care of the health of the soldier and sailor after his discharge.

The board shall, in establishing its plans and rules and regulations for vocational training, cooperate with the War Department and the Navy Department in so far as may be necessary to effect a continuous process of vocational training. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Gifts and donations.] That the board is hereby authorized and empowered to receive such gifts and donations from either public or private sources as may be offered unconditionally. All moneys received as gifts or donations shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States, and shall constitute a permanent fund, to be called the “special fund for vocational rehabilitation,” to be used under the direction of the said board, in connection with the appropriations hereby made or hereafter to be made, to defray the expenses of providing and maintaining courses of vocational rehabilitation; and a full report of all gifts and donations offered and accepted, and all disbursements therefrom, shall be submitted annually to Congress by said board. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 8. [Available appropriations to meet expenses.] That there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, available immediately and until expended, the sum of $2,000,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary to be used by the Federal Board for Vocational Education for the purposes of this Act, to wit, for renting and remodeling buildings and quarters, repairing, maintaining, and equipping same, and for equipment and other facilities necessary for proper instruction of disabled persons, $250,000; for the preparation of instructors and salaries of instructors, supervisors, and other experts, including necessary traveling expenses, $545,000; for traveling expenses of disabled persons in connection with training and for lodging, subsistence, and other necessary expenses in special cases of persons following prescribed courses, $250,000; for tuition for disabled persons pursuing courses in existing institutions, public or private, $545,000; for the placement and supervision after placement of vocationally rehabilitated persons, $45 000; for studies, investigations, reports, and preparation of special courses of instruction, $55 000; for miscellaneous contingencies, including special mechanical appliances necessary in special cases for disabled men, $110,000; and for the administrative expenses of said board incident to performing the duties imposed by this Act, including salaries of such assistants, experts, clerks, and other employees in the District of Columbia or elsewhere as the board may deem necessary, actual traveling and other necessary expenses incurred by the members of the board and by its employees under its orders, including attendance at meetings of educational associations and other organizations, rent and equipment of offices in the District of Columbia and elsewhere, purchase of books of reference, law books, and periodicals, stationery, typewriters and exchange thereof, miscellaneous supplies, postage on foreign mail, printing and binding to be done at the Government Printing Office, and all other necessary expenses, $200,000. [— Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 9. [Reports to Congress.] That said board shall file with the Clerk of the House and the Secretary of the Senate on July first and every three months thereafter, for the information of the Congress, an itemized account of all expenditures made under this Act, including names and salaries of employees. Said board shall also make an annual report to the Congress of its doings under this Act on or before December first of each year. [—Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 10. [Repeal of conflicting statute.] That section three hundred and four of the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department" approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as amended, is hereby repealed. [—Stat. L. —.]

The War Risk Insurance Act of Sept. 2, 1914, ch. 293, § 304, as amended by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, repealed by the text, was as follows:

"SEC. 304. That in cases of dismemberment, of injuries to sight or hearing, and of other injuries commonly causing permanent disability, the injured person shall follow such course or courses of rehabilitation, reeducation, and vocational training as the United States may provide or procure to be provided. Should such course prevent the injured person from following a substantially gainful occupation while taking same, a form of enlistment may be required which shall bring the injured person into the military or naval service. Such enlistment shall entitle the person to full pay as during the last month of his active service, and his family to family allowances and allotment as hereinbefore provided, in lieu of all other compensation for the time being.

"In case of his willful failure properly to follow such course or so to enlist, payment of compensation shall be suspended until such willful failure ceases and no compensation shall be payable for the intervening period."

SEC. 11. [Persons of draft age employed under terms of Act — exemption.] No person of draft age physically fit for military service shall be exempted from such service on account of being employed under the terms of this Act. [—Stat. L. —.]

An Act To authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department.

ARTICLE I.

SEC. 1. [Bureau of War Risk Insurance — director — Division of Marine and Seamen's Insurance — Division of Military and Naval Insurance — directors.] That there is established in the Treasury Department a Bureau to be known as the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, the director of which shall receive a salary at the rate of $5,000 per annum.

That there be in such bureau a Division of Marine and Seamen's Insurance and a Division of Military and Naval Insurance in charge of a commissioner of Marine and Seamen's Insurance and a commissioner of Military and Naval Insurance, respectively, each of whom shall receive a salary of $4,000 per annum. [38 Stat. L. 711, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 105, 398.]

This is the first section of the "War Risk Insurance Act." As originally enacted this section was as follows:

"That there is established in the Treasury Department a bureau to be known as the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, the director of which shall be entitled to a salary at the rate of $5,000 per annum."

This section was first amended by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 1, 40 Stat. L. 102, but no change was made by the amendment, and the section was again amended to read as in the text by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, § 1, 40 Stat. L. 398.

Preceding the enacting clause of this section, as originally enacted, was the following preamble:

"Whereas the foreign commerce of the United States is now greatly impeded and endangered through the absence of adequate facilities for the insurance of American vessels and their cargoes against the risks of war; and

"Whereas it is deemed necessary and expedient that the United States shall temporarily provide for the export shipping trade of the United States adequate facilities for the insurance of its commerce against the risks of war: Therefore," etc.

SEC. 2. [Powers — risks insured against.] That the said Bureau of War Risk Insurance, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall, as soon as practicable, make provisions for the insurance by the United States of American vessels, their freight and passage moneys, cargoes shipped or to be shipped therein, and personal effects of the masters, officers, and crews thereof against loss or damage by the risks of war, whenever it shall appear to the Secretary that American vessels, shippers or importers in American vessels, or the masters, officers, or crews of such vessels, are unable in any trade to secure adequate war-risk insurance on reasonable terms.

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall, as soon as practicable, make provisions for the insurance by the United States, as further provided in section three a, of masters, officers, and crews of American merchant vessels against loss of life or personal injury by the risks of war, and for compensation during detention following capture by enemies of the United States whenever it shall appear to the Secretary that in any trade the need for such insurance exists. [38 Stat. L. 711, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 102.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 2. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 2. That the said Bureau of War Risk Insurance, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall, as soon as practicable, make provisions for the insurance by the United States of American vessels, their freight and passage moneys, and cargoes shipped or to be shipped therein, against loss or damage by the risks of war, whenever it shall appear to the Secretary that American vessels, shippers, or importers in American vessels are unable in any trade to secure adequate war risk insurance on reasonable terms."

See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 2a. [Reinsurance.] That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, is hereby authorized to make provisions for the reinsurance by the United States of vessels of foreign friendly flags or their cargoes, or both, when such vessels or their cargoes are insured by the Government of any country which is at war with an enemy of the United States; and, further, to reinsure with the Governments of any countries which are at war with an enemy of the United States American vessels and their cargoes. [40 Stat. L. 103.]

This new section 2a was added to this Act by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 3. See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 2b. [Vessels of foreign friendly flags — masters, crews, shippers, or importers — cargoes.] That when it appears to the Secretary of the Treasury that vessels of foreign friendly flags, or their masters, officers, or crews, or shippers, or importers in such vessels, are unable in any trade to secure adequate war-risk insurance on reasonable terms, the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of the Secretary, is hereby authorized to make provisions for the insurance by the United States of (1) such vessels of foreign friendly flags, their freight and passage moneys, and personal effects of the masters, officers, and crews thereof against the risks of war when such vessels are chartered or operated by the United States Shipping Board or its agent, or chartered by any person a citizen of the United States, and (2) the cargoes to be shipped in such vessels of foreign friendly flags, whether or not they are so chartered. Such insurance on the vessel, however, is authorized only when the United States Shipping Board or its agent operates the vessel or the charterers are, by the terms of the charter party or contract with the vessel owners, required to assume the war risk or provide insurance protecting the vessel owners against war risk during the term of the charter or hire of the vessel.

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, is also hereby authorized to insure the masters, officers, and crews of vessels operated or chartered as aforesaid against the loss of life or personal injury by the risk of war and for compensation during the detention following capture by enemies of the United States, whenever it appears to the Secretary that the owners, operators, or charterers of such vessels are unable, in any trade, to secure such insurance on reasonable terms. [40 Stat. L. —.]

This new section 2b was added by the Act of July 11, 1918, § 1.

SEC. 3. [Forms of policy — rates of premiums — proceeds.] That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, is hereby authorized to adopt and publish forms of war-risk policies and to fix reasonable rates of premium for the policies which it is authorized to issue under this Act, which rates shall be subject to such change to each port and for each class as the Secretary shall find may be required by the circumstances. All proceeds of the aforesaid premium and from salvage which have been or are hereafter received shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, and in addition to all other appropriations made under this Act are hereby permanently appropriated for the purpose of paying losses and return premiums accruing under this Act. [38 Stat. L. 711, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 103.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 3. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 3. That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, is hereby authorized to adopt and publish a form of war risk policy, and to fix reasonable rates of premium for the insurance of American vessels, their freight and passage moneys and cargoes against war risks, which rates shall be subject to such change, to each port and for each class, as the Secretary shall find may be required by the circumstances. The proceeds of the aforesaid premiums when received shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States."

The Act of Aug. 11, 1916, ch. 332, § 2, 39 Stat. L. 514, was as follows:

"SEC. 2. That all moneys received from premiums and from salvage shall be covered into the Treasury to the credit of the appropriation made for the payment of losses and be available for the purposes thereof."

Identical provisions were made by the Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 169, § 3, 39 Stat. L. 1131. But both of these Acts were repealed by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 12, 40 Stat. L. 105, and these provisions incorporated in the text section as amended by said Act.

See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 3a. [Insurance of masters, officers, and crews — duties of owners — amounts — claims.] That whenever it shall appear to the Secretary of the Treasury that the effecting of such insurance is desirable in the national interest in the case of vessels engaged in any trade, the owner of every American merchant vessel engaged in such trade shall insure the master, officers, and crew of such vessel against loss of life or personal injury from war risks as well as for compensation during detention by an enemy of the United States following capture.

Such insurance shall be effected either with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance or in insurance companies, and on terms satisfactory to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Such insurance shall provide, and the Bureau of War Risk Insurance is authorized to write policies so providing —

(a) In case of death, permanent disability which prevents the person injured from performing any and every kind of duty pertaining to his occupation, or the loss of both hands, both arms, both feet, both legs, or both eyes, or any two thereof, for the payment of an amount equivalent to one year's earnings, or to twelve times the monthly earnings of the insured, as fixed in the articles for the voyage (hereinafter referred to as the principal sum), but in no case shall such amount be more than $5,000 or less than $1,500;

(b) In case of any of the following losses, for the payment of the percentage of the principal sum indicated in the following tables:

One hand, fifty per centum;

One arm, sixty-five per centum;

One foot, fifty per centum;

One leg, sixty-five per centum;

One eye, forty-five per centum;

Total destruction of hearing, fifty per centum;

That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance may include in its policy undertakings to pay specified percentages of the principal sum for other losses or disabilities; and

(c) In case of detention by an enemy of the United States, following capture, for the payment during the continuance of such detention of compensation at the same rate as the earnings of the insured immediately preceding such detention, to be determined in substantially the same manner as provided in subdivision (a) of this section.

The aggregate payments under this section in respect to any one person shall not exceed the amount of the principal sum.

Payments provided for in this section shall be made only to the master, officer, or member of the crew concerned, except that a payment for loss of life shall be made to the estate of the insured for distribution to his family free from liability of debt, and payment on account of detention by an enemy following capture shall be made to dependents of the person detained, if designated by him.

No claim under this section shall be valid unless made by the master, officer, or member of the crew concerned, or his estate, or a person designated under this section, within two years after the date on which the President suspends the operations of this Act in so far as it authorizes insurance by the United States. [40 Stat. L. 103.]

This new section 3a was added to this Act by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 5. See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 3b. [Failure of owners to effect insurance — insurance by Bureau — penalty.] That in the event of failure of the owner of any vessel to effect insurance of the master, officers, and crew of such vessel prior to sailing, in accordance with section three a of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to effect such insurance with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance at the expense of the owner of such vessel, and the latter shall be liable for such expense and, in addition, to a penalty of not exceeding $1,000. The amount of such premium, with interest and of the penalty and of all costs, shall be a lien on the vessel. [40 Stat. L. 104.]

This new section 3b was added to this Act by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 6. See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 4. [Rules and regulations.] That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall have power to make any and all rules and regulations necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act. [38 Stat. L. 711.]

See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 5. [Advisory board — duties — compensation — claims.] That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to establish an advisory board, to consist of three members skilled in the practices of war-risk insurance, for the purpose of assisting the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in fixing rates of premium and in adjustment of claims for losses, and generally in carrying out the purposes of this Act; the compensation of the members of said board to be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, but not to exceed $20 a day each while actually employed. He is likewise authorized to appoint two persons skilled in the practice of accident insurance for the purpose of assisting the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the adjustment of claims for death, personal injury, or detention; the compensation of persons so appointed to be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, but not to exceed $20 a day each while actually employed. In the event of disagreement as to the claim for losses, or amount thereof, between the said bureau and the parties to such contract of insurance, an action on the claim may be brought against the United States in the district court of the United States, sitting in admiralty, in the district in which the claimant or his agents may reside. The Secretary of the Treasury is, in his judgment, authorized to compromise the claim either before or after the institution of an action therein. [38 Stat. L. 711, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 104; 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 7, and the Act of July 11, 1918, ch. —, § 2. As originally enacted it was as follows:

“SEC. 5. That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to establish an advisory board, to consist of three members skilled in the practices of war risk insurance, for the purpose of assisting the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in fixing rates of premium and in adjustment of claims for losses, and generally in carrying out the purposes of this Act; the compensation of the members of said board to be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, but not to exceed $25 a day each, while actually employed. In the event of disagreement as to the claim for losses, or amount thereof, between the said bureau and the parties to such contract of insurance, an action on the claim may be brought against the United States in the District Court of the United States, sitting in admiralty, in the district in which the claimant or his agent may reside."

SEC. 5a. [Claim agents or attorneys — service in collecting claims — compensation.] No claim agent or attorney shall be entitled to receive any compensation whatever for services in the collection of claims against the Bureau of War Risk Insurance for death, personal injury, or detention, except when proceedings are taken in accordance with section five in a district court of the United States, in which case the judge shall, as a part of his determination and order, settle and determine the amount of compensation not to exceed ten per centum of amount recovered, to be paid by the claimant on behalf of whom such proceedings are instituted to his legal adviser or advisers, and it shall be unlawful for any lawyer or other person acting in that behalf to ask for, contract for, or receive any larger sum than the amount so fixed. [40 Stat. L. 105.]

This new section 5a was added to this Act by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 8. See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 6. [Adjustment and payment of claims for losses.] That the Director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, upon the adjustment of any claims for losses in respect of which no action shall have been begun, shall, on approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, promptly pay such claim for losses to the party in interest; and the Secretary of the Treasury is directed to make provision for the speedy adjustment of claims for losses and also for the prompt notification of parties in interest of the decisions of the bureau on their claims. [38 Stat. L. 712.]

See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 7. [Fund for payment of losses.] That for the purpose of paying losses and return premiums accruing under the provisions of this Act there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $50,000,000. [38 Stat. L. 712, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 105.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 9. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 7. That for the purpose of paying losses accruing under the provisions of this Act there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $5,000,000."

This section had previously been amended by the Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 169, § 2, 39 Stat. L. 1131, the amendment increasing the sum appropriated to $15,000,000, but the amending Act was repealed by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 12, 40 Stat. L. 105, section 9 of which Act amended the section to read as given in the text, as previously stated.

See section 12 of this Act, infra, p. 896.

SEC. 8. [Fund for defraying expenses.] That there is hereby appropriated, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the establishment and maintenance of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, including the payment of salaries herein authorized and other personal services, and for the purchase of necessary books of reference, periodicals, etc., that may be paid for in advance out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $250,000. [38 Stat. L. 712, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 105.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 10. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 8. That there is hereby appropriated, for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the establishment and maintenance of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, including the payment of salaries herein authorized and other personal services in the District of Columbia, out of any money in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $100,000."

SEC. 9. [Suspension of Act — outstanding insurance or claims — "end of the war" defined.] That the President is authorized whenever in his judgment the necessity of further war insurance by the United States shall have ceased to exist to suspend the operation of this Act, in so far as the Division of Marine and Seamen's Insurance is concerned, which suspension shall be made in any event within six months after the end of the war, but shall not affect any insurance outstanding at the time or any claims pending adjustment. For the purpose of the final adjustment of any such outstanding insurance or claims, the Division of Marine and Seamen's Insurance may, in the discretion of the President, be continued in existence for a period not exceeding three years after such suspension.

The words "end of the war" as used herein shall be deemed to mean the date of proclamation of exchange of ratification of the treaty of peace, unless the President shall, by proclamation, declare a prior date, in which case the date so proclaimed shall be deemed to be the "end of the war" within the meaning of this Act. [38 Stat. L. 712, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 105; 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 11, and the Act of July 11, 1918, ch. —, § 3. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 9. That the President is authorized whenever, in his judgment, the necessity of further war insurance by the United States shall have ceased to exist, to suspend the operations of this Act in so far as it authorizes insurance by the United States against loss or damage by risks of war, which suspension shall be made, at any event, within two years after the passage of this Act, but shall not affect any insurance outstanding at the time or any claims pending adjustment. For the purpose of the final adjustment of any such outstanding insurance or claims, the Bureau of War Risk Insurance may, in the discretion of the President, be continued in existence a further period not exceeding one year."

This section had previously been amended so as to require the suspension of the operations of the Act within three years from the date of its approval by the Act of Aug. 11, 1916, ch. 332, § 1, 39 Stat. L. 514, and had again been amended so as to require the suspension of the operation of the Act within four years from the date of its approval, by the Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 169, § 1, 39 Stat. L. 1131. But these Acts were both repealed by the Act of June 12, 1917, ch. 26, § 12, 40 Stat. L. 105.

SEC. 10. [Report of expenditures.] That a detailed statement of all expenditures under this Act and of all receipts hereunder shall be submitted to Congress at the beginning of each regular session. [38 Stat. L. 712.]

SEC. 11. [Time of taking effect.] That this Act shall take effect from and after its passage. [38 Stat. L. 712.]

SEC. 12. [Construction of sections — application to Division of Marine Insurance.] That sections two to seven, inclusive, and section nine, shall be construed to refer only to the Division of Marine and Seamen's Insurance. [40 Stat. L. 398.]

The foregoing section 12, the following sections 13-26, article II embracing sections 200-210, article III embracing sections 300-314, and article IV embracing sections 400-405, were added to this Act of Sept. 2, 1914, ch. 293, as previously amended, as new sections, by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, § 2, entitled "An Act To amend an Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department' approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, and for other purposes." Section 1 of the amendatory Act amended section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 889. Section 3 of the amendatory Act authorized the appointment of generals and is given infra, p. 1033.

Sections 2-7 and 9 of this Act, mentioned in this section, are given supra, p. 890 et seq.

SEC. 13. [Director — powers and duties — regulations — attorney's fees.] That the director, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall administer, execute, and enforce the provisions of this Act, and for that purpose have full power and authority to make rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, necessary or appropriate to carry out its purposes, and shall decide all questions arising under the Act, except as otherwise provided in section five. Wherever under any provision or provisions of the Act regulations are directed or authorized to be made, such regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, shall or may be made by the director, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. The director shall adopt reasonable and proper rules to govern the procedure of the divisions and to regulate and provide for the nature and extent of the proofs and evidence and the method of taking and furnishing the same in order to establish the right to benefits of allowance, allotment, compensation, or insurance provided for in this Act, the forms of application of those claiming to be entitled to such benefits, the methods of making investigations and medical examinations, and the manner and form of adjudications and awards: Provided, however, That payment to any attorney or agent for such assistance as may be required in the preparation and execution of the necessary papers shall not exceed $3 in any one case: And provided further, That no claim agent or attorney shall be recognized in the presentation or adjudication of claims under articles two, three, and four, except that in the event of disagreement as to a claim under the contract of insurance between the bureau and any beneficiary or beneficiaries thereunder an action on the claim may be brought against the United States in the district court of the United States in and for the district in which such beneficiaries or any one of them resides, and that whenever judgment shall be rendered in an action brought pursuant to this provision the court, as part of its judgment, shall determine and allow such reasonable attorney's fees, not to exceed five per centum of the amount recovered, to be paid by the claimant in behalf of whom such proceedings were instituted to his attorney, said fee to be paid out of the payments to be made to the beneficiary under the judgment rendered at a rate not exceeding one-tenth of each of such payments until paid.

Any person who shall, directly or indirectly, solicit, contract for, charge, or receive, or who shall attempt to solicit, contract for, charge, or receive any fee or compensation, except as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each and every offense shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment at hard labor for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [40 Stat. L. 399, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding section 12 of this Act.

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of May 20, 1918, ch. —, § 1, entitled "An Act To amend an Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department,' approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen," and an Act in amendment thereto, approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen."

As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 13. That the director, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall administer, execute, and enforce the provisions of this Act, and for that purpose have full power and authority to make rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, necessary or appropriate to carry out its purposes, and shall decide all questions arising under the Act, except as otherwise provided in sections five and four hundred and five. Wherever under any provision or provisions of the Act regulations are directed or authorized to be made, such regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, shall or may be made by the director, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. The director shall adopt reasonable and proper rules to govern the procedure of the divisions, to regulate the matter of the compensation, if any, but in no case to exceed ten per centum, to be paid to claim agents and attorneys for services in connection with any of the matters provided for in articles two, three, and four, and to regulate and provide for the nature and extent of the proofs and evidence and the method of taking and furnishing the same in order to establish the right to benefits of allowance, allotment, compensation, or insurance provided for in this Act, the forms of application of those claiming to be entitled to such benefits, the method of making investigations and medical examinations, and the manner and form of adjudications and awards."

SEC. 14. [Employees — surgeons of Army and Navy — advisory board.]

That the bureau and its divisions shall have such deputies, assistants, actuaries, clerks, and other employees as may be from time to time provided by Congress. The bureau shall, by arrangement with the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, respectively, make use of the services of surgeons in the Army and Navy. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to establish an advisory board consisting of three members skilled in the practice of insurance against death or disability for the purpose of assisting the Division of Military and Naval Insurance in fixing premium rates and in the adjustment of claims for losses under the contracts of insurance provided for in article four and in adjusting claims for compensation under article three; compensation for the persons so appointed to be determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, but not to exceed $20 a day each while actually employed. [40 Stat. L. 399.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 15. [Compelling attendance of witnesses — production of books, etc.— information from Government reports, etc.— disobedience of subpoena — contempt — mileage.] That for the purposes of this Act, the director, commissioners, and deputy commissioners shall have power to issue subpoenas for and compel the attendance of witnesses within a radius of one hundred miles, to require the production of books, papers, documents, and other evidence, to administer oaths and to examine witnesses upon any matter within the jurisdiction of the bureau. The director may obtain such information and such reports from officials and employees of the departments of the Government of the United States and of the States as may be agreed upon by the heads of the respective departments. In case of disobedience to a subpoena, the bureau may invoke the aid of any district court of the United States in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence, and such court within the jurisdiction of which the inquiry is carried on, may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any officer, agent, or employee of any corporation or other person, issue an order requiring such corporation or other person to appear before the bureau, or to give evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof. Any person so required to attend as a witness shall be allowed and paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses in the district court of the United States. [40 Stat. L. 399.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 16. [Annual estimates.] That the director shall submit annually to the Secretary of the Treasury estimates of the appropriations necessary for the work of the bureau. [40 Stat. L. 400.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

A detailed report of expenditures and receipts under this Act was required by section 10 thereof, supra, p. 895.

SEC. 17. [Appropriation for expenses, etc.—appointment of employees.] That for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act there is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $100,000, for the payment of all expenses incident to the work authorized under this Act, including salaries of the director and commissioners and of such deputies, assistants, accountants, experts, clerks, and other employees in the District of Columbia or elsewhere, as the Secretary of the Treasury may deem necessary, traveling expenses, rent and equipment of offices, typewriters and exchange of same, purchase of law books and books of reference, printing and binding to be done at the Government Printing Office, and all other necessary expenses. With the exception of the director, the commissioners, and such special experts as the Secretary of the Treasury may from time to time find necessary for the conduct of the work of the bureau, all employees of the bureau shall be appointed from lists of eligibles to be supplied by the Civil Service Commission and in accordance with the civil service law. Such fees, allowances, and salaries shall be the same as are paid for similar services in other departments of the Government. [40 Stat. L. 400.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 18. [Appropriation for payment of family allowance — payments.] That there is hereby appropriated from any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $141,000,000, to be known as the military and naval family allowance appropriation, for the payment of the family allowances provided by Article II. Payments out of this appropriation shall be made upon and in accordance with the awards by the Commissioner of the Division of Military and Naval Insurance. [40 Stat. L. 400.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

Article II of this Act, mentioned in this section, is given infra, p. 903.

SEC. 19. [Appropriation for funeral expenses, supplies, etc.—payments.] That there is hereby appropriated, from any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $12,150,000, to be known as the military and naval compensation appropriation, for the payment of the compensation, funeral expenses, services, and supplies provided by Article III. Payments out of this appropriation shall be made upon and in accordance with awards by the director. [40 Stat L. 400.]

SEC. 20. [Appropriation for military and naval insurance — premiums credited — payments.] That there is hereby appropriated, from any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $23,000,000, to be known as the military and naval insurance appropriation. All premiums that may be collected for the insurance provided by the provisions of Article IV shall be deposited and covered into the Treasury to the credit of this appropriation.

Such sum, including all premium payments, is hereby made available for the payment of the liabilities of the United States incurred under contracts of insurance made under the provisions of Article IV. Payments from this appropriation shall be made upon and in accordance with awards by the director. [40 Stat. L. 400.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

Article IV of this Act, mentioned in this section, is given infra, p. 916.

SEC. 21. [Military and naval pay deposit fund.] That there shall be set aside as a separate fund in the Treasury, to be known as the military and naval pay deposit fund, all sums held out of pay as provided by section two hundred and three of this Act. Such fund, including all additions, is hereby made available for the payment of the sums so held and deposited, with interest, as provided in section two hundred and three, and the amount necessary to pay interest is hereby appropriated. [40 Stat. L. 400.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

Section 203 of this Act, mentioned in this section, is given infra, p. 904.

SEC. 22. [Marriage — how proved — definitions.] That for the purpose of this amendatory Act the marriage of the claimant to the person on account of whom the claim is made shall be shown —

- (1) By a duly verified copy of a public or church record; or
- (2) By the affidavit of the clergyman or magistrate who officiated; or
- (3) By the testimony of two or more eyewitnesses to the ceremony; or
- (4) By a duly verified copy of the church record of baptism of the children; or

(5) By the testimony of two or more witnesses who know that the parties lived together as husband and wife, and were recognized as such, and who shall state how long, within their knowledge, such relation continued: Provided, That marriages, except such as are mentioned in section forty-seven hundred and five of the Revised Statutes, shall be proven in compensation or insurance cases to be legal marriages according to the law of the place where the parties resided at the time of marriage or at the time when the right to compensation or insurance accrued; and the open and notorious illicit cohabitation of a widow who is a claimant shall operate to terminate her right to compensation or insurance from the commencement of such cohabitation: Provided further, That for the purpose of the administration of Article II of this Act marriage shall be conclusively presumed, in the absence of proof, that there is a legal spouse living, if the man and woman have lived together in the openly acknowledged relation of husband and wife during the two years immediately preceding the date of the declaration of war, or the date of enlistment or of entrance into or employment in active service in the military or naval forces of the United States if subsequent to such declaration.

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 1, the amendment consisting of the addition of the words "father through adoption, mother through adoption" in subdivision (4).

For R. S. sec. 4705, mentioned in this section, see PENSIONS, vol. 5, p. 631.

SEC. 23. [Payment to guardian, curator, etc., of minor or person mentally incompetent, etc.] That when, by the terms of this amendatory Act, any payment is to be made to a minor, other than a person in the military or naval forces of the United States, or to a person mentally incompetent, such payment shall be made to the person who is constituted guardian or curator by the laws of the State or residence of claimant, or is otherwise legally vested with responsibility or care of the claimant. [40 Stat. L. 402.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 24. [Duties of Bureau with respect of insurance of persons in Military or Naval Service.] That the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, so far as practicable, shall upon request furnish information to and act for persons in the military or naval service, with respect to any contracts of insurance whether with the Government or otherwise, as may be prescribed by regulations. Said bureau may upon request procure from and keep a record of the amount and kind of insurance held by every commissioned and appointive officer and of every enlisted man in the military or naval service of the United States, including the name and principal place of business of the company, society, or organization in which such insurance is held, the date of the policy, amount of premium, name and relationship of the beneficiary, and such other data as may be deemed of service in protecting the interests of the insured and beneficiaries. [40 Stat. L. 402.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 25. [Making false claims for allowances, etc.—penalty.] That whoever in any claim for family allowance, compensation, or insurance, or in any document required by this Act or by regulation made under this Act, makes any statement of a material fact knowing it to be false, shall be guilty of perjury and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both. [40 Stat. L. 402.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 26. [Fraudulently accepting payment of allowances, etc.—penalty.] That if any person entitled to payment of family allowance or compensation under this Act, whose right to such payment under this Act ceases upon the happening of any contingency, thereafter fraudulently accepts any such payment, he shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. [40 Stat. L. 402.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 27. [Improperly obtaining allotment, insurance, etc.—penalty.] That whoever shall obtain or receive any money, check, allotment, family allowance, compensation, or insurance under Articles II, III, or IV of this Act, without being entitled thereto, with intent to defraud the United States or any person in the military or naval forces of the United States, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. [40 Stat. L. —.]

The foregoing section 27, and the following sections 28, 29, 30, were added to this Act by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 2.

SEC. 28. [Assignment of allotments, etc.—taxation — claims by United States.] That the allotments and family allowances, compensation, and insurance payable under Articles II, III, and IV, respectively, shall not be assignable; shall not be subject to the claims of creditors of any person to whom an award is made under Articles II, III, or IV; and shall be exempt from all taxation: Provided, That such allotments and family allowances, compensation, and insurance shall be subject to any claims which the United States may have, under Articles II, III, and IV, against the person on whose account the allotments and family allowances, compensation, or insurance is payable. [40 Stat. L. —.]

See the note to the preceding section 27 of this Act.

SEC. 29. [Effect of other than honorable discharge.] That the discharge or dismissal of any person from the military or naval forces on the ground that he is an enemy alien, conscientious objector, or a deserter, or as guilty of mutiny, treason, spying, or any offense involving moral turpitude, or willful and persistent misconduct shall terminate any insurance granted on the life of such person under the provisions of Article IV, and shall bar all rights to any compensation under Article III or any insurance under Article IV. [40 Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 27 of this Act, supra, p. 902.

SEC. 30. [Title of Act.] That this Act may be cited as the war-risk insurance Act. [40 Stat. L. —.]

See the note to section 27 of this Act, supra, p. 902.

ARTICLE II.

ALLOTMENTS AND FAMILY ALLOWANCES.

SEC. 200. [Application of article.] That the provisions of this article shall apply to all enlisted men in the military or naval forces of the United States, except the Philippine Scouts, the insular force of the navy, and the Samoan native guard and band of the Navy. [40 Stat. L. 402, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 3. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 200. That the provisions of this article shall apply to all enlisted men in the military or naval forces of the United States."

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 201. [Allotment of pay — compulsory or voluntary — waiver — amount.] That allotment of pay shall, subject to the conditions limitations, and exceptions hereinafter specified, be compulsory as to wife, a former wife divorced who has not remarried and to whom alimony has been decreed, and a child, and voluntary as to any other person; but on the written consent of the wife or former wife divorced, supported by evidence satisfactory to the bureau of her ability to support herself and the children in her custody, the allotment for her and for such children may be waived; and on the enlisted man's application or otherwise for good cause shown, exemption from the allotment may be granted upon such conditions as may be prescribed by regulations.

The monthly compulsory allotment shall be $15. For a wife living separate and apart from her husband under court order or written agreement, or for a former wife divorced, the monthly compulsory allotment shall not exceed the amount specified in the court order, decree, or written agreement to be paid to her, and for an illegitimate child, to whose support the father has been judicially ordered or decreed to contribute, it shall not exceed the amount fixed in the order or decree.

If there is a compulsory allotment for a wife or child, then a former wife divorced who has not remarried and to whom alimony has been decreed, shall not be entitled to a compulsory allotment, but shall be entitled to a family allowance as hereinafter provided. [40 Stat. L. 402, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

The second and third paragraphs of this section were amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 4. As originally enacted they were as follows:

"The monthly compulsory allotment shall be in an amount equal to the family allowance hereinafter specified except that it shall not be more than one-half the pay, or less than $15; but for a wife living separate and apart under court order or written agreement or for a former wife divorced, it shall not exceed the amount specified in the court order, decree, or written agreement to be paid to her. For an illegitimate child, to whose support the father has been judicially ordered or decreed to contribute, it shall not exceed the amount fixed in the order or decree.

"If there be an allotment for a wife or child, a former wife divorced and who has not remarried shall be entitled to a compulsory allotment only out of the difference, if any, between the allotment for the wife or child or both and one-half of the pay."

Said Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 9, provided that said amendatory section 4 should take effect on July 1, 1918.

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 202. [Allotment of pay remaining after compulsory allotment.]

That the enlisted man may allot any proportion or proportions or any fixed amount or amounts of his monthly pay or of the proportion thereof remaining after the compulsory allotment, for such purposes and for the benefit of such person or persons as he may direct, subject, however, to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed under regulations to be made by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, respectively. [40 Stat. L. 403.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 203. [Deposit of unallotted part of one-half of pay — interest — disposition.] That in case one-half of an enlisted man's monthly pay is not allotted, regulations to be made by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, respectively, may require, under such circumstances and conditions as may be prescribed in such regulations, that any proportion of such one-half pay as is not allotted shall be deposited to his credit, to be held during such period of his service as may be prescribed. Such deposit shall bear interest at the same rate as United States bonds bear for the same period, and, when payable, shall be paid principal and interest to the enlisted man, if living, otherwise to any beneficiary or beneficiaries he may have designated, or if there be no such beneficiary, then to the person or persons who, under the laws of the State of his residence, would be entitled to his personal property in case of intestacy. [40 Stat. L. 403, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 5. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"Sec. 203. That in case one-half of an enlisted man's monthly pay is not allotted, regulations to be made by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, respectively, may require, under such circumstances and conditions as may be prescribed in such regulations, that any proportion of such one-half pay as is not allotted shall be deposited to his credit, to be held during such period of his service as may be prescribed. Such deposits shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, with semiannual rests and, when payable, shall be paid principal and interest to the enlisted man, if living, otherwise to any beneficiary or beneficiaries as he may have designated, or if there be no such beneficiary, then to the person or persons who would under the laws of the State of his residence be entitled to his personal property in case of intestacy."

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

The sums held out of pay as provided by this section are to be set aside as a separate fund in the Treasury, to be known as the military and naval pay deposit fund by section 21 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

SEC. 204. [Family allowance — amount.] That a family allowance of not exceeding $50 per month shall be granted and paid by the United States upon written application to the bureau by such enlisted man or by or on behalf of any prospective beneficiary, in accordance with and subject to the conditions, limitations, and exceptions hereinafter specified.

The family allowance shall be paid from the time of enlistment to death in or one month after discharge from the service, but not for more than one month after the termination of the present war emergency. No family allowance shall be made for any period preceding November first, nineteen hundred and seventeen. The payment shall be subject to such regulations as may be prescribed relative to cases of desertion and imprisonment and of missing men.

Subject to the conditions, limitations, and exceptions hereinabove and hereinafter specified, the family allowance payable per month shall be as follows:

Class A. In the case of a man to his wife (including a former wife divorced) and to his child or children —

- (a) If there is a wife but no child, $15;
- (b) If there is a wife and one child, $25;
- (c) If there is a wife and two children, $32.50, with $5 per month additional for each additional child;
- (d) If there is no wife, but one child, $5;
- (e) If there is no wife, but two children, $12.50;
- (f) If there is no wife, but three children, $20;
- (g) If there is no wife, but four children, $30, with $5 per month additional for each additional child;
- (h) If there is a former wife divorced who has not remarried and to whom alimony has been decreed, $15.

Class B. In the case of a man or woman to a grandchild, a parent, brother, or sister —

- (a) If there is one parent, $10;
- (b) If there are two parents, $20;
- (c) If there is a grandchild, brother, sister, or additional parent, $5 for each.

In the case of a woman, the family allowances for a husband and children shall be in the same amounts, respectively, as are payable, in the case of a man, to a wife and children, provided she makes a voluntary allotment of $15 as a basis therefor, and provided, further, that dependency exists as required in section two hundred and six. [40 Stat. L. 403, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

The third paragraph of this section was amended to read as given in the text, and the fourth paragraph was added, by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 6. As originally enacted paragraph 3 was as follows:

"Class A. In the case of a man, to his wife (including a former wife divorced) and to his child or children:

- "(a) If there be a wife but no child, $15.
- "(b) If there be a wife and one child, $25.
- "(c) If there be a wife and two children, $32.50, with $5 per month additional for each additional child.
- "(d) If there be no wife, but one child, $5.
- "(e) If there be no wife, but two children, $12.50.
- "(f) If there be no wife, but three children, $20.
- "(g) If there be no wife, but four children, $30, with $5 per month additional for each additional child.

"Class B. In the case of a man or woman, to a grandchild, a parent, brother, or sister:

- "(a) If there be one parent, $10.
- "(b) If there be two parents, $20.
- "(c) For each grandchild, brother, sister, and additional parent, $5.
- "In the case of a woman, to a child or children:
- "(d) If there be one child, $5.
- "(e) If there be two children, $12.50.
- "(f) If there be three children, $20.
- "(g) If there be four children, $30, with $5 per month additional for each additional child."

Said Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 9, provided that said amendatory section 6 should take effect on July 1, 1918.

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

An appropriation for the payment of allowances provided by this article II was made by section 18 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

Provisions relating to evidence of marriage, and defining various beneficiaries, were made by section 22 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

SEC. 205. [Family allowance to members of Class A—when paid.]

That family allowances for members of Class A shall be paid only if and while a compulsory allotment is made to a member or members of such class. The monthly family allowance to a former wife divorced shall be payable only out of the difference, if any, between the monthly family allowance to the other members of Class A and the sum of $50, and only then if alimony shall have been decreed to her. For a wife living separate and apart under court order or written agreement or to a former wife divorced the monthly allowance, together with the allotment, if any, shall not exceed the amount specified in the court order, decree, or written agreement to be paid to her. For an illegitimate child, to whose support the father has been judicially ordered or decreed to contribute, it shall not exceed the amount fixed in the order or decree. [40 Stat. L. 404.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 206. [Family allowance to members of Class B—when paid.]

That family allowances to members of class B shall be paid only if and while the members are dependent in whole or in part on the enlisted man, and then only if and while the enlisted man makes a monthly allotment of his pay for such members in the following amounts:

(a) If an enlisted man is not making a compulsory allotment for class A the allotment for class B required as a condition to the family allowance shall be $15;

(b) If an enlisted man is making a compulsory allotment for class A the additional allotment for class B required as a condition to the family allowance shall be $5, or if a woman is making an allotment of $15 for a dependent husband or child the additional allotment for the other members of class B required as a condition to the family allowance shall be $5. [40 Stat. L. 404, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 7. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"Sec. 206. That family allowances to members of Class B shall be granted only if and while the member is dependent in whole or in part on the enlisted man, and then only if and while the enlisted man makes a monthly allotment of his pay for such member or members equal to the amount of the monthly family allowance as hereinabove specified, except that—

"(a) The maximum monthly allotment so required to be made to members of Class B shall be one-half of his pay.

"(b) If he is making no allotment to a member of Class A, the minimum monthly allotment so designated to be made to members of Class B shall be $15 per month.

"(c) If he is making the compulsory allotment to a member of Class A, the minimum monthly allotment so designated to be made to members of Class B shall be one-seventh of his pay, but not less than $5 per month.

"On the enlisted man's application, or otherwise for good cause shown, exemption from this additional allotment under Class B as a condition to the allowance may be granted, upon such conditions as may be prescribed by regulations."

Said Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 9, provided that said amendatory section 7 should take effect on July 1, 1918.

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 207. [Family allowance to members of Class B — amount — limitations.] That the amount of the family allowance to members of Class B shall be subject to each of the following limitations:

(a) If an allowance is paid to one or more beneficiaries of Class A, the total allowance to be paid to the beneficiaries of Class B shall not exceed the difference between the allowance paid to the beneficiaries of Class A and the sum of $50.

(b) The total monthly allowance to beneficiaries of Class B added to the enlisted man's monthly allotment to them shall not exceed the average sum habitually contributed by him to their support monthly during the period of dependency but not exceeding a year immediately preceding his enlistment or the enactment of this amendatory Act. [40 Stat. L. 404.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 208. [Apportionment between members of Class A and Class B.] That as between the members of Class A and as between the members of Class B, the amount of the allotment and family allowance shall be apportioned as may be prescribed by regulations. [40 Stat. L. 404.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 209. [Payment of allotments and allowances.] The War and Navy Departments, respectively, shall pay over to the Treasury Department monthly the entire amount of such allotments for distribution to the beneficiaries, and the allotments and family allowances shall be paid by the bureau to or for the beneficiaries. [40 Stat. L. 404.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 210. [Investigation of applications for family allowances.] That upon receipt of any application for family allowance the commissioner shall make all proper investigations and shall make an award, on the basis of which award the amount of the allotments to be made by the man shall be certified to the War Department or Navy Department, as may be proper. Whenever the commissioner shall have reason to believe that an allowance has been improperly made or that the conditions have changed, he shall investigate and reinvestigate and may modify the award. The amount of each monthly allotment and allowance shall be determined according to the family conditions existing on the first day of the month. [40 Stat. L. 404, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 8. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 210. That upon receipt of any application for family allowance the commissioner shall make all proper investigations and shall make an award, on the basis of which award the amount of the allotments to be made by the man shall be certified to the War Department or Navy Department, as may be proper. Whenever the commissioner shall have reason to believe that an allowance has been improperly made or that the conditions have changed, he shall investigate or reinvestigate and may modify the award. The amount of each monthly allotment and allowance shall be determined according to the conditions then existing."

Said Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 9, provided that said amendatory section 8 should take effect on July 1, 1918.

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

ARTICLE III.

COMPENSATION FOR DEATH OR DISABILITY.

SEC. 300. [Compensation for death or disability.] That for death or disability resulting from personal injury suffered or disease contracted in the line of duty, by any commissioned officer or enlisted man or by any member of the Army Nurse Corps (female) or of the Navy Nurse Corps (female) when employed in the active service under the War Department or Navy Department, the United States shall pay compensation as hereinafter provided; but no compensation shall be paid if the injury or disease has been caused by his own willful misconduct: Provided, That for the purposes of this section said officer, enlisted man, or other member shall be held and taken to have been in sound condition when examined, accepted, and enrolled for service: Provided further, That this section, as amended, shall be deemed to become effective as of October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [40 Stat. L. 405, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 10. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 300. That for death or disability resulting from personal injury suffered or disease contracted in the line of duty, by any commissioned officer or enlisted man or by any member of the Army Nurse Corps (female) or of the Navy Nurse Corps (female) when employed in the active service under the War Department or Navy Department, the United States shall pay compensation as hereinafter provided; but no compensation shall be paid if the injury or disease has been caused by his own willful misconduct."

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 301. [Compensation for death — amount — funeral expenses — duration of compensation — "widow" defined.] That if death results from injury —

If the deceased leaves a widow or child, or if he leaves a mother or father either or both dependent upon him for support, the monthly compensation shall be the following amounts:

- (a) If there is a widow but no child, $25;
- (b) If there is a widow and one child, $35;
- (c) If there is a widow and two children, $42.50; with $5 for each additional child up to two;
- (d) If there is no widow, but one child, $20;
- (e) If there is no widow, but two children, $30;
- (f) If there is no widow, but three children, $40, with $5 for each additional child up to two;
- (g) If there is a dependent mother (or dependent father), $20, or both, $30. The amount payable under this subdivision shall not exceed the difference between the total amount payable to the widow and children and the sum of $75. This compensation shall be payable for the death of but one child, and no compensation for the death of a child shall be payable if the dependent mother is in receipt of compensation under the provisions of this article for the death of her husband. Such compensation shall be payable whether the dependency of the father or mother or both arises before or after the death of the person, but no compensation shall be payable if the dependency arises more than five years after the death of the person.

If the death occurs before discharge or resignation from service, the United States shall pay for burial expenses and the return of the body to his home a sum not to exceed $100, as may be fixed by regulations.

The payment of compensation to a widow shall continue until her death or remarriage.

The payment of compensation to or for a child shall continue until such child reaches the age of eighteen years or marries, or if such child is incapable, because of insanity, idiocy, or being otherwise permanently helpless, then during such incapacity.

Whenever the compensation payable to or for the benefit of any person under the provisions of this section is terminated by the happening of the contingency upon which it is limited, the compensation thereafter for the remaining beneficiary or beneficiaries, if any, shall be the amount which would have been payable to them if they had been the sole original beneficiaries.

As between the widow and the children not in her custody, and as between children, the amount of the compensation shall be apportioned as may be prescribed by regulation.

The term "widow" as used in this section shall not include one who shall have married the deceased later than ten years after the time of injury, and shall include a widower, whenever his condition is such that, if the deceased person were living, he would have been dependent upon her for support. [40 Stat. L. 405, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 11. As originally enacted it was as follows:

SEC. 301. That if death results from injury —

"If the deceased leaves a widow or child, or if he leaves a widowed mother dependent upon him for support, the monthly compensation shall be the following amounts:

"(a) For a widow alone, $25.
 "(b) For a widow and one child, $35.
 "(c) For a widow and two children, $47.50, with $5 for each additional child up to two.

"(d) If there be no widow, then for one child, $20.

"(e) For two children, $30.

"(f) For three children, $40, with $5 for each additional child up to two.

"(g) For a widowed mother, $20. The amount payable under this subdivision shall not be greater than a sum which, when added to the total amount payable to the widow and children, does not exceed $75. This compensation shall be payable for the death of but one child, and no compensation for the death of a child shall be payable if such widowed mother is in receipt of compensation under the provisions of this article for the death of her husband. Such compensation shall be payable whether her widowhood arises before or after the death of the person and whenever her condition is such that if the person were living the widowed mother would have been dependent upon him for support.

"If the death occur before discharge or resignation from service, the United States shall pay for burial expenses and the return of body to his home a sum not to exceed $100, as may be fixed by regulations.

"The payment of compensation to a widow or widowed mother shall continue until her death or remarriage.

"The payment of compensation to or for a child shall continue until such child reaches the age of eighteen years or marries, or if such child be incapable, because of insanity, idiocy, or being otherwise permanently helpless, then during such incapacity.

"Whenever the compensation payable to or for the benefit of any person under the provisions of this section is terminated by the happening of the contingency upon which it is limited, the compensation thereafter for the remaining beneficiary or beneficiaries, if any, shall be the amount which would have been payable to them if they had been the sole original beneficiaries.

"As between the widow and the children not in her custody, and as between children, the amount of the compensation shall be apportioned as may be prescribed by regulations. The word 'widow' as used in this section shall not include one who shall have married the deceased later than ten years after the time of injury."

Section 15 of said amendatory Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, was as follows:

"SEC. 15. That where section three hundred and one of said Act is amended by striking out the provisions that a mother is entitled to compensation only when she is widowed and substitute provisions are included to the effect that compensation is payable to a dependent mother or dependent father, such substitute provisions shall be deemed to be in effect as of October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen."

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

An appropriation for the payment of compensation, etc., provided by this article III, was made by section 19 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

Provisions relating to evidence of marriage, and defining various beneficiaries, were made by section 22 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

SEC. 302. [Compensation for disability — amount.] That if disability results from the injury —

(1) If and while the disability is total, the monthly compensation shall be the following amounts:

- (a) If the disabled person has neither wife or child living, $30;
- (b) If he has a wife but no child living, $45;
- (c) If he has a wife and one child living, $55;
- (d) If he has a wife and two children living, $65;
- (e) If he has a wife and three or more children living, $75;
- (f) If he has no wife but one child living, $40, with $10 for each additional child up to two;
- (g) If he has a mother or father, either or both dependent on him for support, then in addition to the above amounts, $10 for each;
- (h) If he is totally disabled and in addition so helpless as to be in constant need of a nurse or attendant, such additional sum shall be paid, but not exceeding $20 per month, as the director may deem reasonable: Provided, however, That for the loss of both feet or both hands or both eyes, or for becoming totally blind or becoming helpless and permanently bedridden from causes occurring in the line of duty in the service of the United States, the rate of compensation shall be $100 per month: Provided further, That where the rate of compensation is $100 per month, no allowance shall be made for a nurse or attendant.

(2) If and while the disability is partial, the monthly compensation shall be a percentage of the compensation that would be payable for his total disability, equal to the degree of the reduction in earning capacity resulting from the disability, but no compensation shall be payable for a reduction in earning capacity rated at less than ten per centum.

A schedule of ratings of reductions in earning capacity from specific injuries or combinations of injuries of a permanent nature shall be adopted and applied by the bureau. Ratings may be as high as one hundred per centum. The ratings shall be based, as far as practicable, upon the average impairments of earning capacity resulting from such injuries in civil occupations and not upon the impairment in earning capacity in each individual case, so that there shall be no reduction in the rate of compensation for individual success in overcoming the handicap of a permanent injury. The bureau shall from time to time readjust this schedule of ratings in accordance with actual experience.

(3) In addition to the compensation above provided, the injured person shall be furnished by the United States such reasonable governmental, medical, surgical, and hospital services and with such supplies, including artificial limbs, trusses, and similar appliances, as the director may determine to be useful and reasonably necessary: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall be construed to affect the necessary military control over any member of the military or naval establishments before he shall have been discharged from the military or naval service.

(4) The amount of each monthly payment shall be determined according to the family conditions existing on the first day of the month.

(5) Where the disabled person and his wife are not living together, or where the children are not in the custody of the disabled person, the amount of the compensation shall be apportioned as may be prescribed by regulations.

(6) The term "wife" as used in this section shall include "husband" if the husband is dependent upon the wife for support. [40 Stat. L. 406, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

Subdivision (1) of this section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 12. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"(1) If and while the disability is total, the monthly compensation shall be the following amounts:

"(a) If he has neither wife nor child living, $30.

"(b) If he has a wife but no child living, $45.

"(c) If he has a wife and one child living, $55.

"(d) If he has a wife and two children living, $65.

"(e) If he has a wife and three or more children living, $75.

"(f) If he has no wife but one child living, $40, with $10 for each additional child up to two.

"(g) If he has a widowed mother dependent on him for support, then, in addition to the above amounts, $10.

"To an injured person who is totally disabled and in addition so helpless as to be in constant need of a nurse or attendant, such additional sum shall be paid, but not exceeding $20 per month, as the director may deem reasonable: Provided, however, That for the loss of both feet or both hands or both eyes, or for becoming totally blind or helpless and permanently bedridden from causes occurring in the line of duty in the service of the United States, the rate of compensation shall be $100 per month: Provided further, That no allowance shall be made for nurse or attendant."

Subdivision (4) of this section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 13. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"(4) The amount of each monthly payment shall be determined according to the family conditions then existing."

New subdivisions "(5)" and "(6)" were added to this section as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 14.

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896, and the preceding section 301.

SEC. 303. [Medical examination of applicant for compensation for disability — expenses — effect of refusal to submit.] That every person applying for or in receipt of compensation for disability under the provisions of this article shall, as frequently and at such times and places as may be reasonably required, submit himself to examination by a medical officer of the United States or by a duly qualified physician designated or approved by the director. He may have a duly qualified physician designated and paid by him present to participate in such examination. For all examinations he shall, in the discretion of the director, be paid his reasonable traveling and other expenses and also loss of wages incurred in order to submit to such examination. If he refuses to submit himself for, or in any way obstructs, any examination, his right to claim compensation under this article shall be suspended until such refusal or obstruction ceases. No compensation shall be payable while such refusal or obstruction continues, and no compensation shall be payable for the intervening period.

Every person in receipt of compensation for disability shall submit to any reasonable medical or surgical treatment furnished by the bureau whenever requested by the bureau and the consequences of unreasonable refusal to submit to any such treatment shall not be deemed to result from the injury compensated for. [40 Stat. L. 406.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 304. [Rehabilitation, re-education, and vocational training.]

This section was added by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, § 2, and repealed by the Act of June 27, 1918, ch. —, § 10 (see ante, p. 879). The section read as follows:

"That in cases of dismemberment, or injuries to sight or hearing, and of other injuries commonly causing permanent disability, the injured person shall follow such course or courses of rehabilitation, re-education, and vocational training as the United States may provide or procure to be provided. Should such course prevent the injured person from following a substantially gainful occupation while taking same, a form of enlistment may be required which shall bring the injured person into the military or naval service. Such enlistment shall entitle the person to full pay as during the last month of his active service, and his family to family allowances and allotment as hereinbefore provided, in lieu of all other compensation for the time being.

SEC. 305. [Review of awards.] That upon its own motion or upon application the bureau may at any time review an award, and, in accordance with the facts found upon such review, may end, diminish, or increase the compensation previously awarded, or, if compensation has been refused or discontinued, may award compensation. [40 Stat. L. 407.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 306. [Time of death or disability as affecting compensation.] That no compensation shall be payable for death or disability which does not occur prior to or within one year after discharge or resignation from the service, except that where, after a medical examination made pursuant to regulations, at the time of discharge or resignation from the service, or within such reasonable time thereafter, not exceeding one year, as may be allowed by regulations, a certificate has been obtained from the director to the effect that the injured person at the time of his discharge or resignation was suffering from injury likely to result in death or disability, compensation shall be payable for death or disability, whenever occurring, proximately resulting from such injury. [40 Stat. L. 407.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 307. [Time of payment of compensation for death — payment for time man is reported "missing."] That compensation shall not be payable for death in the course of the service until the death be officially recorded in the department under which he may be serving. No compensation shall be payable for a period during which the man has been reported "missing" and a family allowance has been paid for him under the provisions of Article II. [40 Stat. L. 407.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 308. [Compensation for death inflicted as punishment — exceptions — dismissal or dishonorable discharge.] That no compensation shall be payable for death inflicted as a lawful punishment for a crime or military offense except when inflicted by the enemy. A dismissal or dishonorable or bad conduct discharge from the service shall bar and terminate all right to any compensation under the provisions of this article. [40 Stat. L. 407.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 309. [Limitation of time for filing claim.] That no compensation shall be payable unless a claim therefor be filed, in case of disability, within five years after discharge or resignation from the service, or, in case of death during the service, within five years after such death is officially recorded in the department under which he may be serving: Provided, however, That where compensation is payable for death or disability occurring after discharge or resignation from the service, claim must be made within five years after such death or the beginning of such disability.

The time herein provided, may be extended by the director not to exceed one year for good cause shown. If at the time that any right accrues to any person under the provisions of this article, such person is a minor, or is of unsound mind or physically unable to make a claim, the time herein provided shall not begin to run until such disability ceases. [40 Stat. L. 407.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 310. [Compensation prior to claim.] That no compensation shall be payable for any period more than two years prior to the date of claim therefor, nor shall increased compensation be awarded to revert back more than one year prior to the date of claim therefor. [40 Stat. L. 408.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 311. [Assignment of compensation — attachment, execution and taxation — repealed.] That compensation under this article shall not be assignable, and shall be exempt from attachment and execution and from all taxation. [40 Stat. L. 408.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

This section was repealed by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 16, — Stat. L. —.

SEC. 312. [Effect of service or retirement pay — application of pension laws.] That compensation under this article shall not be paid while the person is in receipt of service or retirement pay. The laws providing for gratuities or payments in the event of death in the service and existing pension laws shall not be applicable after the enactment of this amendment to any person in the active military or naval service on the sixth day of October, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or who thereafter entered the active military or naval service, or to their widows, children, or their dependents, except in so far as rights under any such law have heretofore accrued.

Compensation because of disability or death of members of the Army Nurse Corps (female) or of the Navy Nurse Corps (female) shall be in lieu of any compensation for such disability or death under the Act entitled "An Act to provide compensation for employees of the United States suffering injuries while in the performance of their duties, and for other purposes," approved September seventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen. [40 Stat. L. 408, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

"SEC. 312. That compensation under this article shall not be paid while the person is in receipt of service or retirement pay. The laws providing for gratuities or payments in the event of death in the service and existing pension laws shall not be applicable after the enactment of this amendment to persons now in or hereafter entering the military or naval service, or to their widows, children, or their dependents, except in so far as rights under any such law shall have heretofore accrued.

"Compensation because of disability or death of members of the Army Nurse Corps (female) or of the Navy Nurse Corps (female) shall be in lieu of any compensation for such disability or death under the Act entitled 'An Act to provide compensation for employees of the United States suffering injuries while in the performance of their duties, and for other purposes,' approved September seventh, nineteen hundred and sixteen."

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

For the Act of Sept. 7, 1916, ch. 458, mentioned in this section, see Pamph. Supp. No. 8, Fed. Stat. Ann. p. 141.

SEC. 313. [Assignment to United States of right of action for injuries or death — prosecution.] (1) That if an injury or death for which compensation is payable under this article is caused under circumstances creating a legal liability upon some person other than the United States or the enemy to pay damages therefor, the director, as a condition to payment of compensation by the United States, may require the beneficiary to assign to the United States any right of action he may have to enforce such liability of such other person, or if it appears to be for the best interests of the beneficiary the director may require him to prosecute the said action in his own name, subject to regulations. The director may require such assignment or prosecution at any time after the injury or death, and the failure on the part of the beneficiary to so assign or to prosecute said cause of action in his own name within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the director, shall bar any right to compensation on account of the same injury or death. The cause of action so assigned to the United States may be prosecuted or compromised by the director, and any money realized or collected thereon, less the reasonable expenses of such realization or collection, shall be placed to the credit of the military and naval compensation appropriation. If the amount placed to the credit of such appropriation in such case is in excess of the amount of the award of compensation, if any, such excess shall be paid to the beneficiary after any compensation award for the same injury or death is made.

If a beneficiary or conditional beneficiary shall have recovered, as a result of a suit brought by him or on his behalf, or as a result of a settlement made by him or on his behalf, any money or other property in satisfaction of the liability of such other person, such money or other property so recovered shall be credited upon any compensation payable, or which may become payable to such beneficiary, or conditional beneficiary by the United States on account of the same injury or death.

(2) If an injury or death for which compensation may be payable under this article is caused under circumstances creating a legal liability upon some person, other than the United States or the enemy, to pay damages therefor, then, in order to preserve the right of action, the director may require the conditional beneficiary at any time after the injury or death, to assign such right of action to the United States, or, if it appears to be for the best interests of such conditional beneficiary, to prosecute the said cause of action in his own name, subject to regulations. The failure on the part of the beneficiary to so assign or to prosecute the said cause of action in his own name within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the director, shall bar any right to compensation on account of the same injury or death. The cause of action so assigned may be prosecuted or compromised by the director, and any money realized or collected thereon, less the reasonable expenses of such realization or collection, shall be paid to such beneficiary, and be credited upon any future compensation which may become payable to such beneficiary by the United States on account of the same injury or death.

(3) The bureau shall make all necessary regulations for carrying out the purposes of this section. For the purposes of computation only under this section the total amount of compensation due any beneficiary shall be deemed to be equivalent to a lump sum equal to the present value of all future payments of compensation computed as of the date of the award of compensation at four per centum, true discount, compounded annually. The probability of the beneficiary's death before the expiration of the period during which he is entitled to compensation shall be determined according to the American Experience Table of Mortality.

A conditional beneficiary is any person who may become entitled to compensation under this article on or after the death of the injured person.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to impose any administrative duties upon the War or Navy Departments. [40 Stat. L. 408, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 18. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 313. That if an injury or death for which compensation is payable under this amendatory Act is caused under circumstances creating a legal liability upon some person other than the United States or the enemy to pay damages therefor, the director, as a condition to payment of compensation by the United States, shall require the beneficiary to assign to the United States any right of action he may have to enforce such liability of such other person or any right which he may have to share in any money or other property received in satisfaction of such liability of such other person. The cause of action so assigned to the United States may be prosecuted or compromised by the director and any money realized thereon shall be placed to the credit of the compensation fund."

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 314. [Pensions for service in Civil War, War with Spain, or Philippine Insurrection.] That from and after the passage of this Act the rate of pension for a widow of an officer or enlisted man of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States who served in the Civil War, the War with Spain, or the Philippine Insurrection, now on the pension roll or hereafter to be placed on the pension roll, and entitled to receive a less rate than hereinafter provided, shall be $25 per month; and nothing herein shall be construed to affect the additional allowance provided by existing pension laws on account of a helpless child or child under sixteen years of age: Provided, however, That this Act shall not be so construed as to reduce any pension under any Act, public or private: And provided further, That the provisions of this section shall be administered, executed, and enforced by the Commissioner of Pensions. [40 Stat. L. 408.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

ARTICLE IV.

INSURANCE.

SEC. 400. [Insurance.] That in order to give to every commissioned officer and enlisted man and to every member of the Army Nurse Corps (female) and of the Navy Nurse Corps (female) when employed in active service under the War Department or Navy Department greater protection for themselves and their dependents than is provided in Article III, the United States, upon application to the bureau and without medical examination, shall grant insurance against the death or total permanent disability of any such person in any multiple of $500, and not less than $1,000 or more than $10,000, upon the payment of the premiums as hereinafter provided. [40 Stat. L. 409.]

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 401. [Time for application — effect of death before application.] That such insurance must be applied for within one hundred and twenty days after enlistment or after entrance into or employment in the active service and before discharge or resignation, except that those persons who are in the active war service at the time of the publication of the terms and conditions of such contract of insurance may apply at any time within one hundred and twenty days thereafter and while in such service. Any person in the active service on or after the sixth day of April, nineteen hundred and seventeen, who, while in such service and before the expiration of one hundred and twenty days from and after such publication, becomes or has become totally and permanently disabled, or dies, or has died, without having applied for insurance, shall be deemed to have applied for and to have been granted insurance, payable to such person during his life in monthly installments of $25 each. If he shall die either before he shall have received any of such monthly installments or before he shall have received two hundred and forty of such monthly installments, then $25 per month shall be paid to his widow from the time of his death and during her widowhood, or if there is no widow surviving him, then to his child or children, or if there is no child surviving him, then to his mother, or if there is no mother surviving him, then to his father, if and while they survive him: Provided, however, That not more than two hundred and forty of such monthly installments, including those received by such person during his total and permanent disability, shall be so paid. The amount of the monthly installments shall be apportioned between children as may be provided by regulations. [40 Stat. L. 409, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This Act was amended to read as given in the text by the Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, § 19. As originally enacted it was as follows:

"SEC. 401. That such insurance must be applied for within one hundred and twenty days after enlistment or after entrance into or employment in the active service and before discharge or resignation, except that those persons who are in the active war service at the time of the publication of the terms and conditions of such contract of insurance may apply at any time within one hundred and twenty days thereafter and while in such service. Any person in the active service on or after the sixth day of April, nineteen hundred and seventeen, who, while in such service and before the expiration of one hundred and twenty days from and after such publication, becomes or has become totally and permanently disabled or dies, or has died, without having applied for insurance, shall be deemed to have applied for and to have been granted insurance, payable to such person during his life in monthly installments of $25 each. If he shall die either before he shall have received any of such monthly installments or before he shall have received two hundred and forty of such monthly installments, then $25 per month shall be paid to his wife from the time of his death and during her widowhood, or to his child, or widowed mother if and while they survive him: Provided, however, That not more than two hundred and forty of such monthly installments, including those received by such person during his total and permanent disability, shall be so paid; and in that event the amount of the monthly installments shall be apportioned between them as may be provided by regulations."

Said amendatory Act of June 25, 1918, ch. —, by section 20 thereof provided as follows:

"SEC. 20. That section nineteen of this Act amending section four hundred and one of the Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department,' approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as amended, shall be deemed to be in effect as of October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to interfere with the payment of monthly installments, authorized to be made under the provisions of said section four hundred and one as originally enacted, for the months up to and including June, nineteen hundred and eighteen: Provided further, That all awards of automatic insurance under the provisions of said section four hundred and one as originally enacted shall be revised as of the first day of July, nineteen hundred and eighteen, in accordance with the provisions of said section four hundred and one as amended by section nineteen of this Act."

The text section as amended apparently superseded a Res. of Feb. 12, 1918, No. 22, — Stat. L. —, entitled "Joint Resolution Granting to certain persons in the active war service an extension of time within which application for insurance may be made under section four hundred and one of the Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department,' approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as amended by the Act approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen," which was as follows:

"That the time within which application for insurance may be made as set forth in section four hundred and one of the Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department,' approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as amended by the Act approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, is hereby extended, with respect to every person in the active war service as to whom the time for making application would expire before the twelfth day of April, nineteen hundred and eighteen, so that every such person may make application for insurance up to and including the said twelfth day of April, nineteen hundred and eighteen: Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to effect an extension of the automatic insurance provided for in the said section four hundred and one beyond the twelfth day of February, nineteen hundred and eighteen."

See the note to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 402. [Insurance — terms and conditions — assignment — subject to claims of creditors — beneficiaries — payment.] That the director, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall promptly determine upon and publish the full and exact terms and conditions of such contract of insurance. The insurance shall be payable only to a spouse, child, grandchild, parent, brother, or sister, and also during total and permanent disability to the injured person, or to any or all of them. The insurance shall be payable in two hundred and forty equal monthly installments. Provisions for maturity at certain ages, for continuous installments during the life of the insured or beneficiaries, or both, for cash, loan, paid up and extended values, dividends from gains and savings, and such other provisions for the protection and advantage of and for alternative benefits to the insured and the beneficiaries as may be found to be reasonable and practicable, may be provided for in the contract of insurance, or from time to time by regulations. All calculations shall be based upon the American Experience Table of Mortality and interest at three and one-half per centum per annum, except that no deduction shall be made for continuous installments during the life of the insured in case his total and permanent disability continues more than two hundred and forty months. Subject to regulations, the insured shall at all times have the right to change the beneficiary or beneficiaries of such insurance without the consent of such beneficiary or beneficiaries, but only within the classes herein provided. If no beneficiary within the permitted class be designated by the insured, either in his lifetime or by his last will and testament, or if the designated beneficiary does not survive the insured, the insurance shall be payable to such person or persons within the permitted class of beneficiaries as would under the laws of the State of the residence of the insured be entitled to his personal property in case of intestacy. If no such person survive the insured, then there shall be paid to the estate of the insured an amount equal to the reserve value, if any, of the insurance at the time of his death, calculated on the basis of the American Experience Table of Mortality and three and one-half per centum interest in full of all obligations under the contract of insurance. [40 Stat. L. 409, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

"SEC. 402. That the director, subject to the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, shall promptly determine upon and publish the full and exact terms and conditions of such contract of insurance. The insurance shall not be assignable, and shall not be subject to the claims of creditors of the insured or of the beneficiary. It shall be payable only to a spouse, child, grandchild, parent, brother or sister, and also during total and permanent disability to the injured person, or to any or all of them. The insurance shall be payable in two hundred and forty equal monthly installments. Provisions for maturity at certain ages, for continuous installments during the life of the insured or beneficiaries, or both, for cash, loan, paid-up and extended values, dividends from gains and savings, and such other provisions for the protection and advantage of and for alternative benefits to the insured and the beneficiaries as may be found to be reasonable and practicable, may be provided for in the contract of insurance, or from time to time by regulations. All calculations shall be based upon the American Experience Table of Mortality and interest at three and one-half per centum per annum, except that no deduction shall be made for continuous installments during the life of the insured in case his total and permanent disability continues more than two hundred and forty months. Subject to regulations, the insured shall at all times have the right to change the beneficiary or beneficiaries of such insurance without the consent of such beneficiary or beneficiaries, but only within the classes herein provided. If no beneficiary within the permitted class be designated by the insured, either in his lifetime or by his last will and testament, or if the designated beneficiary does not survive the insured, the insurance shall be payable to such person or persons, within the permitted class of beneficiaries as would under the laws of the State of the residence of the insured, be entitled to his personal property in case of intestacy. If no such person survive the insured, then there shall be paid to the estate of the insured an amount equal to the reserve value, if any, of the insurance at the time of his death, calculated on the basis of the American Experience Table of Mortality and three and one-half per centum interest in full of all obligations under the contract of insurance."

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

The Resolution of April 2, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —, set out infra, p. 920, affects this section.

An appropriation for the payment of liabilities incurred under contracts made under the provisions of this article IV was made by section 20 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

Provisions relating to evidence of marriage, and defining various beneficiaries, were made by section 22 of this Act, supra, p. 899.

SEC. 403. [Expense of administration — premium rates.] That the United States shall bear the expenses of administration and the excess mortality and disability cost resulting from the hazards of war. The premium rates shall be the net rates based upon the American Experience Table of Mortality and interest at three and one-half per centum per annum. [40 Stat. L. 410.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 404. [Form of insurance.] That during the period of war and thereafter until converted the insurance shall be term insurance for successive terms of one year each. Not later than five years after the date of the termination of the war as declared by proclamation of the President of the United States, the term insurance shall be converted, without medical examination, into such form or forms of insurance as may be prescribed by regulations and as the insured may request. Regulations shall provide for the right to convert into ordinary life, twenty payment life, endowment maturing at age sixty-two and into other usual forms of insurance and shall prescribe the time and method of payment of the premiums thereon, but payments of premiums in advance shall not be required for periods of more than one month each and may be deducted from the pay or deposit of the insured or be otherwise made at his election. [40 Stat. L. 410.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

SEC. 405. [Actions on claims — parties — jurisdiction — judgment — attorney's fees — compensation or fees prohibited — penalty — repealed.] That in the event of disagreement as to a claim under the contract of insurance between the bureau and any beneficiary or beneficiaries thereunder, an action on the claim may be brought against the United States in the district court of the United States in and for the district in which such beneficiaries or any one of them resides. The court, as part of its judgment, shall determine and allow such reasonable attorney's fees, not to exceed ten per centum of the amount recovered, to be paid by the claimant on behalf of whom such proceedings are instituted to his attorney and it shall be unlawful for the attorney or for any other person acting as claim agent or otherwise to ask for, contract for, or receive any other compensation because of such action. No other compensation or fee shall be charged or received by any person except such as may be authorized by the commissioner in regulations to be promulgated by him. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall, for each and every such offense, be fined not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned at hard labor not exceeding two years, or both, in the discretion of the court. [40 Stat. L. 410.]

See the notes to section 12 of this Act, supra, p. 896.

This section was repealed by the Act of May 20, 1918, ch. —, § 2, — Stat. L. —.

Joint Resolution Authorizing the granting of insurance under the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department," approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as amended by the Act approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, on application by a person other than the person to be insured.

[Res. of April 2, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —.]

[War risk insurance — application for policy — by whom made — beneficiaries.] That insurance under the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department," approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as amended by the Act approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be granted by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance on application made by the person to be insured or, subject to such regulations as the bureau may prescribe, by any person within the permitted class as specified in section four hundred and two of said Act: Provided, That the person to be insured has been taken a prisoner of war before April twelfth, nineteen hundred and eighteen: And provided further, That no one but the insured may designate a beneficiary, and nothing in this resolution shall be deemed to change or affect the permitted class of beneficiaries or impose any obligation on the insured against his will. [40 Stat. L. —.]

Joint Resolution Providing for an increase of the enlisted men of the Army in an emergency.

[Res. of March 17, 1916, ch. 46, 39 Stat. L. 36.]

[Army increase in emergency — enlisted men.] That when in the judgment of the President an emergency arises which makes it necessary, all organizations of the Army which are now below the maximum enlisted strength authorized by law shall be raised forthwith to that strength, and shall be maintained as nearly as possible thereat so long as the emergency shall continue: Provided, That the total enlisted strength of any of said arms of the service shall not include unassigned recruits therefor at depots or elsewhere, but such recruits shall at no time exceed by more than five per centum the total enlisted strength prescribed for such arms; and the enlisted men now or hereafter authorized by law for other branches of the military service shall be provided and maintained without any impairment of the enlisted strength prescribed for any of said arms. [39 Stat. L. 36.]

An Act To permit issue by the supply departments of the Army to certain military schools and colleges.

[Quartermaster supplies — issuance to military schools and colleges.]

That the Secretary of War is authorized to issue, at his discretion and under such regulations as he may prescribe, such quartermaster supplies and stores belonging to the Government, and which can be spared for that purpose, as may appear to be required for the establishment and maintenance of military instruction camps by the students of any educational institution to which an officer of the Army is detailed as professor of military science and tactics, and the Secretary of War shall require a bond in each case in the value of the property for the care and safe-keeping thereof and for the return of the same when required. [39 Stat. L. 123.]

An Act For making further and more effectual provision for the national defense, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Army of United States — composition.] That the Army of the United States shall consist of the Regular Army, the Volunteer Army, the Officers' Reserve Corps, the Enlisted Reserve Corps, the National Guard while in the service of the United States, and such other land forces as are now or may hereafter be authorized by law. [39 Stat. L. 166.]

SEC. 2. [Composition of the Regular Army.] The Regular Army of the United States, including the existing organizations, shall consist of sixty-four regiments of Infantry, twenty-five regiments of Cavalry, twenty-one regiments of Field Artillery, a Coast Artillery Corps, the brigade, division, army corps, and army headquarters, with their detachments and troops, a General Staff Corps, an Adjutant General's Department, an Inspector General's Department, a Judge Advocate General's Department, a Quartermaster Corps, a Medical Department, a Corps of Engineers, an Ordnance Department, a Signal Corps, the officers of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, the Militia Bureau, the detached officers, the detached noncommissioned officers, the chaplains, the Regular Army Reserve, all organized as hereinafter provided, and the following as now authorized by law: The officers and enlisted men on the retired list; the additional officers; the professors, the Corps of Cadets, the general Army service detachment, and detachments of Cavalry, Field Artillery, and Engineers, and the band of the United States Military Academy; the post noncommissioned staff officers; the recruiting parties, the recruit depot detachments, and unassigned recruits; the service school detachments; the disciplinary guards; the disciplinary organizations; the Indian Scouts; and such other officers and enlisted men as are now or may be hereafter provided for: Provided, That hereafter the enlisted personnel of all organizations of the Regular Army shall at all times be maintained at a strength not below the minimum strength fixed by law: Provided further, That the total enlisted force of the line of the Regular Army, excluding the Philippine Scouts and the enlisted men of the Quartermaster Corps, of the Medical Department, and of the Signal Corps, and the unassigned recruits, shall not at any one time, except in the event of actual or threatened war or similar emergency in which the public safety demands it, exceed one hundred and seventy-five thousand men: Provided further, That the unassigned recruits at depots or elsewhere shall at no time, except in time of war, exceed by more than seven per centum the total authorized enlisted strength. [39 Stat. L. 166.]

SEC. 3. [Composition of brigades, divisions, and so forth.] The mobile troops of the Regular Army of the United States shall be organized, as far as practicable, into brigades and divisions. The President is authorized, in time of actual or threatened hostilities, or when in his opinion the interests of the public service demand it, to organize the brigades and divisions into such army corps or armies as may be necessary. The typical Infantry brigade shall consist of a headquarters and three regiments of Infantry. The typical Cavalry brigade shall consist of a headquarters and three regiments of Cavalry. The typical Field Artillery brigade shall consist of a headquarters and three regiments of Field Artillery. The typical Infantry division shall consist of a headquarters, three Infantry brigades, one regiment of Cavalry, one Field Artillery brigade, one regiment of Engineers, one field signal battalion, one aero squadron, one ammunition train, one supply train, one engineer train, and one sanitary train. The typical Cavalry division shall consist of a headquarters, three Cavalry brigades, one regiment of Field Artillery (horse), one battalion of mounted Engineers, one field signal battalion (mounted), one aero squadron, one ammunition train, one supply train, one engineer train, and one sanitary train. The typical army corps shall consist of a headquarters, two or more Infantry divisions, one or more Cavalry brigades or a Cavalry division, one Field Artillery brigade, one telegraph battalion, and one field signal battalion, and such ammunition, supply, engineer, and sanitary trains as the President may deem necessary. A brigade, a division, an army corps, and an army headquarters shall consist of such officers, enlisted men, and civilians as the President may prescribe. Each supply train, ammunition train, sanitary train, and engineer train shall consist of such officers and enlisted men and shall be organized as the President may prescribe, the line officers necessary therewith to be detailed under the provisions of sections twenty-six and twenty-seven, Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one. Nothing herein contained, however, shall prevent the President from increasing or decreasing the number of organizations prescribed for the typical brigades, divisions, and army corps, or from prescribing new and different organizations and personnel as the efficiency of the service may require. [39 Stat. L. 166.]

For sections 26 and 27, mentioned above, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 999, 1000.

SEC. 4. [General officers of the line.] Officers commissioned to and holding in the Army the office of a general officer shall hereafter be known as general officers of the line; officers commissioned to and holding in the Army an office other than that of a general officer, but to which the rank of a general officer is attached, shall be known as general officers of the staff. The number of general officers of the line now authorized by law is hereby increased by four major generals and nineteen brigadier generals: Provided, That hereafter in time of peace major generals of the line shall be appointed from officers of the grade of brigadier general of the line, and brigadier generals of the line shall be appointed from officers of the grade of colonel of the line of the Regular Army. [39 Stat. L., 167.]

SEC. 5. [The General Staff Corps.] The General Staff Corps shall consist of one Chief of Staff, detailed in time of peace from major generals of the line; two Assistants to the Chief of Staff, who shall be general officers of the line, one of whom, not above the grade of brigadier general, shall be the president of the Army War College; ten colonels; ten lieutenant colonels; fifteen majors; and seventeen captains, to be detailed from corresponding grades in the Army, as in this section hereinafter provided. All officers detailed in the General Staff Corps shall be detailed therein for periods of four years, unless sooner relieved. While serving in the General Staff Corps officers may be temporarily assigned to duty with any branch of the Army. Upon being relieved from duty in the General Staff Corps officers shall return to the branch of the Army in which they hold permanent commissions, and no officer shall be eligible to a further detail in the General Staff Corps until he shall have served two years with the branch of the Army in which commissioned, except in time of actual or threatened hostilities. Section twenty-seven of the Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, shall apply to each position vacated by officers below the grade of general officers detailed in the General Staff Corps.¹

Not more than one-half of all the officers detailed in said corps shall at any time be stationed, or assigned to or employed upon any duty, in or near the District of Columbia. All officers detailed in said corps shall be exclusively employed in the study of military problems, the preparation of plans for the national defense and the utilization of the military forces in time

“That the first paragraph of section five of the National Defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be, and the same is hereby, amended for the period of the existing emergency to read as follows: ‘Sec. 5. The General Staff Corps.—The General Staff Corps shall consist of one Chief of Staff, who shall be a general officer of the line and who shall take rank and precedence over all other officers of the Army; two assistants to the Chief of Staff, who shall be general officers of the line, one of whom shall be the president of the Army War College; ten colonels; twelve lieutenant colonels; thirty-two majors; and thirty-four captains, to be detailed from corresponding grades in the Army as in this section hereinafter provided. All officers detailed in the General Staff Corps shall be detailed therein for a period of four years, unless sooner relieved. While serving in the General Staff Corps, officers may be temporarily assigned to duty with any branch of the Army. Upon being relieved from duty in the General Staff Corps officers shall return to the branch of the Army in which they hold permanent commissions, and no officer shall be eligible to a further detail in the General Staff Corps until he shall have served two years with the branch of the Army in which commissioned, except in time of actual or threatened hostilities. Section twenty-seven of the Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, shall apply to each position vacated by officers below the grade of general officer detailed in the General Staff Corps.’” of war, in investigating and reporting upon the efficiency and state of preparedness of such forces for service in peace or war, or on appropriate general staff duties in connection with troops, including the National Guard, or as military attaches in foreign countries, or on other duties, not of an administrative nature, on which they can be lawfully and properly employed: Provided, That no officer shall be detailed as a member of the General Staff Corps, other than the Chief of Staff and the general officers herein provided for as assistants to the Chief of Staff, except upon the recommendation of a board of five officers not below the rank of colonel, who shall be selected by the President or the Secretary of War, and neither the Chief of Staff nor more than two other members of the General Staff Corps, nor any officer not a member of said corps, who shall have been stationed or employed on any duty in or near the District of Columbia within one year prior to the date of convening of any such board, shall be detailed as a member thereof. No recommendation made by any such board shall, for more than one year after the making of such recommendation or at any time after the convening of another such board, unless again recommended by the new board, be valid as a basis for the detail of any officer as a member of the General Staff Corps; and no alteration whatever shall be made in any report or recommendation of any such board, either with or without the consent of members thereof, after the board shall have submitted such report or recommendation and shall have adjourned sine die: Provided further, That the War College shall remain fully subject to the supervising, coordinating, and informing powers conferred by law upon members of the General Staff Corps, and officers for duty as instructors or students in or as attaches of said college may be selected and detailed freely from among members of said corps, but any officer so selected and detailed other than one director shall thereupon cease to be a member of said corps and shall not be eligible for redetail therein so long as he shall remain on said duty; and no officer on the active list of the Army shall, for more than thirty days in any calendar year, be attached to or assigned to duty in the War College in any capacity other than that of president, director, instructor, or student, or, unless a member of the General Staff Corps, be attached to or employed in the office of the Chief of Staff: Provided further, That the organizations heretofore existing in or in connection with the office of the Chief of Staff under the designations of the mobile army division and the Coast Artillery division be, and they are hereby, abolished and shall not be reestablished. The business heretofore transacted in said divisions, except such as comes clearly within the general powers specified in and conferred upon members of the General Staff Corps by the organic Act of Congress approved February fourteenth, nineteen hundred and three, is hereby transferred as follows, to wit, to the office of the Chief of Coast Artillery, all business apportioned to that office by law or Army regulations at the time of the creation of the Coast Artillery division of the office of the Chief of Staff; to the office of The Adjutant General or other bureau or bureaus concerned, all other business; and, subject to the exercise of the supervising, coordinating, and informing powers conferred upon members of the General Staff Corps by the Act of Congress last hereinbefore cited, the business transferred by this proviso to certain bureaus or offices shall hereafter be transacted exclusively by or under the direction of the respective heads thereof; and the Chief of Coast Artillery shall be an additional member of the General Staff Corps and shall also be advisor to and informant of the Chief of Staff in respect to the business under his charge: Provided further, That hereafter members of the General Staff Corps shall be confined strictly to the discharge of the duties of the general nature of those specified for them in this section and in the organic Act of Congress last hereinbefore cited, and they shall not be permitted to assume or engage in work of an administrative nature that pertains to established bureaus or offices of the War Department, or that being assumed or engaged in by members of the General Staff Corps, would involve impairment of the responsibility or initiative of such bureaus or offices, or would cause injurious or unnecessary duplication of or delay in the work thereof: Provided further, That all pay and allowances shall be forfeited by any superior for any period during which, by his order or his permission, or by reason of his neglect, any subordinate shall violate any of the foregoing provisions of this section: Provided further, That if any officer detailed in the General Staff Corps, or as an officer of any staff corps or department of the Army, shall be promoted to the next higher grade while so serving he may be permitted to serve out the period of his detail, and the number of officers in the organization in which he shall be serving and in the grade to which he shall have been promoted shall be increased by one for such time as he shall be an additional number in said organization and grade; but the whole number of officers detailed to said organization shall at no time exceed the aggregate of the numbers allowed to the several grades thereof by law other than this proviso. [39 Stat. L. 167, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 40.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of May 12, 1917, entitled "An Act making appropriation for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and for other purposes." The pertinent part of such Act was as follows:

"That the following language of section five of the Act of June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, entitled 'An Act for making further and more effectual provision for the national defense, and for other purposes,' to wit: 'Not more than one-half of all of the officers detailed in said corps shall at any time be stationed, or assigned to or employed upon any duty, in or near the District of Columbia,' be amended so as to authorize the President to suspend the operation of the same during the existing emergency."

For Act of June 3, 1917, § 5, see Fed. Stat. Ann. Pamph. Supp. No. 7, p. 44.

For the Act of Feb. 2, 1901, § 21, mentioned in the text, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 988.

SEC. 6. [The Adjutant General's Department.] The Adjutant General's Department shall consist of The Adjutant General with the rank of brigadier general; seven adjutants-general with the rank of colonel; thirteen adjutants-general with the rank of lieutenant colonel; and thirty adjutants-general with the rank of major. [39 Stat. L. 169.]

SEC. 7. [The Inspector General's Department.] The Inspector General's Department shall consist of one Inspector General with the rank of brigadier general; four inspectors-general with the rank of colonel; eight inspectors-general with the rank of lieutenant colonel; and sixteen inspectors-general with the rank of major. [39 Stat. L. 169.]

SEC. 8. [The Judge Advocate General's Department.] The Judge Advocate General's Department shall consist of one Judge Advocate General with the rank of brigadier general; four judge advocates with the rank of colonel; seven judge advocates with the rank of lieutenant colonel; and twenty judge advocates with the rank of major: Provided, That acting judge advocates may be detailed under the provisions of existing law for separate brigades and for separate general court-martial jurisdictions, and when not immediately required for service with a geographical department, tactical division, separate brigade, or other separate general court-martial jurisdiction, acting judge advocates may be assigned to such other legal duty as the exigencies of the service may require: Provided further, That, of the vacancies created in the Judge Advocate General's Department by this Act, one such vacancy, not below the grade of major, shall be filled by the appointment of a person from civil life, not less than forty-five nor more than fifty years of age, who shall have been for ten years a judge of the Supreme Court of the Philippine Islands, shall have served for two years as a captain in the Regular or Volunteer Army, and shall be proficient in the Spanish language and laws: Provided further, That so much of the Act of Congress approved August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve, as relates to the detachment or detail of officers for duty in the Judge Advocate General's Department shall hereafter be held to apply only to the acting judge advocates authorized by law; and hereafter no officer shall be or remain detached from any command or assigned to any duty or station with intent to enable or aid him to pursue the study of law: And provided further, That no officer of the Judge Advocate General's Department below the rank of colonel shall be promoted therein until he shall have successfully passed a written examination before a board consisting of not less than two officers of the Judge Advocate General's Department, to be designated by the Secretary of War, such examination to be prescribed by the Secretary of War and be held at such time anterior to the accruing of the right to promotion as may be for the best interests of the service: Provided, That should any officer in the grade of major of the Judge Advocate General's Department fail in his physical examination and be found incapacitated for service by reason of physical disability contracted in the line of duty, he shall be retired with the rank to which his seniority entitled him to be promoted; but if he should be found disqualified for promotion for any other reason, a second examination shall not be allowed, but the Secretary of War shall appoint a board of review to consist of two officers of the Judge Advocate General's Department superior in rank to the officer examined, none of whom shall have served as a member of the board which examined him. If the unfavorable finding of the examining board is concurred in by the board of review, the officer reported disqualified for promotion shall be honorably discharged from the service with one year's pay. If the action of the examining board is disapproved by the board of review, the officer shall be considered qualified and shall be promoted: Provided further, That any lieutenant colonel of the Judge Advocate General's Department who, at his first examination for promotion to the grade of colonel, has been found disqualified for such promotion for any reason other than physical disability incurred in the line of duty shall be suspended from promotion and his right thereto shall pass successively to such officers next below him in rank as are or may become eligible to promotion under existing law during the period of his suspension; and any such officer suspended from promotion shall be reexamined as soon as practicable after the expiration of one year from the date of the completion of the examination that resulted in his suspension; and if on such reexamination he is found qualified for promotion, he shall again become eligible thereto; but if he is found disqualified by reason of physical disability incurred in line of duty in either examination, he shall be retired, with the rank to which his seniority entitled him to be promoted; and if he is not found disqualified by reason of such physical disability; but is found disqualified for promotion for any other reason in the second examination, he shall be retired without promotion. [39 Stat. L. 169.]

SEC. 9. [The Quartermaster Corps.] The Quartermaster Corps shall consist of one Quartermaster General with the rank of major general; two assistants to the Quartermaster General with the rank of brigadier general; twenty-one colonels; twenty-four lieutenant colonels; sixty-eight majors; one hundred and eighty captains; and the pay clerks now in active service, who shall hereafter have the rank, pay, and allowances of a second lieutenant, and the President is hereby authorized to appoint and commission them, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, second lieutenants in the Quartermaster Corps, United States Army. The total enlisted strength of the Quartermaster Corps and the number in each grade shall be limited and fixed from time to time by the President in accordance with the needs of the Army, and shall consist of quartermaster sergeants, senior grade; quartermaster sergeants; sergeants, first class; sergeants; corporals; cooks; privates, first class; and privates. The number in the various grades shall not exceed the following percentages of the total authorized enlisted strength of the Quartermaster Corps, namely: Quartermaster sergeants, senior grade, five-tenths of one per centum; quartermaster sergeants, six per centum; sergeants, first class, two and five-tenths per centum; sergeants, twenty-five per centum; corporals, ten per centum; privates, first class, forty-five per centum; privates, nine per centum; cooks, two per centum: Provided, That the master electricians now authorized by law for the Quartermaster Corps shall hereafter be known as quartermaster sergeants, senior grade, and shall be included in the number of quartermaster sergeants, senior grade, herein authorized: And provided further, That all work pertaining to construction and repair that has heretofore been done by or under the direction of officers of the Quartermaster Corps shall, except as otherwise now provided by laws or regulations, hereafter be done by or under the direction of officers of said corps. [39 Stat. L. 170.]

SEC. 10. [The Medical Department.] The Medical Department shall consist of one Surgeon General, with the rank of major general during the active service of the present incumbent of that office, and thereafter with the rank of brigadier general, who shall be chief of said department, a Medical Corps, a Medical Reserve Corps within the limit of time fixed by this Act, a Dental Corps, a Veterinary Corps, an enlisted force, the Nurse

Corps and contract surgeons as now authorized by law, the commissioned officers of which shall be citizens of the United States.

The Medical Corps shall consist of commissioned officers below the grade of brigadier general, proportionally distributed among the several grades as in the Medical Corps now established by law. The total number of such officers shall approximately be equal to, but not exceed, except as hereinafter provided, seven for every one thousand of the total enlisted strength of the Regular Army authorized from time to time by law: Provided, That if by reason of a reduction by law in the authorized enlisted strength of the Army aforesaid the total number of officers in the Medical Corps commissioned previously to such reduction shall for the time being exceed the equivalent of seven to one thousand of such reduced enlisted strength no original appointment to commissioned rank in said corps shall be made until the total number of commissioned officers thereof shall have been reduced below the equivalent of seven to the thousand of the said reduced enlisted strength, nor thereafter so as to make the total number of commissioned officers thereof in excess of the equivalent of seven to the thousand of said reduced enlisted strength; and no promotion shall be made above the grade of captain in said corps until the number of officers in the grade above that of captain to which the promotion is due shall have been reduced below the proportional number authorized for such grade on the basis of the reduced enlisted strength, nor thereafter so as to make the number of officers in such grade in excess of the proportional number authorized on the basis of said reduced enlisted strength: Provided further, That when in time of war the Regular Army shall have been increased by virtue of the provisions of this or any other Act, the medical officers appointed to meet such increase shall be honorably discharged from the service of the United States when the reduction of the enlisted strength of the Army shall take place: Provided further, That persons hereafter commissioned in the Medical Corps shall be citizens of the United States between the ages of twenty-two and thirty years and shall be promoted to the grade of captain upon the completion of five years' service in the Medical Corps and upon passing the examinations prescribed by the President for promotion to the grade of captain in the Medical Corps: Provided further, That relative rank among captains in the Medical Corps, who have or shall have attained that rank by operation of law after a period of service fixed thereby, shall be determined by counting all the service rendered by them as officers in said corps and as assistant surgeons in the Regular Army, subject, however, to loss of files by reason of sentence of court-martial or by reason of failure to pass examination for promotion: Provided further. That hereafter the President shall be authorized to detail not to exceed five officers of the Medical Department of the Army for duty with the military relief division of the American National Red Cross: And provided further, That any person who at the time of the approval of this Act shall be and has been an officer of the Medical Reserve Corps, or contract surgeon, on active duty for twelve years subsequent to eighteen hundred and ninety-eight shall be eligible for appointment as first lieutenant in the Medical Corps, subject to examination: And provided further, That any officer so eligible who fails to pass the physical examination by reason of disability incurred in line of duty shall be retired with the pay and allowances of a first lieutenant of the Medical Corps.

The enlisted force of the Medical Department shall consist of the following personnel, who shall not be included in the effective strength of the Army nor counted as a part of the enlisted force provided by law: Master hospital sergeants, hospital sergeants, sergeants (first-class), sergeants, corporals, cooks, horseshoers, saddlers, stable sergeants, mechanics, privates (first-class), and privates: Provided, That master hospital sergeants shall be appointed by the Secretary of War, but no person shall be appointed master hospital sergeant until he shall have passed a satisfactory examination under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe before a board of one or more medical officers as to his qualifications for the position, including knowledge of pharmacy, and demonstrated his fitness therefor by service of not less than twelve months as hospital sergeant or sergeant, first class, Medical Department, or as sergeant, first class, in the Hospital Corps now established by law; and no person shall be designated for such examination except by written authority of the Surgeon General: Provided further, That original enlistments for the Medical Department shall be made in the grade of private, and reenlistments and promotions of enlisted men therein, except as hereinbefore prescribed, and transfers thereto from the enlisted force of the line or other staff departments and corps of the Army shall be governed by such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe: Provided further, That the enlisted men of the Hospital Corps who are in active service at the time of the approval of this Act are hereby transferred to the corresponding grades of the Medical Department established by this Act: Provided further, That the total number of enlisted men in the Medical Department shall be approximately equal to, but not exceed, except as hereinafter provided, the equivalent of five per centum of the total enlisted strength of the Army authorized from time to time by law: Provided further, That in time of actual or threatened hostilities, the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to enlist or cause to be enlisted in the Medical Department such additional number of men as the service may require: Provided further, That the number of enlisted men in each of the several grades designated below shall not exceed, except as hereinafter provided, the following percentages of the total authorized enlisted strength of the Medical Department, to wit: Master hospital sergeants, one-half of one per centum; hospital sergeants, one-half of one per centum; sergeants, first class, seven per centum; sergeants, eleven per centum; corporals, five per centum; and cooks, six per centum: Provided further, That the number of horseshoers, saddlers, stable sergeants, and mechanics in the Medical Department shall not exceed one each to each authorized ambulance company or like organization: Provided further, That in said department the number of privates, first class, shall not exceed twenty-five per centum of the number of privates: Provided further, That if by reason of a reduction by operation of law in the authorized enlisted strength of the Army aforesaid the number of noncommissioned officers of any grade in the Medical Department whose warrants were issued previously to such reduction shall for the time being exceed the percentage hereinabove specified for such grade, no promotion to such grade shall be made until the percentage of noncommissioned officers therein shall have been reduced below that authorized for such grade on the basis of the said reduced enlisted strength, nor thereafter so as to make the percentage of noncommissioned officers therein in excess of the percentage authorized on the basis of the said reduced enlisted strength; but noncommissioned officers may be reenlisted in the grades held by them previously to such reduction regardless of the percentages aforesaid; and when under this provision the number of noncommissioned officers of any grade exceeds the percentage specified, any noncommissioned officer thereof, not under charges, may be discharged on his own application: Provided further, That privates, first class, of the Medical Department shall be eligible for ratings for additional pay as follows: As dispensary assistant, $2 a month; as nurse, $3 a month; as surgical assistant, $5 a month: Provided further, That no enlisted man shall receive more than one rating for additional pay under the provisions of this section, nor shall any enlisted man receive any additional pay under such rating unless he shall have actually performed the duties for which he shall be rated.

The President is hereby authorized to appoint and commission, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, dental surgeons, who are citizens of the United States between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, at the rate of one for each one thousand enlisted men of the line of the Army. Dental surgeons shall have the rank, pay, and allowances of first lieutenants until they have completed eight years' service. Dental surgeons of more than eight but less than twenty-four years' service shall, subject to such examination as the President may prescribe, have the rank, pay, and allowances of captains. Dental surgeons of more than twenty-four years' service shall, subject to such examination as the President may prescribe, have the rank, pay, and allowances of major: Provided, That the total number of dental surgeons with rank, pay, and allowances of major shall not at any time exceed fifteen: And provided further, That all laws relating to the examination of officers of the Medical Corps for promotion shall be applicable to dental surgeons.

Authority is hereby given to the Secretary of War to grant permission, by revocable license, to the American National Red Cross to erect and maintain on any military reservations within the jurisdiction of the United States buildings suitable for the storage of supplies, or to occupy for that purpose buildings erected by the United States, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, such supplies to be available for the aid of the civilian population in case of serious national disaster. [39 Stat. L. 171, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 1. The amendment substituted "stable sergeant" for "farrier" wherever occurring, and added the last two provisos of the second paragraph.

This section is also affected by the Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 418, § 1, 39 Stat. L. 640, which provides as follows:

"That so much of the Act of June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, as relates to the age limit for eligibility to appointment of first lieutenants in the Medical Department of the Army, be, and the same is hereby, repealed: Provided further, That after January first, nineteen hundred and eighteen, the maximum age limit for eligibility to appointment of first lieutenants in the Medical Department of the Army shall be thirty-two years."

SEC. 11. [Corps of Engineers.] The Corps of Engineers shall consist of one Chief of Engineers, with the rank of brigadier general; twenty-three colonels; thirty lieutenant colonels; seventy-two majors; one hundred and fifty-two captains; one hundred and forty-eight first lieutenants; seventy-nine second lieutenants; and the enlisted men hereinafter enumerated. The Engineer troops of the Corps of Engineers shall consist of one band, seven regiments, and two mounted battalions.

Each regiment of Engineers shall consist of one colonel; one lieutenant colonel; two majors; eleven captains; twelve first lieutenants; six second lieutenants; two master engineers, senior grade; one regimental sergeant major; two regimental supply sergeants; two color sergeants; one sergeant bugler; one cook; one wagoner for each authorized wagon of the field and combat train; one band; and two battalions: Provided, That the present Engineer band shall be considered as one of the bands provided for above. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 11, amended by the text, see Pamph. Supp. No. 7, Fed. Stat. Ann. 50.

Each battalion of a regiment of Engineers shall consist of one major, one captain, one battalion sergeant major; three master engineers, junior grade; and three companies. Each Engineer company (regimental) shall consist of one captain; two first lieutenants; one second lieutenant; one first sergeant; three sergeants, first class; one mess sergeant; one supply sergeant; one stable sergeant; six sergeants; twelve corporals; one horseshoer; two buglers; one saddler; two cooks; nineteen privates, first class; and fifty-nine privates: Provided, That the President may, in his discretion, increase a regiment of Engineers by two master engineers, senior grade, and two sergeants; each battalion of a regiment of Engineers by three master engineers, junior grade; and each Engineer company (regimental) by two sergeants, six corporals, one cook, twelve privates, first class, and thirty-four privates.

The Engineer band shall consist of one band leader; one assistant band leader; one first sergeant; two band sergeants; four band corporals; two musicians, first class; four musicians, second class; thirteen musicians, third class; and two cooks.

Each battalion of mounted Engineers shall consist of one major; five captains; seven first lieutenants; three second lieutenants; one master engineer, senior grade; one battalion sergeant major; one battalion supply sergeant; three master engineers, junior grade; one corporal; one wagoner for each authorized wagon of the field and combat train; and three mounted companies. Each mounted Engineer company shall consist of one captain; two first lieutenants; one second lieutenant; one first sergeant; two sergeants, first class; one mess sergeant; one supply sergeant; one stable sergeant; four sergeants; eight corporals; two horseshoers; one saddler; two cooks; two buglers; twelve privates, first class; and thirty-seven privates; Provided, That the President may, in his discretion, increase the battalions of mounted Engineers by one master engineer, senior grade; two sergeants; and three master engineers, junior grade; and a mounted Engineer company by two sergeants; three corporals; eight privates, first class; and twenty-four privates: Provided further, That appropriate officers to command the regiments, battalions, and companies herein authorized and for duty with and as staff officers of such organizations shall be detailed from the Corps of Engineers, and shall not be in excess of the numbers in each grade enumerated in this section. The enlisted force of the Corps of Engineers and the officers serving therewith shall constitute a part of the line of the Army. [39 Stat. L. 173, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

The second paragraph of this section was amended by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. —. It formerly read as follows:

"Each regiment of Engineers shall consist of one colonel; one lieutenant colonel; two majors; eleven captains; twelve first lieutenants; six second lieutenants; two master engineers, senior grade; one regimental sergeant major; two regimental supply sergeants; two color sergeants; one sergeant bugler; one cook; one wagoner for each authorized wagon of the field and combat train, and two battalions."

SEC. 12. [The Ordnance Department.] The Ordnance Department shall consist of one Chief of Ordnance, with the rank of brigadier general; ten colonels; fifteen lieutenant colonels; thirty-two majors; forty-two captains; forty-two first lieutenants; the ordnance sergeants, as now authorized by law, and such other enlisted men of grades now authorized by law as the President may direct: Provided, That ordnance sergeants shall be selected by the Secretary of War from the sergeants of the line or Ordnance Department who shall have served faithfully for eight years, including four years in the grade of noncommissioned officer: Provided further, That vacancies which may occur in the commissioned personnel of the Ordnance Department shall be subject to the provisions of sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of the Act approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, the Acts approved June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and six, and February twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen, and Acts amendatory thereof relating to the Ordnance Department: Provided further, That hereafter the Secretary of War is authorized to detail not to exceed thirty lieutenants from the Army at large for duty as student officers in the establishments of the Ordnance Department for a period of two years; and the completion of the prescribed course of instruction shall constitute the examination for detail in the Ordnance Department. SEC. 13. [The Signal Corps.] The Signal Corps shall consist of one Chief Signal Officer, with the rank of brigadier general; three colonels; eight lieutenant colonels; ten majors; thirty captains; seventy-five first lieutenants; and the aviation section, which shall consist of one colonel; one lieutenant colonel; eight majors; twenty-four captains; and one hundred and fourteen first lieutenants, who shall be selected from among officers of the Army at large of corresponding grades or from among officers of the grade below, exclusive of those serving by detail in staff corps or departments, who are qualified as military aviators, and shall be detailed to serve as aviation officers for periods of four years unless sooner relieved; and the provisions of section twenty-seven of the Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, are hereby extended to apply to said aviation officers and to vacancies created in any arm, corps, or department of the Army by the detail of said officers therefrom; but nothing in said Act or in any other law now in force shall be held to prevent the detail or redetail at any time, to fill a vacancy among the aviation officers authorized by this Act, of any officer who, during prior service as an aviation officer of the aviation section, shall have become proficient in military aviation.

Aviation officers may, when qualified therefor, be rated as junior military aviators or as military aviators, but no person shall be so rated until there shall have been issued to him a certificate to the effect that he is qualified for the rating, and no certificate shall be issued to any person until an aviation examining board, which shall be composed of three officers of experience in the aviation service and two medical officers, shall have examined him, under general regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of War and published to the Army by the War Department, and shall have reported him to be qualified for the rating. No person shall receive the rating of military aviator until he shall have served creditably for three years as an aviation officer with the rating of a junior military aviator.

Each aviation officer authorized by this Act shall, while on duty that requires him to participate regularly and frequently in aerial flights, receive an increase of twenty-five per centum in the pay of his grade and length of service under his commission. Each duly qualified junior military aviator shall, while so serving, have the rank, pay, and allowances of one grade higher than that held by him under his commission if his rank under said commission be not higher than that of captain, and while on duty requiring him to participate regularly and frequently in aerial flights he shall receive in addition an increase of fifty per centum in the pay of his grade and length of service under his commission. Each military aviator shall, while so serving, have the rank, pay, and allowances of one grade higher than that held by him under his commission if his rank under said commission be not higher than that of captain, and while on duty requiring him to participate regularly and frequently in aerial flights he shall receive in addition an increase of seventy-five per centum of the pay of his grade and length of service under his commission: Provided further, That the provisions of the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and thirteen, allowing increase of pay and allowances to officers detailed by the Secretary of War on aviation duty, are hereby repealed: Provided further, That hereafter married officers of the line of the Army shall be eligible equally with unmarried officers, and subject to the same conditions, for detail to aviation duty; and the Secretary of War shall have authority to cause as many enlisted men of the aviation section to be instructed in the art of flying as he may deem necessary: Provided further, That hereafter the age of officers shall not be a bar to their first detail in the aviation section of the Signal Corps, and neither their age nor their rank shall be a bar to their subsequent details in said section: Provided further, That, when it shall be impracticable to obtain from the Army officers suitable for the aviation section of the Signal Corps in the number allowed by law the difference between that number and the number of suitable officers actually available for duty in said section may be made up by appointments in the grade of aviator, Signal Corps, and that grade is hereby created. The personnel for said grade shall be obtained from especially qualified civilians who shall be appointed and commissioned in said grade: Provided further, That whenever any aviator shall have become unsatisfactory he shall be discharged from the Army as such aviator. The base pay of an aviator, Signal Corps, shall be $150 per month, and he shall have the allowances of a master signal electrician and the same percentage of increase in pay for length of service as is allowed to a master signal electrician.

The total enlisted strength of the Signal Corps shall be limited and fixed from time to time by the President in accordance with the needs of the Army, and shall consist of master signal electricians, sergeants, first class; sergeants; corporals; cooks; horseshoers; private, first class; and privates; the number in each grade being fixed from time to time by the President. The numbers in the various grades shall not exceed the following percentages of the total authorized enlisted strength of the Signal Corps, namely: Master signal electricians, two per centum; sergeants, first class, seven per centum; sergeants, ten per centum; corporals, twenty per centum. The number of privates, first class, shall not exceed twenty-five per centum of the number of privates. Authority is hereby given the President to organize, in his discretion, such part of the commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Signal Corps into such number of companies, battalions, and aero squadrons as the necessities of the service may demand. [39 Stat. L. 174.]

For Act of March 2, 1913, see 1914 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 418.

SEC. 14. [Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department.] Nothing in this Act shall be construed to repeal existing laws relating to the organization of the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department. [39 Stat. L. 176.]

SEC. 15. [Chaplains.] The President is authorized to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, chaplains in the Army at the rate of not to exceed, including chaplains now in the service, one for each one thousand two hundred officers and men in all branches of the Military Establishment, with rank, pay, and allowances as now authorized by law: Provided, That there shall be assigned at least one chaplain for each regiment of Cavalry, Infantry, Field Artillery, and Engineers: Provided further, That the persons appointed under this Act shall be duly accredited by some religious denomination or organization and of good standing therein, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War: And provided further, That no person shall be appointed chaplain in the Army who on the date of appointment is more than forty-five years of age. [39 Stat. L. 176, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 72; 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Act of May 12, 1917, ch. 12, and again amended by the Act of May 25, 1918.

SEC. 16. [Veterinarians.] The President is hereby authorized, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint veterinarians and assistant veterinarians in the Army, not to exceed, including veterinarians now in service, two such officers for each regiment of Cavalry, one for every three batteries of Field Artillery, one for each mounted battalion of Engineers, seventeen as inspectors of horses and mules and as veterinarians in the Quartermaster Corps, and seven as inspectors of meats for the Quartermaster Corps; and said veterinarians and assistant veterinarians shall be citizens of the United States and shall constitute the Veterinary Corps and shall be a part of the Medical Department of the Army.

Hereafter a candidate for appointment as assistant veterinarian must be a citizen of the United States, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, a graduate of a recognized veterinary college or university, and shall not be appointed until he shall have passed a satisfactory examination as to character, physical condition, general education, and professional qualifications.

An assistant veterinarian appointed under this Act shall, for the first five years of service as such, have the rank, pay, and allowances of second lieutenant; that after five years of service he shall have the rank, pay, and allowances of first lieutenant; that after fifteen years of service he shall be promoted to be a veterinarian with the rank, pay, and allowances of captain, and that after twenty years' service he shall have the rank, pay, and allowances of a major: Provided, That any assistant veterinarian, in order to be promoted as hereinbefore provided, must first pass a satisfactory examination, under such rules as the President may prescribe, as to professional qualifications and adaptability for the military service; and if such assistant veterinarian shall be found deficient at such examination he shall be discharged from the Army with one year's pay.

The veterinarians of Cavalry and Field Artillery now in the Army, together with such veterinarians of the Quartermaster Corps as are now employed in said corps, who at the date of the approval of this Act shall have had less than five years' governmental service, may be appointed in the Veterinary Corps as assistant veterinarians with the rank, pay, and allowances of second lieutenant; those who shall have had over five years of such service may be appointed in said corps as assistant veterinarians with the rank, pay, and allowances of first lieutenant; and those who shall have had over fifteen years of such service may be appointed in said corps as veterinarians with the rank, pay, and allowances of captain: Provided, That no such appointment of any veterinarian shall be made unless he shall first pass satisfactorily a practical professional and physical examination as to his fitness for the military service: Provided further, That veterinarians now in the Army or in the employ of the Quartermaster Corps who shall fail to pass the prescribed physical examination because of disability incident to the service and sufficient to prevent them from the performance of duty valuable to the Government shall be placed upon the retired list of the Army with seventy-five per centum of the pay to which they would have been entitled if appointed in the Veterinary Corps as hereinbefore prescribed.

The Secretary of War, upon recommendation of the Surgeon General of the Army, may appoint in the Veterinary Corps, for such time as their services may be required, such number of reserve veterinarians as may be necessary to attend public animals pertaining to the Quartermaster Corps. Reserve veterinarians so employed shall have the pay and allowances of second lieutenant during such employment and no longer: Provided, That such reserve veterinarians shall be graduates of a recognized veterinary college or university and shall pass a satisfactory examination as to character, physical condition, general education, and professional qualifications in like manner as hereinbefore required of assistant veterinarians; such reserve veterinarians shall constitute a list of eligibles for appointment as assistant veterinarians, subject to all the conditions hereinbefore prescribed for the appointment of assistant veterinarians.

Within a limit of time to be fixed by the Secretary of War, candidates for appointment as assistant veterinarians who shall have passed satisfactorily the examinations prescribed for that grade by this Act shall be appointed, in the order of merit in which they shall have passed such examination, to vacancies as they occur, such appointments to be for a probationary period of two years, after which time, if the services of the probationers shall have been satisfactory, they shall be permanently appointed with rank to date from the dates of rank of their probationary appointments. Probationary veterinarians whose services are found unsatisfactory shall be discharged at any time during the probationary period, or at the end thereof, and shall have no further claims against the Government on account of their probationary service.

The Secretary of War shall from time to time appoint boards of examiners to conduct the veterinary examinations hereinbefore prescribed, each of said boards to consist of three medical officers and two veterinarians. [39 Stat. L. 176.]

SEC. 17. [Composition of Infantry units.] Each regiment of Infantry shall consist of one colonel, one lieutenant colonel, three majors, fifteen captains, sixteen first lieutenants, fifteen second lieutenants, one headquarters company, one machine-gun company, one supply company, and twelve Infantry companies organized into three battalions of four companies each.

When a regiment consists of three battalions there shall be added to the supply company one second lieutenant, one regimental supply sergeant, one private, and one wagoner for each additional authorized wagon of the field train.

Each gun or howitzer battalion shall consist of one major, one captain, and batteries as follows: Mountain artillery battalions and light artillery gun or howitzer battalions serving with the field artillery or Infantry divisions shall contain three batteries; horse artillery battalions and heavy field artillery gun or howitzer battalions shall contain two batteries: Provided, That the President may, in his discretion, increase the headquarters company of a regiment of two battalions by two sergeants, five corporals, one horseshoer, one mechanic, one private (first class), and six privates; the headquarters company of a regiment of three battalions by one sergeant, seven corporals, one horseshoer, one mechanic, two cooks, two privates (first class), and seven privates; the supply company of a regiment of two battalions by one corporal, one cook, one horseshoer, and one saddler; the supply company for a regiment of three battalions by one corporal, one cook, one horseshoer, and one saddler, a gun or howitzer battery by three sergeants, seven corporals, one horseshoer, two mechanics, one bugler, thirteen privates (first class), and thirty-seven privates. [39 Stat. L. 179.]

SEC. 20. [Coast Artillery Corps.] The Coast Artillery Corps shall consist of one Chief of Coast Artillery, with the rank of brigadier general; twenty-four colonels; twenty-four lieutenant colonels; seventy-two majors; three hundred and sixty captains; three hundred and sixty first lieutenants; three hundred and sixty second lieutenants; thirty-one sergeants major, senior grade; sixty-four sergeants major, junior grade; forty-one master electricians; seventy-two engineers; ninety-nine electrician sergeants, first class; two hundred and seventy-five assistant engineers; ninety-nine electrician sergeants, second class; one hundred and six firemen; ninety-three radio sergeants; sixty-two master gunners; two hundred and sixty-three first sergeants; two hundred and sixty-three supply sergeants; two hundred and sixty-three mess sergeants; two thousand one hundred and four sergeants; three thousand one hundred and fifty-six corporals; five hundred and twenty-six cooks; five hundred and twenty-six mechanics; five hundred and twenty-six buglers; five thousand two hundred and twenty-five privates, first class; fifteen thousand six hundred and seventy-five privates; and eighteen bands, organized as hereinbefore provided for the Engineer band. The rated men of the Coast Artillery Corps shall consist of casemate electricians; observers, first class; plotters; chief planters; coxswains; chief loaders; observers, second class; gun commanders and gun pointers. The total number of rated men shall not exceed one thousand seven hundred and eighty-four. Coxswains shall receive $9 per month in addition to the pay of their grade. [39 Stat. L. 180.]

SEC. 21. [Porto Rico Regiment of Infantry.] The Porto Rico Regiment of Infantry of the United States Army shall hereafter have the same organization, and the same grades and numbers of commissioned officers and enlisted men, as are by this Act or shall hereafter be prescribed by law for other regiments of Infantry of the Army. All vacancies created by this Act or occurring hereafter in commissioned offices of said regiment above the grade of second lieutenant below the grade of colonel shall, except as hereinafter provided to the contrary, be filled by promotion according to seniority in the several grades and within the regiment, subject to the examination prescribed by section three of the Act of Congress approved October first, eighteen hundred and ninety, and said section is hereby extended so as to apply in the cases of all officers below the grade of lieutenant colonel, who shall hereafter be examined for promotion in the Porto Rico Regiment of Infantry, except that the President may prescribe such a system of examination for the promotion of officers of said regiment as he may deem advisable. The colonel of said regiment shall be detailed by the President, from among officers of Infantry of the Army not below the grade of lieutenant colonel, for a period of four years unless sooner relieved. Vacancies created by this Act in the grades of lieutenant colonel and major in said regiments shall be filled by appointments from the senior captains in regimental rank of the Porto Rico regiment mentioned in the Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen; and captains and lieutenants of said regiment shall also be eligible for such detached service, transfer, or assignment to duty with other organizations as may be approved by the Secretary of War; but vacancies created by such detachment of officers shall not be filled by promotions or appointments.

All men hereafter enlisting in said regiment shall be natives of Porto Rico. All enlistments in the regiment shall hereafter be the same as is provided herein for the Regular Army, and the regiment, or any part thereof, may be ordered for service outside the island of Porto Rico. The pay and allowances of members of said regiment shall be the same as provided by law for officers and enlisted men of like grades in the Regular Army.

Vacancies created by this Act or occurring hereafter in the grade of second lieutenant in said regiment shall be filled during any calendar year by the appointment by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, of any native of Porto Rico graduated from the United States Military Academy, and, after such appointment shall have been made or provided for, by like appointment of native citizens of Porto Rico between twenty-one and twenty-seven years of age.

Provided, That officers of the Porto Rico Regiment of Infantry, United States Army, who held commissions in the Porto Rico Provisional Regiment of Infantry on June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eight, shall now and hereafter take rank in their grades in the same relative order held by them in said Porto Rico Provisional Regiment of Infantry on June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eight, subject to any loss in rank due to failure to pass examinations for promotion or to sentence of court-martial. [39 Stat. L. 180.]

For Act of March 4, 1914, mentioned above, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 302.

SEC. 22. [Laws remaining in force.] All existing laws pertaining to or affecting the United States Military Academy and civilian or military personnel on duty thereat in any capacity whatever, the officers and enlisted men on the retired list, the detached and additional officers under the Act of Congress approved March third, nineteen hundred and eleven, recruiting parties, recruit depots and unassigned recruits, service school detachments, United States disciplinary barracks, guards, disciplinary organizations, the Philippine Scouts, and Indian scouts shall continue and remain in force except as herein specifically provided otherwise: Provided, That one of the enlisted men at each main recruiting station who has been detached for duty at such station under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, may, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, have the rank, pay, and allowances of a first sergeant of Infantry. [39 Stat. L. 181, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 2. The amendment added the proviso.

SEC. 23. [Original appointments to be provisional.] Hereafter all appointments of persons other than graduates of the United States Military Academy to the grade of second lieutenant in the Regular Army shall be provisional for a period of two years, at the close of which period such appointments shall be made permanent if the appointees shall have demonstrated, under such regulations as the President may prescribe, their suitability and moral, professional, and physical fitness for such permanent appointment, but should any appointee fail so to demonstrate his suitability and fitness, his appointment shall terminate; and should any officer become eligible for promotion to a vacancy in a higher grade and qualify therefor before the expiration of two years from the date of his original appointment, he shall receive a provisional appointment in such higher grade, which appointment shall be made permanent when he shall have qualified for permanent appointment upon the expiration of two years from the date of his original appointment, or shall terminate if he shall fail so to qualify.

Should any such officer during such provisional period of two years become incapable of performing the duties of his office by reason of physical incapacity resulting from an incident of service, he shall be retired from active service by the President upon the actual rank held by him at the time of retirement in the manner provided by law for the retirement of permanent officers of the Regular Army, and provisional officers retired under the provisions of this section shall be in addition to the number of the officers of the Army on the retired list now fixed by law. [39 Stat. L. 181, as amended by 40 Stat. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918, ch. —. The amendment added the second paragraph.

SEC. 24. [Increase to be made in five increments.] Except as otherwise specifically provided by this Act, the increases in the commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Regular Army provided by this Act shall be made in five annual increments, each of which shall be, in each grade of each arm, corps, and department, as nearly as practicable, one-fifth of the total increase authorized for each arm, corps, and department. Officers promoted to vacancies created or caused by the addition of the first increment shall be promoted to rank from July first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and those promoted to vacancies created or caused by the second increment shall be promoted to rank from July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen; those promoted to vacancies created or caused by the addition of the third increment shall be promoted to rank from July first, nineteen hundred and eighteen; those promoted to vacancies created or caused by the addition of the fourth increment shall be promoted to rank from July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen; and those promoted to vacancies created or caused by the addition of the fifth increment shall be promoted to rank from July first, nineteen hundred and twenty: Provided, That in the event of actual or threatened war or similar emergency in which the public safety demands it the President is authorized to immediately organize the entire increase authorized by this Act, or so much thereof as he may deem necessary, and when, in the judgment of the President, war becomes imminent, all of said organizations that shall then be below the maximum enlisted strength authorized by law shall be raised forthwith to that strength, and shall be maintained as nearly as possible thereat so long as war, or the imminence of war, shall continue.

Vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant, however, arising, in any fiscal year shall be filled by appointment in the following order: (1) Of cadets graduated from the United States Military Academy during the preceding fiscal year for whom vacancies did not become available during the fiscal year in which they were graduated; (2) under the provisions of existing law of enlisted men, including officers of Philippine Scouts, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-four years, whose fitness for promotion shall have been determined by competitive examination; and of members, including officers, of the Organized Militia, the National Guard, or Naval Militia, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-four years who have had at least ninety days' actual Federal military service during the calendar year nineteen hundred and sixteen, or subsequent thereto, and whose fitness for promotion shall have been determined by examination; (3) of commissioned officers of the National Guard, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, not otherwise provided for herein; (4) of members of the Officers' Reserve Corps, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years; (5) of such honor graduates, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, of distinguished colleges as are now or may hereafter be entitled to preference by general orders of the War Department; and (6) of candidates from civil life, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years; and the President is authorized to make the necessary rules and regulations to carry these provisions into effect: Provided, That the President is hereby authorized to waive the maximum age limit prescribed by law for appointment as second lieutenant in the Regular Army in the case of any candidate for such appointment who has successfully completed or who may hereafter successfully complete the required examination for such appointment before arriving at the prescribed maximum age limit; but no appointment of any such candidate shall be made to any vacancy which did not exist upon the date he successfully completed the required examination for appointment; and persons appointed under the provisions of this proviso shall be appointed with the rank and date of rank with which they would have been appointed if their appointment had not been prevented by reason of the maximum age limit prescribed by law: Provided further, That appointments to the grade of second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers including those created by this Act, shall continue to be made as now provided by law, but that officers of the Army or Navy of the United States may become candidates for said appointments under the provisions of section five of the Act of Congress approved February twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and eleven, without previously vacating their commissions as officers and that the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, allow persons to become candidates without previously establishing eligibility for appointment as junior engineer under the Engineer Bureau of the War Department: Provided further, That officers appointed to original vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant created or caused by this Act shall take lineal and relative rank according to dates of appointment, and the lineal and relative rank of second lieutenants appointed on the same date shall be determined under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe: Provided further, That the President may recommission persons who have heretofore held commissions in the Regular Army and have left the service honorably, after ascertaining that they are qualified for service physically, morally, and as to age and military fitness; such recommissioned officers shall take rank at the foot of the respective grades which they held at the time of their separation from the Army: Provided further, That the provisions of existing law requiring examinations to determine fitness for promotion of officers of the Army are hereby extended to include promotions to all grades below that of brigadier general: Provided further, That examinations of officers in the grades of major and lieutenant colonel shall be confined to problems involving the higher functions of staff duties and command: And provided further, That in time of war retired officers of the Army may be employed on active duty, in the discretion of the President, and when so employed they shall receive the full pay and allowances of their grade: And provided further, That hereafter any retired officer, who has been or shall be detailed on active duty, shall receive the rank, pay, and allowances of the grade, not above that of colonel, that he would have attained in due course of promotion if he had remained on the active list for a period beyond the date of his retirement equal to the total amount of time during which he has been detailed on active duty since his retirement.

That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to waive the age limit in all cases where the candidate for second lieutenant, who being within the maximum age limit at the date of examination has passed or may pass the examination, and who has become or may become ineligible on account of age before the date of his appointment; and to appoint such candidate with rank from the same date as other candidates of like class who have been or may be appointed as the result of the same examination: Provided, That such appointment is made within one year from the date of such examination. [39 Stat. L. 182, as amended by 40 Stat. L. 40; 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of May 12, 1917, ch. 12, entitled "An Act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, and for other purposes," and also by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, §§ 3, 4. The former Act added the last paragraph, and amended the first part of the second paragraph down to the first proviso, and the latter Act amended the second paragraph down to the second proviso, and substituted "colonel" for "major" in the last proviso of said paragraph. The second paragraph down to the second proviso originally read as follows:

"Vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant, created or caused by the increases due to this Act, in any fiscal year shall be filled by appointment in the following order: (1) Of cadets graduated from the United States Military Academy during the preceding fiscal year for whom vacancies did not become available during the fiscal year in which they were graduated; (2) under the provisions of existing law, of enlisted men, including officers of the Philippine Scouts, whose fitness for promotion shall have been determined by competitive examination; (3) of members of the Officers' Reserve Corps between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years; (4) of commissioned officers of the National Guard between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years; (5) of such honor graduates, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, of distinguished colleges as are now or may hereafter be entitled to preference by general orders of the War Department; and (6) of candidates from civil life between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years; and the President is authorized to make the necessary rules and regulations to carry these provisions into effect: Provided, That any such original vacancies not so filled, and remaining at the time of graduation of any class at the United States Military Academy, may be filled by the appointment of members of that class; and all vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant not created or caused by the increases due to this Act shall be filled as provided in the Act making appropriation for the support of the Army, approved March third, nineteen hundred and eleven: Provided further, That enlisted men of the Regular Army who have completed one year's service with an organization may become candidates for vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant created or caused by the increases due to the operation of this Act."

The amendment of May 12, 1917, affecting the second paragraph under it, made it read as follows:

"Vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant created or caused by the increases due to this Act, in any fiscal year shall be filled by appointment in the following order: (First) Of cadets graduated from the United States Military Academy during the preceding fiscal year for whom vacancies did not become available during the fiscal year in which they graduated; (second) under the provisions of existing law of enlisted men, including officers of Philippine Scouts, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-four years, whose fitness for promotion shall have been determined by competitive examination; and of members, including officers, of the Organized Militia, the National Guard, or Naval Militia, between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-four years who have had at least ninety days actual Federal military service under any call of the President during the calendar year nineteen hundred and sixteen, and whose fitness for promotion shall have been determined by examination; (third) of members of the Officers Reserve Corps between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, of distinguished colleges as are now or may hereafter be entitled to preference by general orders of the War Department; and (sixth) of candidates from civil life between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years; and the President is authorized to make the necessary rules and regulations to carry these provisions into effect."

The Army Appropriation Act of May 12, 1917, ch. 12, 40 Stat. L. 40, contains a provision affecting this section, which reads as follows:

"That section twenty-four of the national-defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, is so amended as to authorize the President to organize immediately the whole of the increase in the Ordnance Department authorized by section twelve of said Act, or such part thereof as he may deem necessary."

The Army Appropriation Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 418, § 1, contains a provision affecting this section, which will be found set out infra, p. 970, third par.

SEC. 25. [The detached officers.] That on July first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, the line of the Army shall be increased by eight hundred and twenty-two extra officers of the Cavalry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery Corps, and Infantry arms of the service, of grades from first lieutenant to colonel, inclusive, lawfully available for detachment from their proper arms for duty with the National Guard, or other duty, the usual period of which exceeds one year. Said extra officers, together with the two hundred detached officers provided for by the Act of Congress approved March third, nineteen hundred and eleven, shall, on and after July first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, constitute the Detached Officers' List, and all positions vacated by officers assigned to said list, and the officers so assigned, shall be subject to the provisions of section twenty-seven of the Act of Congress approved February second, nineteen hundred and one, with reference to details to the staff corps. The total number of officers hereby authorized for each grade on said list entire shall be in proportion to the total number of officers of the corresponding grade now authorized by law other than this Act for all of the said four arms combined, exclusive of second lieutenants and of the two hundred extra officers authorized by the Act of Congress approved March third, nineteen hundred and eleven, and exclusive also of the additional officers authorized by the Act to restore lineal rank lost through the system of regimental promotion formerly in force; and the total number of officers hereby authorized for each grade in each of said arms on said list shall be in the proportion borne by the number of officers now authorized by law other than this Act for such grade and arm to the total number of officers now authorized by law other than this Act for the corresponding grade in all of the said four arms combined, exclusive of the extra and additional officers last hereinbefore specified and excluded: Provided, That all vacancies created or caused by the foregoing provisions of this section in grades above that of second lieutenant shall be filled by promotion according to law existing on and before the date of approval of this Act, and subject to the examinations prescribed by existing law. As soon as practicable after such promotions shall have been made, there shall be detached from each arm and assigned to the Detached Officers' List a number of officers of each grade equal to the number of officers of said grade by which said arm shall have been increased by the foregoing provisions of this section; and thereafter any vacancy created or caused in any of the said arms of the service by the assignment of an officer of any grade to said Detached Officers' List shall be filled, subject to such examination as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by law, by the promotion of the officer who shall be the senior in length of commissioned service of those eligible to promotion in the next lower grade in the arm in which such vacancy shall occur: Provided further, That no officer of any of said arms of the service shall be permitted to remain on said Detached Officers' List for more than forty-five days unless he shall have been actually present for duty for at least two years out of the last preceding six years with an organization composed of one or more statutory units, or the equivalent thereof, of the arm to which he shall belong. Any vacancy created in said list by the removal of any officer therefrom because he shall not have been present for duty as before prescribed in this proviso shall be filled by the transfer to said list of an officer having the same grade and belonging to the same arm as the officer whose removal from said list shall have created said vacancy; but, except as before prescribed in this proviso, all officers who shall have been assigned to said list shall remain thereon for not less than four years from the respective dates of their assignment thereto, unless in the meantime they shall have been separated entirely from the Army, or shall have been promoted or appointed to higher offices, or shall have been retired from active service: Provided further, That after the apportionment of officers to said Detached Officers' List shall have been made as authorized by this Act, whenever any vacancy shall have been caused in said list by the separation of an officer of any grade therefrom, such vacancy shall, except as prescribed in the last preceding proviso, be filled by the detail and assignment to said list of an officer of the corresponding grade in that arm in which there shall be found the officer of the next lower grade who at that time shall be the senior in length of commissioned service of all the officers of the said lower grade in all of the four arms hereinbefore specified; if two or more officers of different arms shall be found to have equal seniority in length of commissioned service in said lower grade, the question of seniority shall be decided by their relative standing on the list of the commissioned officers of the Army: Provided further, That, with a view further to equalize inequalities in past promotions of officers of the line of the Army, on July first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, the Cavalry shall be increased by seventeen colonels, and the Infantry by four colonels, all of whom shall be additional officers in that grade, and shall not bar nor retard the promotion to which any officer would be entitled if the appointment of the said additional officers had never been authorized; and after July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, no vacancies occurring among the said additional officers shall be filled and the offices so vacated shall cease and determine: And provided further, That for the purpose of lessening as much as possible inequalities of promotion due to the increase in the number of officers of the line of the Army under the provisions of this Act, any vacancies created or caused by this Act in commissioned grades below that of lieutenant colonel in any arm of said line may, in the discretion of the President and under such regulations as he may prescribe in furtherance of the purpose stated in this proviso, be filled by the promotion or transfer without promotion of officers of other branches of the line of the Army; but no such promotion or transfer shall be made in the case of any officer unless it shall have been recommended by an examining board composed of five officers, senior in rank to such officer, and of the arm to which the promotion or transfer of such officer shall have been proposed, who, after having made a personal examination of such officer and of his official record, shall have reported him qualified for service in said arm in the grade to which his promotion or transfer shall have been proposed. [39 Stat. L. 183.]

This section is affected by a provision in the Army Appropriation Act of May 12, 1917, ch. 12, 40 Stat. L. 40. The provision is set out infra, p. 1004.

This section is also affected by a provision in the Army Appropriation Act of Aug. 29, 1916, ch. 418, 39 Stat. L. 619. The provision is set out infra, p. 970.

For Act of March 3, 1911, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 407.

For Act of Feb. 2, 1901, § 27, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 1000.

SEC. 26. [Retirement of officers of Philippine Scouts.] Captains and lieutenants of Philippine Scouts who are citizens of the United States shall hereafter be entitled to retirement under the laws governing the retirement of enlisted men of the Regular Army, except that they shall be retired in the grade held by them at the date of retirement, shall be entitled to retirement for disability under the same conditions as officers of the Regular Army, and that they shall receive, as retired pay, the amounts allowed by law, as retired pay and allowances, of master signal electricians of the United States Army, and no more: Provided. That double time for service beyond the continental limits of the United States shall not be counted for the purposes of this section so as to reduce the actual period of service below twenty years: Provided further, That former officers of the Philippine Scouts who, because of disability occasioned by wounds received in action, have resigned, or been discharged from the service, or who have heretofore served as such for a period of more than five years and have been retired as enlisted men, shall be placed upon the retired list as officers of Philippine Scouts and thereafter receive the retired pay and allowances provided by this section for other officers of Philippine Scouts: And provided further, That any former officer of Philippine Scouts who vacated his office in the Philippine Scouts by discharge or resignation on account of disability contracted in the line of duty and who was subsequently retired as an enlisted man, except any former officer of Philippine Scouts who has been retired as an enlisted man by special Act of Congress, shall be transferred to the retired list created by this section and shall thereafter receive the retired pay and allowances authorized by this section, and no more. Officers of Philippine Scouts retired under the provisions of this section shall not form part of the limited retired list now authorized by law. [39 Stat. L. 185.]

SEC. 27. [Enlistments in the Regular Army.] On and after the first day of November, nineteen hundred and sixteen, all enlistments in the Regular Army shall be for a term of seven years, the first three years to be in the active service with the organizations of which those enlisted form a part and, except as otherwise provided herein, the last four years in the Regular Army Reserve hereinafter provided for: Provided, That at the expiration of three years' continuous service with such organizations, either under a first or any subsequent enlistment, any soldier may be reenlisted for another period of seven years, as above provided for, in which event he shall receive his final discharge from his prior enlistment: Provided further, That after the expiration of one year's honorable service any enlisted man serving within the continental limits of the United States whose company, troop, battery, or detachment commander shall report him as proficient and sufficiently trained may, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, be furloughed to the Regular Army Reserve under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, but no man furloughed to the reserve shall be eligible to reenlist in the service until the expiration of his term of seven years: Provided further, That in all enlistments hereafter accomplished under the provisions of this Act three years shall be counted as an enlistment period in computing continuous-service pay: Provided further, That any noncommissioned officer discharged with an excellent character shall be permitted, at the expiration of three years in the active service, to reenlist in the organization from which discharged with the rank and grade held by him at the time of his discharge if he reenlists within twenty days after the date of such discharge: Provided further, That no person under the age of eighteen years shall be enlisted or mustered into the military service of the United States without the written consent of his parents or guardians, provided that such minor has such parents or guardians entitled to his custody and control: And provided further, That the President is authorized in his discretion to utilize the services of postmasters of the second, third, and fourth classes in procuring the enlistment of recruits for the Army[.]

In addition to military training, soldiers while in the active service shall hereafter be given the opportunity to study and receive instruction upon educational lines of such character as to increase their military efficiency and enable them to return to civil life better equipped for industrial, commercial, and general business occupations. Civilian teachers may be employed to aid the Army officers in giving such instruction, and part of this instruction may consist of vocational education either in agriculture or the mechanic arts. The Secretary of War, with the approval of the President, shall prescribe rules and regulations for conducting the instruction herein provided for, and the Secretary of War shall have the power at all times to suspend, increase, or decrease the amount of such instruction offered as may in his judgment be consistent with the requirements of military instruction and service of the soldiers. [39 Stat. L. 185, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Postal Service Appropriation Act of July 2, 1918, § 11, which repealed a provision at the end of the first paragraph authorizing the payment of $5 to postmasters at second, third, and fourth class offices for each recruit secured by them and accepted by the Army. The repealed provision read as follows: "and for each recruit accepted for enlistment in the Army, the postmaster procuring his enlistment shall receive the sum of $5."

Enlistment of minor—Voidable by parent.—An enlistment in the army by a minor without his parent's consent is valid and binding as to the minor, but voidable on the application of the parent. Ex p. Avery, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 235 Fed. 248; Ex p. Winfield, (E. D. Va. 1916) 236 Fed. 552; Hoskins v. Dickerson, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 275, 152 C. C. A. 263, Ann. Cas. 1917C 776, L. R. A. 1917D 1056; Hoskins v. Pell, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D 1053; U. S. v. Brown, (E. D. Pa. 1917) 242 Fed. 983; Ex p. Rush, (M. D. Ala. 1917) 246 Fed. 172.

Enlistment in National Guard.—It has been questioned whether the right of the parents or guardian to the discharge of a minor obtains when the minor has enlisted in the National Guard which has subsequently been mustered into federal service. In Ex p. Winfield, (E. D. Va. 1916) 236 Fed. 552, it was held that no such right existed. The contrary, however, was held in Hoskins v. Dickerson, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 275, 152 C. C. A. 263, Ann. Cas. 1917C 776, L. R. A. 1917D 1056.

In Ex p. Avery, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 235 Fed. 248, the question was raised but no decision was made, since the minor had not enlisted until after the National Guard had been mustered into federal service.

Pending prosecution for military offense.—As the enlistment of a minor is valid as to him, any military offense committed by him after or in connection with his enlistment may be punished; and the fact that he enlisted without his parents' consent, or that, after the military authorities have instituted proceedings against him, his parent has instituted legal proceedings for his release, does not deprive the military authorities of the power to punish. U. S. v. Brown, (E. D. Pa. 1917) 242 Fed. 983.

Pending prosecution for fraudulent enlistment.—With respect of the right of a minor to be discharged from the army after he has been charged by the military authorities with fraudulent enlistment, there appears to be some conflict of opinion. It has been held if the charges were made, but not acted on prior to the petition for a writ of habeas corpus, that the jurisdiction of the civil court was paramount and that the discharge would be granted. Ex p. Avery, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 235 Fed. 248. On the contrary however it has been held that the minor will not be relieved from punishment by the military authorities by habeas corpus even though military proceedings were not instituted until after the service of the writ. U. S. v. Willford, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 220 Fed. 291, 136 C. C. A. 273; Ex p. Lewkowitz, (S. D. N. Y. 1908) 163 Fed. 646; In re Lessard, (C. C. N. H. 1905) 134 Fed. 305; *Hoskins v. Pending prosecution for desertion.—Where a minor falsely representing himself to be over eighteen years of age takes the oath of enlistment and immediately returns to his home without having done or received anything as a soldier, he cannot be considered as a deserter, for he is debarred by the statutes from becoming a soldier and cannot change his status by enlistment, although he might validate his enlistment by continuing in the service until he reached the prescribed age. Hoskins v. Pell, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 279, 152 C. C. A. 267, L. R. A. 1917D 1053.

SEC. 28. [Pay of certain enlisted men.] Hereafter the monthly pay of enlisted men of certain grades of the Army created in this Act shall be as follows, namely: Quartermaster sergeant, senior grade, Quartermaster Corps; master hospital sergeant, Medical Department; master engineer, senior grade, Corps of Engineers; and band leader, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Corps of Engineers, $75; hospital sergeant, Medical Department; and master engineer, junior grade, Corps of Engineers, $65; sergeant, first class, Medical Department, $50; sergeant, first class, Corps of Engineers; regimental supply sergeant, Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, and Corps of Engineers; battalion supply sergeant, Corps of Engineers; and assistant engineer, Coast Artillery Corps, $45; assistant band leader, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Corps of Engineers; and sergeant bugler, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Corps of Engineers, $40; musician, first class, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Corps of Engineers; supply sergeant, mess sergeant, and stable sergeant, Corps of Engineers; sergeant Medical Department, $36; supply sergeant, Infantry, Cavalry, and Artillery; mess sergeant, Infantry, Cavalry, and Artillery; cook, Medical Department; horseshoer, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, Corps of Engineers, Signal Corps, and Medical Department; stable sergeant, Infantry and Cavalry; radio sergeant, Coast Artillery Corps; and musicians, second class, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Corps of Engineers, $30; musician, third class, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Corps of Engineers; corporal, Medical Department, $24; saddler, Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Corps of Engineers, and Medical Department; mechanic, Infantry, Cavalry, and Field Artillery, and Medical Department; farrier, Medical Department; and wagoner, Infantry, Field Artillery, and Corps of Engineers, $21; private, first class, Infantry, Cavalry, Artillery, and Medical Department, $18; private, Medical Department, and bugler, $15. Nothing herein contained shall operate to reduce the pay or allowances now authorized by law for any grade of enlisted men of the Army: Provided, That enlisted men who are now qualified, or who may hereafter qualify, as expert military telegraphers, shall receive $5 a month; as first-class military telegraphers, $3 a month; as military telegraphers, $2 a month; all in addition to their pay, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, but no enlisted man shall receive at the same time additional pay for more than one of the classifications named. [39 Stat. L. 186, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 5. The amendment consisted in adding the proviso.

SEC. 29. [Final discharge of enlisted men.] No enlisted man in the Regular Army shall receive his final discharge until the termination of his seven-year term of enlistment except upon reenlistment as provided for in this Act or as provided by law for discharge prior to expiration of term of enlistment, but when an enlisted man is furloughed to the Regular Army Reserve his account shall be closed and he shall be paid in full to the date such furlough becomes effective, including allowances provided by law for discharged soldiers: Provided, That when by reason of death or disability of a member of the family of an enlisted man occurring after his enlistment members of his family become dependent upon him for support, he may, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, be discharged from the service of the United States or be furloughed to the Regular Army Reserve, upon due proof being made of such condition: Provided further, That when an enlisted man is discharged by purchase while in active service he shall be furloughed to the Regular Army Reserve, unless, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, he is given a final discharge from the Army. [39 Stat. L. 187.]

SEC. 30. [Composition of the Regular Army Reserve.] The Regular Army Reserve shall consist of, first, all enlisted men now in the Army Reserve or who shall hereafter become members of the Army Reserve under the provisions of existing law; second, all enlisted men furloughed to or enlisted in the Regular Army Reserve under the provisions of this Act; and, third, any person holding an honorable discharge from the Regular Army with character reported at least good who is physically qualified for the duties of a soldier and not over forty-five years of age who enlists in the Regular Army Reserve for a period of four years. [39 Stat. L. 187.]

SEC. 31. [Regular Army Reserve — assignments — enlistments — pay.] The President is authorized to assign members of the Regular Army Reserve as reserves to particular organizations of the Regular Army, or to organize the Regular Army Reserve, or any part thereof, into units or detachments of any arm, corps, or department in such manner as he may prescribe, and to assign to such units and detachments officers of the Regular Army or of the Officers' Reserve Corps herein provided for; and he may summon the Regular Army Reserve or any part thereof for field training for a period not exceeding fifteen days in each year, the reservists to receive from the date of their departure to place where ordered pay and allowances at the rate of their respective grades in the Regular Army, transportation, and reimbursement of cost of subsistence at such rate as may be fixed by the Secretary of War during travel from home to place where ordered and return to home, and subsistence in kind during period not in transit and while in service, and in the event of actual or threatened hostilities he may mobilize the Regular Army Reserve in such manner as he may determine, and thereafter retain it, or any part thereof, in active service for such period as he may determine the conditions demand: Provided, That all enlistments in the Regular Army, including those in the Regular Army Reserve, which are in force on the date of the outbreak of war shall continue in force for one year, unless sooner terminated by order of the Secretary of War, but nothing herein shall be construed to shorten the time of enlistment prescribed: Provided further, That subject to such regulations as the President may prescribe for their proper identification, and location, and physical condition, the members of the Regular Army

Reserve shall be paid semi-annually at the rate of $24 a year while in the reserve. [39 Stat. L. 187, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 6. The amendment substituted the words "from the date of their departure . . . and while in service" for the words "travel expenses and pay at the rate of their respective grades in the Regular Army during such periods of training."

SEC. 32. [Regular Army Reserve in time of war.] When mobilized by order of the President, the members of the Regular Army Reserve shall, so long as they may remain in active service, receive the pay and allowances of enlisted men of the Regular Army of like grades: Provided, That any enlisted man who shall have reenlisted in the Regular Army Reserve shall receive during such active service the additional pay now provided by law for enlisted men in his arm of the service in the second enlistment period: Provided further, That upon reporting for duty, and being found physically fit for service, members of the Regular Army Reserve shall receive a sum equal to $3 per month for each month during which they shall have belonged to the reserve, as well as the actual necessary cost of transportation and subsistence from their homes to the places at which they may be ordered to report for duty under such summons: And provided further, That service in the Regular Army Reserve shall confer no right to retirement or retired pay, and members of the Regular Army Reserve shall become entitled to pension only through disability incurred while on active duty in the service of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 188.]

SEC. 33. [Use of other departments of the Government.] The President may, subject to such rules and regulations as in his judgment may be necessary, utilize the services of members and employees of all departments of the Government of the United States, without expense to the individual reservist, for keeping in touch with, paying, and mobilizing the Regular Army Reserve, the Enlisted Reserve Corps, and other reserve organizations. [39 Stat. L. 188.]

SEC. 34. [Reenlistment in time of war.] For the purpose of utilizing as an auxiliary to the Regular Army Reserves the services of men who have had experience and training in the Regular Army, or in the United States Volunteers, outside of the continental limits of the United States, in time of actual or threatened hostilities, and after the President shall, by proclamation, have called upon honorably discharged soldiers of the Regular Army to present themselves for reenlistment therein within a specified period, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, any person who shall have been discharged honorably from said Army, with character reported as at least good, and who, having been found physically qualified for the duties of a soldier, if not over fifty years of age, shall reenlist in the line of said Army, or in the Signal, Quartermaster, or Medical Department thereof, within the period that shall be specified in said proclamation, shall receive on so reenlisting a bounty which shall be computed at the rate of $8 for each month for the first year of the period that shall have elapsed since his last discharge from the Regular Army and the date of his reenlistment therein under the terms of said proclamation; at the rate of $6 per month for the second year of such period; at the rate of $4 per month for the third year of such period; and at the rate of $2 per month for any subsequent year of such period; but no bounty in excess of $300 shall be paid to any person under the terms of this section. [39 Stat. L. 188.]

SEC. 35. [Enlisted men prohibited from civil employment.] Hereafter no enlisted man in the active service of the United States in the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, respectively, whether a noncommissioned officer, musician, or private, shall be detailed, ordered, or permitted to leave his post to engage in any pursuit, business, or performance in civil life, for emolument, hire, or otherwise, when the same shall interfere with the customary employment and regular engagement of local civilians in the respective arts, trades, or professions. [39 Stat. L. 188.]

SEC. 36. [Sergeants for duty with the National Guard.] For the purpose of assisting in the instruction of the personnel and care of property in the hands of the National Guard the Secretary of War is authorized to detail from the Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Corps of Engineers, Coast Artillery Corps, Medical Department, and Signal Corps of the Regular Army not to exceed one thousand sergeants for duty with corresponding organizations of the National Guard and not to exceed one hundred sergeants for duty with the disciplinary organizations at the United States Disciplinary Barracks, who shall be additional to the sergeants authorized by this Act for the corps, companies, troops, batteries, and detachments from which they may be detailed.

SEC. 37. [The Officers' Reserve Corps.] For the purpose of securing a reserve of officers available for service as temporary officers in the Regular Army, as provided for in this Act and in section eight of the Act approved April twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, as officers of the Quartermaster Corps and other staff corps and departments, as officers for recruit rendezvous and depots, and as officers of volunteers there shall be organized, under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, an Officers' Reserve Corps of the Regular Army. Said corps shall consist of sections corresponding to the various arms, staff corps, and departments of the Regular Army. Except as otherwise herein provided, a member of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not be subject to call for service in time of peace, and whenever called upon for service shall not, without his consent, be so called in a lower grade than that held by him in said reserve corps.

The President alone shall be authorized to appoint and commission as reserve officers in the various sections of the Officers' Reserve Corps, in all grades up to and including that of major, such citizens as, upon examination prescribed by the President, shall be found physically, mentally, and morally qualified to hold such commissions: Provided, That the proportion of officers in any section of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not exceed the proportion for the same grade in the corresponding arm, corps, or department of the Regular Army, except that the number commissioned in the lowest authorized grade in any section of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not be limited.

All persons now carried as duly qualified and registered pursuant to section twenty-three of the Act of Congress approved January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and three, shall, for a period of three years after the passage of this Act, be eligible for appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps in the section corresponding to the arm, corps, or department for which they have been found qualified, without further examination, except for a physical examination, and subject to the limitations as to age and rank herein prescribed: Provided, That any person who on June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, was carried as qualified and registered in the grade of colonel or lieutenant colonel pursuant to the provisions of the Act of January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and three, or any person holding a commission as colonel or lieutenant colonel in the National Guard of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia on June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, who has served satisfactorily as such in the service of the United States under the call of May ninth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, or that of June eighteenth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, may be commissioned or recommissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps with rank for which he had been found qualified and registered, or which he held in the National Guard on June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, or while in the service of the United States; but when such person shall become thereafter separated from the Officers' Reserve Corps for any reason, the vacancy so caused shall not be filled and such office shall cease and determine: Provided further, That any officer of the Officers' Reserve Corps called for service with his consent in a lower grade than that held by him in said Reserve Corps shall, subject to such physical examination as may be prescribed, be considered eligible for recommission in such lower grade.

No person shall, except as hereinafter provided, be appointed or reappointed a second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps after he shall have reached the age of thirty-two years, a first lieutenant after he shall have reached the age of thirty-six years, a captain after he shall have reached the age of forty years, or a major after he shall have reached the age of forty-five years. When an officer of the Reserve Corps shall reach the age limit fixed for appointment or reappointment in the grade in which commissioned he shall be honorably discharged from the service of the United States, and be entitled to retain his official title and, on occasions of ceremony, to wear the uniform of the highest grade he shall have held in the Officers' Reserve Corps: Provided, That nothing in the foregoing provisions as to the ages of officers shall apply to the appointment or reappointment of officers of the Quartermaster, Engineer, Ordnance, Signal, Judge Advocate, and Medical sections of said Reserve Corps.

One year after the passage of this act the Medical Reserve Corps, as now constituted by law, shall cease to exist. Members thereof may be commissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps, subject to the provisions of this Act, or may be honorably discharged from the service. The Secretary of War may, in time of peace, order first lieutenants of the medical section of the Officers' Reserve Corps, with their consent, to active duty in the service of the United States in such numbers as the public interests may require and the funds appropriated may permit, and may relieve them from such duty when their services are no longer necessary. While on such duty they shall receive the pay and allowances, including pay for periods of sickness and leaves of absence, of officers of corresponding rank and length of active service in the Regular Army.

The commissions of all officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall be in force for a period of five years unless sooner terminated in the discretion of the President. Such officers may be recommissioned, either in the same or higher grades, for successive periods of five years, subject to such examinations and qualifications as the President may prescribe and to the age limits prescribed herein: Provided, That officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall have rank therein in the various sections of said Reserve Corps according to grades and to length of service in their grades. [39 Stat. L. 189, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here set out by the Army Appropriation Act of May 12, 1917, by substituting the second and third provisos for the following:

"Provided, That any person carried as qualified and registered in the grade of colonel or lieutenant colonel pursuant to the provisions of said Act on the date when this Act becomes effective may be commissioned and recommissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps with the rank for which he has been found qualified and registered, but when such person thereafter shall become separated from the Officers' Reserve Corps for any reason the vacancy so caused shall not be filled, and such office shall cease and determine."

SEC. 38. [The Officers' Reserve Corps in war.] In time of actual or threatened hostilities the President may order officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps, subject to such subsequent physical examinations as he may prescribe, to temporary duty with the Regular Army in grades thereof which can not, for the time being, be filled by promotion, or as officers in volunteer or other organizations that may be authorized by law, or as officers at recruit rendezvous and depots, or on such other duty as the President may prescribe. While such reserve officers are on such service they shall, by virtue of their commissions as reserve officers, exercise command appropriate to their grade and rank in the organizations to which they may be assigned, and shall be entitled to the pay and allowances of the corresponding grades in the Regular Army, with increase of pay for length of active service, as allowed by law for officers of the Regular Army, from the date upon which they shall be required by the terms of their orders to obey the same: Provided, That officers so ordered to active service shall take temporary rank among themselves, and in their grades in the organizations to which assigned, according to the dates of orders placing them on active service; and they may be promoted, in accordance with such rank, to vacancies in volunteer organizations or to temporary vacancies in the Regular Army thereafter occurring in the organizations in which they shall be serving: Provided further, That officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not be entitled to retirement or retired pay, and shall be entitled to pension only for disability incurred in the line of duty and while in active service.

Any officer who, while holding a commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps, shall be ordered to active service by the Secretary of War shall, from the time he shall be required by the terms of his order to obey the same, be subject to the laws and regulations for the government of the Army of the United States, in so far as they are applicable to officers whose permanent retention in the military service is not contemplated. [39 Stat. L. 190.]

SEC. 39. [Instruction of officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps.] To the extent provided for from time to time by appropriations for this specific purpose, the Secretary of War is authorized to order reserve officers to duty with troops or at field exercises, or for instruction, for periods not to exceed fifteen days in any one calendar year, and while so serving such officers shall receive the pay and allowances of their respective grades in the Regular Army: Provided, That, with the consent of the reserve officers concerned, and within the limits of funds available for the purpose, such periods of duty may be extended for reserve officers as the Secretary of War may direct: Provided further, That in time of actual or threatened hostilities, after all available officers of any section of the Officers' Reserve Corps corresponding to any arm, corps, or department of the Regular Army shall have been ordered into active service, officers of Volunteers may be appointed in such arm, corps, or department as may be authorized by law: Provided further, That nothing herein shall operate to prevent the appointment of any officer of the Regular Army as an officer of Volunteers before all the officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps or any section thereof shall have been ordered into active service: And provided further, That in determining the relative rank and the right to retirement of an officer of the Regular Army, active duty performed by him while serving in the Officers' Reserve Corps shall not be reckoned. [39 Stat. L. 191.]

SEC. 40. [The Reserve Officers' Training Corps.] The President is hereby authorized to establish and maintain in civil educational institutions a Reserve Officers' Training Corps, which shall consist of a senior division organized at universities and colleges requiring four years of collegiate study for a degree, including State universities and those State institutions that are required to provide instruction in military tactics under the provisions of the Act of Congress of July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, donating lands for the establishment of colleges where the leading object shall be practical instruction in agriculture and the mechanic arts, including military tactics, and a junior division organized at all other public or private educational institutions, except that units of the senior division may be organized at those essentially military schools which do not confer an academic degree but which, as a result of the annual inspection of such institutions by the War Department, are specially designated by the Secretary of War as qualified for units of the senior division, and each division shall consist of units of the several arms or corps in such number and of such strength as the President may prescribe. [39 Stat. L. 191.]

For Act of July 2, 1862, mentioned above, see 2 Fed. Stat. Ann. 850.

SEC. 41. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — establishment in state educational institution.] The President may, upon the application of any State institution described in section forty of this Act, establish and maintain at such institution one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps: Provided, That no such unit shall be established or maintained at any such institution until an officer of the Army shall have been detailed as professor of military science and tactics, nor until such institution shall maintain under military instruction at least one hundred physically fit male students. [39 Stat. L. 191.]

SEC. 42. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — establishment in other than state institution.] The President may, upon the application of any established educational institution in the United States other than a State institution described in section forty of this Act, the authorities of which agree to establish and maintain a two years' elective or compulsory course of military training as a minimum for its physically fit male students, which course when entered upon by any student shall, as regards such student, be a prerequisite for graduation, establish and maintain at such institution one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps: Provided, That no such unit shall be established or maintained at any such institution until an officer of the Army shall have been detailed as professor of military science and tactics, nor until such institution shall maintain under military instruction at least one hundred physically fit male students: Provided further, That upon the recommendation of the professor of military science and tactics of any such institution, the authorities thereof may discharge a member of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps from such corps and from the necessity of completing the course of military training as a prerequisite to graduation. [39 Stat. L. 191, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 7. The amendment added the last proviso.

SEC. 43. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — standard courses of training.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to prescribe standard courses of theoretical and practical military training for units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and no unit of the senior division shall be organized or maintained at any educational institution the authorities of which fail or neglect to adopt into their curriculum the prescribed courses of military training for the senior division or to devote at least an average of three hours per week per academic year to such military training; and no unit of the junior division shall be organized or maintained at any educational institution the authorities of which fail or neglect to adopt into their curriculum the prescribed courses of military training for the junior division, or to devote at least an average of three hours per week per academic year to such military training. [39 Stat. L. 192.]

SEC. 44. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — eligibility to membership.] Eligibility to membership in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps shall be limited to students of institutions in which units of such corps may be established who are citizens of the United States, who are not less than fourteen years of age, and whose bodily condition indicates that they are physically fit to perform military duty, or will be so upon arrival at military age. [39 Stat. L. 192.]

SEC. 45. [Detail of officers of army to educational institutions.] The President is hereby authorized to detail such numbers of officers of the Army, either active or retired, not above the grade of colonel, as may be necessary, for duty as professors and assistant professors of military science and tactics at institutions where one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are maintained; but the total number of active officers so detailed at educational institutions shall not exceed three hundred, and no active officer shall be so detailed who has not had five years' commissioned service in the Army. In time of peace retired officers shall not be detailed under the provisions of this section without their consent. Retired officers below the grade of lieutenant colonel so detailed shall receive the full pay and allowances of their grade, and retired officers above the grade of major so detailed shall receive the same pay and allowances as a retired major would receive under a like detail. No detail of officers on the active list of the Regular Army under the provisions of this section shall extend for more than four years. [39 Stat. L. 192.]

Suspension of this section pending present war.—The Act of April 17, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —, § 1 (see infra, p. 1037), suspends this section for the period of the present war.

SEC. 46. [Detail of enlisted men at educational institutions.] The President is hereby authorized to detail for duty at institutions where one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are maintained such number of enlisted men, either active or retired or of the Regular Army Reserve, as he may deem necessary, but the number of active noncommissioned officers so detailed shall not exceed five hundred, and all active noncommissioned officers so detailed shall be additional in their respective grades to those otherwise authorized for the Army. Retired enlisted men or members of the Regular Army Reserve shall not be detailed under the provisions of this section without their consent. While so detailed they shall receive active pay and allowances. [39 Stat. L. 192.]

Suspension of this section pending present war.—The Act of April 17, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —, § 1 (see infra, p. 1037), suspends this section for the period of the present war.

SEC. 47. [Supplies furnished educational institution.] The Secretary of War, under such regulations as he may prescribe, is hereby authorized to issue to institutions at which one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are maintained such public animals, arms, uniforms, equipment, and means of transportation as he may deem necessary, and to forage at the expense of the United States public animals so issued. He shall require from each institution to which property of the United States is issued a bond in the value of the property issued for the care and safe-keeping thereof, and for its return when required. [39 Stat. L. 192.]

SEC. 48. [Camps for instruction of Reserve Officers' Training Corps.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to maintain camps for the further practical instruction of the members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, no such camps to be maintained for a period longer than six weeks in any one year, except in time of actual or threatened hostilities; to transport members of such corps to and from such camps at the expense of the United States so far as appropriations will permit; to subsist them at the expense of the United States while traveling to and from such camps and while remaining therein so far as appropriations will permit; to use the Regular Army, such other military forces as Congress from time to time authorizes, and such Government property as he may deem necessary for the military training of the members of such corps while in attendance at such camps; to prescribe regulations for the government of such corps; and to authorize, in his discretion, the formation of company units thereof into battalion and regimental units. [39 Stat. L. 193.]

SEC. 49. [Officers' Reserve Corps — eligibility to membership.] The President alone, under such regulations as he may prescribe, is hereby authorized to appoint in the Officers' Reserve Corps any graduate of the senior division of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps who shall have satisfactorily completed the further training provided for in section fifty of this Act, or any graduate of the junior division who shall have satisfactorily completed the courses of military training prescribed for the senior division and the further training provided for in section fifty of this Act, and shall have participated in such practical instruction subsequent to graduation as the Secretary of War shall prescribe, who shall have arrived at the age of twenty-one years and who shall agree, under oath in writing, to serve the United States in the capacity of a reserve officer of the Army during a period of at least ten years from the date of his appointment as such reserve officer, unless sooner discharged by proper authority; but the total number of reserve officers so appointed shall not exceed fifty thousand: Provided, That any graduate qualified under the provisions of this section undergoing a postgraduate course at any institution shall not be eligible for appointment as a reserve officer while undergoing such postgraduate course, but his ultimate eligibility upon completion of such postgraduate course for such appointment shall not be affected because of his having undergone such postgraduate course. [39 Stat. L. 193.]

SEC. 50. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — commutation of subsistence.] When any member of the senior division of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has completed two academic years of service in that division, and has been selected for further training by the president of the institution and by its professor of military science and tactics, and has agreed in writing to continue in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps for the remainder of his course in the institution, devoting five hours per week to the military training prescribed by the Secretary of War, and has agreed in writing to pursue the courses in camp training prescribed by the Secretary of War, he may be furnished, at the expense of the United States, with commutation of subsistence at such rate, not exceeding the cost of the garrison ration prescribed for the Army, as may be fixed by the Secretary of War, during the remainder of his service in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. [39 Stat. L. 193.]

This section is affected by a joint resolution of September 8, 1916, ch. 478, 39 Stat. L. 853, which provided as follows:

"That in the interpretation and execution of section fifty of the Act of Congress approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, credit shall be given as for service in the senior division of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps to any member of that division for any period or periods of time during which such member has received or shall have received at an educational institution under the direction of an officer of the Army, detailed as professor of military science and tactics, a course of military training substantially equivalent to that prescribed by regulations under this section for the corresponding period or periods of training of the senior division, Reserve Officers' Training Corps."

SEC. 51. [Officers' Reserve Corps — eligibility to membership.] Any physically fit male citizen of the United States, between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-seven years, who shall have graduated prior to July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen, from any educational institution at which an officer of the Army was detailed as professor of military science and tactics, and who, while a student at such institution, completed courses of military training under the direction of such professor of military science and tactics substantially equivalent to those prescribed pursuant to this Act for the senior division, shall, after satisfactorily completing such additional practical military training as the Secretary of War shall prescribe, be eligible for appointment to the Officers' Reserve Corps and as a temporary additional second lieutenant in accordance with the terms of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 193, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 8. The amendment substituted "July first, nineteen hundred and nineteen" for "the date of this act."

SEC. 52. [Regular army — officers — reserve officers as.] The President alone is hereby authorized to appoint and commission as a temporary second lieutenant of the Regular Army in time of peace for purposes of instruction, for a period not exceeding six months, with the allowances now provided by law for that grade, but with pay at the rate of $100 per month, any reserve officer appointed pursuant to sections forty-nine and fifty-one of this Act and to attach him to a unit of the Regular Army for duty and training during the period covered by his appointment as such temporary second lieutenant, and upon the expiration of such service with the Regular Army such officer shall revert to his status as a reserve officer. [39 Stat. L. 194.]

SEC. 53. [Retirement, retired pay and pension — who entitled.] No reserve officer or temporary second lieutenant appointed pursuant to this Act shall be entitled to retirement or to retired pay and shall be eligible for pension only for disability incurred in line of duty in active service or while serving with the Regular Army pursuant to the provisions of this Act: Provided, That in time of war the President may order reserve officers appointed under the provisions of this Act to active duty with any of the military forces of the United States in any grades not below that of second lieutenant, and while on such active duty they shall be subject to the Rules and Articles of War: And provided further, That the Adjutant General of the Army shall, under the direction and supervision of the Secretary of War, obtain, compile, and keep continually up to date all obtainable information as to the names, ages, addresses, occupations, and qualifications for appointment as commissioned officers of the Army, in time of war or other emergency, of men of suitable ages who, by reason of having received military training in civilian educational institutions or elsewhere, may be regarded as qualified and available for appointment as such commissioned officers. [39 Stat. L. 194.]

SEC. 54. [Training camps.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to maintain, upon military reservations or elsewhere, camps for the military instruction and training of such citizens as may be selected for such instruction and training, upon their application and under such terms of enlistment and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War; to use, for the purpose of maintaining said camps and imparting military instruction and training thereat, such arms, ammunition, accouterments, equipments, tentage, field equipage, and transportation belonging to the United States as he may deem necessary; to furnish, at the expense of the United States, uniforms, subsistence, transportation by the most usual and direct route within such limits as to territory as the Secretary of War may prescribe, and medical supplies to persons receiving instruction at said camps during the period of their attendance thereat, to authorize such expenditures, from proper Army appropriations, as he may deem necessary for water, fuel, light, temporary structures, not including quarters for officers nor barracks for men, screening, and damages resulting from field exercises, and other expenses incidental to the maintenance of said camps, and the theoretical winter instruction in connection therewith; and to sell to persons receiving instruction at said camps, for cash and at cost price plus ten per centum, quartermaster and ordnance property, the amount of such property sold to any one person to be limited to that which is required for his proper equipment. All moneys arising from such sales shall remain available throughout the fiscal year following that in which the sales are made, for the purpose of that appropriation from which the property sold was authorized to be supplied at the time of the sale. The Secretary of War is authorized further to prescribe the courses of theoretical and practical instruction to be pursued by persons attending the camps authorized by this section; to fix the periods during which such camps shall be maintained; to prescribe rules and regulations for the government thereof; and to employ thereat officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army in such numbers and upon such duties as he may designate. [39 Stat. L. 194.]

This section is affected and amended in part by the Army Appropriation Act of May 12, 1917, ch. 12, 40 Stat. L. 70. The amendment relates to pay and allowances, and is set out ante, p. 458 cc.

SEC. 55. [The Enlisted Reserve Corps.] For the purpose of securing an additional reserve of enlisted men for military service with the Engineer, Signal, and Quartermaster Corps and the Ordnance and Medical Departments of the Regular Army, an Enlisted Reserve Corps, to consist of such number of enlisted men of such grade or grades as may be designated by the President from time to time, is hereby authorized, such authorization to be effective on and after the first day of July, nineteen hundred and sixteen.

There may be enlisted in the grade or grades hereinbefore specified, for a period of four years, under such rules as may be prescribed by the President, citizens of the United States, or persons who have declared their intentions to become citizens of the United States, subject to such physical, educational, and practical examination as may be prescribed in said rules. For men enlisting in said grade or grades certificates of enlistment in the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall be issued by the Adjutant General of the Army, but no such man shall be enlisted in said corps unless he shall be found physically, mentally, and morally qualified to hold such certificate and unless he shall be between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years. The certificates so given shall confer upon the holders when called into active service or for purposes of instruction and training, and during the period of such active service, instruction, or training, all the authority, rights, and privileges of like grades of the Regular Army. Enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall take precedence in said corps according to the dates of their certificates of enlistment therein and when called into active service or when called out for purposes of instruction or training shall take precedence next below all other enlisted men of like grades in the Regular Army. And the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to issue to members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps and to persons who have participated in at least one encampment for the military instruction of citizens, conducted under the auspices of the War Department, distinctive rosettes or knots designed for wear with civilian clothing, and whenever a rosette or knot issued under the provisions of this section shall have been lost, destroyed, or rendered unfit for use without fault or neglect upon the part of the person to whom it is issued, the Secretary of War shall cause a new rosette or knot to be issued to such person without charge therefor. Any person who is not an enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps and shall not have participated in at least one encampment for the military instruction of citizens, conducted under the auspices of the War Department, and who shall wear such rosette or knot shall be guilty of misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not exceeding $300, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both.

The President is authorized to assign members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps as reserves to particular organizations of the Regular Army, or to organize the Enlisted Reserve Corps, or any part thereof, into units or detachments of any arm, corps, or department in such manner as he may prescribe; and to assign to such units and detachments officers of the Regular Army or of the Officers' Reserve Corps, herein provided for.

To the extent provided from time to time by appropriations the Secretary of War may order enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps to active service for purposes of instruction or training for periods not to exceed fifteen days in any one calendar year: Provided, That, with the consent of such enlisted men and within the limits of funds available for such purposes, such periods of active service may be extended for such number of enlisted men as may be deemed necessary.

Enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall receive the pay and allowances of their respective grades, but only when ordered into active service and from the date of their departure to place where ordered, transportation and reimbursement of cost of subsistence at such rate as may be fixed by the Secretary of War during travel from home to place where ordered and return home and subsistence in kind during period not in transit and while in service: Provided, That said enlisted men shall not be entitled to retirement or retirement pay: Provided further, That when any enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall be ordered to active service for purposes of instruction or training he may be paid at any time after the date such order shall become effective for the period from the date of leaving home to date of return thereto as determined in advance, both dates inclusive, and such payment, if otherwise correct, shall pass to the credit of the disbursing officer making the same.

The uniform to be worn by enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps, except corps insignia, shall be the same as prescribed for enlisted men of the Regular Army Reserve, and that in lieu of any money allowance for clothing there shall be issued to each enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps in time of peace such articles of clothing and equipment as the President may direct: Provided, That any clothing or other equipment issued to any enlisted man of the said corps shall remain the property of the United States, and in case of loss or destruction of any article, the article so lost or destroyed shall be replaced by issue to the enlisted man and the value thereof deducted from any pay due or to become due him, unless it shall be made to appear that such loss or destruction was not due to neglect or other fault on his part: Provided further, That any clothing or other equipment issued to enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps which shall have become unserviceable through ordinary wear and tear in the service of the United States shall be received back by the United States and serviceable like articles issued in lieu thereof: Provided further, That when enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall be discharged or otherwise separated from the service, all arms, equipage, clothing, and other property issued to them shall be accounted for under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War.

Any enlisted man of the Enlisted Reserve Corps ordered to active service or for purposes of instruction or training shall, from the time he is required by the terms of the order to obey the same, be subject to the laws and regulations for the government of the Army of the United States.

The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to discharge any enlisted member of the Enlisted Reserve Corps when his services shall be no longer required, or when he shall have by misconduct unfitted himself for further service in the said corps: Provided, That any enlisted man of said corps who shall be ordered upon active duty as herein provided and who shall willfully fail to comply with the terms of the order so given him shall, in addition to any other penalty to which he may be subject, forfeit his certificate of enlistment.

In time of actual or threatened hostilities the President may order the Enlisted Reserve Corps, in such numbers and at such times as may be considered necessary, to active service with the Regular Army, and while on such service members of said corps shall exercise command appropriate to their several grades and rank in the organizations to which they shall be assigned and shall be entitled to the pay and allowances of the corresponding grades in the Regular Army, with increase of pay for length of service as now allowed by law for the Regular Army: Provided, That upon a call by the President for a volunteer force the members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps may be mustered into the service of the United States as volunteers for duty with the Army in the grades held by them in the said corps, and shall be entitled to the pay and allowances of the corresponding grades in the Regular Army, with increase of pay for length of service, as now provided by law for the Regular Army: And provided further, That enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall not acquire by virtue of issuance of certificates of enlistment to them a vested right to be mustered into the volunteer service of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 195, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 9. The amendment substituted the present fifth paragraph for the following:

"Enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps shall receive the pay and allowances of their respective grades, but only when ordered into active service, including the time required for actual travel from their homes to the places to which ordered and return to their homes: Provided, That said enlisted men shall not be entitled to retirement or retirement pay, nor shall they be entitled to pensions except for physical disability incurred in line of duty while in active service or while traveling under orders of competent authority to or from designated places of duty."

SEC. 56. [Military equipment and instructors at other schools and colleges.] Such arms, tentage, and equipment as the Secretary of War shall deem necessary for proper military training shall be supplied by the Government to schools and colleges, other than those provided for in section forty-seven of this Act, having a course of military training prescribed by the Secretary of War and having not less than one hundred physically fit male students above the age of fourteen years, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe; and the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to detail such commissioned and noncommissioned officers of the Army to said schools and colleges, other than those provided for in section forty-five and forty-six of this Act, detailing not less than one such officer or non-commissioned officer to each five hundred students under military instruction. [39 Stat. L. 197.]

Suspension of this section pending present war.—The Act of April 17, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —, § 1 (see infra, p. 1037), suspends this section for the present war.

SEC. 114. [Temporary vacancies in Regular Army due to details to the National Guard.] In time of war the temporary vacancies created in any grade not above that of colonel among the commissioned personnel of any arm, staff corps, or department of the Regular Army, through appointments of officers thereof to higher rank in organizations composed of members taken from the National Guard, shall be filled by temporary promotions according to seniority in rank from officers holding commissions in the next lower grade in said arm, staff corps, or department, and all vacancies created in any grade by such temporary promotions shall be in like manner filled from, and thus create temporary vacancies in, the next lower grade, and the vacancies that shall remain thereafter in said arm, staff corps, or department and that can not be filled by temporary promotions, as prescribed in this section, may be filled by the temporary appointment of officers of such number and grade or grades as shall maintain said arm, corps, or department at the full commissioned strength authorized by law: Provided, That in the staff corps and departments subject to the provisions of sections twenty-six and twenty-seven of the Act of February second, nineteen hundred and one, and Acts amendatory thereof, temporary vacancies that can not be filled by temporary promotions as hereinbefore prescribed shall be filled by temporary details in the manner prescribed in said sections twenty-six and twenty-seven, and Acts amendatory thereof, and the resulting temporary vacancies in the branches of the Army from which the details shall be so made shall be filled as hereinbefore in this section prescribed: Provided further, That officers temporarily promoted or appointed under the terms of this section shall be promoted or appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for terms that shall not extend beyond the war or the passing of the emergency for which additional forces were brought into the military service of the United States, and at the termination of the war or the passing of the emergency said officers shall be discharged from the positions held by them under their temporary commissions or appointments, and officers detailed as herein authorized shall be relieved from their temporary details: And provided further, That officers temporarily promoted under the provisions of this section shall not vacate their permanent commissions nor be prejudiced in their relative or lineal standing in the Regular Army. [39 Stat. L. 211.]

SEC. 120. [Purchase or procurement of military supplies in time of actual or imminent war.] The President, in time of war or when war is imminent, is empowered, through the head of any department of the Government, in addition to the present authorized methods of purchase or procurement, to place an order with any individual, firm, association, company, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry for such product or material as may be required, and which is of the nature and kind usually produced or capable of being produced by such individual, firm, company, association, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry.

Compliance with all such orders for products or material shall be obligatory on any individual, firm, association, company, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry or the responsible head or heads thereof and shall take precedence over all other orders and contracts theretofore placed with such individual, firm, company, association, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry, and any individual, firm, association, company, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry or the responsible head or heads thereof owning or operating any plant equipped for the manufacture of arms or ammunition, or parts of ammunition, or any necessary supplies or equipment for the Army, and any individual, firm, association, company, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry or the responsible head or heads thereof owning or operating any manufacturing plant, which, in the opinion of the Secretary of War shall be capable of being readily transformed into a plant for the manufacture of arms or ammunition, or parts thereof, or other necessary supplies or equipment, who shall refuse to give to the United States such preference in the matter of the execution of orders, or who shall refuse to manufacture the kind, quantity, or quality of arms or ammunition, or the parts thereof, or any necessary supplies or equipment, as ordered by the Secretary of War, or who shall refuse to furnish such arms, ammunitions, or parts of ammunition, or other supplies or equipment, at a reasonable price as determined by the Secretary of War, then, and in either such case, the President, through the head of any department of the Government, in addition to the present authorized methods of purchase or procurement herein provided for, is hereby authorized to take immediate possession of any such plant or plants, and through the Ordnance Department of the United States Army, to manufacture therein in time of war, or when war shall be imminent, such product or material as may be required, and any individual, firm, company, association, or corporation, or organized manufacturing industry, or the responsible head or heads thereof, failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than three years and by a fine not exceeding $50,000.

The compensation to be paid to any individual, firm, company, association, corporation, or organized manufacturing industry for its products or material, or as rental for use of any manufacturing plant while used by the United States, shall be fair and just.

The Secretary of War shall also make, or cause to be made, a complete list of all privately owned plants in the United States equipped to manufacture arms or ammunition, or the component parts thereof. He shall obtain full and complete information regarding the kind of arms or ammunition, or the component parts thereof, manufactured or that can be manufactured by each such plant, the equipment in each plant, and the maximum capacity thereof. He shall also prepare, or cause to be prepared, a list of privately owned manufacturing plants in the United States capable of being readily transformed into ammunition factories, where the capacity of the plant is sufficient to warrant transforming such plant or plants into ammunition factories in time of war or when war shall be imminent; and as to all such plants the Secretary of War shall obtain full and complete information as to the equipment of each such plant, and he shall prepare comprehensive plans for transforming each such plant into an ammunition factory, or a factory in which to manufacture such parts of ammunition as in the opinion of the Secretary of War such plant is best adapted.

The President is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to appoint a Board on Mobilization of Industries Essential for Military Preparedness, non-partisan in character, and to take all necessary steps to provide for such clerical assistance as he may deem necessary to organize and coordinate the work hereinbefore described. [39 Stat. L. 213.]

Compliance with government orders excuses a manufacturer from performing a contract with another party to supply the same goods to the latter, where such compliance renders performance of the contract impossible. Moore & Tierney v.

Roxford Knitting Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1918)
250 Fed. 278, holding that under the facts of the case, the government did "place an order" within the meaning of this section.

SEC. 121. [Investigation as to Government manufacture of arms, and so forth.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to appoint a board of five citizens, two of whom shall be civilians and three of whom shall be officers of the Army, to investigate and report to him the feasibility, desirability, and practicability of the Government manufacturing arms, munitions, and equipment, showing in said report the comparative prices of the arms, munitions, and equipment manufactured in Government plants and those manufactured in private plants, the amount of money necessary to build and operate Government plants for the manufacture of arms, munitions, and equipment; showing also what the Government plants and arsenals are now doing in the way of manufacturing arms, munitions, and equipment, and what saving has accrued to the Government by reason of its having manufactured a large part of its own arms, munitions, and equipment for the last four years. And the Secretary of War is hereby directed to transmit said report to Congress on or before January first, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [39 Stat. L. 214.]

SEC. 122. [Investigation concerning medals of honor.] A board to consist of five general officers on the retired list of the Army shall be convened by the Secretary of War, within sixty days after the approval of this Act, for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon past awards or issues of the so-called congressional medal of honor by or through the War Department; this with a view to ascertain what medals of honor, if any, have been awarded or issued for any cause other than distinguished conduct by an officer or enlisted man in action involving actual conflict with an enemy by such officer or enlisted man or by troops with which he was serving at the time of such action. And in any case in which said board shall find and report that said medal was issued for any cause other than that hereinbefore specified the name of the recipient of the medal so issued shall be stricken permanently from the official medal or honor list. It shall be a misdemeanor for him to wear or publicly display said medal, and, if he shall still be in the Army, he shall be required to return said medal to the War Department for cancellation. Said board shall have full and free access to and use of all records pertaining to the award or issue of medals of honor by or through the War Department. The actual and necessary expenses of said board and its members shall be paid out of any appropriations available for contingent expenses of the Army of the War Department. [39 Stat. L. 214.]

SEC. 123. [Procurement of gauges, dies, jigs, and so forth, necessary for manufacture of arms, and so forth.] The Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, authorized to prepare or cause to be prepared, to purchase or otherwise procure, such gauges, dies, jigs, tools, fixtures, and other special aids and appliances, including specifications and detailed drawings, as may be necessary for the immediate manufacture, by the Government and by private manufacturers, of arms, ammunition, and special equipment necessary to arm and equip the land forces likely to be required by the United States in time of war: Provided, That in the expenditure of any sums appropriated to carry out the purposes of this section the existing laws prescribing competition in the procurement of supplies by purchase shall not govern, whenever in the opinion of the Secretary of War such action will be for the best interest of the public service. [39 Stat. L. 215.]

SEC. 124. [Nitrate supply.] The President of the United States is hereby authorized and empowered to make, or cause to be made, such investigation as in his judgment is necessary to determine the best, cheapest, and most available means for the production of nitrates and other products for munitions of war and useful in the manufacture of fertilizers and other useful products by water power or any other power as in his judgment is the best and cheapest to use; and is also hereby authorized and empowered to designate for the exclusive use of the United States, if in his judgment such means is best and cheapest, such site or sites, upon any navigable or nonnavigable river or rivers or upon the public lands, as in his opinion will be necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act; and is further authorized to construct, maintain, and operate, at or on any site or sites so designated, dams, locks, improvements to navigation, power houses, and other plants and equipment or other means than water power as in his judgment is the best and cheapest, necessary or convenient for the generation of electrical or other power and for the production of nitrates or other products needed for munitions of war and useful in the manufacture of fertilizers and other useful products.

The President is authorized to lease, purchase, or acquire, by condemnation, gift, grant, or devise, such lands and rights of way as may be necessary for the construction and operation of such plants, and to take from any lands of the United States, or to purchase or acquire by condemnation materials, minerals, and processes, patented or otherwise, necessary for the construction and operation of such plants and for the manufacture of such products.

The products of such plants shall be used by the President for military and naval purposes to the extent that he may deem necessary, and any surplus which he shall determine is not required shall be sold and disposed of by him under such regulations as he may prescribe.

The President is hereby authorized and empowered to employ such officers, agents, or agencies as may in his discretion be necessary to enable him to carry out the purposes herein specified, and to authorize and require such officers, agents, or agencies to perform any and all of the duties imposed upon him by the provisions hereof.

The sum of $20,000,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, available until expended, to enable the President of the United States to carry out the purposes herein provided for.

The plant or plants provided for under this Act shall be constructed and operated solely by the Government and not in conjunction with any other industry or enterprise carried on by private capital.

In order to raise the money appropriated by this Act and necessary to carry its provisions into effect, the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the request of the President of the United States, may issue and sell, or use for such purpose or construction hereinabove authorized, any of the bonds of the United States now available in the Treasury of the United States under the Act of August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine, the Act of February fourth, nineteen hundred and ten, and the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and eleven, relating to the issue of bonds for the construction of the Panama Canal, to a total amount not to exceed $20,000,000: Provided, That any Panama Canal bonds issued and sold or used under the provisions of this section may be made payable at such time after issue as the Secretary of the Treasury, in his discretion, may deem advisable, and fix, instead of fifty years after date of issue, as in said Act of August fifth, nineteen hundred and nine, not exceeding fifty years. [39 Stat. L. 215.]

For Act of Feb. 4, 1910, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 309.

SEC. 125. [Protection of the uniform.] It shall be unlawful for any person not an officer or enlisted man of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, to wear the duly prescribed uniform of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, or any distinctive part of such uniform, or a uniform any part of which is similar to a distinctive part of the duly prescribed uniform of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps: Provided, That the foregoing provision shall not be construed so as to prevent officers or enlisted men of the National Guard from wearing, in pursuance of law and regulations, the uniform lawfully prescribed to be worn by such officers or enlisted men of the National Guard; nor to prevent members of the organization known as the Boy Scouts of America, or the Naval Militia, or such other organizations as the Secretary of War may designate, from wearing their prescribed uniforms; nor to prevent persons who in time of war have served honorably as officers of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, Regular or Volunteer, and whose most recent service was terminated by an honorable discharge, muster out, or resignation, from wearing, upon occasions of ceremony, the uniform of the highest grade they have held by brevet or other commission in such Regular or Volunteer service; nor to prevent any person who has been honorably discharged from the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, Regular or Volunteer, from wearing his uniform from the place of his discharge to his home, within three months after the date of such discharge; nor to prevent the members of military societies composed entirely of honorably discharged officers or enlisted men, or both, of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, Regular or Volunteer, from wearing, upon occasions of ceremony, the uniform duly prescribed by such societies to be worn by the members thereof; nor to prevent the instructors and members of the duly organized cadet corps of a State university, State college, or public high school offering a regular course in military instruction from wearing the uniform duly prescribed by the authorities of such university, college, or public high school for wear by the instructors and members of such cadet corps; nor to prevent the instructors and members of the duly organized cadet corps of any other institution of learning offering a regular course in military instruction, and at which an officer or enlisted man of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps is lawfully detailed for duty as instructor in military science and tactics, from wearing the uniform duly prescribed by the authorities of such institution of learning for wear by the instructors and members of such cadet corps; nor to prevent civilians attendant upon a course of military or naval instruction authorized and conducted by the military or naval authorities of the United States from wearing, while in attendance upon such course of instruction, the uniform authorized and prescribed by such military or naval authorities for wear during such course of instruction; nor to prevent any person from wearing the uniform of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps in any playhouse or theater or in moving-picture films while actually engaged in representing therein a military or naval character not tending to bring discredit or reproach upon the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps: Provided further, That the uniforms worn by the officers or enlisted men of the National Guard, or by the members of the military societies or the instructors and members of the cadet corps referred to in the preceding proviso shall include some distinctive mark or insignia to be prescribed by the Secretary of War to distinguish such uniforms from the uniforms of the United States Army, Navy, and Marine Corps: And provided further, That the members of the military societies and the instructors and members of the cadet corps hereinbefore mentioned shall not wear the insignia of rank prescribed to be worn by officers of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, or any insignia of rank similar thereto.

Any person who offends against the provision of this section shall, on conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding $300, or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, That hereafter, upon the discharge or furlough to the Reserve of an enlisted man, all uniform outer clothing then in his possession, except such articles as he may be permitted to wear from the place of termination of his active service to his home, as authorized by this section, will be retained for military use; and within four months after such termination of his active service he shall return all uniform clothing, which he was so permitted to retain for wear to his home, by mail, under a franked label which shall be furnished him for the purpose, and in conformity with the instructions given him at the time of such termination of his active service; and in case he shall fail to return the same within such period, and in accordance with such instructions, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, suffer the punishment prescribed by this section: Provided further, That upon the release from Federal service of an enlisted man of the National Guard called as such into the service of the United States, all uniform outer clothing then in his possession shall be taken up and accounted for as property issued to the National Guard of the State to which the enlisted man belongs, in the manner prescribed by section sixty-seven of said Act: And provided further, That when an enlisted man is discharged otherwise than honorably, all uniform outer clothing in his possession shall be retained for military use, and, when authorized by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War, a suit of citizen's outer clothing to cost not exceeding $15 may be issued to such enlisted man: And provided further, That officers and members of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers may, regardless of the preceding provisions of said Act, wear such uniforms as the Secretary of War may authorize. [39 Stat. L. 216, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended by the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 17, § 10. The amendment consisted in adding the four provisos to the last paragraph.

SEC. 126. [Mileage — enlisted men — transportation.] On and after July first, nineteen hundred and sixteen, an enlisted man when discharged from the service, except by way of punishment for an offense, shall receive 3½ cents per mile from the place of his discharge to the place of his acceptance for enlistment, enrollment, or original muster into the service, at his option: Provided, That for sea travel on discharge transportation and subsistence only shall be furnished to enlisted men. [39 Stat. L. 217.]

SEC. 127. [Officer of regular army — discharge — deprivation of commission.] Nothing in this Act shall be held or construed so as to discharge any officer from the Regular Army or to deprive him of the commission which he now holds therein. [39 Stat. L. 217.]

SEC. 128. [Repeal of inconsistent laws.] All laws and parts of laws in so far as they are inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed. [39 Stat. L. 217.]

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Chief of Coast Artillery — rank, pay, and allowances.] That hereafter the Chief of Coast Artillery shall have the rank, pay, and allowances of a major general. [39 Stat. L. 349.]

This is from the Fortifications Appropriation Act of July 6, 1916, ch. 225.

An Act Making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Signal Corps — settlement of transactions — payment by whom.] That hereafter in the settlement of transactions between appropriations under the Signal Corps, or between the Signal Corps and another office or bureau of the War Department, or of any other executive department of the Government, payment therefor shall be made by the proper disbursing officer of the Signal Corps, or of the office, bureau, or department concerned. [39 Stat. L. 622.]

* * * [Signal Corps — contracts — form.] That hereafter whenever contracts which are not to be performed within sixty days are made on behalf of the Government by the Chief Signal Officer, or by officers of the Signal Corps authorized to make them, and are in excess of $500 in amount, such contracts shall be reduced to writing and signed by the contracting parties. In all other cases contracts shall be entered into under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Chief Signal Officer. [39 Stat. L. 622.]

* * * [Detached officers — assignments — retired officers — rank.] That in applying section twenty-five of the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, the President shall assign to officers of the Army such constructive dates of original commission, from which lengths of commissioned service shall be computed, as will preserve their rights to promotion in accordance with their relative order on the lineal lists of their arms and continue in effect losses of files occasioned by sentences of courts-martial or failures to pass required examinations for promotion, said constructive dates of original commission to be subject to change whenever a change thereof may be necessary in order to carry into effect losses of files hereafter incurred by any officer through a sentence of court-martial or a failure to pass a required examination for promotion: Provided further, That in determining the arm from which a detail is to be made to a vacancy in the detached officers' list, as provided in the third proviso of section twenty-five of the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, the officer of any grade who is the senior in that grade according to the constructive dates of original commission provided for in the preceding proviso shall be considered the senior in length of commissioned service of all officers of that grade: Provided further, That in determining the rights of officers in the last proviso of section twenty-four of said national defense Act, officers retired before the separation of the Field Artillery from the Coast Artillery shall be regarded as having belonged to the Field Artillery: Provided further, That when by reason of increase in the arm, corps, or branch of the service in which an officer is commissioned his loss of files in lineal rank due to suspension from promotion on account of failure to pass the required examination therefor exceeds the loss he would have sustained if no such increase had occurred, he shall, if promoted upon reexamination, be advanced to the position he would have occupied in the grade to which promoted had no increase occurred: And provided further, That the general officers of the line who were appointed as such pursuant to the Act of March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen (Thirty-eighth Statutes at Large, page eleven hundred and ninety-one), shall take rank in their present grades over all officers hereafter appointed to like grade. [39 Stat. L. 623.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, see supra, p. 921.

For Act of March 4, 1915, ch. 143, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 302.

That hereafter one of the enlisted men detached from the Army at large for duty at each of the recruit depots under the provisions of the Act of June twelfth, nineteen hundred and six, shall, while so detached, have the rank, pay, and allowances of a regimental sergeant major. [39 Stat. L. 624.]

For Act of June 12, 1906, ch. 3078, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 681.

 * * [Government employees in military service — restoration to former position.] That all officers and enlisted men of the National Guard and of the Medical Reserve Corps of the Army who are Government employees and who respond to the call of the President for service shall, at the expiration of the military service to which they are called, be restored to the positions occupied by them at the time of the call: Provided further, That nothing in this Act or previous Acts of Congress shall be construed to prohibit the paying of men enlisted by State authorities of any State for militia organization for the purpose of bringing said organization up to the minimum necessary to permit of the muster in of said organization, from the date of such enlistments to the date of muster in or from date of enlistment to date of rejection, after physical examination. [39 Stat. L. 624.]

 * * [Privates — first class — signal corps — Medical Department.] That hereafter the proportion of privates first class to privates in the Signal Corps and in the Medical Department shall be the same as the proportion of privates first class to privates now authorized by law in the Quartermaster Corps. [39 Stat. L. 625.]

 * * [Headquarters clerks, etc.— Quartermaster corps — pay and allowances — assignments.] Hereafter headquarters clerks shall be known as Army field clerks and shall receive pay at the rates herein provided, and after twelve years of service, at least three years of which shall have been on detached duty away from permanent station, or on duty beyond the continental limits of the United States, or both, shall receive the same allowances, except retirement, as heretofore allowed by law to pay clerks, Quartermaster Corps, and shall be subject to the rules and articles of war.

Hereafter not to exceed two hundred clerks, Quartermaster Corps, who shall have had twelve years of service, at least three years of which shall have been on detached duty away from permanent station, or on duty beyond the continental limits of the United States, or both, shall be known as field clerks, Quartermaster Corps, and shall receive the same allowances, except retirement, as heretofore allowed by law to pay clerks, Quartermaster Corps, and shall be subject to the rules and articles of war. * * *

That said clerks, messengers, and laborers shall be employed and assigned by the Secretary of War to the offices and positions in which they are to serve: Provided, That no clerk, messenger, or laborer at headquarters of tactical divisions, military departments, brigades, service schools, and office of the Chief of Staff shall be assigned to duty in any bureau in the War Department. [39 Stat. L. 625.]

* * * [Bonds of disbursing clerks — waiver — officers of Quartermaster Corps.] That hereafter the provisions of section eleven hundred and ninety-one of the Revised Statutes of the United States may, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, be waived in the cases of officers of the Quartermaster Corps who are not accountable for public funds or public property. [39 Stat. L. 626.]

For R. S. sec. 1191, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 990.

* * * [Medical Department — superintendent — allowances, etc., during illness.] That hereafter the superintendent shall receive such allowances of quarters, subsistence, and medical care during illness as may be prescribed in regulations by the Secretary of War. [39 Stat. L. 626.]

* * * [Retired officers — assignment to vacant army post — pay and allowances.] That when by reason of the movement of troops a post is temporarily left without its regular garrison and with no commissioned officer except of the Medical Reserve Corps on duty thereat, the Secretary of War may assign a retired officer of the Army, with his consent, to active duty in charge of such post. The officer so assigned shall perform the duties of commanding officer and also any necessary staff duties at such post, and shall, while in the performance of such duties, receive the full pay and allowances of his grade, subject to the limitations imposed by the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and five, and the Act of June twelfth, nineteen hundred and six, which limitations shall include the grades of brigadier general, major general, and lieutenant general. [39 Stat. L. 627.]

For Act of March 2, 1905, ch. 975, see 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 429, 430.

For Act of June 12, 1906, ch. 3078, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 681.

* * * [Officers on retired list — promotion.] That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint any colonel of the Army on the retired list who before retirement served more than forty-five years and six months, including sixteen years in the line of the Army, who held command in the line or staff over nine and a half years, who received campaign badges for service in four Indian campaigns and in the War with Spain and the Philippine insurrection, and who was recommended by the commanding general in time of war or insurrection for appointment to the grade of general officer in the Volunteer Army, to the grade of brigadier general on the retired list: Provided, That such officer did not receive advanced grade upon retirement nor has since received any advance over the grade held at the date of retirement.

That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint to the grade of major general on the retired list of the Army any brigadier general now borne on said list who served with credit in the Army throughout both the Civil War and the War with Spain, as well as during the interval between said wars, and who, being a general officer, exercised with efficiency and gallantry the command of a brigade or of a higher unit in action or in actual operations against an enemy, and who in consideration of services so rendered was recommended to be a major general, United States Volunteers, by the commanding general of the Army, as shown by the records of the War Department: Provided, That any brigadier general on the retired list who as senior colonel commanded with credit a brigade or higher unit in the Civil War, though not so recommended, may be advanced in grade as authorized by this paragraph if he fulfills the other requirements thereof.

That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint and place on the retired list of the Army with the rank of major general, any officer on the retired list who served not less than one year in the Regular or Volunteer forces of the United States during the Civil War prior to April ninth, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, and who was honorably discharged therefrom, who has since served not less than forty years as a commissioned officer of the Regular Army, and who was the last Civil War veteran on the active list of the Army for over two years before retirement and had ranked every general officer on the active list in length of service when he retired. [39 Stat. L. 627.]

* * * [Officers on retired list for disability — examination — assignment to duty.] That the Secretary of War shall make a list of all officers of the Army who have been placed on the retired list for disability and shall cause such officers to be examined at intervals as may be advisable, and such officers as shall be found to have recovered from such disabilities or to be able to perform service of value to the Government sufficient to warrant such action shall be assigned to such duty as the Secretary of War may approve. [39 Stat. L. 629.]

* * * [Subsistence supplies — price to officers and enlisted men.] That hereafter the officers and enlisted men of the Navy and the Marine Corps shall be permitted to purchase subsistence supplies at the same price as is charged the officers and the enlisted men of the Army; and the officers and the enlisted men of the Army shall be permitted to purchase subsistence supplies from the Navy and Marine Corps at the same price as is charged the officers and the enlisted men of the Navy and Marine Corps. [39 Stat. L. 630.]

* * * [Disciplinary barracks guard — extra-duty pay.] That hereafter the extra-duty pay to the United States disciplinary barracks guard shall be at the following rates per day: Sergeants, 35 cents; corporals, 30 cents; and privates, 20 cents; * * *. [39 Stat. L. 632.]

* * * [Enlisted men — discharge — allowances for transportation — men on Mexican border.] That hereafter when an enlisted man having ten or more years' service in the Army is discharged on account of disability incurred in the line of duty, transportation of his authorized change of station allowance of baggage from his last duty station to his home in addition to other travel allowances fixed by law may be authorized by the Secretary of War: Provided further, That when members of the National Guard, who have been mustered into the service of the United States, have been discharged under the order of the War Department which provides that members of the National Guard with dependent families may be mustered out, transportation from their position on the Mexican border to their homes may be authorized by the Secretary of War; of persons on their discharge from the United States disciplinary barracks or from any place in which they have been held under a sentence of dishonorable discharge and confinement for more than six months, or from the Government Hospital for the Insane after transfer thereto from such barracks or place, to their homes (or elsewhere as they may elect), provided the cost in each case shall not be greater than to the place of last enlistment; * * *. [39 Stat. L. 633.]

* * * [Clothing and camp and garrison equipage — proceeds from sale — exchange.] That hereafter the proceeds derived from the sale of surplus cuttings of material for clothing manufactured by the Quartermaster Corps of the Army shall be deposited to the credit of that appropriation out of which the material was purchased: Provided further, That hereafter sewing machines and other labor-saving machinery used in the manufacture of clothing and equipage, motor trucks and passenger trucks and passenger-carrying vehicles, and band instruments, may be exchanged in part payment for new machines, vehicles, and instruments used for the same purpose as those proposed to be exchanged. [39 Stat. L. 635.]

* * * [Army supplies — accounting.] That hereafter the accounting for Army supplies or property and the fixing of responsibility therefor shall be according to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War. [39 Stat. L. 635.]

* * * [Quartermaster Corps — civilian employees — number — salary.] That the number of and total sum paid for civilian employees in the Quartermaster Corps shall be limited to the actual requirements of the service, and that no employee therein shall receive a salary of more than $150 per month, except upon the approval of the Secretary of War. [39 Stat. L. 636.]

* * * [Motor ambulances — selection and purchase — advertisements] That the Secretary of War may in his discretion select types and makes of motor ambulances for the Army and authorize their purchase without regard to the laws prescribing advertisement for proposals for supplies and material for the Army. [39 Stat. L. 639.]

* * * [Medical Department — contracts — form.] That hereafter whenever contracts which are not to be performed within sixty days are made on behalf of the Government by the Surgeon General or by officers of the Medical Department authorized to make them, and are in excess of $500 in amount, such contracts shall be reduced to writing and signed by the contracting parties, but in all other cases contracts shall be prepared under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Surgeon General. [39 Stat. L. 639.]

[Medical Department — first lieutenant — age limit.]

A provision relating to first lieutenants in the Medical Department of the Army and affecting the Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 10, 39 Stat. L. 171, will be found in a note to that section, supra, p. 927.

* * * [Rifle clubs and schools — supplies furnished for target practice.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to issue, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, for use in target practice, targets, target materials, and other necessary accessories, to rifle clubs organized under the rules of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice and to schools having a uniformed corps of cadets and carrying on military training, in sufficient number for the proper conduct of target practice. [39 Stat. L. 643.]

* * * [Cuba — supplies furnished for equipment of troops.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to sell, at the prices fixed and published by the Chief of Ordnance, to the Government of Cuba such articles and quantities of ordnance and ordnance stores as may be desired by that Government for the equipment of its troops and as may be approved by the President of, the United States. [39 Stat. L. 643.]

* * * [Transportation of troops in time of war — taking over facilities.] The President, in time of war, is empowered, through the Secretary of War, to take possession and assume control of any system or systems of transportation, or any part thereof, and to utilize the same, to the exclusion as far as may be necessary of all other traffic thereon, for the transfer or transportation of troops, war material and equipment, or for such other purposes connected with the emergency as may be needful or desirable. [39 Stat. L. 645.]

SEC. 2. [Council of National Defense — establishment — advisory commission — duty of Council — rules and regulations — appropriation — reports.] That a Council of National Defense is hereby established, for the coordination of industries and resources for the national security and welfare, to consist of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Commerce, and the Secretary of Labor.

That the Council of National Defense shall nominate to the President, and the President shall appoint, an advisory commission, consisting of not more than seven persons, each of whom shall have special knowledge of some industry, public utility, or the development of some natural resource, or be otherwise specially qualified, in the opinion of the council, for the performance of the duties hereinafter provided. The members of the advisory commission shall serve without compensation, but shall be allowed actual expenses of travel and subsistence when attending meetings of the commission or engaged in investigations pertaining to its activities. The advisory commission shall hold such meetings as shall be called by the council or be provided by the rules and regulations adopted by the council for the conduct of its work.

That it shall be the duty of the Council of National Defense to supervise and direct investigations and make recommendations to the President and the heads of executive departments as to the location of railroads with reference to the frontier of the United States so as to render possible expeditious concentration of troops and supplies to points of defense; the coordination of military, industrial, and commercial purposes in the location of extensive highways and branch lines of railroad; the utilization of waterways; the mobilization of military and naval resources for defense; the increase of domestic production of articles and materials essential to the support of armies and of the people during the interruption of foreign commerce; the development of seagoing transportation; data as to amounts, location, method and means of production, and availability of military supplies; the giving of information to producers and manufacturers as to the class of supplies needed by the military and other services of the Government, the requirements relating thereto, and the creation of relations which will render possible in time of need the immediate concentration and utilization of the resources of the Nation.

That the Council of National Defense shall adopt rules and regulations for the conduct of its work, which rules and regulations shall be subject to the approval of the President, and shall provide for the work of the advisory commission to the end that the special knowledge of such commission may be developed by suitable investigation, research, and inquiry and made available in conference and report for the use of the council; and the council may organize subordinate bodies for its assistance in special investigations, either by the employment of experts or by the creation of committees of specially qualified persons to serve without compensation, but to direct the investigations of experts so employed.

That the sum of $200,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be immediately available for experimental work and investigations undertaken by the council, by the advisory commission, or subordinate bodies, for the employment of a director, expert and clerical expenses and supplies, and for the necessary expenses of members of the advisory commission or subordinate bodies going to and attending meetings of the commission or subordinate bodies. Reports shall be submitted by all subordinate bodies and by the advisory commission to the council, and from time to time the council shall report to the President or to the heads of executive departments upon special inquiries or subjects appropriate thereto, and an annual report to the Congress shall be submitted through the President, including as full a statement of the activities of the council and the agencies subordinate to it as is consistent with the public interest, including an itemized account of the expenditures made by the council or authorized by it, in as full detail as the public interest will permit: Provided, however, That when deemed proper the President may authorize in amounts stipulated by him unvouchered expenditures and report the gross sums so authorized not itemized. [39 Stat. L. 649.]

SEC. 3. [Amendment of Articles of War.] That section thirteen hundred and forty-two of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and the same is hereby, amended to read as follows:

“Sec. 1242. The articles included in this section shall be known as the Articles of War and shall at all times and in all places govern the armies of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 650.]

For R. S. sec. 1342, see 1 Fed. Stat. Ann. 480.

“ I. PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

“ARTICLE 1. DEFINITIONS.—The following words when used in these articles shall be construed in the sense indicated in this Article, unless the context shows that a different sense is intended, namely:

“(a) The word ‘officer’ shall be construed to refer to a commissioned officer;

“(b) The word ‘soldier’ shall be construed as including a non[com]-missioned officer, a private, or any other enlisted man;

“(c) The word ‘company’ shall be understood as including a troop or battery; and “(d) The word ‘battalion’ shall be understood as including a squadron.

“ART. 2. PERSONS SUBJECT TO MILITARY LAW.—The following persons are subject to these articles and shall be understood as included in the term ‘any person subject to military law,’ or ‘persons subject to military law,’ whenever used in these articles: Provided, That nothing contained in this Act, except as specifically provided in Article two, subparagraph (c), shall be construed to apply to any person under the United States naval jurisdiction, unless otherwise specifically provided by law.

“(a) All officers and soldiers belonging to the Regular Army of the United States; all volunteers, from the dates of their muster or acceptance into the military service of the United States; and all other persons lawfully called, drafted or ordered into, or to duty or for training in, the said service, from the dates they are required by the terms of the call, draft or order to obey the same;

“(b) Cadets;

“(c) Officers and soldiers of the Marine Corps when detached for service with the armies of the United States by order of the President: Provided, That an officer or soldier of the Marine Corps when so detached may be tried by military court-martial for an offense committed against the laws for the government of the naval service prior to his detachment, and for an offense committed against these articles he may be tried by a naval court-martial after such detachment ceases;

“(d) All retainers to the camp and all persons accompanying or serving with the armies of the United States without the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, and in time of war all such retainers and persons accompanying or serving with the armies of the United States in the field, both within and without the territorial jurisdiction of the United States, though not otherwise subject to these articles;

“(e) All persons under sentence adjudged by courts-martial;

“(f) All persons admitted into the Regular Army Soldiers’ Home at Washington, District of Columbia. [39 Stat. L. 650.]

“Persons accompanying or serving with the armies” (the phrase in clause “(d)”), was held to apply to a person on an army transport who volunteered to stand watch, and for several days did so, and finally refused to continue. Ex p. Gerlach, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 247 Fed. 616.

“II. COURTS-MARTIAL.

“ART. 3. COURTS-MARTIAL CLASSIFIED.— Courts-martial shall be of three kinds, namely:

“First, general courts-martial;

“Second, special courts-martial; and “Third, summary courts-martial. [39 Stat. L. 651.]

“A. COMPOSITION.

“ART. 4. WHO MAY SERVE ON COURTS-MARTIAL.— All officers in the military service of the United States, and officers of the Marine Corps when detached for service with the Army by order of the President, shall be competent to serve on courts-martial for the trial of any persons who may lawfully be brought before such courts for trial. [39 Stat. L. 651.]

“ART. 5. GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— General courts-martial may consist of any number of officers from five to thirteen, inclusive; but they shall not consist of less than thirteen, when that number can be convened without manifest injury to the service. [39 Stat. L. 651.]

“ART. 6. SPECIAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— Special courts-martial may consist of any number of officers from three to five, inclusive. [39 Stat. L. 651.]

“ART. 7. SUMMARY COURTS-MARTIAL.— A summary court-martial shall consist of one officer. [39 Stat. L. 651.]

“B. BY WHOM APPOINTED.

“ART. 8. GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— The President of the United States, the commanding officer of a territorial division or department, the Superintendent of the Military Academy, the commanding officer of an army, an army corps, a division, or a separate brigade, and, when empowered by the President, the commanding officer of any district or of any force or body of troops may appoint general courts-martial; but when any such commander is the accuser or the prosecutor of the person or persons to be tried, the court shall be appointed by superior competent authority, and no officer shall be eligible to sit as a member of such court when he is the accuser or a witness for the prosecution. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ART. 9. SPECIAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— The commanding officer of a district, garrison, fort, camp, or other place where troops are on duty, and the commanding officer of a brigade, regiment, detached battalion, or other detached command may appoint special courts-martial; but when any such commanding officer is the accuser or the prosecutor of the person or persons to be tried, the court shall be appointed by superior authority, and may in any case be appointed by superior authority when by the latter deemed desirable; and no officer shall be eligible to sit as a member of such court when he is the accuser or a witness for the prosecution. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ART. 10. SUMMARY COURTS-MARTIAL.— The commanding officer of a garrison, fort, camp, or other place where troops are on duty, and the commanding officer of a regiment, detached battalion, detached company, or other detachment may appoint summary courts-martial; but such summary courts-martial may in any case be appointed by superior authority when by the latter deemed desirable: Provided, That when but one officer is present with a command he shall be the summary court-martial of that command and shall hear and determine cases brought before him. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ART. 11. APPOINTMENT OF JUDGE ADVOCATES.— For each general or special court-martial the authority appointing the court shall appoint a judge advocate, and for each general court-martial one or more assistant judge advocates when necessary. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ C. JURISDICTION:

“ART. 12. GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— General courts-martial shall have power to try any person subject to military law for any crime or offense made punishable by these articles and any other person who by the law of war is subject to trial by military tribunals: Provided, That no officer shall be brought to trial before a general court-martial appointed by the Superintendent of the Military Academy. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ART. 13. SPECIAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— Special courts-martial shall have power to try any person subject to military law, except an officer, for any crime or offense not capital made punishable by these articles: Provided, That the President may, by regulations, which he may modify from time to time, except from the jurisdiction of special courts-martial any class or classes of persons subject to military law.

“Special courts-martial shall not have power to adjudge dishonorable discharge, nor confinement in excess of six months, nor to adjudge forfeiture of more than six months' pay. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ART. 14. SUMMARY COURTS-MARTIAL.— Summary courts-martial shall have power to try any person subject to military law, except an officer, a cadet, or a soldier holding the privileges of a certificate of eligibility to promotion, for any crime or offense not capital made punishable by these articles: Provided, That noncommissioned officers shall not, if they object thereto, be brought to trial before a summary court-martial without the authority of the officer competent to bring them to trial before a general court-martial: Provided, further, That the President may, by regulations, which he may modify from time to time, except from the jurisdiction of summary courts-martial any class or classes of persons subject to military law.

“Summary courts-martial shall not have power to adjudge confinement in excess of three months, nor to adjudge the forfeiture of more than three months’ pay: Provided, That when the summary court officer is also the commanding officer no sentence of such summary court-martial adjudging confinement at hard labor or forfeiture of pay, or both, for a period in excess of one month shall be carried into execution until the same shall have been approved by superior authority. [39 Stat. L. 652.]

“ART. 15. NOT EXCLUSIVE.—The provisions of these articles conferring jurisdiction upon courts-martial shall not be construed as depriving military commissions, provost courts, or other military tribunals of concurrent jurisdiction in respect of offenders or offenses that by the law of war may be lawfully triable by such military commissions, provost courts, or other military tribunals. [39 Stat. L. 653.]

“ART. 16. OFFICERS; HOW TRIABLE.—Officers shall be triable only by general courts-martial, and in no case shall an officer, when it can be avoided, be tried by officers inferior to him in rank. [39 Stat. L. 653.]

“D. PROCEDURE.

“ART. 17. JUDGE ADVOCATE TO PROSECUTE.—The judge advocate of a general or special court-martial shall prosecute in the name of the United States, and shall, under the direction of the court, prepare the record of its proceedings. The accused shall have the right to be represented before the court by counsel of his own selection for his defense, if such counsel be reasonably available, but should he, for any reason, be unrepresented by counsel, the judge advocate shall from time to time throughout the proceedings advise the accused of his legal rights. [39 Stat. L. 653.]

“ART. 18. CHALLENGES.—Members of a general or special court-martial may be challenged by the accused, but only for cause stated to the court. The court shall determine the relevancy and validity thereof, and shall not receive a challenge to more than one member at a time. [39 Stat. L. 653.]

“ART. 19. OATHS.—The judge advocate of a general or special court-martial shall administer to the members of the court, before they proceed upon any trial, the following oath or affirmation: ‘You, A. B., do swear (or affirm) that you will well and truly try and determine, according to the evidence, the matter now before you, between the United States of America and the person to be tried, and that you will duly administer justice, without partiality, favor, or affection, according to the provisions of the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States, and if any doubt should arise, not explained by said articles, then according to your conscience, the best of your understanding, and the custom of war in like cases; and you do further swear (or affirm) that you will not divulge the findings or sentence of the court until they shall be published by the proper authority, except to the judge advocate and assistant judge advocate; neither will you disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of the court-martial, unless required to give evidence thereof as a witness by a court of justice in due course of law. So help you God.'

"When the oath or affirmation has been administered to the members of a general or special court-martial, the president of the court shall administer to the judge advocate and to each assistant judge advocate, if any, an oath or affirmation in the following form: 'You, A. B., do swear (or affirm) that you will not divulge the findings or sentence of the court to any but the proper authority until they shall be duly disclosed by the same. So help you God.'

"All persons who give evidence before a court-martial shall be examined on oath or affirmation in the following form: 'You swear (or affirm) that the evidence you shall give in the case now in hearing shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. So help you God.'

"Every reporter of the proceedings of a court-martial shall, before entering upon his duties, make oath or affirmation in the following form: 'You swear (or affirm) that you will faithfully perform the duties of reporter to this court. So help you God.'

"Every interpreter in the trial of any case before a court-martial shall, before entering upon his duties, make oath or affirmation in the following form: 'You swear (or affirm) that you will truly interpret in the case now in hearing. So help you God.'

"In case of affirmation the closing sentence of adjuration will be omitted. [39 Stat. L. 653.]

"ART. 20. CONTINUANCES.—A court-martial may, for reasonable cause, grant a continuance to either party for such time and as often as may appear to be just. [39 Stat. L. 654.]

"ART. 21. REFUSAL TO PLEAD.—When the accused, arraigned before a court-martial, from obstinacy and deliberate design stands mute or answers foreign to the purpose, the court may proceed to trial and judgment as if he had pleaded not guilty. [39 Stat. L. 654.]

"ART. 22. PROCESS TO OBTAIN WITNESSES.—Every judge advocate of a general or special court-martial and every summary court-martial shall have power to issue the like process to compel witnesses to appear and testify which courts of the United States, having criminal jurisdiction, may lawfully issue; but such process shall run to any part of the United States, its Territories, and possessions. [39 Stat. L. 654.]

"ART. 23. REFUSAL TO APPEAR OR TESTIFY.—Every person not subject to military law who, being duly subpoenaed to appear as a witness before any military court, commission, court of inquiry, or board, or before any officer, military or civil, designated to take a deposition to be read in evidence before such court, commission, court of inquiry, or board, willfully neglects or refuses to appear, or refuses to qualify as a witness, or to testify, or produce documentary evidence which such person may have been legally subpoenaed to produce, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, for which such person shall be punished on information in the district court of the United States or in a court of original criminal jurisdiction in any of the Territorial possessions of the United States, jurisdiction being hereby conferred upon such courts for such purpose; and it shall be the duty of the United States district attorney or the officer prosecuting for the Government in any such court of original criminal jurisdiction, on the certification of the facts to him by the military court, commission, court of inquiry, or board, to file an information against and prosecute the person so offending, and the punishment of such person, on conviction, shall be a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both, at the discretion of the court: Provided, That the fees of such witness and his mileage, at the rates allowed to witnesses attending the courts of the United States, shall be duly paid or tendered said witness, such amounts to be paid out of the appropriation for the compensation of witnesses. [39 Stat. L. 654.]

“ART. 24. COMPULSORY SELF-INCRIMINATION PROHIBITED.—No witness before a military court, commission, court of inquiry, or board, or before any officer, military or civil, designated to take a deposition to be read in evidence before a military court, commission, court of inquiry, or board, shall be compelled to incriminate himself or to answer any questions which may tend to incriminate or degrade him. [39 Stat. L. 654.]

“ART. 25. DEPOSITIONS — WHEN ADMISSIBLE.—A duly authenticated deposition taken upon reasonable notice to the opposite party may be read in evidence before any military court or commission in any case not capital, or in any proceeding before a court of inquiry or a military board, if such deposition be taken when the witness resides, is found, or is about to go beyond the State, Territory, or district in which the court, commission, or board is ordered to sit, or beyond the distance of one hundred miles from the place of trial or hearing, or when it appears to the satisfaction of the court, commission, board, or appointing authority that the witness, by reason of age, sickness, bodily infirmity, imprisonment, or other reasonable cause, is unable to appear and testify in person at the place of trial or hearing: Provided, That testimony by deposition may be adduced for the defense in capital cases. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 26. DEPOSITIONS — BEFORE WHOM TAKEN.—Depositions to be read in evidence before military courts, commissions, courts of inquiry, or military boards, or for other use in military administration, may be taken before and authenticated by any officer, military or civil, authorized by the laws of the United States or by the laws of the place where the deposition is taken to administer oaths. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 27. COURTS OF INQUIRY — RECORDS OF, WHEN ADMISSIBLE.—The record of the proceedings of a court of inquiry may be read in evidence before any court-martial or military commission in any case not capital nor extending to the dismissal of an officer, and may also be read in evidence in any proceeding before a court of inquiry or a military board: Provided, That such evidence may be adduced by the defense in capital cases or cases extending to the dismissal of an officer. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 28. RESIGNATION WITHOUT ACCEPTANCE DOES NOT RELEASE OFFICER.—Any officer who, having tendered his resignation and prior to due notice of the acceptance of the same, quits his post or proper duties without leave and with intent to absent himself permanently therefrom shall be deemed a deserter. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 29. ENLISTMENT WITHOUT DISCHARGE.— Any soldier who, without having first received a regular discharge, again enlists in the Army, or in the militia when in the service of the United States, or in the Navy or Marine Corps of the United States, or in any foreign army, shall be deemed to have deserted the service of the United States; and, where the enlistment is in one of the forces of the United States mentioned above, to have fraudulently enlisted therein. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 30. CLOSED SESSIONS.— Whenever a general or special court-martial shall sit in closed session, the judge advocate and the assistant judge advocate, if any, shall withdraw; and when their legal advice or their assistance in referring to the recorded evidence is required, it shall be obtained in open court, and in the presence of the accused and of his counsel if there be any. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 31. ORDER OF VOTING.— Members of a general or special court-martial, in giving their votes, shall begin with the junior in rank. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 32. CONTEMPTS.— A court-martial may punish at discretion, subject to the limitations contained in Article fourteen, any person who uses any menacing words, signs, or gestures in its presence, or who disturbs its proceedings by any riot or disorder. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 33. RECORDS — GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— Each general court-martial shall keep a separate record of its proceedings in the trial of each case brought before it, and such record shall be authenticated by the signature of the president and the judge advocate; but in case the record can not be authenticated by the judge advocate, by reason of his death, disability, or absence, it shall be signed by the president and an assistant judge advocate, if any; and if there be no assistant judge advocate, or in case of his death, disability, or absence, then by the president and one other member of the court. [39 Stat. L. 655.]

“ART. 34. RECORDS — SPECIAL AND SUMMARY COURTS-MARTIAL.— Each special court-martial and each summary court-martial shall keep a record of its proceedings, separate for each case, which record shall contain such matter and be authenticated in such manner as may be required by regulations which the president may from time to time prescribe. [39 Stat. L. 656.]

“ART. 35. DISPOSITION OF RECORDS — GENERAL COURTS-MARTIAL.— The judge advocate of each general court-martial shall, with such expedition as circumstances may permit, forward to the appointing authority or to his successor in command the original record of the proceedings of such court in the trial of each case. All records of such proceedings shall, after having been finally acted upon, be transmitted to the Judge Advocate General of the Army. [39 Stat. L. 656.]

“ART. 36. DISPOSITION OF RECORDS — SPECIAL AND SUMMARY COURTS-MARTIAL.— After having been acted upon by the officer appointing the court, or by the officer commanding for the time being, the record of each trial by special court-martial and a report of each trial by summary court-martial shall be transmitted to such general headquarters as the President may designate in regulations, there to be filed in the office of the judge advocate. When no longer of use, records of special and summary courts-martial may be destroyed. [39 Stat. L. 656.]

“ART. 37. IRREGULARITIES — EFFECT OF.— The proceedings of a court-martial shall not be held invalid, nor the findings or sentence disapproved, in any case on the ground of improper admission or rejection of evidence or for any error as to any matter of pleading or procedure unless in the opinion of the reviewing or confirming authority, after an examination of the entire proceedings, it shall appear that the error complained of has injuriously affected the substantial rights of an accused: Provided, That the act or omission upon which the accused has been tried constitutes an offense denounced and made punishable by one or more of these articles: Provided further, That the omission of the words ‘hard labor’ in any sentence of a court-martial adjudging imprisonment or confinement shall not be construed as depriving the authorities executing such sentence of imprisonment or confinement of the power to require hard labor as a part of the punishment in any case where it is authorized by the Executive order prescribing maximum punishments. [39 Stat. L. 656.]

“ART. 38. PRESIDENT MAY PRESCRIBE RULES.— The President may by regulations, which he may modify from time to time, prescribe the procedure, including modes of proof, in cases before courts-martial, courts of inquiry, military commissions, and other military tribunals: Provided, That nothing contrary to or inconsistent with these articles shall be so prescribed: Provided further, That all rules made in pursuance of this article shall be laid before the Congress annually. [39 Stat. L. 656.]

“ E. LIMITATIONS UPON PROSECUTIONS.

“ART. 39. AS TO TIME.— Except for desertion committed in time of war, or for mutiny or murder, no person subject to military law shall be liable to be tried or punished by a court-martial for any crime or offense committed more than two years before the arraignment of such person: Provided, That for desertion in time of peace or for any crime or offense punishable under articles ninety-three and ninety-four of this code the period of limitations upon trial and punishment by court-martial shall be three years: Provided further, That the period of any absence of the accused from the jurisdiction of the United States, and also any period during which by reason of some manifest impediment the accused shall not have been amenable to military justice, shall be excluded in computing the afore-said periods of limitation: And provided further, That this article shall not have the effect to authorize the trial or punishment for any crime or offense barred by the provisions of existing law. [39 Stat. L. 656.]

“ART. 40. AS TO NUMBER.— No person shall be tried a second time for the same offense. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

“ F. PUNISHMENTS.

“ART. 41. CERTAIN KINDS PROHIBITED.— Punishment by flogging or by branding, marking, or tattooing on the body is prohibited. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

"ART. 42. PLACES OF CONFINEMENT — WHEN LAWFUL.— Except for desertion in time of war, repeated desertion in time of peace, and mutiny, no person shall under the sentence of a court-martial be punished by confinement in a penitentiary unless an act or omission of which he is convicted is recognized as an offense of a civil nature by some statute of the United States, or at the common law as the same exists in the District of Columbia, or by way of commutation of a death sentence, and unless, also, the period of confinement authorized and adjudged by such court-martial is one year or more: Provided, That when a sentence of confinement is adjudged by a court-martial upon conviction of two or more acts or omissions any one of which is punishable under these articles by confinement in a penitentiary, the entire sentence of confinement may be executed in a penitentiary: Provided further, That penitentiary confinement hereby authorized may be served in any penitentiary directly or indirectly under the jurisdiction of the United States: Provided further, That persons sentenced to dishonorable discharge and to confinement not in a penitentiary, shall be confined in the United States Disciplinary Barracks or elsewhere as the Secretary of War or the reviewing authority may direct, but not in a penitentiary. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

"ART. 43. DEATH SENTENCE — WHEN LAWFUL.— No person shall, by general court-martial, be convicted of an offense for which the death penalty is made mandatory by law, nor sentenced to suffer death, except by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members of said court-martial and for an offense in these articles expressly made punishable by death. All other convictions and sentences, whether by general or special court-martial, may be determined by a majority of the members present. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

"ART. 44. COWARDICE; FRAUD — ACCESSORY PENALTY.— When an officer is dismissed from the service for cowardice or fraud, the crime, punishment, name, and place of abode of the delinquent shall be published in the newspapers in and about the camp and in the State from which the offender came or where he usually resides; and after such publication it shall be scandalous for an officer to associate with him. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

"ART. 45. MAXIMUM LIMITS.— Whenever the punishment for a crime or offense made punishable by these articles is left to the discretion of the court-martial, the punishment shall not, in time of peace, exceed such limit or limits as the President may from time to time prescribe. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

"G. ACTION BY APPOINTING OR SUPERIOR AUTHORITY.

"ART. 46. APPROVAL AND EXECUTION OF SENTENCE.— No sentence of a court-martial shall be carried into execution until the same shall have been approved by the officer appointing the court or by the officer commanding for the time being. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

"ART. 47. POWERS INCIDENT TO POWER TO APPROVE.— The power to approve the sentence of a court-martial shall be held to include:

"(a) The power to approve or disapprove a finding and to approve only so much of a finding of guilty of a particular offense as involves a finding of guilty of a lesser included offense when, in the opinion of the authority having power to approve, the evidence of record requires a finding of only the lesser degree of guilt; and

“(b) The power to approve or disapprove the whole or any part of the sentence. [39 Stat. L. 657.]

“ART. 48. CONFIRMATION — WHEN REQUIRED.— In addition to the approval required by article forty-six, confirmation by the President is required in the following cases before the sentence of a court-martial is carried into execution, namely:

“(a) Any sentence respecting a general officer:

“(b) Any sentence extending to the dismissal of an officer, except that in time of war a sentence extending to the dismissal of an officer below the grade of brigadier general may be carried into execution upon confirmation by the commanding general of the Army in the field or by the commanding general of the territorial department or division;

“(c) Any sentence extending to the suspension or dismissal of a cadet; and

“(d) Any sentence of death, except in the cases of persons convicted in time of war of murder, rape, mutiny, desertion, or as spies; and in such excepted cases a sentence of death may be carried into execution upon confirmation by the commanding general of the Army in the field or by the commanding general of the Territorial department or division.

“When the authority competent to confirm the sentence has already acted as the approving authority no additional confirmation by him is necessary. [39 Stat. L. 658.]

“ART. 49. POWERS INCIDENT TO POWER TO CONFIRM.— The power to confirm the sentence of a court-martial shall be held to include:

“(a) The power to confirm or disapprove a finding, and to confirm so much only of a finding of guilty of a particular offense as involves a finding of guilty of a lesser included offense when, in the opinion of the authority having power to confirm, the evidence of record requires a finding of only the lesser degree of guilt; and

“(b) The power to confirm or disapprove the whole or any part of the sentence. [39 Stat. L. 658.]

“ART. 50. MITIGATION OR REMISSION OF SENTENCES.— The power to order the execution of the sentence adjudged by a court-martial shall be held to include, inter alia, the power to mitigate or remit the whole or any part of the sentence, but no sentence of dismissal of an officer and no sentence of death shall be mitigated or remitted by any authority inferior to the President.

“Any unexecuted portion of a sentence adjudged by a court-martial may be mitigated or remitted by the military authority competent to appoint, for the command, exclusive of penitentiaries and the United States Disciplinary Barracks, in which the person under sentence is held, a court of the kind that imposed the sentence, and the same power may be exercised by superior military authority; but no sentence extending to the dismissal of an officer or loss of files, no sentence of death, and no sentence approved or confirmed by the President shall be remitted or mitigated by any other authority.

“ The power of remission and mitigation shall extend to all uncollected forfeitures adjudged by sentence of a court-martial. [39 Stat. L. 658.]

“ART. 51. SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES OF DISMISSAL OR DEATH.— The authority competent to order the execution of a sentence of dismissal of an officer or a sentence of death may suspend such sentence until the pleasure of the President be known, and in case of such suspension a copy of the order of suspension, together with a copy of the record of trial, shall immediately be transmitted to the President. [39 Stat. L. 658.]

“ART. 52. SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES.— The authority competent to order the execution of the sentence of a court-martial may, at the time of the approval of such sentence, suspend the execution, in whole or in part, of any such sentence as does not extend to death, and may restore the person under sentence to duty during such suspension. A sentence, or any part thereof, which has been so suspended may be remitted, in whole or in part, except in cases of persons confined in the United States Disciplinary Barracks or its branches, by the officer who suspended the same, by his successor in office, or by any officer exercising appropriate court-martial jurisdiction over the command in which the person under sentence may be serving at the time, and, subject to the foregoing exceptions the same authority may vacate the order of suspension at any time and order the execution of the sentence or the suspended part thereof in so far as the same shall not have been previously remitted. The death or honorable discharge of a person under suspended sentence shall operate as a complete remission of any unexecuted or unremitted part of such sentence. [39 Stat. L. 659, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 10. The section formerly read as follows:

“ART. 52. SUSPENSION OF SENTENCE OF DISHONORABLE DISCHARGE.— The authority competent to order the execution of a sentence, including dishonorable discharge, may suspend the execution of the dishonorable discharge until the soldier's release from confinement; but the order of suspension may be vacated at any time and the execution of the dishonorable discharge directed by the officer having general court-martial jurisdiction over the command, exclusive of penitentiaries and the United States Disciplinary Barracks, in which the soldier is held or by the Secretary of War.”

“ ART. 53. EXECUTION OR REMISSION — CONFINEMENT IN DISCIPLINARY BARRACKS.— When a sentence of dishonorable discharge has been suspended until the soldier's release from confinement, the execution or remission of any part of his sentence shall, if the soldier be confined in the United States Disciplinary Barracks, or any branch thereof, be directed by the Secretary of War.” [39 Stat. L. 659, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as above by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 10. The section formerly read as follows:

“ART. 53. SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES OF FORFEITURE OR CONFINEMENT.— The authority competent to order the execution of a sentence adjudged by a court-martial may, if the sentence involve neither dismissal nor dishonorable discharge, suspend the execution of the sentence in so far as it relates to the forfeiture of pay or to confinement, or to both; and the person under sentence may be restored to duty during the suspension of confinement. At any time within one year after the date of the order of suspension such order may, for sufficient cause, be vacated and the execution of the sentence directed by the military authority competent to order the execution of like sentences in the command, exclusive of penitentiaries and the United States Disciplinary Barracks, to which the person under sentence belongs or in which he may be found; but if the order of suspension be not vacated within one year after the date thereof the suspended sentence shall be held to have been remitted.”

“ III. PUNITIVE ARTICLES.

“ A. ENLISTMENT; MUSTER; RETURNS.

“ART. 54. FRAUDULENT ENLISTMENT.—Any person who shall procure himself to be enlisted in the military service of the United States by means of willful misrepresentation or concealment as to his qualifications for enlistment, and shall receive pay or allowances under such enlistment, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 659.]

“ART. 55. OFFICER MAKING UNLAWFUL ENLISTMENT.—Any officer who knowingly enlists or musters into the military service any person whose enlistment or muster in is prohibited by law, regulations, or orders shall be dismissed from the service or suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 659.]

“ART. 56. MUSTER ROLLS — FALSE MUSTER.—At every muster of a regiment, troop, battery, or company the commanding officer thereof shall give to the mustering officer certificates, signed by himself, stating how long absent officers have been absent and the reasons of their absence. And the commanding officer of every troop, battery, or company shall give like certificates, stating how long absent noncommissioned officers and private soldiers have been absent and the reasons of their absence. Such reasons and time of absence shall be inserted in the muster rolls opposite the names of the respective absent officers and soldiers, and the certificates, together with the muster rolls, shall be transmitted by the mustering officer to the Department of War as speedily as the distance of the place and muster will admit. Any officer who knowingly makes a false muster of man or animal, or who signs or directs or allows the signing of any muster roll knowing the same to contain a false muster or false statement as to the absence or pay of an officer or soldier, or who wrongfully takes money or other consideration on mustering in a regiment, company, or other organization, or on signing muster rolls, or who knowingly musters as an officer or soldier a person who is not such officer or soldier, shall be dismissed from the service and suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 659.]

“ART. 57. FALSE RETURNS — OMISSION TO RENDER RETURNS.—Every officer commanding a regiment, an independent troop, battery, or company, or a garrison shall, in the beginning of every month, transmit through the proper channels, to the Department of War, an exact return of the same. Every officer whose duty it is to render to the War Department or other superior authority a return of the state of the troops under his command, or of the arms, ammunition, clothing, funds, or other property thereunto belonging, who knowingly makes a false return thereof shall be dismissed from the service and suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. And any officer who, through neglect or design, omits to render such return shall be punished as a court-martial may direct.” [39 Stat. L. 660, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 10. It formerly read as follows:

“ART. 57. FALSE RETURNS — OMISSION TO RENDER RETURNS.—Every officer commanding a regiment, an independent troop, battery, or company, or a garrison, shall, in the beginning of every month, transmit through the proper channels, to the Department of War, an exact return of the same, specifying the names of the officers then absent from their posts, with the reasons for and the time of their absence. Every officer whose duty it is to render to the War Department or other superior authority a return of the state of troops under his command, or of the arms, ammunitions, clothing, funds, or other property thereunto belonging, who knowingly makes a false return thereof shall be dismissed from the service and suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. And any officer who, through neglect or design, omits to render such return shall be punished as a court-martial may direct."

" B. DESERTION — ABSENCE WITHOUT LEAVE.

"ART. 58. DESERTION.— Any person subject to military law who deserts or attempts to desert the service of the United States shall, if the offense be committed in time of war, suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct, and, if the offense be committed at any other time, any punishment, excepting death, that a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

"ART. 59. ADVISING OR AIDING ANOTHER TO DESERT.— Any person subject to military law who advises or persuades or knowingly assists another to desert the service of the United States shall, if the offense be committed in time of war, suffer death, or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct, and, if the offense be committed at any other time, any punishment, excepting death, that a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

"ART. 60. ENTERTAINING A DESERTER.— Any officer who, after having discovered that a soldier in his command is a deserter from the military or naval service or from the Marine Corps, retains such deserter in his command without informing superior authority or the commander of the organization to which the deserter belongs, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

"ART. 61. ABSENCE WITHOUT LEAVE.— Any person subject to military law who fails to repair at the fixed time to the properly appointed place of duty, or goes from the same without proper leave, or absents himself from his command, guard, quarters, station, or camp without proper leave, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

" C. DISRESPECT — INSUBORDINATION — MUTINY.

"ART. 62. DISRESPECT TOWARD THE PRESIDENT, VICE PRESIDENT, CONGRESS, SECRETARY OF WAR, GOVERNORS, LEGISLATURES.— Any officer who uses contemptuous or disrespectful words against the President, Vice President, the Congress of the United States, the Secretary of War, or the governor or legislature of any State, Territory, or other possession of the United States in which he is quartered shall be dismissed from the service or suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. Any other person subject to military law who so offends shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

"ART. 63. DISRESPECT TOWARD SUPERIOR OFFICER.— Any person subject to military law who behaves himself with disrespect toward his superior officer shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

"ART. 64. ASSAULTING OR WILLFULLY DISOBEYING SUPERIOR OFFICER.— Any person subject to military law who, on any pretense whatsoever, strikes his superior officer or draws or lifts up any weapon or offers any violence against him, being in the execution of his office, or willfully disobeys any lawful command of his superior officer, shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 660.]

“ART. 65. INSUBORDINATE CONDUCT TOWARD NONCOMMISSIONED OFFICER.— Any soldier who strikes or assaults, or who attempts or threatens to strike or assault, or willfully disobeys the lawful order of a noncommissioned officer while in the execution of his office, or uses threatening or insulting language, or behaves in an insubordinate or disrespectful manner toward a noncommissioned officer while in the execution of his office, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 661.]

“ART. 66. MUTINY OR SEDITION.— Any person subject to military law who attempts to create or who begins, excites, causes, or joins in any mutiny or sedition in any company, party, post, camp, detachment, guard, or other command shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 661.]

“ART. 67. FAILURE TO SUPPRESS MUTINY OR SEDITION.— Any officer or soldier who, being present at any mutiny or sedition, does not use his utmost endeavor to suppress the same, or knowing or having reason to believe that a mutiny or sedition is to take place, does not without delay give information thereof to his commanding officer shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 661.]

“ART. 68. QUARRELS; FRAYS; DISORDERS.— All officers and noncommissioned officers have power to part and quell all quarrels, frays, and disorders among persons subject to military law and to order officers who take part in the same into arrest, and other persons subject to military law who take part in the same into arrest or confinement, as circumstances may require, until their proper superior officer is acquainted therewith. And whosoever, being so ordered, refuses to obey such officer or noncommissioned officer or draws a weapon upon or otherwise threatens or does violence to him shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 661.]

“ D. ARREST; CONFINEMENT.

“ART. 69. ARREST OR CONFINEMENT OF ACCUSED PERSONS.— An officer charged with crime or with a serious offense under these articles shall be placed in arrest by the commanding officer, and in exceptional cases an officer so charged may be placed in confinement by the same authority. A soldier charged with the crime or with a serious offense under these articles shall be placed in confinement, and when charged with a minor offense he may be placed in arrest. Any other person subject to military law charged with crime or with a serious offense under these articles shall be placed in confinement or in arrest, as circumstances may require; and when charged with a minor offense such person may be placed in arrest. Any person placed in arrest under the provisions of this article shall thereby be restricted to his barracks, quarters, or tent, unless such limits shall be enlarged by proper authority. Any officer who breaks his arrest or who escapes from confinement before he is set at liberty by proper authority shall be dismissed from the service or suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct; and any other person subject to military law who escapes from confinement or who breaks his arrest before he is set at liberty by proper authority shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 661.]

“ART. 70. INVESTIGATION OF AND ACTION UPON CHARGES.—No person put in arrest shall be continued in confinement more than eight days, or until such time as a court-martial can be assembled. When any person is put in arrest for the purpose of trial, except at remote military posts or stations, the officer by whose order he is arrested shall see that a copy of the charges on which he is to be tried is served upon him within eight days after his arrest, and that he is brought to trial within ten days thereafter, unless the necessities of the service prevent such trial; and then he shall be brought to trial within thirty days after the expiration of said ten days. If a copy of the charges be not served, or the arrested person be not brought to trial, as herein required, the arrest shall cease. But persons released from arrest, under the provisions of this article, may be tried, whenever the exigencies of the service shall permit, within twelve months after such release from arrest: Provided, That in time of peace no person shall, against his objection, be brought to trial before a general court-martial within a period of five days subsequent to the service of charges upon him. [39 Stat. L. 661.]

“ART. 71. REFUSAL TO RECEIVE AND KEEP PRISONERS.—No provost marshal or commander of a guard shall refuse to receive or keep any prisoner committed to his charge by an officer belonging to the forces of the United States, provided the officer committing shall, at the time, deliver an account in writing, signed by himself, of the crime or offense charged against the prisoner. Any officer or soldier so refusing shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 662.]

“ART. 72. REPORT OF PRISONERS RECEIVED.—Every commander of a guard to whose charge a prisoner is committed shall, within twenty-four hours after such confinement, or as soon as he is relieved from his guard, report in writing to the commanding officer the name of such prisoner, the offense charged against him, and the name of the officer committing him; and if he fails to make such report he shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 662.]

“ART. 73. RELEASING PRISONER WITHOUT PROPER AUTHORITY.—Any person subject to military law who, without proper authority, releases any prisoner duly committed to his charge, or who through neglect or design suffers any prisoner so committed to escape, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 662.]

“ART. 74. DELIVERY OF OFFENDERS TO CIVIL AUTHORITIES.—When any person subject to military law, except one who is held by the military authorities to answer, or who is awaiting trial or result of trial, or who is undergoing sentence for a crime or offense punishable under these articles, is accused of a crime or offense committed within the geographical limits of the States of the Union and the District of Columbia, and punishable by the laws of the land, the commanding officer is required, except in time of war, upon application duly made, to use his utmost endeavor to deliver over such accused person to the civil authorities, or to aid the officers of justice in apprehending and securing him, in order that he may be brought to trial. Any commanding officer who upon such application refuses or willfully neglects, except in time of war, to deliver over such accused persons to the civil authorities or to aid the officers of justice in apprehending and securing him shall be dismissed from the service or suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct.

“When, under the provisions of this article, delivery is made to the civil authorities of an offender undergoing sentence of a court-martial, such delivery, if followed by conviction, shall be held to interrupt the execution of the sentence of the court-martial, and the offender shall be returned to military custody, after having answered to the civil authorities for his offense, for the completion of the said court-martial sentence. [39 Stat. L. 662.]

“E. WAR OFFENSES.

“ART. 75. MISBEHAVIOR BEFORE THE ENEMY.—Any officer or soldier who misbehaves himself before the enemy, runs away, or shamefully abandons or delivers up any fort, post, camp, guard, or other command which it is his duty to defend, or speaks words inducing others to do the like, or casts away his arms or ammunition, or quits his post or colors to plunder or pillage, or by any means whatsoever occasions false alarms in camp, garrison, or quarters, shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 662.]

“ART. 76. SUBORDINATES COMPELLING COMMANDER TO SURRENDER.—If any commander of any garrison, fort, post, camp, guard, or other command is compelled, by the officers or soldiers under his command, to give it up to the enemy or to abandon it, the officers or soldiers so offending shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 77. IMPROPER USE OF COUNTERSIGN.—Any person subject to military law who makes known the parole or countersign to any person not entitled to receive it according to the rules and discipline of war, or gives a parole or countersign different from that which he received, shall, if the offense be committed in time of war, suffer death or such punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 78. FORCING A SAFEGUARD.—Any person subject to military law who, in time of war, forces a safeguard shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 79. CAPTURED PROPERTY TO BE SECURED FOR PUBLIC SERVICE.—All public property taken from the enemy is the property of the United States and shall be secured for the service of the United States, and any person subject to military law who neglects to secure such property or is guilty of wrongful appropriation thereof shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 80. DEALING IN CAPTURED OR ABANDONED PROPERTY.—Any person subject to military law who buys, sells, trades, or in any way deals in or disposes of captured or abandoned property, whereby he shall receive or expect any profit, benefit, or advantage to himself or to any other person directly or indirectly connected with himself, or who fails whenever such property comes into his possession or custody or within his control to give notice thereof to the proper authority and to turn over such property to the proper authority without delay, shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by fine or imprisonment, or by such other punishment as a court-martial, military commission, or other military tribunal may adjudge, or by any or all of said penalties. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 81. RELIEVING, CORRESPONDING WITH, OR AIDING THE ENEMY.—Whosoever relieves the enemy with arms, ammunition, supplies, money, or other thing, or knowingly harbors or protects or holds correspondence with or gives intelligence to the enemy, either directly, or indirectly, shall suffer death, or such other punishment as a court-martial or military commission may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 82. SPIES.—Any person who in time of war shall be found lurking or acting as a spy in or about any of the fortifications, posts, quarters, or encampments of any of the armies of the United States, or elsewhere, shall be tried by a general court-martial or by a military commission, and shall, on conviction thereof, suffer death. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ F. MISCELLANEOUS CRIMES AND OFFENSES.

“ART. 83. MILITARY PROPERTY — WILLFUL OR NEGLIGENT LOSS, DAMAGE, OR WRONGFUL DISPOSITION OF.—Any person subject to military law who willfully, or through neglect, suffers to be lost, spoiled, damaged, or wrongfully disposed of, any military property belonging to the United States shall make good the loss or damage and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 84. WASTE OR UNLAWFUL DISPOSITION OF MILITARY PROPERTY ISSUED TO SOLDIERS.—Any soldier who sells or wrongfully disposes of or willfully or through neglect injures or loses any horse, arms, ammunition, accouterments, equipment, clothing, or other property issued for use in the military service, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 85. DRUNK ON DUTY.—Any officer who is found drunk on duty shall, if the offense be committed in time of war, be dismissed from the service and suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct; and if the offense be committed in time of peace, he shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. Any person subject to military law, except an officer, who is found drunk on duty shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 663.]

“ART. 86. MISBEHAVIOR OF SENTINEL.—Any sentinel who is found drunk or sleeping upon his post, or who leaves it before he is regularly relieved, shall, if the offense be committed in time of war, suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct; and if the offense be committed in time of peace, he shall suffer any punishment, except death, that a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 87. PERSONAL INTEREST IN SALE OF PROVISIONS.—Any officer commanding in any garrison, fort, barracks, camp, or other place where troops of the United States may be serving who, for his private advantage, lays any duty or imposition upon or is interested in the sale of any victuals or other necessities of life brought into such garrison, fort, barracks, camp, or other place for the use of the troops, shall be dismissed from the service and suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 88. INTIMIDATION OF PERSONS BRINGING PROVISIONS.—Any person subject to military law who abuses, intimidates, does violence to, or wrongfully interferes with any person bringing provisions, supplies, or other necessities to the camp, garrison, or quarters of the forces of the United States shall suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 89. GOOD ORDER TO BE MAINTAINED AND WRONGS REDRESSED.—All persons subject to military law are to behave themselves orderly in quarters, garrison, camp, and on the march; and any person subject to military law who commits any waste or spoil, or willfully destroys any property whatsoever (unless by order of his commanding officer), or commits any kind of depredation or riot shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. Any commanding officer who, upon complaint made to him, refuses or omits to see reparation made to the party injured, in so far as the offender's pay shall go toward such reparation, as provided for in article one hundred and five, shall be dismissed from the service, or otherwise punished, as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 90. PROVOKING SPEECHES OR GESTURES.—No person subject to military law shall use any reproachful or provoking speeches or gestures to another; and any person subject to military law who offends against the provisions of this article shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 91. DUELLING.—Any person subject to military law who fights or promotes or is concerned in or connives at fighting a duel, or who having knowledge of a challenge sent or about to be sent fails to report the fact promptly to the proper authority shall, if an officer, be dismissed from the service or suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct; and if any other person subject to military law, shall suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 92. MURDER—RAPE.—Any person subject to military law who commits murder or rape shall suffer death or imprisonment for life, as a court-martial may be [sic] direct; but no person shall be tried by court-martial for murder or rape committed within the geographical limits of the States of the Union and the District of Columbia in time of peace. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

Jurisdiction.—Where a soldier is accused of committing murder after the declaration of the existence of a state of war, the military authorities have superior jurisdiction over the offense. Ex p. King, (E. D. Ky. 1917) 246 Fed. 868.

“ART. 93. VARIOUS CRIMES.—Any person subject to military law who commits manslaughter, mayhem, arson, burglary, robbery, larceny, embezzlement, perjury, assault with intent to commit any felony, or assault with intent to do bodily harm, shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. [39 Stat. L. 664.]

“ART. 94. FRAUDS AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.—Any person subject to military law who makes or causes to be made any claim against the United States, or any officer thereof, knowing such claim to be false or fraudulent; or

“ Who presents or causes to be presented to any person in the civil or military service thereof, for approval or payment, any claim against the United States, or any officer thereof, knowing such claim to be false or fraudulent; or

“ Who enters into any agreement or conspiracy to defraud the United States by obtaining, or aiding others to obtain, the allowance or payment of any false or fraudulent claim; or

“ Who, for the purpose of obtaining, or aiding others to obtain, the approval, allowance, or payment of any claim against the United States or against any officer thereof, makes or uses, or procures, or advises the making or use of, any writing or other paper, knowing the same to contain any false or fraudulent statements; or

“ Who, for the purpose of obtaining, or aiding others to obtain, the approval, allowance, or payment of any claim against the United States or any officer thereof, makes, or procures, or advises the making of, any oath to any fact or to any writing or other paper knowing such oath to be false; or

“ Who, for the purpose of obtaining, or aiding others to obtain, the approval, allowance, or payment of any claim against the United States or any officer thereof, forges or counterfeits, or procures, or advises the forging or counterfeiting of any signature upon any writing or other paper, or uses, or procures, or advises the use of any such signature, knowing the same to be forged or counterfeited; or

“ Who, having charge, possession, custody, or control of any money or other property of the United States, furnished or intended for the military service thereof, knowingly delivers, or causes to be delivered, to any person having authority to receive the same, any amount thereof less than that for which he receives a certificate or receipt; or

“ Who, being authorized to make or deliver any paper certifying the receipt of any property of the United States furnished or intended for the military service thereof, makes or delivers to any person such writing, without having full knowledge of the truth of the statements therein contained and with intent to defraud the United States; or

“ Who steals, embezzles, knowingly and willingly misappropriates, applies to his own use or benefit, or wrongfully or knowingly sells or disposes of any ordnance, arms, equipments, ammunition, clothing, subsistence stores, money, or other property of the United States furnished or intended for the military service thereof; or

“ Who knowingly purchases or receives in pledge for any obligation or indebtedness from any soldier, officer, or other person who is a part of or employed in said forces or service, any ordnance, arms, equipment, ammunition, clothing, subsistence stores, or other property of the United States, such soldier, officer, or other person not having lawful right to sell or pledge the same;

“ Shall, on conviction thereof, be punished by fine or imprisonment, or by such other punishment as a court-martial may adjudge, or by any or all of said penalties. And if any person, being guilty of any of the offenses aforesaid while in the military service of the United States, receives his discharge or is dismissed from the service, he shall continue to be liable to be arrested and held for trial and sentence by a court-martial in the same manner and to the same extent as if he had not received such discharge nor been dismissed. [39 Stat. L. 665.]

“ART. 95. CONDUCT UNBECOMING AN OFFICER AND GENTLEMAN.—Any officer or cadet who is convicted of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman shall be dismissed from the service. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ART. 96. GENERAL ARTICLE.—Though not mentioned in these articles, all disorders and neglects to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, all conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the military service, and all crimes or offenses not capital, of which persons subject to military law may be guilty, shall be taken cognizance of by a general or special or summary court-martial, according to the nature and degree of the offense, and punished at the discretion of such court. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ IV. COURTS OF INQUIRY.

“ART. 97. WHEN AND BY WHOM ORDERED.—A court of inquiry to examine into the nature of any transaction of or accusation or imputation against any officer or soldier may be ordered by the President or by any commanding officer; but a court of inquiry shall not be ordered by any commanding officer except upon the request of the officer or soldier whose conduct is to be inquired into. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ART. 98. COMPOSITION.—A court of inquiry shall consist of three or more officers. For each court of inquiry the authority appointing the court shall appoint a recorder. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ART. 99. CHALLENGES.—Members of a court of inquiry may be challenged by the party whose conduct is to be inquired into, but only for cause stated to the court. The court shall determine the relevancy and validity of any challenge, and shall not receive a challenge to more than one member at a time. The party whose conduct is being inquired into shall have the right to be represented before the court by counsel of his own selection, if such counsel be reasonably available. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ART. 100. OATH OF MEMBERS AND RECORDER.—The recorder of a court of inquiry shall administer to the members the following oath: ‘You, A. B., do swear (or affirm) that you will well and truly examine and inquire, according to the evidence, into the matter now before you, without partiality, favor, affection, prejudice, or hope of reward. So help you, God.’ After which the president of the court shall administer to the recorder the following oath: ‘You, A. B., do swear (or affirm) that you will, according to your best abilities, accurately and impartially record the proceedings of the court and the evidence to be given in the case in hearing. So help you, God.’

“ART. 101. POWERS; PROCEDURE.—A court of inquiry and the recorder thereof shall have the same power to summon and examine witnesses as is given to courts-martial and the judge advocate thereof. Such witnesses shall take the same oath or affirmation that is taken by witnesses before courts-martial. A reporter or an interpreter for a court of inquiry shall, before entering upon his duties, take the oath or affirmation required of a reporter or an interpreter for a court-martial. The party whose conduct is being inquired into or his counsel, if any, shall be permitted to examine and cross-examine witnesses so as fully to investigate the circumstances in question. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ART. 102. OPINION ON MERITS OF CASE.—A court of inquiry shall not give an opinion on the merits of the case inquired into unless specially ordered to do so. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“ART. 103. RECORD OF PROCEEDINGS—HOW AUTHENTICATED.—Each court of inquiry shall keep a record of its proceedings, which shall be authenticated by the signature of the president and the recorder thereof, and be forwarded to the convening authority. In case the record can not be authenticated by the recorder, by reason of his death, disability, or absence, it shall be signed by the president and by one other member of the court. [39 Stat. L. 666.]

“V. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

“ART. 104. DISCIPLINARY POWERS OF COMMANDING OFFICERS.—Under such regulations as the President may prescribe, and which he may from time to time revoke, alter, or add to, the commanding officer of any detachment, company, or higher command may, for minor offenses not denied by the accused, impose disciplinary punishments upon persons of his command without the intervention of a court-martial, unless the accused demands trial by court-martial.

“The disciplinary punishments authorized by this article may include admonition, reprimand, withholding of privileges, extra fatigue, and restriction to certain specified limits, but shall not include forfeiture of pay or confinement under guard. A person punished under authority of this article, who deems his punishment unjust or disproportionate to the offense, may, through the proper channel, appeal to the next superior authority, but may in the meantime be required to undergo the punishment adjudged. The commanding officer who imposes the punishment, his successor in command, and superior authority shall have power to mitigate or remit any unexecuted portion of the punishment. The imposition and enforcement of disciplinary punishment under authority of this article for any act or omission shall not be a bar to trial by court-martial for a crime or offense growing out of the same act or omission; but the fact that a disciplinary punishment has been enforced may be shown by the accused upon trial, and when so shown shall be considered in determining the measure of punishment to be adjudged in the event of a finding of guilty. [39 Stat. L. 667.]

“ART. 105. INJURIES TO PERSON OR PROPERTY—REDRRESS OF.—Whenever complaint is made to any commanding officer that damage has been done to the property of any person or that his property has been wrongfully taken by persons subject to military law, such complaint shall be investigated by a board consisting of any number of officers from one to three, which board shall be convened by the commanding officer and shall have, for the purpose of such investigation, power to summon witnesses and examine them upon oath or affirmation, to receive depositions or other documentary evidence, and to assess the damages sustained against the responsible parties. The assessment of damages made by such board shall be subject to the approval of the commanding officer, and in the amount approved by him shall be stopped against the pay of the offenders. And the order of such commanding officer directing stoppages herein authorized shall be conclusive on any disbursing officer for the payment by him to the injured parties of the stoppages so ordered.

“Where the offenders can not be ascertained, but the organization or detachment to which they belong is known, stoppages to the amount of damages inflicted may be made and assessed in such proportion as may be deemed just upon the individual members thereof who are shown to have been present with such organization or detachment at the time the damages complained of were inflicted as determined by the approved findings of the board. [39 Stat. L. 667.]

“ART. 106. ARREST OF DESERTERS BY CIVIL OFFICIALS.—It shall be lawful for any civil officer having authority under the laws of the United States, or of any State, Territory, District, or possession of the United States, to arrest offenders, summarily to arrest a deserter from the military service of the United States and deliver him into the custody of the military authorities of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 667.]

“ART. 107. SOLDIERS TO MAKE GOOD TIME LOST.—Every soldier who in an existing or subsequent enlistment deserts the service of the United States or without proper authority absents himself from his organization, station, or duty for more than one day, or who is confined for more than one day under sentence, or while awaiting trial and disposition of his case, if the trial results in conviction, or through the intemperate use of drugs or alcoholic liquor, or through disease or injury the result of his own misconduct, renders himself unable for more than one day to perform duty, shall be liable to serve, after his return to a full-duty status, for such period as shall, with the time he may have served prior to such desertion, unauthorized absence, confinement, or inability to perform duty, amount to the full term of that part of his enlistment period which he is required to serve with his organization before being furloughed to the Army reserve: [39 Stat. L. 667.]

“ART. 108. SOLDIERS—SEPARATION FROM THE SERVICE.—No enlisted man, lawfully inducted into the military service of the United States, shall be discharged from said service without a certificate of discharge, signed by a field officer of the regiment or other organization to which the enlisted man belongs or by the commanding officer when no such field officer is present; and no enlisted man shall be discharged from said service before his term of service has expired, except by order of the President, the Secretary of War, the commanding officer of a department, or by sentence of a general court-martial. [39 Stat. L. 668.]

“ART. 109. OATH OF ENLISTMENT.—At the time of his enlistment every soldier shall take the following oath or affirmation: ‘I, ———, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America; that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies whomsoever; and that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to the Rules and Articles of War.' This oath or affirmation may be taken before any officer. [39 Stat. L. 668.]

"ART. 110. CERTAIN ARTICLES TO BE READ AND EXPLAINED.—Articles one, two, and twenty-nine, fifty-four to ninety-six, inclusive, and one hundred and four to one hundred and nine, inclusive, shall be read and explained to every soldier at the time of his enlistment or muster in, or within six days thereafter, and shall be read and explained once every six months to the soldiers of every garrison, regiment, or company in the service of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 668.]

"ART. 111. COPY OF RECORD OF TRIAL.—Every person tried by a general court-martial shall, on demand therefor, made by himself or by any person in his behalf, be entitled to a copy of the record of the trial. [39 Stat. L. 668.]

"ART. 112. EFFECTS OF DECEASED PERSONS — DISPOSITION OF.—In case of the death of any person subject to military law, the commanding officer of the place of command will permit the legal representative or widow of the deceased, if present, to take possession of all his effects then in camp or quarters, and if no legal representative or widow be present, the commanding officer shall direct a summary court to secure all such effects; and said summary court shall have authority to collect and receive any debts due decedent's estate by local debtors; and as soon as practicable after the collection of such effects said summary court shall transmit such effects, and any money collected, through the Quartermaster Department, at Government expense, to the widow or legal representative of the deceased, if such be found by said court, or to his son, daughter, father, mother, brother, or sister, in the order named, if such be found by said court, or to the beneficiary named by the deceased, if such be found by said court, and such court shall thereupon make to the War Department a full report of its transactions; but if there be none of the persons hereinabove named, or such persons or their addresses are not known to, or readily ascertainable by, said court, and the court shall so find, said summary court shall have authority to convert into cash, by public or private sale, not earlier than thirty days after the death of the deceased, all effects of the deceased, except sabers, insignia, decorations, medals, watches, trinkets, manuscripts, and other articles valuable chiefly as keepsakes; and as soon as practicable after converting such effects into cash said summary court shall deposit with the proper officer, to be designated in regulations, any cash belonging to decedent's estate, and shall transmit a receipt for such deposits, any will or other papers of value belonging to the deceased, any sabers, insignia, decorations, medals, watches, trinkets, manuscripts, and other articles valuable chiefly as keepsakes, together with an inventory of the effects secured by said summary court, and a full account of its transactions to the War Department for transmission to the Auditor for the War Department for action as authorized by law in the settlement of the accounts of deceased officers and enlisted men of the Army.

"The provisions of this article shall be applicable to inmates of the United States Soldiers' Home who die in any United States military hospital outside of the District of Columbia where sent from the home for treatment." [39 Stat. L. 668, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 10. It formerly read as follows:

"ART. 112. EFFECTS OF DECEASED PERSONS — DISPOSITION OF.— In case of the death of any person subject to military law, the commanding officer of the place or command will permit the legal representative or widow of the deceased, if present, to take possession of all his effects then in camp or quarters, and if no legal representative or widow be present, the commanding officer shall direct a summary court to secure all such effects; and said summary court shall have authority to convert such effects into cash, by public or private sale, not earlier than thirty days after the death of the deceased, and to collect and receive any debts due decedent's estate by local debtors; and as soon as practicable after converting such effects into cash said summary court shall deposit with the proper officer, to be designated in regulations, any cash belonging to decedent's estate, and shall transmit a receipt for such deposit, accompanied by any will or other papers of value belonging to the deceased, an inventory of the effects secured by said summary court, and a full account of his transactions to the War Department for transmission to the Auditor for the War Department for action as authorized by law in the settlement of the accounts of deceased officers or enlisted men of the Army; but if in the meantime the legal representative, or widow, shall present himself or herself to take possession of decedent's estate the said summary court shall turn over to him or her all effects not sold and cash belonging to said estate, together with an inventory and account, and make to the War Department a full report of his transactions.

"ART. 113. INQUESTS.— When at any post, fort, camp, or other place garrisoned by the military forces of the United States and under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, any person shall have been found dead under circumstances which appear to require investigation, the commanding officer will designate and direct a summary court-martial to investigate the circumstances attending the death; and, for this purpose, such summary court-martial shall have power to summon witnesses and examine them upon oath or affirmation. He shall promptly transmit to the post or other commander a report of his investigation and of his findings as to the cause of the death. [39 Stat. L. 669.]

"ART. 114. AUTHORITY TO ADMINISTER OATHS.—Any judge advocate or acting judge advocate, the president of a general or special court-martial, any summary court-martial, the judge advocate or any assistant judge advocate of a general or special court-martial, the president or the recorder of a court of inquiry or of a military board, any officer designated to take a deposition, any officer detailed to conduct an investigation, and the adjutant of any command shall have power to administer oaths for the purposes of the administration of military justice and for other purposes of military administration; and in foreign places where the Army may be serving shall have the general powers of a notary public or of a consul of the United States in the administration of oaths, the execution and acknowledgment of legal instruments, the attestation of documents, and all other forms of notarial acts to be executed by persons subject to military law. [39 Stat. L. 669.]

"ART. 115. APPOINTMENT OF REPORTERS AND INTERPRETERS.— Under such regulations as the Secretary of War may from time to time prescribe, the president of a court-martial or military commission, or a court of inquiry shall have power to appoint a reporter, who shall record the proceedings of and testimony taken before such court or commission and may set down the same, in the first instance, in shorthand. Under like regulations the president of a court-martial or military commission, or court of inquiry, or a summary court, may appoint an interpreter, who shall interpret for the court or commission. [39 Stat. L. 669.]

“ART. 116. POWERS OF ASSISTANT JUDGE ADVOCATES.—An assistant judge advocate of a general court-martial shall be competent to perform any duty devolved by law, regulation, or the custom of the service upon the judge advocate of the court. [39 Stat. L. 669.]

“ART. 117. REMOVAL OF CIVIL SUITS.—When any civil suit or criminal prosecution is commenced in any court of a State against any officer, soldier, or other person in the military service of the United States on account of any act done under color of his office or status, or in respect to which he claims any right, title, or authority under any law of the United States respecting the military forces thereof, or under the law of war, such suit or prosecution may at any time before the trial or final hearing thereof be removed for trial into the district court of the United States in the district where the same is pending in the manner prescribed in section thirty-three of the Act entitled ‘An Act to codify, revise, and amend the laws relating to the judiciary,’ approved March third, nineteen hundred and eleven, and the cause shall thereupon be entered on the docket of said district court and shall proceed therein as if the cause had been originally commenced in said district court and the same proceedings had been taken in such suit or prosecution in said district court as shall have been had therein in said State court prior to its removal, and said district court shall have full power to hear and determine said cause. [39 Stat. L. 669.]

“ART. 118. OFFICERS — SEPARATION FROM SERVICE.—No officer shall be discharged or dismissed from the service except by order of the President or by sentence of a general court-martial; and in time of peace no officer shall be dismissed except in pursuance of the sentence of a court-martial or in mitigation thereof; but the President may at any time drop from the rolls of the Army any officer who has been absent from duty three months without leave or who has been absent in confinement in a prison or penitentiary for three months after final conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction. [39 Stat. L. 669.]

“ART. 119. RANK AND PRECEDENCE AMONG REGULARS, MILITIA, AND VOLUNTEERS.—That in time of war or public danger, when two or more officers of the same grade are on duty in the same field, department, or command, or of organizations thereof, the President may assign the command of the forces of such field, department, or command, or of any organization thereof, without regard to seniority of rank in the same grade. In the absence of such assignment by the President, officers of the same grade shall rank and have precedence in the following order, without regard to date of rank or commission as between officers of different classes, namely: First, officers of the Regular Army and officers of the Marine Corps detached for service with the Army by order of the President; second, officers of forces drafted or called into service of the United States; and, third, officers of the volunteer forces: Provided, That officers of the Regular Army holding commissions in forces drafted or called into the service of the United States or in the volunteer forces shall rank and have precedence under said commissions as if they were commissions in the Regular Army; the rank of officers of the Regular Army under commissions in the National Guard as such shall not, for the purposes of this article, be held to antedate the acceptance of such officers into the service of the United States under said commissions. [39 Stat. L. 670.]

“ART. 120. COMMAND WHEN DIFFERENT CORPS OR COMMANDS HAPPEN TO JOIN.—When different corps or commands of the military forces of the United States happen to join or do duty together the officer highest in rank of the line of the Regular Army, Marine Corps, forces drafted or called into the service of the United States or Volunteers, there on duty, shall, subject to the provisions of the last preceding article, command the whole and give orders for what is needful in the service, unless otherwise directed by the President. [39 Stat. L. 670.]

“ART. 121. COMPLAINTS OF WRONGS.—Any officer or soldier who believes himself wronged by his commanding officer, and, upon due application to such commander, is refused redress, may complain to the general commanding in the locality where the officer against whom the complaint is made is stationed. The general shall examine into said complaint and take proper measures for redressing the wrong complained of; and he shall, as soon as possible, transmit to the Department of War a true statement of such complaint, with the proceedings had thereon.” [39 Stat. L. 670.]

SEC. 4. [Time of taking effect of amended Articles of War.] The provisions of section three of this Act shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of March, nineteen hundred and seventeen: Provided, That articles four, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, twenty-nine, forty-seven, forty-nine, and ninety-two shall take effect immediately upon the approval of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 670.]

SEC. 5. [Offenses, etc., committed prior to taking effect of Act — punishment.] That all offenses committed and all penalties, forfeitures, fines, or liabilities incurred prior to the taking effect of this Act, under any law embraced in or modified, changed, or repealed by this Act, may be prosecuted, punished, and enforced in the same manner and with the same effect as if this Act had not been passed. [39 Stat. L. 670.]

SEC. 6. [Inconsistent laws — repeal.] All laws and parts of laws in so far as they are inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed. [39 Stat. L. 670.]

An Act Authorizing transfer of certain retired Army officers to the active list.

[Retired army officers — transfer to active lists.] That hereafter the President be, and he is hereby, authorized, within one year of the approval of this Act, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to transfer, upon application, to the active list of the Army any officer under fifty years of age who may have been transferred heretofore from the active to the retired list of the Army under the Act to provide for recognizing the services of certain officers of the Army, Navy, and Public Health Service for their services in connection with the construction of the Panama Canal, and for other purposes, approved March fourth, nineteen hundred and fifteen: Provided, That such officers shall take rank at the foot of the respective grades which they held at the time of their retirement and shall be carried as an additional number in the grade to which he may be transferred or at any time thereafter promoted, and shall be promoted on the same date as the officer next above him in rank, and shall be commissioned in the arm or department of the Army from which he was retired: Provided further, That such officer shall stand a satisfactory medical examination, and when promoted shall stand the medical and professional examinations provided for by law: And provided further, That any officer transferred to the active list under this Act shall not again be entitled to the benefits of the Panama Canal Act described above, except when retired for age or for physical disability incurred in the line of duty. [39 Stat. L. 937.]

* * * [Army service schools — Employment of translator.] Not exceeding $100 per month may be used for the payment of one translator, to be appointed by the commandant of the Army service schools with the approval of the Secretary of War, * * * [40 Stat. L. 41.]

* * * [Field artillery — second lieutenants — assignments to Fort Sill.] That officers in the grade of second lieutenant in the Field Artillery may be assigned, for the period of one year, to batteries stationed at the School of Fire for Field Artillery at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, for the purpose of pursuing courses of practical instruction in field artillery. [40 Stat. L. 41.]

* * * [Aviation — land sites for schools, etc.] That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to acquire, by purchase, donation, or by condemnation, such land sites throughout the United States as are immediately necessary for the permanent establishment of aviation schools, aviation posts, and experimental aviation stations and proving grounds for the United States Army. [40 Stat. L. 42.]

* * * [Second hand vehicles, etc.—exchange.] That hereafter motor-propelled vehicles, aeroplanes, engines, and parts thereof may be exchanged in part payment for new equipment of the same or similar character, to be used for the same purpose as those proposed to be exchanged. [40 Stat. L. 43.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, sec. 25, see supra, p. 944.

* * * [Signal Corps — aviation section — mileage to officers.] That mileage to officers in the aviation section, Signal Corps, traveling on duty in connection with aviation service shall be paid from the appropriation for the work in connection with which the travel is performed. [40 Stat. L. 43.]

* * * [Signal Corps — operation of telegraph lines, etc.— forwarding charges.] That hereafter the Signal Corps, in its operation of military telegraph lines, cables, or radio stations, is authorized, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, to collect forwarding charges due connecting commercial telegraph or radio companies for the transmission of Government radiograms or telegrams over their lines, and to this end, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, it can present vouchers to disbursing officers for payment or file claims with auditors of the Treasury Department for the amount of such forwarding charges. [40 Stat. L. 43.]

[Increases in army — officers — appointments — promotions.] That of the whole number of officers of Cavalry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery Corps, Infantry, and of Engineers serving with the enlisted force of the Corps of Engineers necessary to fill vacancies created or caused in said arms of the service by reason of the second increment, authorized in said arms by Act of Congress approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, not more than one-fourth shall be appointed or promoted until, exclusive of enlisted men belonging to said arms on June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, at least one-fourth of the second increment of enlisted men authorized for said arms by said Act shall have been enlisted; not more than one-half of said whole number of officers shall be appointed or promoted until at least one-half of said increment of enlisted men shall have been enlisted; and not more than three-fourths of said whole number of officers shall be appointed or promoted until at least three-fourths of said increment of enlisted men shall have been enlisted. And all officers promoted in accordance with the terms of this proviso shall take rank, respectively, from the dates on which their promotions shall have become lawful under the terms of this proviso. [40 Stat. L. 44.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, see supra, p. 921.

[Increases in army — second lieutenants.]

A provision of this Act relating to second lieutenants amends the first part of the second paragraph of section 24 of the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, 39 Stat. L. 166, and has consequently been transferred to that Act and will be found supra, p. 944.

* * * [Enlisted men — pay — marksmen, etc.] That that paragraph of the Act of May eleventh, nineteen hundred and eight (Thirty-fifth Statutes at Large, page one hundred and ten), which provides for additional pay to marksmen, and so forth, is amended to read as follows:

“That hereafter enlisted men now qualified or hereafter qualifying as marksmen shall receive $2 per month; as sharpshooters, $3 per month; as expert riflemen, $5 per month; as second-class gunners, $2 per month; as first-class gunners, $3 per month; as expert first-class gunners, Field Artillery, $5 per month; as gun pointers, gun commanders, observers second-class, chief planters, and chief loaders, $7 per month; as plotters, observers first-class, casemate electricians, and coxswains, $9 per month, all in addition to their pay, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, but no man shall receive at the same time additional pay for more than one of the classifications named in this section.” [40 Stat. L. 45.]

For Act of May 11, 1908, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 696.

* * * [Clerks, messengers and laborers — assignments.] That said clerks, messengers, and laborers shall be employed and assigned by the Secretary of War to the offices and positions in which they are to serve: Provided further, That no clerk, messenger, or laborer at headquarters of tactical divisions, military departments, brigades, service schools, and office of the Chief of Staff shall be assigned to duty in any bureau in the War Department. [40 Stat. L. 46.]

* * * [Retired officers — assignments to active duty — staff duties.] That assignments which have been or may hereafter be made, of retired officers of the Army to active duty as acting quartermasters shall be regarded as assignments to staff duties not involving service with troops within the meaning of the Act of Congress approved April twenty-third, nineteen hundred and four. [40 Stat. L. 48.]

For Act of April 23, 1904, see 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 429.

* * * [Retired officers — longevity pay.] That hereafter any retired officer of the Army who has been detailed to active duty, and who has since his retirement, served on active detail shall be entitled to increases of longevity pay to be computed as provided by existing statute for the computation of longevity pay, for the time of his service before retirement and on active detail since his retirement. [40 Stat. L. 48.]

* * * [Quartermaster Corps — officers — public moneys.] Hereafter, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, officers of the Quartermaster Corps accountable for public moneys may intrust such moneys to other officers for the purpose of having them make disbursements as their agents, and the officers to whom the moneys are intrusted, as well as the officers who intrust it to them, shall be held pecuniarily responsible therefor to the United States. [40 Stat. L. 50.]

* * * [Disciplinary barracks guard — extra-duty pay.] That hereafter the extra-duty pay to the United States disciplinary barracks guard shall be at the following rates per day: Battalion sergeants major, first sergeants, mess sergeants, and sergeants, 35 cents; corporals, 30 cents; cooks and mechanics, privates first class, privates, and buglers, 20 cents; * * * [40 Stat. L. 52.]

* * * [Recruits — premiums.] That section eleven hundred and twenty of the Revised Statutes of the United States be, and the same is hereby, repealed. [40 Stat. L. 53.]

R. S. sec. 1120 read as follows: "A premium of two dollars shall be paid to any citizen, noncommissioned officer, or soldier for each accepted recruit he may bring to a recruiting rendezvous."

* * * [Horses and mules — sale.] That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized upon the approval of this Act to sell for cash at either public or private sale such horses and mules as are not needed for either the Regular Army or the National Guard and the proceeds shall be turned into the United States Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. [40 Stat. L. 55.]

* * * [Quartermaster Corps — civilian employees — compensation.] That the number of and total sum paid for civilian employees in the Quartermaster Corps shall be limited to the actual requirements of the service, and that no employee therein shall receive a salary of more than $150 per month, except upon the approval of the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. 56.]

* * * [Vocational training.] For the employment of the necessary civilian instructors in the most important trades, for the purchase of carpenter's, machinist's, plumber's, mason's, electrician's, and such other tools and equipment as may be required, including machines used in connection with the trades for the purchase of material and other supplies necessary for instruction and training purposes and the construction of such buildings needed for vocational training in agriculture for shops, storage, and shelter of machinery as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of section twenty-seven of the Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, authorizing, in addition to the military training of soldiers while in the active service, means for securing an opportunity to study and receive instruction upon educational lines of such character as to increase their military efficiency and enable them to return to civil life better equipped for industrial, commercial, and general business occupations, part of this instruction to consist of vocational education either in agriculture or the mechanic arts, $250,000: Provided, however, That the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, in order to carry out the last provision, select one or more and not exceeding three regiments of Infantry, Cavalry, or Field Artillery to be stationed at a regimental post within the continental limits of the United States on or before July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and may transfer from such regiment to other organizations any enlisted man or men who do not desire educational or vocational training and instruction such as is contemplated by the concluding paragraph of section twenty-seven of the National Defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and may transfer thereto from other organizations a number of enlisted men to be selected under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe who do desire such instruction and training or may receive recruits thereto sufficient to bring the enlisted strength of the regiment up to that authorized by law. During such part of the year beginning July first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and thereafter as the enlisted men of the regiment so selected shall not be engaged on field service or in field training they shall be under training or instruction nine hours of each day, or as near that number of hours as possible, Sundays and holidays excepted, at least three hours of each day to be devoted to military training and six hours of each day, or as nearly that as possible, to educational and vocational training and instruction such as is contemplated by the concluding paragraph of section twenty-seven of the National Defense Act. The educational and vocational training to be had under civilian instructors employed for that purpose under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of War shall prescribe: And provided further, That said civilian instructors, as well as the discipline of the said post, shall be under the jurisdiction of the military authorities, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe. [40 Stat. L. 59.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, see supra, p. 921.

* * * [Motor ambulances — purchase — advertisement.] That the Secretary of War may in his discretion select types and makes of motor ambulances for the Army and authorize their purchase without regard to the laws prescribing advertisement for proposals for supplies and material for the Army; * * * [40 Stat. L. 60.]

* * * [Rifle clubs — instructors.] That the Secretary of War, in his discretion, and under such regulations as he may prescribe, may authorize the detail of enlisted men of the Army as temporary instructors in rifle practice to organized rifle clubs requesting such instruction. [40 Stat. L. 64.]

* * * [Ordnance Department — civilian employees — leave of absence.] That hereafter any civilian employee of the Ordnance Department who is a citizen of the United States and employed at any station outside the continental limits of the United States may, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, after at least two years' continuous, faithful, and satisfactory service abroad, and subject to the interests of the public service, be granted accrued leave of absence, with pay, for each year of service, and if an employee should elect to postpone the taking of any or all of the leave to which he may be entitled in pursuance hereof such leave may be allowed to accumulate for a period of not exceeding four years, the rate of pay for accrued leave to be the rate obtaining at the time the leave is granted. [40 Stat. L. 65.]

* * * [Ordnance Department — officers — mileage.] That mileage to officers of the Ordnance Department traveling on duty in connection with that department shall be paid from the appropriation for the work in connection with which the travel is performed. [40 Stat. L. 65.]

* * * [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — institution maintaining — supplies and equipment.] For the procurement and issue, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, to institutions as which one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are maintained, such public animals, uniforms, equipment, and means of transportation as he may deem necessary, and to forage at the expense of the United States public animals so issued; for transporting said animals and other authorized equipment from place of issue to the several institutions and return of same to place of issue when necessary; for the maintenance of camps for the further practical instruction of the members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and for transporting members of such corps to and from such camps, and to subsist them while traveling to and from such camps and while remaining therein so far as appropriations will permit; for the payment of commutation of subsistence to members of the senior division of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, at such rate, not exceeding the cost of the garrison ration prescribed for the Army, as authorized in the Act of Congress approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, $4,385,000: Provided, That $1,215,000 of the amount herein appropriated shall be immediately available.

Provided further, That the Secretary of War may, in his discretion and under such regulations as he may prescribe, permit such institutions to furnish their own uniforms and receive as commutation therefor the sum allotted by the Secretary of War to such institutions for uniforms. [40 Stat. L. 71.]

* * * [Officers' Reserve Corps — government employees — leave of absence.] That all officers and employees of the United States or of the District of Columbia who shall be members of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall be entitled to leave of absence from their respective duties, without loss of pay, time, or efficiency rating on all days during which they shall be ordered to duty with troops or at field exercises, or for instruction, for periods not to exceed fifteen days in any one calendar year. [40 Stat. L. 72.]

* * * [Officers' Reserve Corps — government employees — restoration to former positions.] * * * That members of the Officers' Reserve Corps who are in the employ of the United States Government or of the District of Columbia and who are ordered to duty by proper authority shall, when relieved from duty, be restored to the positions held by them when ordered to duty. [40 Stat. L. 72.]

* * * [Officers' Reserve Corps — gratuitous services of members.] That section three of the Act approved February twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and six, entitled, "An Act making appropriations to supply urgent deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and six, and for prior years and for other purposes," shall not be construed to prohibit the Secretary of War from accepting the gratuitous services of members of the Officers' Reserve Corps of the Army in the furtherance of the enrollment, organization, and training of the Officers' Reserve Corps, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, or the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Army or in consultation upon matters relating to the military service. [40 Stat. L. 72.]

For Act of Feb. 27, 1906, § 3, see 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 124. The Act amended R. S. sec. 3679 and as amended is set out in 3 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 138.

* * * [Officers' Reserve Corps — appointment of former officers of Regular Army, etc.— rank.] That any former officer of the Regular Army, the Volunteer Army, the Organized Militia, or the National Guard, under the age of sixty-four years and who has resigned or been honorably discharged from the service after a total commissioned service of not less than three years in either the Regular Army, the Volunteer Army, the Organized Militia, or the National Guard, may, upon such examination and within such age limits as may be prescribed by the President, be appointed and commissioned, in the discretion of the President, in any appropriate arm, staff corps, department or section of the Officers' Reserve Corps, with rank not more than one grade higher than any previously held by the officer in either of said forces, but in no case above that of lieutenant colonel. [40 Stat. L. 73.]

* * * [Ordnance Department — employees — monthly compensation.] That the following provision contained in the Act approved April twenty-third, nineteen hundred and four, "Hereafter all employees of the Ordnance Department whose compensation is annual shall be paid monthly," is hereby repealed. [40 Stat. L. 74.]

For Act of April 23, 1904, see 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 431.

* * * [Enlisted men of Army commissioned in National Guard — reenlistment in Army — status.] That the enlisted men who were discharged from the Army to accept a commission in the National Guard, or in any volunteer force that may be authorized in the future, at the call of the President, June eighteen, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be restored to their original status upon reenlisting in the Regular Army: Provided, That they reenlist within three months from date of muster out of the United States Service, and that in computing service for retirement and continuous service pay, service as an officer in the National Guard, or in any volunteer force that may be authorized in the future, while in the service of the United States, be counted. [40 Stat. L. 74.]

* * * [Enlisted men of army commissioned in Officers' Reserve Corps, etc.— reenlistment in army — continuous service pay.] That hereafter any enlisted man of the Army who shall be discharged to enable him to accept a commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps, or in any National Guard or militia organization, or in any volunteer force, that may be authorized in the future, and who shall enlist in the Army within three months after the termination of his connection as an officer with that corps or with any organization of the National Guard or militia, or a volunteer force, or during the continuation of his connection therewith, as an officer, shall, in computing continuous service pay now authorized by law, be entitled to credit for the period of time actually served by him prior to said discharge, and in computing service for retirement and continuous service pay, service as an officer of the National Guard, while in the service of the United States, service in any volunteer force, and service in the Officers' Reserve Corps in active service shall be counted. [40 Stat. L. 74.]

* * * [Buildings, military post or grounds — expenditures — approval of Secretary of War.] That hereafter no expenditure exceeding $5,000 shall be made upon any building or military post or grounds about the same without the approval of the Secretary of War, upon detailed estimates submitted to him. [40 Stat. L. 74.]

An Act To Authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States.

[Act of May 18, 1917, ch. 15, 40 Stat. L. 76.]

[SEC. 1.] [Temporary increase of army — appointments to fill vacancies — drafting of National Guard and National Guard Reserves — draft of additional forces — officers — batteries — volunteer divisions.] That in view of the existing emergency, which demands the raising of troops in addition to those now available, the President be, and he is hereby, authorized —

This Act was affected by the Army Appropriation Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 21, which provided as follows:

"That the authority conferred upon the President by the Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," is hereby extended so as to authorize him during each fiscal year to raise by draft as provided in said Act and Acts amendatory thereof the maximum number of men which may be organized, equipped, trained, and used during such year for the prosecution of the present war until the same shall have been brought to a successful conclusion."

First. Immediately to raise, organize, officer, and equip all or such number of increments of the Regular Army provided by the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, or such parts thereof as he may deem necessary; to raise all organizations of the Regular Army, including those added by such increments, to the maximum enlisted strength authorized by law. Vacancies in the Regular Army created or caused by the addition of increments as herein authorized which can not be filled by promotion may be filled by temporary appointment for the period of the emergency or until replaced by permanent appointments or by provisional appointments made under the provisions of section twenty-three of the national defense Act, approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and hereafter provisional appointments under said section may be terminated whenever it is determined, in the manner prescribed by the President, that the officer has not the suitability and fitness requisite for permanent appointment.

Second. To draft into the military service of the United States, organize, and officer, in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and eleven of said national defense Act, so far as the provisions of said section may be applicable and not inconsistent with the terms of this Act, any or all members of the National Guard and of the National Guard Reserves, and said members so drafted into the military service of the United States shall serve therein for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged: Provided, That when so drafted the organizations or units of the National Guard shall, so far as practicable, retain the State designations of their respective organizations.

Third. To raise by draft as herein provided, organize and equip an additional force of five hundred thousand enlisted men, or such part or parts thereof as he may at any time deem necessary, and to provide the necessary officers, line and staff, for said force and for organizations of the other forces hereby authorized, or by combining organizations of said other forces, by ordering members of the Officers' Reserve Corps to temporary duty in accordance with the provisions of section thirty-eight of the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen; by appointment from the Regular Army, the Officers' Reserve Corps, from those duly qualified and registered pursuant to section twenty-three of the Act of Congress approved January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and three (Thirty-second Statutes at Large, page seven hundred and seventy-five), from the members of the National Guard drafted into the service of the United States, from those who have been graduated from educational institutions at which military instruction is compulsory, or from those who have had honorable service in the Regular Army, the National Guard, or in the volunteer forces, or from the country at large; by assigning retired officers of the Regular Army to active duty with such force with their rank on the retired list and the full pay and allowances of their grade; or by the appointment of retired officers and enlisted men, active or retired, of the Regular Army as commissioned officers in such forces: Provided, That the organization of said force shall be the same as that of the corresponding organizations of the Regular Army: Provided further, That the President is authorized to increase or decrease the number of organizations prescribed for the typical brigades, divisions, or army corps of the Regular Army, and to prescribe such new and different organizations and personnel for army corps, divisions, brigades, regiments, battalions, squadrons, companies, troops, and batteries as the efficiency of the service may require: Provided further, That the number of organizations in a regiment shall not be increased nor shall the number of regiments be decreased: Provided further, That the President in his discretion may organize, officer, and equip for each Infantry and Cavalry brigade three machine-gun companies, and for each Infantry and Cavalry division four machine-gun companies, all in addition to the machine-gun companies comprised in organizations included in such brigades and divisions: Provided further, That the President in his discretion may organize for each division one armored motor-car machine-gun company. The machine-gun companies organized under this section shall consist of such commissioned and enlisted personnel and be equipped in such manner as the President may prescribe: And provided further, That officers with rank not above that of colonel shall be appointed by the President alone, and officers above that grade by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate: Provided further, That the President may in his discretion recommission in the Coast Guard persons who have heretofore held commissions in the Revenue-Cutter Service or the Coast Guard and have left the service honorably, after ascertaining that they are qualified for service physically, morally, and as to age and military fitness.

Fourth. The President is further authorized, in his discretion and at such time as he may determine, to raise and begin the training of an additional force of five hundred thousand men organized, officered, and equipped, as provided for the force first mentioned in the preceding paragraph of this section.

Fifth. To raise by draft, organize, equip, and officer, as provided in the third paragraph of this section, in addition to and for each of the above forces, such recruit training units as he may deem necessary for the maintenance of such forces at the maximum strength.

Sixth. To raise, organize, officer, and maintain during the emergency such number of ammunition batteries and battalions, depot batteries and battalions, and such artillery parks, with such numbers and grades of personnel as he may deem necessary. Such organizations shall be officered in the manner provided in the third paragraph of this section, and enlisted men may be assigned to said organization from any of the forces herein provided for or raised by selective draft as by this Act provided.

Seventh. The President is further authorized to raise and maintain by voluntary enlistment, to organize, and equip, not to exceed four infantry divisions, the officers of which shall be selected in the manner provided by paragraph three of section one of this Act: Provided, That the organization of said force shall be the same as that of the corresponding organization of the Regular Army: And provided further, That there shall be no enlistments in said force of men under twenty-five years of age at time of enlisting: And provided further, That no such volunteer force shall be accepted in any unit smaller than a division. [40 Stat. L. 76.]

This is the first section of the Act known as "Draft Act," the "National Conscription Act," or more generally as the "Selective Service Act."

The Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 23, mentioned in the first paragraph of this section, is given supra, p. 941.

The Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 111, mentioned in the second paragraph of this section, is given in MILITIA, ante, p. 458s.

The Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 38, mentioned in the third paragraph of this section, is given supra, p. 954.

The Act of Jan. 21, 1903, ch. 196, § 23, also mentioned in the third paragraph of this section, is given in 10 Fed. Stat. Ann. 232.

The period of service of men selected by draft, and all enlistments under the provisions of this act, was determined by the Act of June 15, 1917, ch. 29, § 4, infra, p. 1024.

Constitutionality of Act.—The United States Selective Service Act of 1917 was sustained by the Supreme Court in "Selective Draft Law Cases," Arver v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 366, 38 S. Ct. 159, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —, Ann. Cas. 1918B 856, reaffirmed in Pox v. Wood, (1918) 247 U. S. 3, 38 S. Ct. 159, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —; Ruthenberg v. U. S., (1917) 245 U. S. 480, 38 S. Ct. 168, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —; Goldman v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 474, 38 S. Ct. 166, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —; Kramer v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 478, 38 S. Ct. 168, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —; Yangar v. U. S., (1918) 246 U. S. 649, 38 S. Ct. 332, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —; Jones v. Perkins, (1918) 245 U. S. 390, 38 S. Ct. 166, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —, affirming (1917) 243 Fed. 997; Breitmayer v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1918) 249 Fed. 929. Prior to the decision first above cited its constitutionality had been upheld by every court passing on the question. See U. S. v. Sugar, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 243 Fed. 664; Story v. Perkins, (S. D. Ga. 1917) 243 Fed. 997; U. S. v. Stephens, (D. C. Del. 1917) 245 Fed. 956; Angelus v. Sullivan, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; Claudius v. Davie, (Cal. 1917) 165 Pac. 689.

Purpose for which draft may be made.—It was contended in several cases that the power to draft members of the militia was limited to the purposes stated in the Constitution (art. 1, § 8) for which the militia as such could be called out. But this contention was overruled in Arver v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 366, 38 S. Ct. 159, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —, Ann. Cas. 1918B 456.

Persons subject to conscription—aliens.—In Ex p. Hutfliis, (W. D. N. Y. 1907) 245 Fed. 798, the court said: "The relator, though clearly not liable or exposed to military duty on account of his alienage and failure to apply for citizenship, is nevertheless required to claim exemption, if he wishes to be excused from serving in the army."

The power to conscript declarant aliens is not affected by any treaty provision. U. S. v. Finley, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 871; Ex p. Blazekovic, (E. D. Mich. 1918) 248 Fed. 327; Summertime v. Local Board Div. No. 10, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 248 Fed. 832; U. S. v. Bell, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 992.

An alien who has declared his intention to become a citizen is subject to conscription though he has allowed his declaration to lapse by failing for more than seven years to apply for naturalization. (U. S. v. Mitchell, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 997), or though his application for naturalization has been denied. Gazzola v. Commanding Officer, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 1001.

Liability to military service is to be determined as of the time when a person becomes liable thereto without regard to subsequent events. Thus the declaration of war against Austria did not operate to release declarant aliens of Austrian birth. U. S. v. Bell, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 1002; Halpern v. Commanding Officer, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 1003.

The phrase "liability to military service" in section 2 of this Act does not exclude from the operation of the Act citizens of Spain, as well as of other countries, who have declared their intention to become citizens under the United States naturalization laws, even though the terms of an existing treaty exempt therein. Ex p. Larrucea, (S. D. Cal. 1917) 249 Fed. 981.

Exemptions—Clergyman.—A conscription act exempting clergymen and divinity students is not invalid as being a law for the establishment of religion. U. S. v. Stephens, (D. C. Del. 1917) 245 Fed. 956.

Discharged soldier.—A person who enlisted in the United States Army before the war and thereafter purchased his discharge is not exempt from conscription. Ex p. Cohen, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 667.

Person duly passed.—A person who has been duly passed and mustered into the service is not entitled to a discharge because he was exempt by reason of physical disability and was passed by the medical examiner as a matter of personal spite. Ex p. Blackington, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 801; affirmed (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1918) 248 Fed. 124.

Person convicted of crime.—Where one has been convicted of an offense involving moral turpitude and has been taken in custody by the local authorities before he was required to report to the local board for military duty, he is not entitled to discharge from the state authorities, but is liable for military service at the expiration of his sentence. Ex p. Callway, (M. D. Ala. 1917) 246 Fed. 263.

"Married man whose wife or child is dependent upon his labor for support," within the meaning of the regulations promulgated by the President under section 4 of this Act includes mental or physical labor, and the dependent must be supported by such labor. U. S. v. Miller, (S. D. Fla. 1918) 249 Fed. 985.

Proof of alienage.—Exemption on the ground of alienage is not absolute but must be claimed. Ex p. Hutfliis, (W. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 798; U. S. v. Finley, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 871.

Determination of liability to conscription—Review by courts—Generally.—Concerning the respective jurisdiction of the local boards and the courts, it was said in U. S. v. Heyburn, (E. D. Pa. 1917) 245 Fed. 360: "To whom the call goes out, and who is to make an answering response, are matters germane to, and indeed necessarily involved in, the exercise of the war-making power. Questions which necessarily arise, or may be expected to arise, must be determined in some way and by some tribunal. The war-making power may therefore provide the required system and constitute the needed tribunals. It is not only lawful, but fitting, that they should be military tribunals. Congress has constituted such tribunals for the war in which our people are now engaged. The lawful and independent jurisdiction which belongs to other tribunals belongs to them. To this jurisdiction all must submit, and all who are well disposed to our country will willingly submit. Upon whom of those within the prescribed age limits, who have registered, the duty of military service has been imposed, because of their being citizens or denizens who have declared their intention to become citizens; who are to be excluded from the privilege of service, because alien enemies; who are exempt from service, because of the existence of any of the prescribed reasons for exemption; who are ill fitted for the performance of military service; and who have responsibilities and duties elsewhere so imperative and urgent as to prevent active military service—are all matters of which these tribunals have jurisdiction. They, indeed, constitute in an emphatic sense the subject-matter of that jurisdiction."

Claim of alienage.—Laying down the broad rule that the decision of a draft board on a question within its jurisdiction will not be reviewed, the courts have held that they have no power to review a finding against a claim of alienage. U. S. v. Finley, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 871; Angelus v. Sullivan, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 54, 158 C. C. A. 280; U. S. v. Kinkead, (D. C. N. J. 1918) 248 Fed. 141; Ex p. Blazekovic, (E. D. Mich. 1918) 248 Fed. 327; Summertime v. Local Board, Div. No. 10, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 248 Fed. 832; U. S. v. Bell, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 992; U. S. v. Mitchell, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 997; Halpern v. Commanding Officer, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 1003. Compare, Ex p. Beck, (D. C. Mont. 1917) 245 Fed. 967.

However, in Ex p. Hutfliis, (W. D. N. Y. 1907) 245 Fed. 798, the court while disclaiming a power of review allowed the petitioner ten days to apply to the adjutant general for permission to reopen the case before the board, it appearing that he had ignorantly failed to claim that he was an alien.

Dependency.—The finding of a draft board as to dependency is not subject to judicial review. Ex p. Dostol, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 243 Fed. 664.

Physical disability.—The finding of a draft board as to physical disability is not subject to judicial review. In re Traina, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 1004; U. S. v. Commanding Officer, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 248 Fed. 1005; De Gennaro v. Johnson, (E. D. N. Y. 1918) 249 Fed. 504.

Conscientious objections.—A ruling against an exemption claimed on the ground of membership in a sect conscientiously opposed to war, is not subject to review by the courts. Franke v. Murray, (C. C. A.) 248 Fed. 865.

Offenses against conscription law—Generally.—Among the offenses created by sections 5 and 6 of this Act, infra, p. 1016, are failure to register thereunder and aiding or advising or procuring persons to fail or refuse to register. As to the power to create these and similar offenses, see the note to Masses Pub. Co. v. Patten, Ann. Cas. 1918B 999, 1009.

A conspiracy to violate this Act by means of preventing persons subject to registration from performing their duty to register is punishable as a conspiracy to defraud the United States within the meaning of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 415, § 37, re-enacting R. S. sec. 5440, in CONSPIRACY, vol. II, p. 5440. U. S. v. Galleanni, (Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 977.

A conspiracy to induce persons, who were under the duty to register, to disobey the law by failing to register, was punishable under section 37 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 415. Goldman v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 474, 38 S. Ct. 166, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

It is an indictable offense at common law to counsel and solicit a person subject to registration not to register. "But no statute of the United States makes such solicitation criminal." U. S. v. Galleanni, (Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 977, holding, however, that a conspiracy to commit the said common-law offense is punishable as a conspiracy to commit "any offense against the United States," under PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 415, § 37.

A conspiracy formed before the enactment of the Conscription Act to resist conscription has been held to be a criminal offense. U. S. v. Bryant, (N. D. Tex. 1917) 245 Fed. 682.

Insubordination.—In a prosecution for an attempt to cause insubordination in the military forces of the United States, it has been held that persons who have registered and received their serial numbers are part of the military forces. U. S. v. Sugarman, (D. C. Minn. 1917) 245 Fed. 604.

Indictment.—An indictment for conspiracy to obstruct the enforcement of the Conscription Law need not allege that any person was in fact procured to refuse to register. Goldman v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 474, 38 S. Ct. 166, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —; U. S. v. Sugar, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 243 Fed. 423. And see U. S. v. Galleanni, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 977. The rule is otherwise if the defendant is charged not with conspiracy but with aiding or advising a failure to register. U. S. v. Sugar, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 243 Fed. 423. It need not be alleged that a person procured to refuse to register was a citizen of the United States. Ruthenberg v. U. S., (1918) 245 U.S. 480, 38 S. Ct. 168, 62 U.S. (L. ed.) —

In U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. Md. 1917) 247 Fed. 124, the language shown was held to be insufficient to constitute the offense of attempting to induce a violation of the Conscription Law.

An indictment alleging conspiracy to procure persons to refuse to register, and unnecessarily averring that a person was thereby induced so to refuse charges but one offense. Ruthenberg v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 480, 38 S. Ct. 168, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

An indictment charging in one count that the defendant, being subject to registration, made certain conveyances of property, and thereafter obtained exemption upon his affidavit that his wife was dependent upon him for support, and that he thereby evaded the requirements of the act, and another count charging that said affidavit constituted a false statement and certificate as to his fitness and liability for military service, was held sufficient as to both counts. U. S. v. Miller, (S. D. Fla. 1918) 249 Fed. 985.

Evidence.—In a prosecution for failure to register the baptismal record of the accused and the testimony of a priest as to the tenets of his church respecting the necessity of infant baptism are admissible to show the age of the accused. Phelan v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1918) 249 Fed. 43.

In Breitmayer v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1918) 249 Fed. 929, a conviction for violating section 5 of this Act by refusing to present himself for or submit to registration was affirmed upon evidence held sufficient to prove the corpus delicti in respect of the elements of age and failure to register, and that defendant was not a member of the National Guard in the service of the United States.

Selling intoxicating liquor to soldier in uniform.—An indictment for such violation of section 12 of this Act need not negative what the court termed the "exceptions in nubibus" in the clause "except as herein provided." Young v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1918) 249 Fed. 935, affirming a judgment of conviction.

SEC. 2. [Enlisted men — how obtained — volunteer enlistment — selective draft — citizens of neutral countries.] That the enlisted men required to raise and maintain the organizations of the Regular Army and to complete and maintain the organizations embodying the members of the National Guard drafted into the service of the United States, at the maximum legal strength as by this Act provided, shall be raised by voluntary enlistment or if and whenever the President decides that they can not effectually be so raised or maintained, then by selective draft; and all other forces hereby authorized, except as provided in the seventh paragraph of section one, shall be raised and maintained by selective draft exclusively; but this provision shall not prevent the transfer to any force of training cadres from other forces.

That such draft as herein provided shall be based upon liability to military service of all male citizens or male persons not alien enemies who have declared their intention to become citizens between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, both inclusive, and shall take place and be maintained under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of this Act: Provided, That a citizen or subject of a country neutral in the present war who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be relieved from liability to military service upon his making a declaration, in accordance with such regulations as the President may prescribe, withdrawing his intention to become a citizen of the United States, which shall operate and be held to cancel his declaration of intention to become an American citizen and he shall forever be debarred from becoming a citizen of the United States.

Quotas for the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, or subdivisions thereof, shall be determined in proportion to the population thereof, and credit shall be given to any State, Territory, District, or subdivision thereof, for the number of men who were in the military service of the United States as members of the National Guard on April first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or who have since said date entered the military service of the United States from any such State, Territory, District, or subdivision, either as members of the Regular Army or the National Guard. All persons drafted into the service of the United States and all officers accepting commissions in the forces herein provided for shall, from the date of said draft or acceptance, be subject to the laws and regulations governing the Regular Army, except as to promotions, so far as such laws and regulations are applicable to persons whose permanent retention in the military service on the active or retired list is not contemplated by existing law, and those drafted shall be required to serve for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged. Provided, That the President is authorized to raise and maintain by voluntary enlistment or draft, as herein provided, special and technical troops as he may deem necessary, and to embody them into organizations and to officer them as provided in the third paragraph of section one and section nine of this Act. Organizations of the forces herein provided for, except the Regular Army and the divisions authorized in the seventh paragraph of section one, shall, as far as the interests of the service permit, be composed of men who come, and of officers who are appointed from, the same State or locality. [40 Stat. L. 77, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

The second sentence of this section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 12, § 4. The amendment consisted in adding the proviso.

Annotations.—See the notes to the preceding section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 3. [Bounties — substitutes.] No bounty shall be paid to induce any person to enlist in the military service of the United States; and no person liable to military service shall hereafter be permitted or allowed to furnish a substitute for such service; nor shall any substitute be received, enlisted, or enrolled in the military service of the United States; and no such person shall be permitted to escape such service or to be discharged therefrom prior to the expiration of his term of service by the payment of money or any other valuable thing whatsoever as consideration for his release from military service or liability thereto. [40 Stat. L. 78.]

Annotations.—See the notes to the preceding section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 4. [Selective draft — methods employed — exemptions — local and district boards.] That the Vice President of the United States, the officers, legislative, executive, and judicial, of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, regular or duly ordained ministers of religion, students who at the time of the approval of this Act are preparing for the ministry in recognized theological or divinity schools, and all persons in the military and naval service of the United States shall be exempt from the selective draft herein prescribed; and nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to require or compel any person to serve in any of the forces herein provided for who is found to be a member of any well-recognized religious sect or organization at present organized and existing and whose existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein in accordance with the creed or principles of said religious organizations, but no person so exempted shall be exempted from service in any capacity that the President shall declare to be non-combatant; and the President is hereby authorized to exclude or discharge from said selective draft and from the draft under the second paragraph of section one hereof, or to draft for partial military service only from those liable to draft as in this Act provided, persons of the following classes: County and municipal officials; custom-house clerks; persons employed by the United States in the transmission of the mails; artificers and workmen employed in the armories, arsenals, and navy yards of the United States, and such other persons employed in the service of the United States as the President may designate; pilots; mariners actually employed in the sea service of any citizen or merchant within the United States; persons engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the Military Establishment or the effective operation of the military forces or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency; those in a status with respect to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion or discharge advisable; and those found to be physically or morally deficient. No exemption or exclusion shall continue when a cause therefor no longer exists: Provided, That notwithstanding the exemptions enumerated, herein, each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia shall be required to supply its quota in the proportion that its population bears to the total population of the United States.

The President is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to create and establish throughout the several States and subdivisions thereof and in the Territories and the District of Columbia local boards, and where, in his discretion, practicable and desirable, there shall be created and established one such local board in each county or similar subdivision in each State, and one for approximately each thirty thousand of population in each city of thirty thousand population or over, according to the last census taken or estimates furnished by the Bureau of Census of the Department of Commerce. Such boards shall be appointed by the President, and shall consist of three or more members, none of whom shall be connected with the Military Establishment, to be chosen from among the local authorities of such subdivisions or from other citizens residing in the subdivision or area in which the respective boards will have jurisdiction under the rules and regulations prescribed by the President. Such boards shall have power within their respective jurisdictions to hear and determine, subject to review as hereinafter provided, all questions of exemption under this Act, and all questions of or claims for including or discharging individuals or classes of individuals from the selective draft, which shall be made under rules and regulations prescribed by the President, except any and every question or claim, for including or excluding or discharging persons or classes of persons from the selective draft under the provisions of this Act authorizing the President to exclude or discharge from the selective draft "Persons engaged in industries, including agriculture, found to be necessary to the maintenance of the Military Establishment, or the effective operation of the military forces, or the maintenance of national interest during the emergency."

The President is hereby authorized to establish additional boards, one in each Federal judicial district of the United States, consisting of such number of citizens, not connected with the Military Establishment, as the President may determine, who shall be appointed by the President. The President is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to establish more than one such board in any Federal judicial district of the United States, or to establish one such board having jurisdiction of an area extending into more than one Federal judicial district.

Such district boards shall review on appeal and affirm, modify, or reverse any decision of any local board having jurisdiction in the area in which any such district board has jurisdiction under the rules and regulations prescribed by the President. Such district boards shall have exclusive original jurisdiction within their respective areas to hear and determine all questions or claims for including or excluding or discharging persons or classes of persons from the selective draft, under the provisions of this Act, not included within the original jurisdiction of such local boards.

The decisions of such district boards shall be final except that, in accordance with such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe, he may affirm, modify, or reverse any such decision.

Any vacancy in any such local board or district board shall be filled by the President, and any member of any such local board or district board may be removed and another appointed in his place by the President, whenever he considers that the interest of the nation demands it.

The President shall make rules and regulations governing the organization and procedure of such local boards and district boards, and providing for and governing appeals from such local boards to such district boards, and reviews of the decisions of any local board by the district board having jurisdiction, and determining and prescribing the several areas in which the respective local boards and district boards shall have jurisdiction, and all other rules and regulations necessary to carry out the terms and provisions of this section, and shall provide for the issuance of certificates of exemption, or partial or limited exemptions, and for a system to exclude and discharge individuals from selective draft. [40 Stat. L. 78.]

Annotations.— See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

Regulations promulgated by the President under this section have the force of law, and the courts take judicial cognizance of them. U. S. v. Miller, (S. D. Fla. 1918) 249 Fed. 985.

SEC. 5. [Selective draft — registration — failure or refusal to register — penalty — absentees.] That all male persons between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, both inclusive, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President; and upon proclamation by the President or other public notice given by him or by his direction stating the time and place of such registration it shall be the duty of all persons of the designated ages, except officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, the Navy, and the National Guard and Naval Militia while in the service of the United States, to present themselves for and submit to registration under the provisions of this Act; and every such person shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of this Act upon the publication of said proclamation or other notice as aforesaid given by the President or by his direction; and any person who shall willfully fail or refuse to present himself for registration or to submit thereto as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, and shall thereupon be duly registered: Provided, That in the call of the docket precedence shall be given, in courts trying the same, to the trial of criminal proceedings under this Act: Provided further, That persons shall be subject to registration as herein provided who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday and who shall not have attained their thirty-first birthday on or before the day set for the registration, and all persons so registered shall be and remain subject to draft into the forces hereby authorized, unless exempted or excused therefrom as in this Act provided: Provided further, That in the case of temporary absence from actual place of legal residence of any person liable to registration as provided herein such registration may be made by mail under regulations to be prescribed by the President. [40 Stat. L. 80.]

SEC. 6. [Execution of Act — violations — punishment.] That the President is hereby authorized to utilize the service of any or all departments and any or all officers or agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, and subdivisions thereof, in the execution of this Act, and all officers and agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and subdivisions thereof, and of the District of Columbia, and all persons designated or appointed under regulations prescribed by the President whether such appointments are made by the President himself or by the governor or other officer of any State or Territory to perform any duty in the execution of this Act, are hereby required to perform such duty as the President shall order or direct, and all such officers and agents and persons so designated or appointed shall hereby have full authority for all acts done by them in the execution of this Act by the direction of the President. Correspondence in the execution of this Act may be carried in penalty envelopes bearing the frank of the War Department. Any person charged as herein provided with the duty of carrying into effect any of the provisions of this Act or the regulations made or directions given thereunto who shall fail or neglect to perform such duty; and any person charged with such duty or having and exercising any authority under said Act, regulations, or directions, who shall knowingly make or be a party to the making of any false or incorrect registration, physical examination, exemption, enlistment, enrollment, or muster; and any person who shall make or be a party to the making of any false statement or certificate as to the fitness or liability of himself or any other person for service under the provisions of this Act, or regulations made by the President thereunder, or otherwise evades or aids another to evade the requirements of this Act or of said regulations, or who, in any manner, shall fail or neglect fully to perform any duty required of him in the execution of this Act, shall, if not subject to military law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or, if subject to military law, shall be tried by court-martial and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct. [40 Stat. L. 80.]

SEC. 7. [Voluntary enlistments — qualifications and conditions — staff corps — discharge of enlisted men.] That the qualifications and conditions for voluntary enlistment as herein provided shall be the same as those prescribed by existing law for enlistments in the Regular Army, except that recruits for service in the staff corps and departments may be accepted who are between the ages of forty-one and fifty-five years, both inclusive, at the time of their enlistment, and that all other recruits must be between the ages of eighteen and forty years, both inclusive, at the time of their enlistment; and such enlistment shall be for the period of the existing emergency unless sooner discharged. All enlistments, including those in the Regular Army Reserve, which are in force on the date of the approval of this Act and which would terminate during the emergency shall continue in force during the emergency unless sooner discharged; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to shorten the period of any existing enlistment: Provided, That all persons enlisted or drafted under any of the provisions of this Act shall as far as practicable be grouped into units by States and the political subdivisions of the same: Provided further, That all persons who have enlisted since April first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, either in the Regular Army or in the National Guard, and all persons who have enlisted in the National Guard since June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, upon their application, shall be discharged upon the termination of the existing emergency.

The President may provide for the discharge of any or all enlisted men whose status with respect to dependents renders such discharge advisable; and he may also authorize the employment on any active duty or retired enlisted men of the Regular Army, either with their rank, on the retired list or in higher enlisted grades, and such retired enlisted men shall receive the full pay and allowances of the grades in which they are actively employed. [40 Stat. L. 81, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

The first sentence of this section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. 13. The first sentence formerly read as follows: "That the qualifications and conditions for voluntary enlistment as herein provided shall be the same as those prescribed by existing law for enlistments in the Regular Army, except that recruits must be between the ages of eighteen and forty years, both inclusive, at the time of their enlistment; and such enlistments shall be for the period of the emergency unless sooner discharged."

SEC. 8. [General officers — appointment — grades.] That the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, is authorized to appoint for the period of the existing emergency such general officers of appropriate grades as may be necessary for duty with brigades, divisions, and higher units in which the forces provided for herein may be organized by the President, and general officers of appropriate grade for the several Coast Artillery districts. In so far as such appointments may be made from any of the forces herein provided for, the appointees may be selected irrespective of the grades held by them in such forces. Vacancies in the grades of the Regular Army resulting from the appointment of officers thereof to higher grades in the forces other than the Regular Army herein provided for shall be filled by temporary promotions and appointments in the manner prescribed by section one hundred and fourteen of the national defense Act, approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, except that such promotions and appointments may be made by the President alone when such vacancies are in grades not above that of colonel; and officers appointed under the provisions of this Act to higher grades in the forces other than the Regular Army herein provided for shall not vacate their permanent commissions or be prejudiced in their relative or lineal standing in the Regular Army. [40 Stat. L. 81, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

The last sentence of this section 8 was amended to read as given in the text by an Act of April 20, 1918, ch. —, entitled "An Act To amend section eight of an Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States,' approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen."

As originally enacted it was as follows: "Vacancies in all grades in the Regular Army resulting from the appointment of officers thereof to higher grades in the forces other than the Regular Army herein provided for shall be filled by temporary promotions and appointments in the manner prescribed for filling temporary vacancies by section one hundred and fourteen of the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen; and officers appointed under the provisions of this Act to higher grades in the forces other than the Regular Army herein provided for shall not vacate their permanent commissions nor be prejudiced in their relative or lineal standing in the Regular Army."

This section is construed by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, 40 Stat. L. 410, § 3, set out infra, p. 1033.

Annotations.— See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 9. [Period of appointments — authority of President to discharge officers — military boards — duties.] That the appointments authorized and made as provided by the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh paragraphs of section one and by section eight of this Act, and the temporary appointments in the Regular Army authorized by the first paragraph of section one of this Act, shall be for the period of the emergency, unless sooner terminated by discharge or otherwise. The President is hereby authorized to discharge any officer from the office held by him under such appointment for any cause which, in the judgment of the President, would promote the public service; and the general commanding any division and higher tactical organization or territorial department is authorized to appoint from time to time military boards of not less than three nor more than five officers of the forces herein provided for to examine into and report upon the capacity, qualification, conduct, and efficiency of any commissioned officer within his command other than officers of the Regular Army holding permanent or provisional commissions therein. Each member of such board shall be superior in rank to the officer whose qualifications are to be inquired into, and if the report of such board be adverse to the continuance of any such officer and be approved by the President, such officer shall be discharged from the service at the discretion of the President with one month's pay and allowances. [40 Stat. L. 82.]

Annotations.— See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 10. [Officers and enlisted men — pay, allowances and pensions.] That all officers and enlisted men of the forces herein provided for other than the Regular Army shall be in all respects on the same footing as to pay, allowances, and pensions as officers and enlisted men of corresponding grades and length of service in the Regular Army; and commencing June one, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and continuing until the termination of the emergency, all enlisted men of the Army of the United States in active service whose base pay does not exceed $21 per month shall receive an increase of $15 per month; those whose base pay is $24, an increase of $12 per month; those whose base pay is $30, $36, or $40, an increase of $8 per month; and those whose base pay is $45 or more, an increase of $6 per month: Provided, That the increases of pay herein authorized shall not enter into the computation of continuous service pay. [40 Stat. L. 82.]

Annotations.— See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 11. [Restrictions upon detail, detachment and employment — suspension.] That all existing restrictions upon the detail, detachment, and employment of officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army are hereby suspended for the period of the present emergency. [40 Stat. L. 82.]

Annotations.— See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 12. [Alcoholic liquors — prohibition of sale.] That the President of the United States, as Commander in Chief of the Army, is authorized to make such regulations governing the prohibition of alcoholic liquors in or near military camps and to the officers and enlisted men of the Army as he may from time to time deem necessary or advisable: Provided, That no person, corporation, partnership, or association shall sell, supply, or have in his or its possession any intoxicating or spirituous liquors at any military station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's club, which is being used at the time for military purposes under this Act, but the Secretary of War may make regulations permitting the sale and use of intoxicating liquors for medicinal purposes. It shall be unlawful to sell any intoxicating liquor, including beer, ale, or wine, to any officer or member of the military forces while in uniform, except as herein provided. Any person, corporation, partnership, or association violating the provisions of this section or the regulations made thereunder shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or both. [40 Stat. L. 82.]

The sale, etc., of beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors in any post, exchange, cantonment, army transport, or any premises used for military purposes by the United States, was prohibited by the Act of Feb. 2, 1901, ch. 192, § 38, 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 975.

The provisions of this and the following section 13 were construed by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 92, infra, p. 1032.

Annotations.— See the notes to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 13. [Prohibiting prostitution near encampments.] That during the present emergency it shall be unlawful, within such reasonable distance of any military camp, station, fort, post, cantonment, training or mobilization place as the Secretary of War shall determine to be needful to the efficiency and welfare of the Army, and shall designate and publish in general orders or bulletins, to engage in prostitution or to aid or abet prostitution or to procure or solicit for purposes of prostitution, or to keep or set up a house of ill fame, brothel, or bawdy house, or to receive any person for purposes of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution into any vehicle, conveyance, place, structure, or building, or to permit any person to remain for purposes of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution in any vehicle, conveyance, place, structure, or building; and any person, corporation, partnership, or association violating the provisions of this chapter shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and any person subject to military law violating this chapter shall be punished as provided by the Articles of War; and the Secretary of War is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to do everything by him deemed necessary to suppress and prevent violation thereof. [40 Stat. L. 83, as amended by 40 Stat. L. —.]

This section was amended to read as here given by the Act of July 9, 1918, ch. xiv. Before the amendment it read as follows:

"That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed during the present war to do everything by him deemed necessary to suppress and prevent the keeping or setting up of houses of ill fame, brothels, or bawdy houses within such distance as he may deem needful of any military camp, station, fort, post, cantonment, training, or mobilization place, and any person, corporation, partnership, or association receiving or permitting to be received for immoral purposes any persons into any place, structure, or building used for the purpose of lewdness, assignation, or prostitution within such distance of said places as may be designated, or shall permit any such person to remain for immoral purposes in any such place, structure, or building as aforesaid, or who shall violate any order, rule, or regulation issued to carry out the object and purpose of this section shall, unless otherwise punishable under the Articles of War, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or imprisonment for not more than twelve months, or both."

The provisions of this and the preceding section 12 of this Act were construed by the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 92, infra, p. 1032.

SEC. 14. [Repeal of conflicting laws.] That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act are hereby suspended during the period of this emergency. [40 Stat. L. 83.]

An Act Making appropriations to supply urgent deficiencies in appropriations for the Military and Naval Establishments on account of war expenses for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and for other purposes.

[Act of June 15, 1917, ch. 29, 40 Stat. L. 196.]

[SEC. 1.] [Motor ambulances — purchase — advertisements.] * * * That the Secretary of War may in his discretion select types and makes of motor ambulances for the Army and authorize their purchase without regard to the laws prescribing advertisement for proposals for supplies and material for the Army; * * * [40 Stat. L. 196.]

SEC. 4. [Enlisted men — period of service.] That the service of all persons selected by draft and all enlistments under the provisions of the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be for the period of the war, unless sooner terminated by discharge or otherwise. Whenever said war shall cease by the conclusion of peace between the United States and its enemies in the present war, the President shall so declare by a public proclamation to that effect, and within four months after the date of said proclamation or as soon thereafter as it may be practicable to transport the forces then serving without the United States to their home station, the provisions of said Act, in so far as they authorize compulsory service by selective draft or otherwise, shall cease to be of force and effect. [40 Stat. L. 217.]

Joint Resolution Relating to the service of certain retired officers of the Army.

[Joint Resolution of June 15, 1917, ch. 31, 40 Stat. L. 231.]

[Retired officers — Corps of Engineers — active service — position.] That when retired officers of the Army, any portion of whose active service was in the Corps of Engineers, are called back into active service they shall be eligible to fill any position required by law to be filled by an officer of the Corps of Engineers. [40 Stat. L. 231.]

An Act To authorize the President to increase temporarily the Signal Corps of the Army and to purchase, manufacture, maintain, repair, and operate airships, and to make appropriations therefor, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Signal Corps including Aviation Section — temporary increase.] That for and during the existing emergency, the President be, and is hereby, authorized to increase the present authorized commissioned and enlisted strength of the Signal Corps of the Army, including the Aviation Section thereof. [40 Stat. L. 243.]

SEC. 2. [Commissioned personnel.] That to provide the additional commissioned personnel required by this Act the President is authorized to promote, appoint, detail, or attach as temporary officers in the Signal Corps, including the Aviation Section thereof, officers of the Regular Army, National Army, or National Guard, or the Officers' Reserve Corps, or to appoint temporarily enlisted men of the Regular Army, enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps, or persons from civil life: Provided, That no person shall be so promoted, appointed, detailed, or detached until he shall have been found physically, mentally, and morally qualified under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War: Provided further, That officers with rank not above colonel shall be appointed and commissioned by the President alone, irrespective of the rank or grade held by them on the date of the passage of this Act, and that officers above the grade of colonel shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, irrespective of the rank or grade held by them on the date of the passage of this Act. [40 Stat. L. 243.]

SEC. 3. [Enlisted men — chauffeurs.] That to provide the additional enlisted men required by this Act, the President is authorized to raise and maintain, by voluntary enlistment or by draft, such number of enlisted men as he may deem necessary and to embody them into organizations hereinafter provided for in section four: Provided, That the draft herein provided for shall not apply to any person under the age of twenty-one years or to any person above the age of thirty-one years: Provided further, That the grades of chauffeur, first class, and chauffeur are hereby created in the Signal Corps. The pay and allowances of a chauffeur, first class, shall be the same as a sergeant, first class, in the Signal Corps. Pay and allowances of a chauffeur shall be the same as a sergeant in the Signal Corps. All chauffeurs while serving as such shall rank with corporals of the Signal Corps and shall be subject to promotion and reduction to any other grade now authorized in the Signal Corps. [40 Stat. L. 243.]

SEC. 4. [Organization into divisions, etc.] That the President is hereby authorized to appropriately officer and organize the personnel of the Signal Corps into such number of divisions, brigades, regiments, wings, squadrons, battalions, companies, and flights as may be necessary, and to increase or decrease the number of organizations prescribed for the divisions, brigades, regiments, wings, squadrons, battalions, companies, and flights, and to prescribe such new and different organizations and personnel for divisions, brigades, regiments, wings, squadrons, battalions, companies, and flights as the efficiency of the service may require.

The President is further authorized to organize such headquarters and headquarters detachments for divisions, brigades, regiments, wings, squadrons, battalions, companies, and flights as may be necessary, and to prescribe new and different organizations for such headquarters and headquarters detachments whenever the efficiency of the service may require. [40 Stat. L. 244.]

SEC. 5. [General officers — appointments — vacancies.] That the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, is authorized to appoint for the period of the existing emergency such general officers of appropriate grades as may be necessary for staff duty and for duty with such brigades and divisions of the troops of the Signal Corps, including the Aviation Section thereof, as may be organized by the President.

Vacancies in all grades of the Regular Army, National Army, or National Guard resulting from the temporary appointment of officers thereof to higher grades shall be filled or vacated as provided for in sections eight and nine of the Act authorizing the President to increase temporarily the military establishment of the United States and approved May eighteen, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [40 Stat. L. 244.]

The Act of May 18, 1917, ch. 15, §§ 8, 9, is set out supra, p. 1020.

SEC. 6. [Officers of aviation section — rating — pay.] That officers detailed in or attached to the aviation section of the Signals Corps may, when qualified therefor, be rated as junior military aviators, military aviators, junior military aeronauts, and military aeronauts, but no person shall be so rated until there shall have been issued to him a certificate to the effect that he is qualified for the rating, and no certificate shall be issued to any person until an examining board, which shall be composed of two officers of experience of the aviation section of the Signal Corps and one medical officer, shall have examined him under general regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of War and published to the Army by the War Department, and shall have reported him to be qualified for the rating. No person shall receive the rating of military aviator or military aeronaut until he shall have served creditably for three years as an aviation officer with the rating of a junior military aviator or the rating of a junior military aeronaut, except that in time of war any officer or enlisted man who specially distinguishes himself in active service may, upon recommendation of the Chief Signal Officer of the Army, be rated as a junior military aviator, military aviator, junior military aeronaut, or military aeronaut without regard to examination or to length of service: Provided, That junior military aeronauts and military aeronauts shall be entitled to the same increase in rank and pay as are now authorized by law for junior military aviators and military aviators respectively: Provided further, That any officer attached to the aviation section of the Signal Corps for any military duty requiring him to make regular and frequent flights shall receive an increase of twenty-five per centum of the pay of his grade and length of service under his commission. [40 Stat. L. 244.]

SEC. 7. [Enlisted men of aviation section — rating — pay.] That the Secretary of War is authorized from time to time to cause such number of the enlisted men of the aviation section of the Signal Corps above the grade of corporal as he may deem necessary to be rated as aviation mechanics or as balloon mechanics in the manner now prescribed by law: Provided, That balloon mechanics shall receive the same increase of pay as now prescribed by law for aviation mechanics. [40 Stat. L. 245.]

SEC. 8. [Pay, allowances and pensions generally.—no decrease of authorized strength of army.] That all officers and enlisted men of the temporary forces of the Signal Corps, including the aviation section thereof provided for herein, shall be in all respects on the same footing as to pay, allowances, and pensions as permanent officers and enlisted men of the corresponding grades and length of service in the Regular Army.

Provided, That nothing in this Act shall operate to decrease the present authorized strength of the Regular Army or National Army heretofore authorized by law. [40 Stat. L. 245.]

SEC. 9. [Purchases and expenses — authority of President.] That during the existing emergency authority is hereby given to the President, through the War Department, for the purchase, manufacture, maintenance, repair, and operation of airships and other aerial machines, including instruments and appliances of every sort and description necessary for the operation, construction, or equipment of all types of aircraft, including guns, armament, ammunition, and all necessary spare parts, and equipment connected therewith; and all necessary buildings for equipment and personnel in the Aviation Section and for the purchase, maintenance, repair, and operation, through the Chief Signal Officer of the Army, of all motor-propelled passenger and equipment carrying vehicles which may be necessary for the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps.

And during the existing emergency authority is hereby further given for the establishment, equipment, maintenance, and operation of aviation stations, including (a) the acquisition of land, or any interest in land, with any buildings and improvements thereon, by purchase, lease, donation, condemnation, or otherwise: Provided, That by order of the President any unappropriated or reserved public lands may be reserved from entry, designated, and used for such aviation stations; (b) the improvement of such land by clearing, grading, draining, seeding, and otherwise making the same suitable for the purpose intended; (c) the construction, maintenance, and repair of permanent or temporary barracks, quarters, hospitals, mess houses, administration, instructional and recreational buildings, hangars, magazines, storehouses, sheds, shops, garages, boathouses, docks, radio stations, laboratories, observation stations, and all other buildings, and structures necessary or advisable; (d) procuring and introducing water, electric light and power, telephones, telegraph, and sewerage to aviation stations and buildings and structures thereon by the extension of existing systems or the creation of new systems and their maintenance, operation and repair, installation of plumbing, electric fixtures and telephones, fire apparatus and fire alarm systems and the maintenance, operation and repair of all such systems, fixtures and apparatus; (e) construction and repair of roads, walks, sea walls, breakwaters, bridges, and wharves, dredging, filling and otherwise improving land and water sites; (f) purchase of stoves and other cooking and heating apparatus, kitchen and tableware, and furniture and equipment for kitchens, mess halls, offices, quarters, barracks, hospitals, and other buildings, screens, lockers, refrigerators, and all other necessary equipment; (g) purchase of gasoline, oil, fuel, and all supplies of every kind and character necessary or advisable for maintenance and operation of aviation stations, including electric light and power, telephones, water supply and sewerage service; (h) purchase and manufacture and installation of all kinds of machinery, tools, material, supplies, and equipment for construction, maintenance, and repair of aircraft, buildings, and improvements at aviation stations, or property or appliances used in connection with aviation.

And also for the purchase or manufacture and issue of special clothing, wearing apparel, and similar equipment for aviation purposes.

And also for the actual and necessary expenses of officers, enlisted men, and civilian employees of the Army and authorized agents sent on special duty at home and abroad for aviation purposes, including observation and investigation of foreign military operations and organization, manufacture of aircraft, and engines, also special courses in foreign aviation schools and manufacturing establishments, to be paid upon certificates of the Secretary of War certifying that the expenditures were necessary for military purposes.

And also for vocational training, including employment of necessary civilian instructors in important trades related to aviation, purchase of tools, equipment, materials, and machines required for such training, purchase of textbooks, books of reference, scientific and professional papers, periodicals and magazines, and instruments and material for theoretical and practical instruction at aviation schools and stations, and all other means to carry out the provisions of section twenty-seven of the Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, authorizing, in addition to the military training of soldiers while in active service, means for securing educational and vocational training of a character to increase their military efficiency and enable them to return to civil life better equipped for industrial, commercial, and general business occupations.

And also to pay and otherwise provide for such officers of the Officers' Reserve Corps of the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps and such enlisted men of the Enlisted Reserve Corps of the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps as may be called into active service and such enlisted men as may be enlisted in the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps under the provisions of section two of the Act to increase temporarily the military establishment of the United States, approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, or any subsequent Act temporarily increasing the commissioned or enlisted personnel of the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps and such civilian employees as may be necessary, for the payment of their traveling and other necessary expenses when not traveling with troops: Provided, That hereafter all reserve officers and enlisted men of the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps shall be paid by Quartermaster Corps disbursing officers from funds transferred to their credit from Signal Corps appropriations.

And also for the payment of all expenses in connection with the development of suitable types of aviation engines, airplanes, and other aircraft appurtenances, including the cost of sample engines, airplanes, and appurtenances, cost of any patents and other rights therein, and costs of investigation, experimentation, and research in respect thereto.

And also for the payment of all expenses in connection with the creation, expansion, acquisition, and development of plants, factories, and establishments for the manufacture of airplanes, aircraft, engines, and appurtenances, including provision for the purchase or lease of land with the buildings thereon, construction of permanent or temporary buildings for all purposes, purchase of machinery, tools, and employment of operatives, together with all administrative expenses necessary, the purchase and supply of raw and semifinished materials and of fuel and all other things necessary for creating and extending the production of airplanes, aircraft, engines, and all appurtenances.

And also for creating, maintaining, and operating at technical schools and colleges courses of instruction for aviation students, including cost of instruction, equipment, and supplies necessary for instruction and subsistence of students while receiving such instruction.

Provided, That, subject to the approval of the Secretary of War, motor-propelled vehicles, airplanes, engines, parts thereof, and appurtenances may be exchanged in part payment for new equipment of the same or similar character to be used for the same purpose as those proposed to be exchanged.

Provided further, That during the present emergency, officers and enlisted men in foreign armies attached to the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps as instructors or inspectors when traveling in the United States on official business pertaining to the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps shall be authorized, from funds appropriated by this Act, the same mileage and transportation allowances as are authorized for officers or enlisted men of the Regular Army. [40 Stat. L. 245.]

For Act of May 18, 1917, § 2, see supra, p. 1015.

SEC. 10. [Appropriation for carrying Act into effect.] That for the purpose of carrying this Act into effect the sum of $640,000,000 is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be available until June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eighteen. [40 Stat. L. 247.]

An Act Making further provision for the allotment of pay of officers, enlisted men, and civilian employees of the Army, and for other purposes.

[Allotments of pay.] That section sixteen of the Act of Congress approved March second, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, entitled "An Act for increasing the efficiency of the Army of the United States, and for other purposes," as amended by the Act of March second, nineteen hundred and one, be, and the same is hereby, amended as follows:

"The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to permit, under such regulation as he may prescribe, any officer or enlisted man on the active list of the Army, any retired officer or enlisted man of the Army on active duty, and any permanent civilian employee under the jurisdiction of the War Department on duty outside of the continental limits of the United States, to make allotments of his pay for the support of his wife, children, or dependent relatives, or for such other purposes as the Secretary of War may deem proper. All allotments of pay of officers, enlisted men, and civilian employees that have been or shall be paid to designated allottees previous to the receipt by disbursing officer of notice of discontinuance of the same from the officer required by regulations to furnish such notice shall pass to the credit of the disbursing officer who has made or shall make such payments; and, if erroneous payment is made because of the failure of an officer to report, in the manner prescribed by the Secretary of War, the death of the grantor, or any fact which renders the allotment not payable, then the amount of such erroneous payment shall be collected by the Quartermaster General from the officer who fails to make such report, if such collection is practicable. Nothing herein shall be construed to invalidate allotments now in force. [40 Stat. L. 384.]

An Act Authorizing appointment of chaplains at large for the United States Army.

[Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 94, 40 Stat. L. 394.]

[Chaplains — appointment at large.] That the President may appoint for service during the present emergency not exceeding twenty chaplains at large for the United States Army representing religious sects not recognized in the apportionment of chaplains now recognized by law: Provided, That no person shall be eligible to such appointment unless he be at the time of his appointment a citizen of the United States. [40 Stat. L. 394.]

An Act To provide for the promotion of first lieutenants in the Regular Army and National Guard to the grade of captain, and respecting the Dental Corps of the Army and medical and dental students, and for other purposes.

[Medical Corps — promotions — Dental Corps — officers — medical students.] That during the existing emergency first lieutenants in the Medical Corps of the Regular Army and of the National Guard shall be eligible to promotion as captain upon such examination as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War.

Hereafter the Dental Corps of the Army shall consist of commissioned officers of the same grade and proportionally distributed among such grades as are now or may be hereafter provided by law for the Medical Corps, who shall have the rank, pay, promotion and allowances of officers of corresponding grades in the Medical Corps, including the right to retirement as in the case of other officers, and there shall be one dental officer for every thousand of the total strength of the Regular Army authorized from time to time by law: Provided further, That dental examining and review boards shall consist of one officer of the Medical Corps and two officers of the Dental Corps: Provided further, That immediately following the approval of this Act all dental surgeons then in active service shall be recommissioned in the Dental Corps in the grades herein authorized in the order of their seniority and without loss of pay or allowances or of relative rank in the Army: And provided further, That no dental surgeon shall be recommissioned who has not been confirmed by the Senate.

All regulations concerning the enlistment of medical students in the Enlisted Reserve Corps and their continuance in their college course while subject to call to active service, shall apply similarly to dental students. [40 Stat. L. 397.]

An Act To authorize the President to organize provisionally as Field Artillery or Infantry and to use as Field Artillery or Infantry during the existing emergency such regiments of Cavalry as he may designate.

[Cavalry — provisional organization as field artillery or infantry.] That during the present emergency the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to organize provisionally as Field Artillery or Infantry and to use as Field Artillery or Infantry during the existing emergency such regiments of Cavalry as he may designate: Provided, That immediately after the termination of the existing emergency such regiments shall be reorganized as Cavalry regiments in accordance with the prescribed organization of such regiments. [40 Stat. L. 398.]

An Act To authorize the issuance of Reserve Corps and National Army commissions in the lower grades of staff corps and to remove the fixed age limits requiring the discharge of Reserve Corps officers.

[Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 91, 40 Stat. L. 393.]

[Officers' Reserve Corps — National Army — officers — appointment — discharge.] That during the existing emergency the President is authorized, in addition to the grades now authorized, to appoint in the Officers' Reserve Corps and the National Army in the grades of second and first lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps; second lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps and Signal Corps; second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and captain in The Adjutant General's Department, such citizens as shall be found physically, mentally, and morally qualified for appointment.

During the existing emergency no member of the Officers' Reserve Corps shall be discharged by reason of reaching the age limits provided in section thirty-seven of the national defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen. [40 Stat. L. 393.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, § 37, see supra, p. 952.

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Temporary employees — compensation.] For the temporary employment of such additional force of clerks and other employees as in the judgment of the Secretary of War may be proper and necessary to the prompt, efficient, and accurate dispatch of official business in the War Department and its bureaus, to be allotted by the Secretary of War to such bureaus and offices as the exigencies of the existing situation may demand, $4,261,232: Provided, That the Secretary of War shall submit to Congress on the first day of its next regular session a statement showing by bureaus or offices the number and designation of the persons employed hereunder and the annual rate of compensation paid to each: Provided further, That no more than thirty persons shall be employed hereunder at a rate of compensation in excess of $1,800 per annum each and not exceeding $2,400 per annum each. [40 Stat. L. 351.]

This and the following five paragraphs are from the Deficiencies Appropriations Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 79.

* * * [Clerks, messengers and laborers — assignment to duty.] Provided, That no clerk, messenger, or laborer at headquarters of tactical divisions, military departments, brigades, service schools, and office of the Chief of Staff shall be assigned to duty in any bureau in the War Department. [40 Stat. L. 356.]

* * * [Officers and enlisted men of foreign armies attached to United States Army — expenses, how met.] The Secretary of War is hereby authorized, under such regulations and in such manner as he may prescribe, to employ such portion of the appropriations made for transportation of the Army and its supplies as in his judgment may be necessary to defray the expenses of travel incurred by officers and enlisted men of foreign armies attached to the Army of the United States during the present emergency, and that those officers and enlisted men, who may have been performing duties in this connection, be reimbursed from this appropriation for the expenditures they have already been obliged to make. [40 Stat. L. 361.]

* * * [Quartermaster Corps — civilian employees — pay.] That the number of and total sum paid for civilian employees in the Quartermaster Corps shall be limited to the actual requirements of the service, and that no employee therein shall receive a salary of more than $150 per month, except upon the approval of the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. 363.]

* * * [Ordnance and ordnance supplies and materials.] The Secretary of War is authorized, during the present emergency and in addition to the appropriations and obligations specifically authorized by law, to incur obligations for ordnance and ordnance supplies and materials: Provided, That the aggregate amount of such obligations outstanding at any one time shall not exceed the sum of $100,000,000. [40 Stat. L. 366.]

* * * [Ordnance Department — moneys intrusted to officers — who responsible.] During the present emergency, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, officers of the Ordnance Department accountable for public moneys may intrust moneys to other officers for the purpose of having them make disbursements as their agents, and the officers to whom the money is intrusted, as well as the officers who intrust it to them, shall be held pecuniarily responsible therefor to the United States. [40 Stat. L. 367.]

An Act To promote the efficiency of the United States Navy.

[Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 92, 40 Stat. L. 393.]

[Construction of Selective Draft Act.] That in construing the provisions of sections twelve and thirteen of the selective-draft Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the word "Army" shall extend to and include "Navy"; the word "military" shall include "naval"; "Article of War" shall include "Articles for the Government of the Navy": the words "camps, station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's club," in section twelve, and "camp, station, fort, post, cantonment, training, or mobilization place," in section thirteen, shall include such places under naval jurisdiction as the President may prescribe, and the powers therein conferred upon the Secretary of War with regard to the military service are hereby conferred upon the Secretary of the Navy with regard to the naval service. [40 Stat. L. 393.]

For Act of May 18, 1917, §§ 12, 13, see supra, p. 1022.

SEC. 3. [Generals — appointment — pay of general and lieutenant general — rank of brigadier general — rank, pay, etc., of chief of staff corps, department or bureau.] That section eight of the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall be held and construed to authorize the President, in accordance with the provisions of said Act and for the period of the existing emergency only, to appoint as generals the Chief of Staff and the commander of the United States forces in France and as lieutenant general each commander of an army or army corps organized as authorized by existing law: Provided, That the pay of the grades of general and lieutenant general shall be $10,000 and $9,000 a year, respectively, with allowances appropriate to said grades as determined by the Secretary of War: And provided, That brigadier generals of the Army shall hereafter rank relatively with rear admirals of the lower half of the grade. And, hereafter, the chief of any existing staff corps, department, or bureau, except as is otherwise provided for the Chief of Staff, shall have the rank, pay, and allowances of major general. [40 Stat. L. 410.]

This section is from the Act of Oct. 6, 1917, ch. 105, 40 Stat. L. 410, entitled "An Act to amend an Act entitled 'An Act to authorize the establishment of a Bureau of War Risk Insurance in the Treasury Department,' approved September second, nineteen hundred and fourteen, and for other purposes."

For the Act of May 18, 1917, § 8, mentioned in the text, see p. 1020.

An Act To authorize the Secretary of War to grant furloughs without pay and allowances to enlisted men of the Army of the United States.

[Furloughs — enlisted men.] That, whenever during the continuance of the present war in the opinion of the Secretary of War the interests of the service or the national security and defense render it necessary or desirable, the Secretary of War be, and he hereby is, authorized to grant furloughs to enlisted men of the Army of the United States with or without pay and allowances or with partial pay and allowances, and, for such periods as he may designate, to permit said enlisted men to engage in civil occupations and pursuits: Provided, That such furloughs shall be granted only upon the voluntary application of such enlisted men under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Ordnance office — disbursing officer.] The Chief of Ordnance is authorized to appoint one of the Army officers serving in his office as disbursing officer to pay the civilian employees in the Ordnance Office authorized in this Act, the urgent deficiency appropriation Act approved October sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation Act for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and eighteen. [40 Stat. L. —.]

This and the two paragraphs which follow are from the Deficiencies Appropriation Act of March 28, 1918.

* * * [Claims of officers and enlisted men for loss of private property destroyed in the military service.] Property belonging to officers, enlisted men, and members of the Nurse Corps (female) of the Army, which they are required by law or regulations to own and use in field service in the performance of their duties, which since the fifth day of April, nineteen hundred and seventeen, has been, or shall hereafter be, lost, damaged, or destroyed in the military service, shall be replaced, or the damage thereto, or its value, recouped to the owner as hereinafter provided, when such loss, damage, or destruction has occurred or shall hereafter occur without fault or negligence on the part of the owner in any of the following circumstances:

First. When such private property so lost or destroyed was shipped on board an unseaworthy vessel by order of an officer authorized to give such order or direct such shipment, or destroyed by the enemy or by shipwreck.

Second. When it appears that such private property was so lost or destroyed in consequence of its owner having given his attention to the saving of property belonging to the United States which was in danger at the same time and in similar circumstances.

Third. When such private property is destroyed or captured by the enemy, or is destroyed to prevent its falling into the hands of the enemy, or is abandoned by reason of military emergency requiring its abandonment.

The Secretary of War is authorized and directed to examine into, ascertain, and determine the value of such property lost, destroyed, captured, or abandoned as specified in the foregoing paragraphs, or the amount of the damage thereto, as the case may be; and the amount of such value or damage so ascertained and determined shall be paid from appropriations made therefor, or such property lost, destroyed, captured, or abandoned, or so damaged as to be unfit for service, may be replaced in kind from Government property on hand by the supply officer or quartermaster of the organization to which the person entitled thereto belongs or with which he is serving upon the order of the commanding officer thereof.

Tender of replacement or the determination made by the Secretary of War upon a claim presented as provided for in the foregoing paragraphs shall constitute a final determination of any claim cognizable under this Act, and such claim shall not thereafter be reopened or considered by any accounting officer or court of the United States.

No claim arising under this Act shall be considered unless made within one year from the time that it accrued, or presented within six months after peace is established.

For the payment of any awards hereunder there is appropriated the sum of $200,000. [40 Stat. L. —.]

An Act To provide for restoration to their former grades of enlisted men discharged to accept commissions, and for other purposes.

Enlisted men accepting commissions — restoration to former grades on discharge — continuous service pay.] That any enlisted man of the Army of the United States who has heretofore been or shall hereafter be, discharged to accept a commission in any component part of the Army of the United States, and who shall tender himself for enlistment within three months after the termination of his commissioned service, shall, subject to such examination for enlistment as is provided by law or regulation, be accepted and be restored to the grade held by him before being discharged to accept such commission; and in computing service for retirement and continuous-service pay he shall be credited with all time served with the forces of the United States, and his service shall be deemed continuous, notwithstanding the interruption thereof by the changes of status provided for herein. [40 Stat. L. —.]

An Act To authorize the appointment of officers of the Philippine Scouts as officers in the militia or other locally created armed forces of the Philippine Islands drafted into the service of the United States, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Philippine Scouts — officers — commission in drafted forces.] That officers of the Philippine Scouts be, and they hereby are, made eligible to appointment as officers in the militia or other locally created armed forces in the Philippine Islands which have been or shall hereafter be drafted into the service of the United States; and any such officer of the Philippine Scouts so appointed as an officer in said drafted forces shall not thereby vacate his commission in the Philippine Scouts, and in case his commission in said Philippine Scouts shall terminate while holding a commission in said drafted forces as aforesaid, he shall thereupon be eligible to reappointment as an officer of said Philippine Scouts notwithstanding his retention of a commission in said drafted forces. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Period of service — computation.] That in computing period of service for any purpose officers of the Philippine Scouts shall be credited with all time served as commissioned officers in the drafted forces mentioned in section one of this Act. [40 Stat. L. —.]

An Act To amend an Act entitled “An Act providing for an Assistant Secretary of War,” approved March fifth, eighteen hundred and ninety, and for other purposes.

[Act of April 6, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —.]

[Assistant secretaries — appointment — salaries — duties.] That an Act entitled “An Act providing for an Assistant Secretary of War,” approved March fifth, eighteen hundred and ninety (Twenty-sixth Statutes, page seventeen), be and the same hereby is, amended to read as follows:

“There shall be in the Department of War an Assistant Secretary, a Second Assistant Secretary, and a Third Assistant Secretary, each of whom shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Assistant Secretary shall be entitled to a salary of $5,000 per annum, payable monthly, and the Second Assistant Secretary and Third Assistant Secretary shall each be entitled to a salary of $4,500 per annum, payable monthly, and shall perform such duties in the Department of War as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or as may be required by law.” [40 Stat. L. —.]

An Act To suspend for the period of the present war sections forty-five, forty-six, and fifty-six of an Act entitled "An Act for making further and more effectual provision for the national defense, and for other purposes," approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and for other purposes.

[Act of April 17, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1. [Act of June 3, 1916, suspended in part.] That sections forty-five, forty-six, and fifty-six of an Act entitled "An Act for making further and more effectual provision for the national defense, and for other purposes," approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be and they hereby are, suspended for and during the period of the present war, but for such period only, and that upon the termination of said war said suspension shall cease and terminate and said sections shall thereupon be and become reinstated and of the same force and effect as if this suspension had not been made. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, see supra, p. 921.

SEC. 2. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — instruction — detail of officers — pay and allowances.] That during the present war the President be, and he hereby is, authorized to detail such number of officers of the Army of the United States, either active or retired, not above the grade of colonel, as may be necessary for duty as professors and assistant professors of military science and tactics at institutions where one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are maintained; but the total number of active officers so detailed at educational institutions shall not exceed one thousand, and no officer shall be so detailed who has not had at least one year's commissioned service in the Army of the United States. Retired officers below the grade of lieutenant colonel so detailed shall receive the full pay and allowances of their grade, and retired officers above the grade of major so detailed shall receive the same pay and allowances as a retired major would receive under like detail. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Reserve Officers' Training Corps — instruction — detail of enlisted men.] That during the present war the President be, and he hereby is, authorized to detail for duty at institutions where one or more units of the Reserve Officer's Training Corps are maintained such number of enlisted men, either active or retired, of the Army of the United States as he may deem necessary, but the active noncommissioned officers so detailed shall have had at least one year's active service, and the total number of such active noncommissioned officers so detailed shall not exceed three thousand, and shall be additional in their respective grades to those otherwise authorized for the Army of the United States. While detailed under the provisions of this section retired noncommissioned officers of the Army of the United States shall receive active pay and allowances. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Military training in schools and colleges — arms, tentage and equipment — detail of officers.] That during the present war such arms, tentage, and equipment as the Secretary of War shall deem necessary for proper military training shall be supplied by the Government to schools and colleges other than those provided for in section forty-seven of the national-defense Act approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, having a course of military training prescribed by the Secretary of War, and having not less than one hundred physically fit male students above the age of fourteen years, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe; and the Secretary of War is hereby authorized during the present war to detail commissioned and noncommissioned officers of the Army of the United States to said schools and colleges, detailing not less than one such officer or noncommissioned officer to each five hundred students under military instruction; but no officer or noncommissioned officer shall be so detailed who has not had at least one year's active service in the Army of the United States. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For Act of June 3, 1916, § 47 see supra, p. 957.

An Act To provide for reimbursement of actual expenses or flat per diem for enlisted men traveling on duty under competent orders.

[Act of April 20, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —.]

[Enlisted men — expenses — reimbursement.] That hereafter under such regulations and within such maximum rates as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War enlisted men may be reimbursed for actual expenses of travel, including subsistence and lodging, incurred while traveling under competent orders and not embraced in the movement of troops, or they may be paid a flat per diem therefor in lieu of such reimbursement. [40 Stat. L. —.]

An Act Authorizing the President during the existing emergency to sell supplies, materials, equipment, or other property, heretofore or hereafter purchased, acquired, or manufactured by the United States, in connection with, or incidental to, the prosecution of the war.

[War materials, sales — disposition of proceeds.] That during the existing emergency the President be, and he hereby is, authorized, in his discretion, and upon such terms as he shall deem expedient, through the head of any executive department, to sell any supplies, materials, equipment or other property heretofore or hereafter purchased, acquired, or manufactured by the United States in connection with, or incidental to, the prosecution of the war, to any person, partnership, association, or corporation, or to any foreign State or Government engaged in war against any Government with which the United States is at war; and any moneys received by the United States as the proceeds of any such sale shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States and a full report of the same shall be forthwith submitted to Congress. [40 Stat. L. —.]

Joint resolution providing for the calling into military service of certain classes of persons registered and liable for military service under the terms of the Act of Congress approved May eighteen, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States."

[Resolution of May 16, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —.]

[Calling of members of classes for immediate service.] That if under any regulations heretofore or hereafter prescribed by the President persons registered and liable for military service under the terms of the Act of Congress approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," are placed in classes for the purpose of determining their relative liability for military service, no provision of said Act shall prevent the President from calling for immediate military service under regulations heretofore or hereafter prescribed by the President all or part of the persons in any class or classes except those exempt from draft under the provisions of said Act, in proportion to the total number of persons placed in such class or classes in the various subdivisions of the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia designated by the President under the terms of said Act; or from calling into immediate military service persons classed as skilled experts in industry or agriculture, however classified or wherever residing. [40 Stat. L. —.]

Joint Resolution Providing for the registration for military service of all male persons citizens of the United States and all male persons residing in the United States who have, since the fifth day of June, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and on or before the day set for the registration by proclamation by the President, attained the age of twenty-one years, in accordance with such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe under the terms of the Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States."

[SEC. 1.] [Registration of persons becoming 21 since June 5, 1917 — classification.] That during the present emergency all male persons, citizens of the United States and all male persons residing in the United States, who have, since the fifth day of June, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and on or before the day set for the registration by proclamation by the President, attained the age of twenty-one years, shall be subject to registration in accordance with regulations to be prescribed by the President, and that upon proclamation by the President, stating the time and place of such registration, it shall be the duty of all such persons, except such persons as are exempt from registration under the Act of May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and any Act or Acts.

amendatory thereof, to present themselves for and submit to registration under the provisions of said Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and they shall be registered in the same manner and subject to the same requirements and liabilities as those previously registered under the terms of said Act: Provided, That those persons registered under the provisions of this Act shall be placed at the bottom of the list of those liable for military service, in the several classes to which they are assigned, under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of May 18, 1917, see supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 2. [Registration of persons subsequently becoming 21 — exceptions.] That after the day set under section one hereof for the registration by proclamation by the President at such intervals as the President may from time to time prescribe, the President may require that all male persons, citizens of the United States and all male persons residing in the United States, who have attained the age of twenty-one years since the last preceding date of registration, and on or before the next day set for the registration by proclamation by the President, except such persons as are exempt from registration under the Act of May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, and any Act or Acts amendatory thereof, shall be registered in the same manner and subject to the same requirements and liabilities as those previously registered under the terms of said Act: Provided, That students who are preparing for the ministry in recognized theological or divinity schools, and students who are preparing for the practice of medicine and surgery in recognized medical schools, at the time of the approval of this Act shall be exempt from the selective draft prescribed in the Act of May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Persons registered — liability to military service.] That all such persons when registered shall be liable to military service and to draft under the terms of said Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, under such regulations as the President may prescribe not inconsistent with the terms of said Act. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Application of Selective Service Act.] That all such persons shall be subject to the terms and provisions and liabilities of said Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, in all respects as if they had been registered under the terms of said Act, and every such person shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of said Act and of this joint resolution upon the publication of any such proclamation by the President. [40 Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Ordnance Department — disbursing officer — appointment of army officer.] The Chief of Ordnance is authorized to appoint one of the Army officers serving in his office as disbursing officer to pay the civilian employees in the Ordnance Office authorized in this or any other appropriation Act for the fiscal year nineteen hundred and nineteen. [40 Stat. L. —.]

This is from the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Act of July 3, 1918.

An Act Making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and nineteen.

[Act of July 9, 1918, ch. —, 40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Mileage to aviation officers.] That hereafter mileage to officers of the Army traveling on duty in connection with aviation shall be paid from the appropriation for the work in connection with which the travel is performed. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Apportionment of moneys appropriated for aviation purposes.] That the President may hereafter apportion and allot the moneys herein or heretofore appropriated for aviation purposes in such manner as he may deem most advisable for the accomplishment of said purposes with the same force and effect as though such apportionment had been made by this Act. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Aviation service — college education — requirement.] That no person otherwise qualified for service as a cadet, pilot, military aviator, or other officer in the aviation service, shall be barred from such service by reason of not being equipped with a college education. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Exchange of aerial material.] That, subject to the approval of the Secretary of War, motor-propelled vehicles, airplanes, engines, parts thereof, balloons, and appurtenances may be exchanged in part payment for new equipment of the same or similar character to be used for the same purposes as those proposed to be exchanged. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Mileage for foreign instructors.] That during the present emergency, officers and enlisted men of foreign armies attached to the United States Army as instructors or inspectors when traveling in the United States on authorized official business pertaining to aviation shall be entitled to receive, from funds appropriated by this Act, the same mileage and transportation allowances as are authorized for officers or enlisted men of the Regular Army. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Sale of war supplies, material, etc., disposition of proceeds — report.] That the President be, and he hereby is, authorized, through the head of any executive department, to sell, upon such terms as the head of such department shall deem expedient, to any person, partnership, association, corporation, or any other department of the Government, or to any foreign State or Government, engaged in war against any Government with which the United States is at war, any war supplies, material and equipment, and any by-products thereof, and any building, plant or factory, acquired since April sixth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, including the lands upon which the plant or factory may be situated, for the production of such war supplies, materials, and equipment which, during the present emergency, may or may hereafter be purchased, acquired, or manufactured by the United States: Provided further, That sales of guns and ammunition made under the authority contained in this or any other Act shall be limited to sales to other departments of the Government and to foreign States or Governments engaged in war against any Government with which the United States is at war, and to members of the National Rifle Association and of other recognized associations organized in the United States for the encouragement of small-arms target practice: Provided further, That a detailed report shall be made to Congress on the first day of each regular session of the sales of any war supplies, matériel, lands, factories, or buildings, and equipment made under the authority contained in this or any other Act, except sales made to any foreign State or Government engaged in war against any Government with which the United States is at war, showing the character of the articles sold, to whom sold, the price received therefor, and the purpose for which sold: Provided, That any moneys received by the United States as the proceeds of any such sale shall be deposited to the credit of that appropriation out of which was paid the cost to the Government of the property thus sold, and the same shall immediately become available for the purposes named in the original appropriation. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Per diem to employees authorized to travel and to members of draft boards.] For all expenses necessary in the registration of persons available for military service and in the selection of certain such persons and their draft into the military service: Provided, That per diem allowances in lieu of subsistence not exceeding $4 may be paid to those employees authorized to travel, and to members of the boards when in attendance upon board meetings at too great a distance from their homes to enable them to live there. * * * [40 Stat. L. —.]

[Draft boards — rent of quarters — payments for rents.] That, during the present emergency, the requirements of section thirty-seven hundred and forty-four of the Revised Statutes shall not apply to the rent of quarters for the use of local, district, or medical advisory boards where the amount to be paid is less than is customarily charged the public for the same quarters: Provided, That all payments made by disbursing officers appointed in connection with the execution of the selective service law for rents unsupported by a lease may be passed to their credit by the accounting officers of the Treasury if otherwise correct. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For R. S. sec. 3744, see 6 Fed. Stat. Ann. 132.

* * * [Bands — additional.] That the Secretary of War is authorized to organize for use during the present emergency twenty bands additional to those now authorized for the Army to be organized as are bands of Infantry. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Army field clerks — pay and allowances — entrance pay — increase for foreign service.] That during the present emergency Army field clerks shall have the same allowances and benefits as heretofore allowed by law to pay clerks, Quartermaster Corps, not including retirement: Provided, however, That the minimum or entrance pay, exclusive of said allowances, of said Army field clerks shall be $1,200 per annum: Provided further, That Army field clerks shall receive the same increase of pay for service beyond the continental limits of the United States as is now allowed by law to commissioned officers of the Army. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Assignment of clerks, etc., at headquarters, etc., to the bureaus of War Department.] That no clerk, messenger, or laborer at headquarters of tactical divisions, military departments, brigades, service schools, and office of the Chief of Staff shall be assigned to duty in any bureau of the War Department. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Judge Advocate General's Department — grades of first lieutenant and captain authorized.] That during the existing emergency the President is authorized to appoint in the Officers' Reserve Corps and the National Army, for service in the Judge Advocate General's Department, in addition to the grades now authorized, officers of the grades of first lieutenant and captain from such citizens as he shall find to be physically, mentally, and morally qualified for appointment. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Appointment from staff corps to line of Army.] That hereafter the President be, and he is hereby, authorized, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint any chief of a staff corps, department, or bureau of the Army who has had forty or more years of service in the Army, a major general of the line of the Army. The officers so appointed shall not exceed two, and shall be extra numbers in the list of major generals of the line. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Officers serving in Canal Zone — housing.] Hereafter officers of the Army pertaining to the United States troops serving in the Canal Zone shall not be required to pay rent for the occupancy of houses of the Panama Canal to which they may be assigned. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Horses of officers ordered overseas or to Alaska — transportation to remount stations.] That hereafter, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may direct, the authorized horses of mounted officers ordered for duty over the seas or to Alaska may be transported at public expense to remount depots or elsewhere in the United States for safekeeping during the absence of such officers. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Enlisted men — travel allowance.] That in the discretion of the Secretary of War, and under such regulations as he may prescribe, travel pay at the rate now prescribed by law for discharged soldiers may be given to all enlisted men for whom the law authorizes travel allowances as an incident to their entry upon and relief from active duty with the Army. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Civilian employees of Quartermaster Corps — number and salary limited.] That the number of and total sum paid for civilian employees in the Quartermaster Corps shall be limited to the actual requirements of the service, and that no employee therein shall receive a salary of more than $150 per month, except upon the approval of the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Motor ambulances — selection of types.] That the Secretary of War may in his discretion select types and makes of motor ambulances for the Army and authorize their purchase without regard to the laws prescribing advertisement for proposals for supplies and materials for the Army. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Medical Department — increase — major general — brigadier generals.] That the Medical Department of the Regular Army be, and is hereby, increased by one Assistant Surgeon General, for service abroad during the present war, who shall have the rank of major general, and two Assistant Surgeons General, who shall have the rank of brigadier general, all of whom shall be appointed from the Medical Corps of the Regular Army. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Medical Department — increase — distribution of officers.] That the President may nominate and appoint in the Medical Department of the National Army, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, from the Medical Reserve Corps of the Regular Army not to exceed two major generals and four brigadier generals.

That the commissioned officers of the Medical Corps of the Regular Army, none of whom shall have rank above that of colonel, shall be proportionately distributed in the several grades as now provided by law.

That the commissioned officers of the Medical Reserve Corps of the Regular Army, none of whom shall have rank above that of colonel, shall be proportionately distributed in the several grades as now provided by law for the Medical Corps of the Regular Army: Provided, That nothing in this Act shall be held or construed so as to discharge any officer of the Regular Army or deprive him of a commission which he now holds therein. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Slavic Legion — composition — requisites for membership — training — disposition.] That, under such regulations as the President may prescribe, a force of volunteer troops in such unit or units as he may direct may be raised to be composed of Jugo-Slavs, Czecho Slovaks, and Ruthenians (Ukrainians) belonging to the oppressed races of the Austro-Hungarian or German Empire resident in the United States but not citizens thereof nor subject to the draft. Such force shall be known as the Slavic Legion or by such other description as the President may prescribe. No man shall be enlisted in it until he has furnished satisfactory evidence that he will faithfully and loyally serve the cause of the United States and that he desires to fight the Imperial governments of Germany and Austria-Hungary, and the allies thereof. The force so raised and duly sworn into the service may be equipped, maintained, and trained with our own troops or separately as the President may direct and thereafter may be transported to such field of action as the President may direct to be used against the common enemy in connection with our own troops or with those of any nation associated with the United States in the present war; and the several items of expense involved in the equipment, maintenance, training, and transportation of such force may be paid from the respective appropriations herein made or from any subsequent appropriations for the same: Provided, That American citizens of Austrian or German birth, or who were born in alien enemy territory, who have passed the necessary examination and whose loyalty is unquestioned, may, in the discretion of the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, be commissioned in the United States Army or Navy. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Civilian employees in gun factories, etc.— pay for work done on legal days of absence.] That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized and empowered, during the period of the war, to make payment, under such regulations as may be prescribed by him, in addition to and at the rate of pay now provided by law to each and all civilians employed by the War Department in gun factories and arsenals for work performed on all days of leave of absence granted by law to such employees. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Medals of honor — distinguished-service crosses — distinguished-service medals — awards — loss — acceptance and wearing of medals presented by foreign governments — presentation to officers and men of allied countries — service in National Guard.] That the provisions of existing law relating to the award of medals of honor to officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates of the Army be, and they hereby are, amended so that the President is authorized to present, in the name of the Congress, a medal of honor only to each person who, while an officer or enlisted man of the Army, shall hereafter, in action involving actual conflict with an enemy, distinguished himself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty.

That the President be, and he is hereby, further authorized to present, but not in the name of Congress, a distinguished-service cross of appropriate design and a ribbon, together with a rosette or other device, to be worn in lieu thereof, to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States since the sixth day of April, nineteen hundred and seventeen, has distinguished, or who shall hereafter distinguish, himself or herself by extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy.

That the President be, and he is hereby, further authorized to present, but not in the name of Congress, a distinguished-service medal of appropriate design and a ribbon, together with a rosette or other device, to be worn in lieu thereof, to any person who, while serving in any capacity with the Army of the United States since the sixth day of April, nineteen hundred and seventeen, has distinguished, or who hereafter shall distinguish, himself or herself by exceptionally meritorious service to the Government in a duty of great responsibility; and said distinguished-service medal shall also be issued to all enlisted men of the Army to whom the certificate of merit has been granted up to and including the date of the passage of this Act under the provisions of previously existing law, in lieu of such certificate of merit, and after the passage of this Act the award of the certificate of merit for distinguished service shall cease; and additional pay heretofore authorized by law for holders of the certificate of merit shall not be paid to them beyond the date of the award of the distinguished-service medal in lieu thereof as aforesaid.

That each enlisted man of the Army to whom there has been or shall be awarded a medal of honor, a distinguished-service cross, or a distinguished-service medal shall, for each such award, be entitled to additional pay at the rate of $2 per month from the date of the distinguished act or service on which the award is based, and each bar, or other suitable device, in lieu of a medal of honor, a distinguished-service cross, or a distinguished-service medal, as hereinafter provided for, shall entitle him to further additional pay at the rate of $2 per month from the date of the distinguished act or service for which the bar is awarded, and said additional pay shall continue throughout his active service, whether such service shall or shall not be continuous; but when the award is in lieu of the certificate of merit, as provided for in section three hereof, the additional pay shall begin with the date of the award.

That no more than one medal of honor or one distinguished-service cross or one distinguished-service medal shall be issued to any one person; but for each succeeding deed or act sufficient to justify the award of a medal of honor or a distinguished-service cross or a distinguished-service medal, respectively, the President may award a suitable bar, or other suitable device, to be worn as he shall direct; and for each other citation of an officer or enlisted man for gallantry in action published in orders issued from the headquarters of a force commanded by a general officer he shall be entitled to wear, as the President shall direct, a silver star three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter.

That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, authorized to expend from the appropriations for contingent expenses of his department from time to time so much as may be necessary to defray the cost of the medals of honor, distinguished-service crosses, distinguished-service medals, bars, rosettes, and other devices hereinbefore provided for.

That whenever a medal, cross, bar, ribbon, rosette, or other device presented under the provisions of this Act shall have been lost, destroyed, or rendered unfit for use, without fault or neglect on the part of the person to whom it was awarded, such medal, cross, bar, ribbon, rosette, or device shall be replaced without charge therefor.

That, except as otherwise prescribed herein, no medals of honor, distinguished-service cross, distinguished-service medal, or bar or other suitable device in lieu of either of said medals or of said cross, shall be issued to any person after more than three years from the date of the act justifying the award thereof, nor unless a specific statement or report distinctly setting forth the distinguished service and suggesting or recommending official recognition thereof shall have been made at the time of the distinguished service or within two years thereafter, nor unless it shall appear from official records in the War Department that such person has so distinguished himself as to entitle him thereto; but in case an individual who shall distinguished himself dies before the making of the award to which he may be entitled, the award may nevertheless be made and the medal or cross or the bar or other emblem or device presented, within three years from the date of the act justifying the award thereof, to such representative of the deceased as the President may designate; but no medal, cross, bar, or other device, hereinbefore authorized, shall be awarded or presented to any individual whose entire service subsequently to the time he distinguished himself shall not have been honorable; but in cases of officers and enlisted men now in the Army for whom the award of the medal of honor has been recommended in full compliance with then existing regulations but on account of services which, though insufficient fully to justify the award of the medal of honor, appear to have been such as to justify the award of the distinguished-service cross or distinguished-service medal hereinbefore provided for, such cases may be considered and acted upon under the provisions of this Act authorizing the award of the distinguished-service cross and distinguished-service medal, notwithstanding that said services may have been rendered more than three years before said cases shall have been considered as authorized by this Act, but all consideration of and action upon any of said cases shall be based exclusively upon official records now on file in the War Department; and in the cases of officers and enlisted men now in the Army who have been mentioned in orders, now a part of official records, for extraordinary heroism or especially meritorious services, such as to justify the award of the distinguished-service cross or the distinguished-service medal hereinbefore provided for, such cases may be considered and acted on under the provisions of this Act, notwithstanding that said act or services may have been rendered more than three years before said cases shall have been considered as authorized by this Act, but all consideration of and action upon any said cases shall be based exclusively upon official records of the War Department.

That the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to delegate, under such conditions, regulations, and limitations as he shall prescribe, to the commanding general of a separate army or higher unit in the field, the power conferred upon him by this Act to award the medal of honor, the distinguished-service cross, and the distinguished-service medal; and he is further authorized to make from time to time any and all rules, regulations, and orders which he shall deem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this Act and to execute the full purpose and intention thereof.

That American citizens who have received, since August first, nineteen hundred and fourteen, decorations or medals for distinguished service in the armies or in connection with the field service of those nations engaged in war against the Imperial German Government, shall, on entering the military service of the United States, be permitted to wear such medals or decorations.

That any and all members of the military forces of the United States serving in the present war be, and they are hereby, permitted and authorized to accept during the present war or within one year thereafter, from the Government of any of the countries engaged in war with any country with which the United States is or shall be concurrently likewise engaged in war, such decorations, when tendered, as are conferred by such Government upon the members of its own military forces; and the consent of Congress required therefor by clause eight of section nine of Article I of the Constitution is hereby expressly granted: Provided, That any officer or enlisted man of the military forces of the United States is hereby authorized to accept and wear any medal or decoration heretofore bestowed by the Government of any of the nations concurrently engaged with the United States in the present war.

That the President is authorized, under regulations to be prescribed by him, to confer such medals and decorations as may be authorized in the military service of the United States upon officers and enlisted men of the military forces of the countries concurrently engaged with the United States in the present war.

That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to procure a bronze medal, with suitable device and ribbon, to be presented to each of the several officers and enlisted men, and families of such as may be dead, of the National Guard who, under the orders of the President of the United States, served not less than ninety days in the War with Spain, and who have received an honorable discharge from the service, and who served on the Mexican border in the years nineteen hundred and sixteen and nineteen hundred and seventeen and who are not eligible to receive the Mexican service badge heretofore authorized by the President: Provided, That such medals shall not be issued to men who have, subsequent to such service, been dishonorably discharged from the service or deserted: And provided further, That the sum of $7,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of carrying this last paragraph into effect. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Materials for Ordnance Department — American manufacture — duty on imported materials.] The Secretary of War is authorized, during the present emergency, in addition to the appropriations and obligations specifically authorized by law, to incur obligations for ordnance and ordnance supplies and materials: Provided, That the aggregate amount of such obligations shall not exceed $500,000,000.

Provided, That out of the authorizations provided for ordnance stores, ammunition, ordnance stores and supplies, small-arms target practice, manufacture of arms, automatic machine rifles, and armored motor cars there is authorized to be expended and is hereby appropriated the sum of $600,000,000.

Provided further, That all material purchased under the appropriations for the Ordnance Department in this Act shall be of American manufacture, except in cases when, in the judgment of the Secretary of War, it is to the manifest interest of the United States to make purchases abroad, which material shall be admitted free of duty. [40 Stat. L. —.]

shall include such officers and enlisted men of the staff corps and departments, corresponding to those of the Regular Army, as may be authorized by the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Members of National Guard and Organized Militia in federal service — longevity pay.] That officers and enlisted men of the forces of the Army of the United States other than the Regular Army who have had service in the National Guard and Organized Militia of any State, Territory, or District, but who have entered the service in the forces of the Army of the United States, otherwise than through draft under the provisions of section one hundred and eleven of the Act of June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, known as the national defense Act, shall be upon the same footing as to pay and allowance as the members of said forces who were drafted under the provisions of said section. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 111, see anti, p. 458s.

* * * [Payment from total available balances.] That during the present emergency when pressing obligations are required to be paid by a disbursing officer of the Army and the allotment to his official credit under the proper appropriation or appropriations is temporarily insufficient to pay the same, he is authorized to make payments from the total available balance to his official credit, provided sufficient funds under proper appropriation or appropriations have been appropriated by the chief officer of the bureau or department for the expenditure. When such disbursements are made, the accounts of the disbursing officer shall show the charging of the proper appropriations, and the balances thereunder, which will be adjusted by the disbursing officer on receipt of funds, or by the accounting officer of the Treasury. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER V.

[SEC. 1.] [Army Nurse Corps — composition.] That the Nurse Corps (female) of the Medical Department of the Army shall hereafter be known as the Army Nurse Corps, and shall consist of one superintendent, who shall be a graduate of a hospital-training school having a course of instruction of not less than two years; of as many chief nurses, nurses, and reserve nurses as may from time to time be needed and prescribed or ordered by the Secretary of War, and, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, of not exceeding six assistant superintendents, and, for each Army or separate military force beyond the continental limits of the United States, one director and not exceeding two assistant directors of nursing service, all of whom shall be graduates of hospital-training schools and shall have passed such professional, moral, mental, and physical examination as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Rules and regulations.] That rules and regulations prescribing the duties of the members of the Army Nurse Corps shall be prescribed by the Surgeon General of the United States Army, subject to the approval of the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Superintendent and members — appointment and removal — promotions.] That the superintendent shall be appointed by, and, at his discretion, be removed by, the Secretary of War; that all other members of said corps shall be appointed by, and, at his discretion, be removed by, the Surgeon General by and with the approval of the Secretary of War; but the assistant superintendents, the directors, the assistant directors, and the chief nurses shall be appointed by promotion from other members of the corps, and shall, upon being relieved from duty as such, unless removed for incompetency or misconduct, revert to the grades in the corps from which they were promoted. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Salaries.] That the annual rate of pay of the members of said corps shall be as follows: Superintendent, $2,400; assistant superintendents and directors, $1,800; assistant directors, $1,500; chief nurses, $120 in addition to the pay of a nurse; nurses, $720 for the first period of three years' service, $780 for the second period of three years' service, $840 for the third period of three years' service, $900 for the fourth period of three years' service, and $960 after twelve years' service in said corps (including in all cases time of service as contract nurse); reserve nurses, when upon active duty, will receive the same pay as nurses who have served in the corps for periods corresponding to the full period of their active service; and all members of said corps, in addition to the foregoing, the sum of $10 per month when serving beyond the continental limits of the United States (excepting Porto Rico and Hawaii). [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 5. [Leave of absence — sick leave.] That members of said Nurse Corps shall be entitled to cumulative leave of absence with pay at the rate of thirty days for each calendar year of service in said corps, not exceeding, however, one hundred and twenty days at one time, and in addition thereto sick leave not exceeding thirty days in any one calendar year in cases of illness or injury incurred in the line of duty. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 6. [Traveling allowances — quarters and subsistence — medical care.] That members of said Nurse Corps shall receive transportation and necessary expenses when traveling under orders, and such allowances of quarters and subsistence and, during illness, such medical care as may be prescribed in regulations by the Secretary of War; and when at places where no public quarters are available, commutation in lieu thereof, and of heat and light therefor at such rates and upon such conditions as are now or shall hereafter be provided by law. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 7. [Former Acts repealed.] That section nineteen of chapter one hundred and ninety-two of Thirty-first Statutes, page seven hundred and fifty-three; chapter fifty of Thirty-seventh Statutes, page seventy-two; that part of the Act approved August twenty-fourth, nineteen hundred and twelve (Thirty-seventh Statutes, page five hundred and seventy-five), providing for allowances, subsistence, and medical care during illness for the Superintendent of the Nurse Corps; and that part of the Act approved March twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten (Thirty-sixth Statutes, page two hundred and forty-nine) prescribing the pay of the superintendent and members of the Nurse Corps, be, and the same are, hereby repealed. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER VII.

* * * [Restrictions as to purchase of military supplies — suspension.]

That so much of section eleven hundred and thirty-three of the Revised Statutes, and of section nine of the Act entitled "An Act for making further and more effectual provision for the national defense, and for other purposes," approved June third, nineteen hundred and sixteen, as restricts the purchase and distribution of military stores and supplies to officers of the Quartermaster Corps, be, and the same is hereby, suspended for the period of the present war. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For R. S. sec. 1133, see 7 Fed. Stat. Ann. 970.

For the Act of June 3, 1916, ch. 134, § 9, see supra, p. 927

CHAPTER VIII.

* * * [Persons discharged from military or naval service — care and treatment.]

That the President of the United States is hereby authorized and empowered to make provision for such care and treatment as he may deem advisable of persons discharged from the military or naval forces of the United States on account of physical disability who are citizens of any nation at war with a nation with which the United States is at war; but such provision shall be made only for the citizens of a nation that makes suitable provision for the care and treatment of persons discharged from the military or naval forces on account of physical disability who are citizens of the United States: Provided, That such care and treatment shall in no case exceed the care and treatment authorized by law and regulations for members of the Army and Navy of the United States discharged from the military or naval service for like cause. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER IX.

* * * [Army Mine Planter Service — composition — pay and allowances — retirement.]

That hereafter there shall be in the Coast Artillery Corps of the Regular Army a service to be known as the Army Mine Planter Service, which shall consist, for each mine planter in the service of the United States, of one master, one first mate, one second mate, one chief engineer, and one assistant engineer, who shall be warrant officers appointed by and holding their offices at the discretion of the Secretary of War, and two oilers, four firemen, four deck hands, one cook, one steward, and one assistant steward, who shall be appointed from enlisted men of the Coast Artillery Corps under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe: Provided, That the Coast Artillery Corps is hereby increased by such numbers of warrant officers and enlisted men as may be necessary to constitute the force provided by this chapter: Provided further, That the annual pay of the warrant officers and enlisted men in the various grades established by this chapter shall be as follows: Masters, $1,800; first mates, $1,320; second mates, $972; chief engineers, $1,700; assistant engineers, $1,200; oilers, $432; firemen, $396; deck hands, $216; cooks, $360; steward, $540; assistant stewards, $288: And provided further, That warrant officers shall have such allowances as the Secretary of War may prescribe, and shall be retired, and shall receive longevity pay, as now provided by law for officers of the Army, and that the enlisted force herein provided for shall receive the allowances and continuous-service pay now provided by law for enlisted men of the Army: And provided further, That in computing length of service for retirement, and in computing longevity pay for warrant officers and continuous-service pay for the enlisted men authorized by this chapter, service on boats in the service of the Quartermaster Department of the Quartermaster Corps prior to the passage of this Act shall be counted: And provided further, That during the continuation of the present emergency all enlisted men of the Mine Planter Service of the Army of the United States in active service whose base pay does not exceed $21 per month shall receive an increase of $15 per month; those whose base pay is $24, an increase of $12 per month; those whose base pay is $30, $33, $36, or $40, an increase of $8 per month; and those whose base pay is $45 or more, an increase of $6 per month: And provided further, That the increases of pay herein authorized shall not enter into the computation of continuous service pay. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER XI.

* * * [Quotas for Military Service — method for determining.] That in the determination of quotas for the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, or subdivisions thereof, to be raised for military service under the terms of the Act entitled “An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States,” approved May eighteenth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, the provisions of the joint resolution approved May sixteenth, nineteen hundred and eighteen, providing for the calling into military service of certain classes of persons registered and liable for military service under the said Act, shall apply to any or all forces heretofore or hereafter raised under the provisions of said Act for any State, Territory, District, or subdivision thereof, from and after the time when such State, Territory, District, or subdivision thereof has been completed or completes its quota of forces called and furnished under the President’s proclamation dated July twelfth, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of May 18, 1917, see supra, p. 1010.

The Res. of May 16, 1918, is given supra, p. 1039.

CHAPTER XII.

[SEC. 1.] [Alien — registration and drafting.] That the President may by proclamation set a day or days and place or places for the registration for military service of male aliens within designated ages residing within the United States who are citizens or subjects of a foreign country with whose Government the United States has concluded or hereafter concludes a convention or agreement in accordance with the terms of which its citizens or subjects within designated ages, residing within the United States, become under certain conditions liable to be drafted into the military service of the United States; that upon proclamation by the President stating the time and place of such registration it shall be the duty of any such alien, unless exempted from registration by the terms of the President's proclamation, to present himself for and submit to registration under the provisions of the Act approved May eighteenth, nineteen and seventeen, entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," and all amendments thereto, and he shall thereupon be registered in the same manner as those previously registered under the terms of said Act; and every such alien shall be deemed to have notice of the requirements of said Act and this joint resolution upon the publication by the President of any such proclamation, and any such alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to present himself for registration or to submit thereto shall be subject to all the provisions and liable to all the penalties provided in said Act or any amendment thereto. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of May 18, 1917, see, supra, p. 1010.

SEC. 2. [Liability of registered aliens to military service — exceptions.] That any such alien, when registered, shall be and remain liable to military service in the forces of the United States and subject to draft under the provisions of said convention or agreement and of said Act and all amendments thereto, and subject to such regulations as the President may have prescribed or may prescribe under the terms thereof, unless during the period specified in the convention or agreement concluded with the country whereof he is a citizen or subject and designated in the President's proclamation, he shall have enlisted or enrolled in the military forces of his own country or returned to his own country for the purpose of enlisting or enrolling in its military forces, or unless the country whereof he is a citizen or subject, through its diplomatic representatives, in accordance with the terms of the convention or agreement concluded between the United States and such foreign country, shall issue to such alien a certificate of exemption from military service. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Return of alien to native country — liability to service.] That any such alien, after the expiration of time fixed by the President's proclamation within which he may enlist or enroll in the military forces of his own country, return to his own country for the purpose of military service, or be exempted through the diplomatic representative of the country whereof he is a citizen or subject, shall be and remain subject in all respects to the terms, provisions, liabilities, and penalties of said Act and all amendments thereto, except as modified by the terms of the convention or agreement concluded between the United States and the country whereof such alien is a citizen or subject, and shall be subject to such regulations as the President may have prescribed or may prescribe under the terms of said Act. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER XVIII.

* * * [Graduates of Military Academy — service as instructors.]
That the service of graduates of the Military Academy may be utilized during the months of June, July, August, and September of the year in which they graduate as instructors at the citizens' training camps, and their graduation leave may be taken at the termination of their services as instructors at these camps. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Mounts of deceased officers — transportation.] That hereafter under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, authorized mounts of officers who die in the service may, within ninety days after the death of the officer, be transported at public expense from their last duty station to such places within the limits of the United States as may be the home of their families, or as may be designated by their legal representatives or executors, or such mount may be disposed of as directed by such representatives or executors. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Deceased civilian employees — transportation of baggage.] That hereafter, under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, transportation at public expense may be provided for the baggage of civilian employees who die in the service from their last duty station to such places within the limits of the United States as may be the home of their families, or as may be designated by their legal representatives or executors. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Transmission of accounts — time.] That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized in time of war, upon request to the Secretary of War, to extend the period during which money accounts covering expenditures from appropriations for the Army may be transmitted to the Auditor for the War Department after their receipt in the War Department from sixty to ninety days. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER XIX.

[SEC. 1.] [Target practice — protection of life and property.] That in the interest of the national defense, and for the better protection of life and property on said waters, the Secretary of War is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe such regulations as he may deem best for the use and navigation of any portion or area of the navigable waters of the United States or waters under the jurisdiction of the United States endangered or likely to be endangered by Coast Artillery fire in target practice or otherwise, or by the proving operations of the Government ordnance proving grounds at Sandy Hook, New Jersey, or at any Government ordnance proving ground that may be established elsewhere on or near such waters, and of any portion or area of said waters occupied by submarine mines, mine fields, submarine cables, or other material and accessories pertaining to seacoast fortifications, or by any plant or facility engaged in the execution of any public project of river and harbor improvement; and the said Secretary shall have like power to regulate the transportation of explosives upon any of said waters: Provided, That the authority hereby conferred shall be so exercised as not unreasonably to interfere with or restrict the food fishing industry, and the regulations prescribed in pursuance hereof shall provide for the use of such waters by food fishermen operating under permits granted by the War Department. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 2. [Enforcement of regulations — detail of public vessels.] That to enforce the regulations prescribed pursuant to this chapter, the Secretary of War may detail any public vessel in the service of the War Department, or, upon the request of the Secretary of War, the head of any other department may enforce, and the head of any such department is hereby authorized to enforce, such regulations by means of any public vessel of such department. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 3. [Regulations — posting — penalty for violation.] That the regulation made [by] the Secretary of War pursuant to this Chapter shall be posted in conspicuous and appropriate places, designated by him, for the information of the public; and every person who and every corporation which shall willfully violate any regulations made by the said Secretary pursuant to this Chapter shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500, or by imprisonment (in the case of a natural person) not exceeding six months, in the discretion of the court. [40 Stat. L. —.]

SEC. 4. [Jurisdiction.] That offenses against the provisions of this Chapter or any regulation made pursuant thereto, committed in any Territory or other place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States where there is no court having general jurisdiction of crimes against the United States, shall be cognizable in any court of such place or Territory having original jurisdiction of criminal cases in the place or Territory in which the offense has been committed, with the same right of appeal in all cases as is given in other criminal cases where imprisonment not exceeding six months forms a part of the penalty, and jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon such courts and such courts shall exercise the same for such purposes; and in case any such offense be committed beyond the territorial jurisdiction of any court having jurisdiction thereof, the offense shall be deemed and held to have been committed within the jurisdiction in which the offender may be found or into which he is first brought, and shall be tried by the court having jurisdiction thereof. [40 Stat. L. —.]

CHAPTER XX.

* * * [Operation of public utilities — proceeds — disposition.] That, in case of actual or threatened hostilities, any proceeds received from the operation of a public utility, in connection with engineer operations in the field overseas, shall be available for the purpose of such utility until the close of the fiscal year following that in which the proceeds are received, and a detailed report of such proceeds and application thereof shall be rendered to Congress on forms conforming as far as practicable to those used by American Companies in reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission: Provided, That the provision of the Act of March twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten, making moneys arising from the disposition of serviceable quartermaster material available for the purposes of the appropriation throughout the fiscal year following that in which the disposition was effected, is hereby extended to apply to material supplied to the Army by the Engineer Department. [40 Stat. L. —.]

For the Act of March 23, 1910, ch. 115, § 1, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 404.

* * * [Retired officers — active duty.] That when any retired officer of the Army is, in the discretion of the President, employed on active duty and assigned to duty in an arm, corps, department, or organization, he shall, for all purposes, except promotion, be considered an officer of such arm, corps, department, or organization while so serving, and shall be an extra number therein. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Grades of corporal bugler and bugler first class created.] That there are hereby created in the Army the grades of corporal bugler, and bugler, first class; and hereafter for each battalion and squadron headquarters of units in which the grade of bugler is now authorized, there shall be one corporal bugler, and for each company, battery, troop, or organization in which the grade of bugler is now authorized there shall be one bugler, first class. [40 Stat. L. —.]

* * * [Men outside of draft age — enlistment — men physically disqualified — draft.] That during the present war the President be, and he is hereby, authorized to enlist for service in the offices of the War Department or under its control or on detached service under its jurisdiction men outside the draft ages, and for the same purpose to draft men within such ages, who have been disqualified by minor physical defects for active service in the Army; to establish regulations under which such enlistments may be made, and to fix the pay and allowances of men so enlisted or drafted, which said pay and allowances shall not exceed those of enlisted men of the Regular Army. [40 Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] * * * [Quartermaster Corps — civilian employees — number — salary.] That the number of and total sum paid for civilian employees in the Quartermaster Corps shall be limited to the actual requirements of the service, and that no employee therein shall receive a salary of more than $150 per month, except upon the approval of the Secretary of War. [40 Stat. L. —.]

[SEC. 1.] [United States warehouse Act.] That this part, to be known as the United States warehouse Act, be and is hereby enacted, to read and be effective hereafter as follows:

That this Act shall be known by the short title of “United States warehouse Act.”

The foregoing section 1 and the following sections 2–33 constitute “Part C” of the Agricultural Appropriation Act of Aug. 11, 1916, ch. 313.

SEC. 2. [Definitions — “warehouse,” “agricultural product,” “person,” “warehouseman,” “receipt.”] That the term “warehouse” as used in this Act shall be deemed to mean every building, structure, or other protected inclosure in which any agricultural product is or may be stored for interstate or foreign commerce, or, if located within any place under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, in which any agricultural product is or may be stored. The term "agricultural product" wherever used in this Act shall be deemed to mean cotton, wool, grains, tobacco, and flaxseed, or any of them. As used in this Act, "person" includes a corporation or partnership or two or more persons having a joint or common interest; "warehouseman" means a person lawfully engaged in the business of storing agricultural products; and "receipt" means a warehouse receipt. [39 Stat. L. 486.]

See the note to the preceding section 1 of this Act.

SEC. 3. [Authority of Secretary of Agriculture—licensing warehouses.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to investigate the storage, warehousing, classifying according to grade and otherwise, weighing, and certification of agricultural products; upon application to him by any person applying for license to conduct a warehouse under this Act, to inspect such warehouse or cause it to be inspected; at any time, with or without application to him, to inspect or cause to be inspected all warehouses licensed under this Act; to determine whether warehouses for which licenses are applied for or have been issued under this Act are suitable for the proper storage of any agricultural product or products; to classify warehouses licensed or applying for a license in accordance with their ownership, location, surroundings, capacity, conditions, and other qualities, and as to the kinds of licenses issued or that may be issued for them pursuant to this Act; and to prescribe, within the limitations of this Act, the duties of the warehousemen conducting warehouses licensed under this Act with respect to their care of and responsibility for agricultural products stored therein. [39 Stat. L. 486.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 4. [Issuance of license to warehouseman.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized, upon application to him, to issue to any warehouseman a license for the conduct of a warehouse or warehouses in accordance with this Act and such rules and regulations as may be made hereunder: Provided, That each such warehouse be found suitable for the proper storage of the particular agricultural product or products for which a license is applied for, and that such warehouseman agree, as a condition to the granting of the license, to comply with and abide by all the terms of this Act and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. [39 Stat. L. 486.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 5. [Period of license.] That each license issued under sections four and nine of this Act shall be issued for a period not exceeding one year and shall specify the date upon which it is to terminate, and upon showing satisfactory to the Secretary of Agriculture may from time to time be renewed or extended by a written instrument, which shall specify the date of its termination. [39 Stat. L. 486.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 6. [Bond by applicant for license.] That each warehouseman applying for a license to conduct a warehouse in accordance with this Act shall, as a condition to the granting thereof, execute and file with the Secretary of Agriculture a good and sufficient bond other than personal security to the United States to secure the faithful performance of his obligations as a warehouseman under the laws of the State, District, or Territory in which he is conducting such warehouse, as well as under the terms of this Act and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder, and of such additional obligations as a warehouseman as may be assumed by him under contracts with the respective depositors of agricultural products in such warehouse. Said bond shall be in such form and amount, shall have such surety or sureties, subject to service of process in suits on the bond within the State, District, or Territory in which the warehouse is located, and shall contain such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Agriculture may prescribe to carry out the purposes of this Act, including the requirements of fire insurance. Whenever the Secretary of Agriculture shall determine that a bond approved by him is, or for any cause has become, insufficient, he may require an additional bond or bonds to be given by the warehouseman concerned, conforming with the requirements of this section, and unless the same be given within the time fixed by a written demand therefor the license of such warehouseman may be suspended or revoked. [39 Stat. L. 486.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 7. [Suit on bond.] That any person injured by the breach of any obligation to secure which a bond is given, under the provisions of sections six or nine, shall be entitled to sue on the bond in his own name in any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the damages he may have sustained by such breach. [39 Stat. L. 487.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 8. [Designation of warehouse as bonded.] That upon the filing with and approval by the Secretary of Agriculture of a bond, in compliance with this Act, for the conduct of a warehouse, such warehouse shall be designated as bonded hereunder; but no warehouse shall be designated as bonded under this Act, and no name or description conveying the impression that it is so bonded, shall be used, until a bond, such as provided for in section six, has been filed with and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, nor unless the license issued under this Act for the conduct of such warehouse remains unsuspended and unrevoked. [39 Stat. L. 487.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 9. [Licenses to persons not warehousemen — receipts for agricultural products.] That the Secretary of Agriculture may, under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe, issue a license to any person not a warehouseman to accept the custody of agricultural products and to store the same in a warehouse or warehouses owned, operated, or leased by any State, upon condition that such person agree to comply with and abide by the terms of this Act and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. Each person so licensed shall issue receipts for the agricultural products placed in his custody, and shall give bond, in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules and regulations hereunder affecting warehousemen licensed under this Act, and shall otherwise be subject to this Act and such rules and regulations to the same extent as is provided for warehousemen licensed hereunder. [39 Stat. L. 487.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 10. [Fees.] That the Secretary of Agriculture shall charge, assess, and cause to be collected a reasonable fee for every examination or inspection of a warehouse under this Act when such examination or inspection is made upon application of a warehouseman, and a fee not exceeding $2 per annum for each license or renewal thereof issued to a warehouseman under this Act. All such fees shall be deposited and covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. [39 Stat. L. 487.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 11. [Licenses to classify or weigh agricultural products.] That the Secretary of Agriculture may, upon presentation of satisfactory proof of competency, issue to any person a license to classify any agricultural product or products, stored or to be stored in a warehouse licensed under this Act, according to grade or otherwise and to certificate the grade or other class thereof, or to weigh the same and certificate the weight thereof, or both to classify and weigh the same and to certificate the grade or other class and the weight thereof, upon condition that such person agree to comply with and abide by the terms of this Act and of the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder so far as the same relate to him. [39 Stat. L. 487.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 12. [Suspension or revocation of license.] That any license issued to any person to classify or to weigh any agricultural product or products under this Act may be suspended or revoked by the Secretary of Agriculture whenever he is satisfied, after opportunity afforded to the licensee concerned for a hearing, that such licensee has failed to classify or to weigh any agricultural product or products correctly, or has violated any of the provisions of this Act or of the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder, so far as the same may relate to him, or that he has used his license or allowed it to be used for any improper purpose whatsoever. Pending investigation, the Secretary of Agriculture, whenever he deems necessary, may suspend a license temporarily without hearing. [39 Stat. L. 487.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 13. [Duty of licensed warehouseman to receive agricultural products.] That every warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this Act shall receive for storage therein, so far as its capacity permits, any agricultural product of the kind customarily stored therein by him which may be tendered to him in a suitable condition for warehousing, in the usual manner in the ordinary and usual course of business, without making any discrimination between persons desiring to avail themselves of warehouse facilities. [39 Stat. L. 488.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 14. [Deposits subject to what terms and rules.] That any person who deposits agricultural products for storage in a warehouse licensed under this Act shall be deemed to have deposited the same subject to the terms of this Act and the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. [39 Stat. L. 488.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 15. [Inspection and grading of stored products by licensed person.] That grain, flaxseed, or any other fungible agricultural product stored for interstate or foreign commerce, or in any place under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, in a warehouse licensed under this Act shall be inspected and graded by a person duly licensed to grade the same under this Act. [39 Stat. L. 488.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 16. [Authority of warehouseman to mingle deposits.] That every warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this Act shall keep the agricultural products therein of one depositor so far separate from agricultural products of other depositors, and from other agricultural products of the same depositor for which a separate receipt has been issued, as to permit at all times the identification and redelivery of the agricultural products deposited; but if authorized by agreement or by custom, a warehouseman may mingle fungible agricultural products with other agricultural products of the same kind and grade, and shall be severally liable to each depositor for the care and redelivery of his share of such mass, to the same extent and under the same circumstances as if the agricultural products had been kept separate, but he shall at no time while they are in his custody mix fungible agricultural products of different grades. [39 Stat. L. 488.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 17. [Receipts — issuance by warehouseman.] That for all agricultural products stored for interstate or foreign commerce, or in any place under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, in a warehouse licensed under this Act original receipts shall be issued by the warehouseman conducting the same, but no receipts shall be issued except for agricultural products actually stored in the warehouse at the time of the issuance thereof. [39 Stat. L. 488.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 18. [Contents of receipt.] That every receipt issued for agricultural products stored in a warehouse licensed under this Act shall embody within its written or printed terms (a) the location of the warehouse in which the agricultural products are stored; (b) the date of issue of the receipt; (c) the consecutive number of the receipt; (d) a statement whether the agricultural products received will be delivered to the bearer, to a specified person, or to a specified person or his order; (e) the rate of storage charges; (f) a description of the agricultural products received, showing the quantity thereof, or, in case of agricultural products customarily put up in bales or packages, a description of such bales or packages by marks, numbers, or other means of identification and the weight of such bales or packages; (g) the grade or other class of the agricultural products received and the standard or description in accordance with which such classification has been made: Provided, That such grade or other class shall be stated according to the official standard of the United States applicable to such agricultural products as the same may be fixed and promulgated under authority of law: Provided further, That until such official standards of the United States for any agricultural product or products have been fixed and promulgated, the grade or other class thereof may be stated in accordance with any recognized standard or in accordance with such rules and regulations not inconsistent herewith as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture; (h) a statement that the receipt is issued subject to the United States warehouse Act and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder; (i) if the receipt be issued for agricultural products of which the warehouseman is owner, either solely or jointly or in common with others, the fact of such ownership; (j) a statement of the amount of advances made and of liabilities incurred for which the warehouseman claims a lien: Provided, That if the precise amount of such advances made or of such liabilities incurred be at the time of the issue of the receipt unknown to the warehouseman or his agent who issues it, a statement of the fact that advances have been made or liabilities incurred and the purpose thereof shall be sufficient; (k) such other terms and conditions within the limitations of this Act as may be required by the Secretary of Agriculture; and (1) the signature of the warehouseman, which may be made by his authorized agent: Provided, That unless otherwise required by law of the State in which the warehouse is located, when requested by the depositor of other than fungible agricultural products, a receipt omitting compliance with subdivision (g) of this section may be issued if it have plainly and conspicuously embodied in its written or printed terms a provision that such receipt is not negotiable. [39 Stat. L. 488.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 19. [Standards for agricultural products — establishment by Secretary of Agriculture.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized, from time to time, to establish and promulgate standards for agricultural products in this Act defined by which their quality or value may be judged or determined: Provided, That the standards for any agricultural products which have been, or which in future may be, established by or under authority of any other Act of Congress shall be, and are hereby, adopted for the purposes of this Act as the official standards of the United States for the agricultural products to which they relate. [39 Stat. L. 489.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

The Secretary of Agriculture was authorized to establish standard grades of cotton by the Act of May 23, 1908 ch. 192, § 1, given in 1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 6; 1 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 239.

SEC. 20. [Effect of uncanceled original receipt — new receipt.] That while an original receipt issued under this Act is outstanding and uncanceled by the warehouseman issuing the same no other or further receipt shall be issued for the agricultural product covered thereby or for any part thereof, except that in the case of a lost or destroyed receipt a new receipt, upon the same terms and subject to the same conditions and bearing on its face the number and date of the receipt in lieu of which it is issued, may be issued upon compliance with the statutes of the United States applicable thereto in places under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States or upon compliance with the laws of any State applicable thereto in any place not under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States: Provided, That if there be in such case no statute of the United States or law of a State applicable thereto such new receipts may be issued upon the giving of satisfactory security in compliance with the rules and regulations made pursuant to this Act. [39 Stat. L. 489.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 21. [Delivery of stored products.] That a warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this Act, in the absence of some lawful excuse, shall, without unnecessary delay, deliver the agricultural products stored therein upon a demand made either by the holder of a receipt for such agricultural products or by the depositor thereof if such demand be accompanied with (a) an offer to satisfy the warehouseman's lien; (b) an offer to surrender the receipt, if negotiable, with such indorsements as would be necessary for the negotiation of the receipt; and (c) a readiness and willingness to sign, when the products are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered if such signature is requested by the warehouseman. [39 Stat. L. 489.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 22. [Cancelling receipts.] That a warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this Act shall plainly cancel upon the face thereof each receipt returned to him upon the delivery by him of the agricultural products for which the receipt was issued. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 23. [Records and reports by warehousemen.] That every warehouseman conducting a warehouse licensed under this Act shall keep in a place of safety complete and correct records of all agricultural products stored therein and withdrawn therefrom, of all warehouse receipts issued by him, and of the receipts returned to and cancelled by him, shall make reports to the Secretary of Agriculture concerning such warehouse and the condition, contents, operation, and business thereof in such form and at such times as he may require, and shall conduct said warehouse in all other respects in compliance with this Act and the rules and regulations made hereunder. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 24. [Examination of stored agricultural product—findings—publication.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to cause examinations to be made of any agricultural product stored in any warehouse licensed under this Act. Whenever, after opportunity for hearing is given to the warehouseman conducting such warehouse, it is determined that he is not performing fully the duties imposed on him by this Act and the rules and regulations made hereunder, the Secretary may publish his findings. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 25. [Suspension or revocation of license.] That the Secretary of Agriculture may, after opportunity for hearing has been afforded to the licensee concerned, suspend or revoke any license issued to any warehouseman conducting a warehouse under this Act, for any violation of or failure to comply with any provision of this Act or of the rules and regulations made hereunder or upon the ground that unreasonable or exorbitant charges have been made for services rendered. Pending investigation, the Secretary of Agriculture, whenever he deems necessary, may suspend a license temporarily without hearing. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 26. [Publication of results of investigations, names and addresses of licensees, etc.] That the Secretary of Agriculture from time to time may publish the results of any investigations made under section three of this Act; and he shall publish the names and locations of warehouses licensed and bonded and the names and addresses of persons licensed under this Act and lists of all licenses terminated under this Act and the causes therefor. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 27. [Examination of books, records, etc.] That the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized through officials, employees, or agents of the Department of Agriculture designated by him to examine all books, records, papers, and accounts of warehouses licensed under this Act and of the warehousemen conducting such warehouses relating thereto. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 28. [Rules and regulations.] That the Secretary of Agriculture shall from time to time make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the efficient execution of the provisions of this Act. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 29. [Impairment of laws of other states and United States.] That nothing in this Act shall be construed to conflict with, or to authorize any conflict with, or in any way to impair or limit the effect or operation of the laws of any State relating to warehouses, warehousemen, weighers, graders, or classifiers; but the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to cooperate with such officials as are charged with the enforcement of such State laws in such States and through such cooperation to secure the enforcement of the provisions of this Act; nor shall this Act be construed so as to limit the operation of any statute of the United States relating to warehouses or warehousemen, weighers, graders, or classifiers now in force in the District of Columbia or in any Territory or other place under the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 30. [Forgery, etc., of licenses and receipts.] That every person who shall forge, alter, counterfeit, simulate, or falsely represent, or shall without proper authority use, any license issued by the Secretary of Agriculture under this Act, or who shall violate or fail to comply with any provision of section eight of this Act, or who shall issue or utter a false or fraudulent receipt or certificate, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court. [39 Stat. L. 490.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 31. [Appropriation.] That there is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $50,000, available until expended, for the expenses of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act, including the payment of such rent and the employment of such persons and means as the Secretary of Agriculture may deem necessary in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and he is authorized, in his discretion, to employ qualified persons not regularly in the service of the United States for temporary assistance in carrying out the purposes of this Act, and out of the moneys appropriated by this Act to pay the salaries and expenses thereof. [39 Stat. L. 491.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 32. [Effect of invalidity of part of Act.] That if any clause, sentence, paragraph, or part of this Act shall, for any reason, be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair, or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered. [39 Stat. L. 491.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

SEC. 33. [Right to amend, etc.] That the right to amend, alter, or repeal this Act is hereby expressly reserved. [39 Stat. L. 491.]

See the note to section 1 of this Act, supra, p. 1057.

[Act of July 26, 1916, ch. 257, 39 Stat. L. 390.]

[Reclamation Act amended — acceptance of extension of times of payment by present owners — notice — payment of installments.] That section fourteen of an Act entitled "An Act extending the period of payment under reclamation projects, and for other purposes," approved August thirteenth, nineteen hundred and fourteen, be amended so as to read as follows:

"SEC. 14. That any person whose land or entry has heretofore become subject to the reclamation law, who desires to secure the benefits of the extension of the period of payments provided by this Act, shall, within six months after the issuance of the first public notice hereunder affecting his land or entry, notify the Secretary of the Interior, in the manner to be prescribed by said Secretary, of his acceptance of all the terms and conditions of this Act, and thereafter his lands or entry shall be subject to all of the provisions of this Act: Provided, That upon sufficient showing the Secretary of the Interior may, in his discretion, permit notice of acceptance of all the terms and conditions of this Act to be filed at any time after the time limit hereinbefore fixed for filing such acceptance shall have expired, conditioned, however, that where the applicant for such acceptance is in arrears on construction charges, he shall at the time of acceptance pay such installments of the construction charge as he would have been required to pay had he accepted this Act within the time limit hereinabove fixed, plus the penalties that would have accrued had he so accepted, and such applicant shall thereafter be upon the same status that he would have been had he accepted the provisions of this Act within the time limit hereinabove fixed, and thereafter the lands or entry of any such persons so filing such notice of acceptance shall be subject to all the provisions of this Act." [39 Stat. L. 390.]

For the Act of Aug. 13, 1914, ch. 247, § 14, amended by this Act, see 1916 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 315; 9 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 1389.

An Act To promote the reclamation of arid lands.

[Act of August 11, 1916, ch. 319, 39 Stat. L. 506.]

[SEC. 1.] [Arid public lands — reclamation — irrigation.] That when in any State of the United States under the irrigation district laws of said State there has heretofore been organized and created or shall hereafter be organized and created any irrigation district for the purpose of irrigating the lands situated within said irrigation district, and in which irrigation district so created or to be created there shall be included any of the public lands of the United States, such public lands so situated in said irrigation district, when subject to entry, and entered lands within said irrigation district, for which no final certificates have been issued, which may be designated by the Secretary of the Interior in the approval by him of the map and plat of an irrigation district as provided in section three, are hereby made and declared to be subject to all the provisions of the laws of the State in which such lands shall be situated relating to the organization, government and regulation of irrigation districts for the reclamation and irrigation of arid lands for agricultural purposes, to the same extent and in the same manner in which the lands of a like character held under private ownership are or may be subject to said laws: Provided, That the United States and all persons legally holding unpatented lands under entry made under the public land laws of the United States are accorded all the rights, privileges, benefits, and exemptions given by said State laws to persons holding lands of a like character under private ownership, except as hereinafter otherwise provided: Provided further, That this Act shall not apply to any irrigation district comprising a majority acreage of unentered land. [39 Stat. L. 506.]

SEC. 2. [Apportionment of cost of irrigation canals, etc.—liens.] That the cost of constructing, acquiring, purchasing, or maintaining the canals, ditches, reservoirs, reservoir sites, water, water right, rights of way, or other property incurred in connection with any irrigation project under said irrigation district laws shall be equitably apportioned among lands held under private ownership, lands legally covered by unpatented entries, and unentered public lands included in said irrigation district. Officially certified lists of the amounts of charges assessed against the smallest legal subdivision of said lands shall be furnished to the register and receiver of the land district within which the lands affected are located as soon as such charges are assessed; but nothing in this Act shall be construed as creating any obligation against the United States to pay any of said charges, assessments, or debts incurred.

That all charges legally assessed shall be a lien upon unentered lands and upon lands covered by unpatented entries included in said irrigation district; and said lien upon said land covered by unpatented entries may be enforced upon said unpatented lands by the sale thereof in the same manner and under the same proceeding whereby said assessments are enforced against lands held under private ownership: Provided, That in the case of entered unpatented lands the title or interest which such irrigation district may convey by tax sale, tax deed, or as a result of any tax proceeding shall be subject to the following conditions and limitations: If such unpatented land be withdrawn under the Act of Congress of June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and two (Thirty-second Statutes, page three hundred and eighty-eight), known as the reclamation Act, or subject to the provisions of said Act, then the interest which the district may convey by such tax proceedings or tax deed shall be subject to a prior lien reserved to the United States for all the unpaid charges authorized by the said Act of June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and two, but the holder of such tax deed or tax title resulting from such district tax shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges in the land included in such tax title or tax deed of an assignee under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten (Thirty-sixth Statutes, page five hundred and ninety-two), and upon submission to the United States land office of the district in which the land is located of satisfactory proof of such tax title, the name of the holder thereof shall be indorsed upon the records of such land office as entitled to the rights of one holding a complete and valid assignment under the said Act of June twenty-third, nineteen hundred and ten, and such person may at any time thereafter receive patent upon submitting satisfactory proof of the reclamation and irrigation required by the said Act of Congress of June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and two, and Acts amendatory thereto, and making the payments required by said Acts. [39 Stat. L. 507.]

SEC. 3. [Liens — taxes and assessments.] That no unentered lands and no entered lands for which no final certificates have been issued shall be subject to the lien or liens herein contemplated until there shall have been submitted by said irrigation district to the Secretary of the Interior, and approved by him, a map or plat of said district and sufficient detailed engineering data to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Interior the sufficiency of the water supply and the feasibility of the project, and which shall explain the plan or mode of irrigation in those irrigation districts where the irrigation works have not been constructed, and which plan shall be sufficient to thoroughly irrigate and reclaim said land and prepare it to raise ordinary agricultural crops, and which shall also show the source of water to be used for irrigation of land included in said district: Provided, That the Secretary of the Interior may, upon the expiration of ten years from the date of his approval of said map and plan of any irrigation district, release from the lien authorized by this Act any unentered land or lands upon which final certificate has not issued, for which irrigation works have not been constructed and water of such district made available for the land: Provided further, That in those irrigation districts already organized and whose irrigation works have been constructed and are in operation as soon as a satisfactory map, plat, and plan shall have been approved by the Secretary of the Interior, as in this Act provided, such entered and unentered lands shall be subject to all district taxes and assessments theretofore actually levied against the lands in said district and in the same manner in which lands of a like character held under private ownership are subject to liens and assessments. [39 Stat. L. 507.]

SEC. 4. [Approval of district map or plat.] That upon the approval of the district map or plat as hereinbefore provided by the Secretary of the Interior the register and receiver will note said approval upon their records where any unentered or entered and unpatented lands are affected. [39 Stat. L. 508.]

SEC. 5. [Sale for taxes and assessments.] That no public lands which were unentered at the time any tax or assessment was levied against same by such irrigation district shall be sold for such taxes or assessments, but such tax or assessment shall be and continue a lien upon such lands, and not more than one hundred and sixty acres of such land shall be entered by any one person; and when such lands shall be applied for, after said approval by the Secretary of the Interior, under the homestead or desert-land laws of the United States the application shall be suspended for a period of thirty days to enable the applicant to present a certificate from the proper district or county officer showing that no unpaid district charges are due and delinquent against said land. [39 Stat. L. 508.]

SEC. 6. [Patents — subrogation to rights of purchaser — relinquishment of entered land.] That any entered but unpatented lands not subject to the reclamation Act of June seventeenth, nineteen hundred and two (Thirty-second Statutes, page three hundred and eighty-eight), sold in the manner and for the purposes mentioned in this Act may be patented to the purchaser thereof or his assignee at any time after the expiration of the period of redemption allowed by law under which it may have been sold (no redemption having been made) upon the payment to the receiver of the local land office of the minimum price of $1.25 per acre, or such other price as may be fixed by law for such lands, together with the usual fees and commissions charged in entries of like lands under the homestead laws, and upon a satisfactory showing that the irrigation works have been constructed and that water of the district is available for such land; but the purchaser or his assignee shall, at the time of application for patent, have the qualification of a homestead entryman or desert-land entryman, and not more than one hundred and sixty acres of said land shall be patented to any one purchaser under the provisions of this Act.

These limitations shall not apply to sales to irrigation districts, but shall apply to purchasers from such irrigation districts of such lands bid in by said district.

That unless the purchaser or his assignee of such lands shall, within ninety days after the time for redemption has expired, pay to the proper receiver all fees and commissions and the purchase price to which the United States shall be entitled as provided for in this Act, any person having the qualification of a homestead entryman or a desert-land entryman may pay to the proper receiver, for not more than one hundred and sixty acres of said lands, for which payment has not been made, the unpaid purchase price, fees, and commissions to which the United States may be entitled; and upon satisfactory proof that he has paid to the purchaser at the tax sale, or his assignee or to the proper officer of the district for such purchaser or for the district, as the case may be, the sum for which the land was sold at sale for irrigation district charges or bid in by the district at such sale, and in addition thereto the interest and penalties on the amount bid at the rate allowed by law, shall be subrogated to the rights of such purchaser to receive patent for said land.

In any case where any tract of entered land lying within such approved irrigation district shall become vacant by relinquishment or cancellation for any cause, any subsequent applicant therefor shall be required, in addition to the qualifications and requirements otherwise provided, to furnish satisfactory proof by certificate from the proper district or county officer that he has paid all charges then due to the district upon said land and also has paid to the proper district or county officer for the holder or holders of any tax certificates, delinquency certificates, or other proper evidence of purchase at tax sale the amount for which the said land was sold at tax sale, together with the interest and penalties thereon provided by law. [39 Stat. L. 508.]

SEC. 7. [Notices — hearing by petition, etc. — redemption.] That all notices required by the irrigation district laws mentioned in this act shall, as soon as such notices are issued, be delivered to the register and receiver of the proper land office in cases where unpatented lands are affected thereby, and to the entryman whose unpatented lands are included therein, and the United States and such entryman shall be given the same rights to be heard by petition, answer, remonstrance, appeal, or otherwise as are given to persons holding lands in private ownership, and all entrymen shall be given the same rights of redemption as are given to the owners of lands held in private ownership. [39 Stat. L. 509.]

SEC. 8. [Money received from sale of public lands — disposition.] That all moneys derived by the United States from the sale of public lands herein referred to shall be paid into such funds and applied as provided by law for the disposal of the proceeds from the sale of public lands. [39 Stat. L. 509.]

An Act To amend section one of the Act of August ninth, nineteen hundred and twelve, providing for patents on reclamation entries, and for other purposes.

[Irrigation Act — patents to homesteaders — water-right certificates — payment — former Act amended.] That the proviso to section one of the Act of August ninth, nineteen hundred and twelve (Thirty-seventh Statutes, page two hundred and sixty-five), entitled "An Act providing for patents on reclamation entries, and for other purposes," be amended to read as follows:

"Provided, That no such patent or final water-right certificate shall issue until after the payment of all sums due the United States on account of such land or water right at the time of the submission of proof entitling the homestead or desert-land entryman to such patent or the purchaser to such final water-right certificate." [39 Stat. L. 920.]

[SEC. 1.] [Reclamation — reimbursements of moneys advanced — application of moneys refunded, etc.— former Act amended.] * * *
The Act of June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten (Thirty-sixth Statutes, page eight hundred and thirty-five), is amended to provide that reimbursement of the moneys advanced under the provisions of that Act shall be made by transferring annually the sum of $1,000,000 from the reclamation fund to the general funds in the Treasury, beginning July first, nineteen hundred and twenty, and continuing until full reimbursement has been made;

All moneys heretofore or hereafter refunded or received in connection with operations under the reclamation law, except repayments of construction and operation and maintenance charges, shall be a credit to the appropriation for the project or operation from or on account of which the collection is made and shall be available for expenditure in like manner as if said sum had been specifically appropriated for said project or operation.

SEC. 11. ["Reclamation Act" — suspension of provision relating to residence.] That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized, in his discretion, to suspend during the continuance of this Act that provision of the Act known as the "Reclamation Act" requiring residence upon lands in private ownership or within the neighborhood for securing water for the irrigation of the same, and he is authorized to permit the use of available water thereon upon such terms and conditions as he may deem proper. [40 Stat. L. 276.]

The foregoing section 11 is from an Act of Aug. 10, 1917, ch. 52, entitled "An Act to provide further for the national security and defense by stimulating agriculture and facilitating the distribution of agricultural products." The entire Act is set out as referred to in AGRICULTURE, ante, p. 44, and section 12 there given determines how long the Act is to remain effective and should be read in connection with this section.

An Act To standardize lime barrels.

[SEC. 1.] [Lime barrels — standardization.] That there is hereby established a large and a small barrel of lime, the large barrel to consist of two hundred and eighty pounds and the small barrel to consist of one hundred and eighty pounds, net weight. [39 Stat. L. 530.]

SEC. 2. [Marking.] That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell or offer for sale lime imported in barrels from a foreign country, or to sell or offer for sale lime in barrels for shipment from any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, to any other State or Territory or the District of Columbia, unless there shall be stenciled or otherwise clearly marked on one or both heads of the small barrel the figures "180 lbs. net" and of the large barrel the figures "280 lbs. net" before the importation or shipment, and on either barrel in addition the name of the manufacturer of the lime and where manufactured, and, if imported, the name of the country from which it is imported. [39 Stat. L. 530.]

SEC. 3. [Sales in fractional parts of standard barrel.] When lime is sold in interstate or foreign commerce in containers of less capacity than the standard small barrel, it shall be sold in fractional parts of said standard small barrel, and the net weight of lime contained in such container shall by stencil or otherwise be clearly marked thereon, together with the name of the manufacturer thereof, and the name of the brand, if any, under which it is sold, and, if imported, the name of the country from which it is imported. [39 Stat. L. 530.]

SEC. 4. [Enforcement of Act — rules and regulations.] That rules and regulations for the enforcement of this Act, not inconsistent with the provisions of the Act, shall be made by the Director of the Bureau of Standards and approved by the Secretary of Commerce, and that such rules and regulations shall include reasonable variations or tolerances which may be allowed. [39 Stat. L. 531.]

SEC. 5. [Failure to mark barrels or containers — penalty.] That it shall be unlawful to pack, sell, or offer for sale for shipment from any State or Territory or the District of Columbia to any other State or Territory or the District of Columbia, any barrels or other containers of lime which are not marked as provided in sections two and three of this Act, or to sell, charge for, or purport to deliver from any State or Territory or the District of Columbia to any other State or Territory or the District of Columbia, as a large or small barrel or a fractional part of said small barrel of lime, any less weight of lime than is established by the provisions of this Act; and any person guilty of a violation of the provisions of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be liable to a fine not exceeding $100. [39 Stat. L. 531.]

SEC. 6. [Duty of district attorney.] That it shall be the duty of each district attorney, to whom satisfactory evidence of any violation of this Act is presented, to cause appropriate proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted in the United States court having jurisdiction of such offense: Provided, however, That the penal provisions of this Act shall not take effect until January first, nineteen hundred and seventeen. [39 Stat. L. 531.]

SEC. 7. [Act when effective.] That this Act shall be in force and effect from and after its passage. [39 Stat. L. 531.]

WEST INDIAN ISLANDS

Act of March 3, 1917, ch. 171, 1074.

- Sec. 1. Islands Acquired from Denmark — Temporary Government — Officers — Appointment — Compensation, 1074.*
2. Laws Applicable — Courts — Jurisdiction — Appeals, 1075.
3. Duties — Internal Revenue Taxes — Goods Coming into United States, 1075.
4. Existing Laws Imposing Taxes — Continuance, 1076.
5. Disposition of Duties and Taxes Collected, 1076.
6. Appropriation for Various Purposes, 1076.
7. Purchase Price of Islands — Appropriation — Place of Payment, 1076.
8. When Act Becomes Effective, 1077.

An Act To provide a temporary government for the West Indian Islands acquired by the United States from Denmark by the convention entered into between said countries on the fourth day of August, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and ratified by the Senate of the United States on the seventh day of September, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and for other purposes.

[SEC. 1.] [Islands acquired from Denmark — temporary government — officers — appointment — compensation.] That, except as hereinafter provided, all military, civil, and judicial powers necessary to govern the West Indian Islands acquired from Denmark shall be vested in a governor and such person or persons as the President may appoint, and shall be exercised in such manner as the President shall direct until Congress shall provide for the government of said islands: Provided, That the President may assign an officer of the Army or Navy to serve as such governor and perform the duties appertaining to said office: And provided further, That the governor of the said islands shall be appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate: And provided further, That the compensation of all persons appointed under this Act shall be fixed by the President.

For the terms of the convention between the United States and Denmark, mentioned in the title of this Act, see 39 Stat. L. 1706.

SEC. 2. [Laws applicable — courts — jurisdiction — appeals.] That until Congress shall otherwise provide, in so far as compatible with the changed sovereignty and not in conflict with the provisions of this Act, the laws regulating elections and the electoral franchise as set forth in the code of laws published at Amalienborg the sixth day of April, nineteen hundred and six, and the other local laws, in force and effect in said islands on the seventeenth day of January, nineteen hundred and seventeen, shall remain in force and effect in said islands, and the same shall be administered by the civil officials and through the local judicial tribunals established in said islands, respectively; and the orders, judgments, and decrees of said judicial tribunals shall be duly enforced. With the approval of the President, or under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe, any of said laws may be repealed, altered, or amended by the colonial council having jurisdiction. The jurisdiction of the judicial tribunals of said islands shall extend to all judicial proceedings and controversies in said islands to which the United States or any citizen thereof may be a party. In all cases arising in the said West Indian Islands and now reviewable by the courts of Denmark, writs of error and appeals shall be to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, and, except as provided in sections two hundred and thirty-nine and two hundred and forty of the Judicial Code, the judgments, orders, and decrees of such court shall be final in all such cases. [39 Stat. L. 1132.]

Judicial notice will be taken of the laws in force in the West Indian Islands prior to their acquisition by the United States. Article STATUTES AND STATUTORY CONSTRUCTION, 1 Fed. Stat. Ann. p. xii; 1 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) p. 21, § 12.

The Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit comprises the districts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware. See Judicial Code, § 116, 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 191; 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 599.

For Judicial Code, § 239, authorizing the Circuit Court of Appeals to certify questions to the Supreme Court for instruction, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 231; 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 838.

For Judicial Code, § 240, providing for certiorari from the Supreme Court to the Circuit Court of Appeals in cases otherwise final in the latter court, see 1912 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 232; 5 Fed. Stat. Ann. (2d ed.) 854.

SEC. 3. [Duties — internal revenue taxes — goods coming into United States.] That on and after the passage of this Act there shall be levied, collected, and paid upon all articles coming into the United States or its possessions, from the West Indian Islands ceded to the United States by Denmark, the rates of duty and internal-revenue taxes which are required to be levied, collected, and paid upon like articles imported from foreign countries: Provided, That all articles, the growth or product of, or manufactured in such islands from materials the growth or product of such islands or of the United States, or of both, or which do not contain foreign materials to the value of more than twenty per centum of their total value, upon which no drawback of customs duties has been allowed therein, coming into the United States from such islands shall hereafter be admitted free of duty. [39 Stat. L. 1133.]

SEC. 4. [Existing laws imposing taxes — continuance.] That until Congress shall otherwise provide all laws now imposing taxes in the said West Indian Islands, including the customs laws and regulations, shall, in so far as compatible with the changed sovereignty and not otherwise herein provided, continue in force and effect, except that articles of growth, product, or manufacture of the United States shall be admitted there free of duty: Provided, That upon exportation of sugar to any foreign country, or the shipment thereof to the United States or any of its possessions, there shall be levied, collected, and paid thereon an export duty of $8 per ton of two thousand pounds irrespective of polariscope test, in lieu of any export tax now required by law. [39 Stat. L. 1133.]

SEC. 5. [Disposition of duties and taxes collected.] That the duties and taxes collected in pursuance of this Act shall not be covered into the general fund of the Treasury of the United States, but shall be used and expended for the government and benefit of said islands under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe. [39 Stat. L. 1133.]

SEC. 6. [Appropriation for various purposes.] That for the purpose of taking over and occupying said islands and of carrying this Act into effect and to meet any deficit in the revenues of the said islands resulting from the provisions of this Act the sum of $100,000 is hereby appropriated, to be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and to be applied under the direction of the President of the United States. [39 Stat. L. 1133.]

SEC. 7. [Purchase price of Islands — appropriation — place of payment.] That the sum of $25,000,000 is hereby appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be paid in the city of Washington to the diplomatic representative or other agent of His Majesty the King of Denmark duly authorized to receive said money, in full consideration of the cession of the Danish West Indian Islands to the United States made by the convention between the United States of America and His Majesty the King of Denmark entered into August fourth, nineteen hundred and sixteen, and ratified by the Senate of the United States on the seventh day of September, nineteen hundred and sixteen. [39 Stat. L. 1133.]

For the terms of the Convention between the United States and Denmark, mentioned in this section, see 39 Stat. L. 1706.

SEC. 8. [When Act becomes effective.] That this Act, with the exception of section seven, shall be in force and effect and become operative immediately upon the payment by the United States of said sum of $25,000,000. The fact and date of such payment shall thereupon be made public by a proclamation issued by the President and published in the said Danish West Indian Islands and in the United States. Section seven shall become immediately effective and the appropriation thereby provided for shall be immediately available. [39 Stat. L. 1133.]

SUPPLEMENTAL NOTES

1914 Supp., p. 7, sec. 7.

Potato diseases.—In Daigle v. U. S., (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 159, 150 C. C. A. 305, the facts showed that the Secretary of Agriculture by virtue of the authority conferred by this section prohibited the importation of the common potato from the Dominion of Canada and certain other countries because of the prevalence of potato diseases, and that this potato quarantine was set up as good ground for the seizure of potatoes which had been imported from Canada to Maine. The libel, however, was held insufficient to make such ground available.

"Plant product" as including lumber.—In Boston, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 440, 158 C. C. A. 504, it was held that the words "plant product" did not include lumber.

1914 Supp., p. 9, sec. 10.

Necessity that information be sworn to.—Where no warrant of arrest is asked for the information need not be sworn to. U. S. v. Adams Express Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 230 Fed. 531.

Sufficiency of information.—In U. S. v. Adams Express Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 230 Fed. 531, the information was brought under section 8 of this Act which authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to establish, by regulations to be made by him from time to time, quarantine boundaries against dangerous plant diseases and insect pests, and forbid common carriers to receive for transportation goods covered by such regulations unless such goods had been inspected and the package containing them was certified by the proper officers. The information alleged that the defendant did receive for such transportation nursery stock which had not been inspected and which bore no certificate as required by the Act, and that the defendant knew that the box which it received for transportation, and which bore no certificate, contained nursery stock. The information was demurred to and there was also a motion to quash. The demurrer was sustained.

ALASKA

Vol. I, p. 38, sec. 8. [Persons in possession, etc.]

Abandonment of possessory right.—A claim to lands on the ground of alleged actual and continuous possession cannot be maintained under this section where there has been an abandonment of such lands, and they have in consequence become vacant, unused, unoccupied, unappropriated land of the United States. Pacific Coast Co. v. James, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 595, 148 C. C. A. 361.

Right to convey.—This act, in recognizing the possessory rights of the Indians, did not deny to them the power to convey to others their right of occupation. Worthen Lumber Mills v. Alaska Juneau Gold Min. Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 966, 144 C. C. A. 248.

Vol. I, p. 50, sec. 10. [Roadway parallel to shore reserved.]

Roadway through reserved lands.—This section refers to a roadway through the reserved land previously described, and not other lands granted in fee under the homestead laws. Worthen Lumber Mills v. Alaska Juneau Gold Min. Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 966, 144 C. C. A. 248.

Vol. I, p. 54, sec. 15.

Reservation of adjacent waters.—The reservation by Presidential proclamation of the waters surrounding Annette Island for the use and benefit of the natives is in accord with the practical purpose Congress had in view when it made the original reservation. Alaska Pacific Fisheries v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 274, 153 C. C. A. 200.

Vol. I, p. 101, sec. 267.

Equitable judgments.—The provision of this section that, on judgments in actions at law, the clerk shall issue execution, is by virtue of section 382 of this Code, made applicable in equitable judgments, so far as the nature of the judgment may require or admit. Lesamis v. Greenburg, (C. C. A.

9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 449, 140 C. C. A. 481.

Vol. I, p. 126, sec. 382.

Practice in equitable judgments.—This section makes the provision of section 267 of this Code, that on judgments in actions at law the clerk shall issue the execution, applicable in equitable judgments, so far as the nature of the judgment may require or admit. Lesamis v. Greenberg, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 449, 140 C. C. A. 481.

Vol. I, p. 148, sec. 508.

Stay of proceedings pending appeal.—Where under a judgment property is directed to be sold and an appeal from the judgment is taken to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, the court decreeing the sale will not ordinarily stay execution or postpone the sale pending hearing on appeal, unless a supersedeas has been issued. Lesamis v. Greenberg, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 449, 140 C. C. A. 481.

Vol. I, p. 303, sec. 2.

Operation and effect of legislation.—The adoption by Congress of this act to define and punish crimes in the District of Alaska does not make the offenses therein defined offenses against the United States. Ex parte Krause, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 228 Fed. 547.

Vol. X, p. 6, sec. 3.

Repeal.—This section regarding the powers of town councils was repealed by implication by the Act of April 28, 1904, ch. 1778, 33 Stat. L. 529, 10 Fed. Stat. Annot. 16. Guidoni v. Wheeler, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 93, 144 C. C. A. 391.

Vol. X, p. 26.

Construction.—The provision, that "along such shore a space of at least eighty rods shall be reserved from entry between all such claims," means plainly that a space of at least eighty rods shall be reserved from entry along the shore of the navigable water between claims along such shore. U. S. v. Poland, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 810, 145 C. C. A. 630.

Vol. X, p. 27, sec. 1.

Validity of location.—This statute contemplates as a basis of a valid location the opening and development of a producing mine of coal. Work performed upon a claim merely for prospecting purposes does not fulfill the requirement. U. S. v. Lane, (1917) 46 App. Cas. (D. C.) 443.

1909 Supp., p. 19.

Effect on occupation and alienation.—This Act, authorizing the Secretary of the Interior in his discretion to allot non-mineral land to any Indian or Eskimo as a homestead for the allottee and his heirs in perpetuity, which "shall be inalienable and nontaxable until otherwise provided by Congress" does not of its own force terminate the rights of occupation which the Indian had prior thereto, or place any bar upon the alienation thereof. Worthen Lumber Mills v. Alaska Juneau Gold Min. Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 966, 144 C. C. A. 248.

1909 Supp., p. 20, sec. 1.

Additional license taxes.—The territory of Alaska may impose additional license taxes, for the purpose of revenue. Alaska Pacific Fisheries v. Alaska, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 52, 149 C. C. A. 262; Hoonah Packing Co. v. Alaska, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 61, 149 C. C. A. 271. See also Alaska Salmon Co. v. Alaska, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 62, 149 C. C. 1909 Supp., p. 22, sec. 5.

Release of obstructions.—The provision of this section requiring that 25 feet of the webbing or net of the heart of traps shall be lifted or lowered so as to permit the free passage of salmon and other fishes is not merely directory. It is a plain command of the statute and disobedience thereto is a crime under the Act. Thlinket Packing Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 109, 149 C. C. A. 319.

1909 Supp., p. 24, sec. 13.

Indictment.—An indictment charging a violation of section 5 of this Act, respecting the release of obstructions, need not allege that the accused was actually fishing or taking fish. An allegation that the accused "did unlawfully and wrongfully maintain and operate for fishing a certain trap" is sufficient. Thlinket Packing Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 109, 149 C. C. A. 319.

1914 Supp., p. 14, sec. 2.

Time of recording power of attorney.—A power of attorney, authorizing the location of placer mining claims by one for another, must be recorded before any step in the matter of such location can be taken. Sutherland v. Purdy, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 600, 148 C. C. A. 366, overruling dicta on this point in Cloninger v. Finlaison, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 98, 144 C. C. A. 396.

Purpose of exemption clause.—See Alaska Northern R. Co. v. Municipality of Seward, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 667, 144 C. C. A. 77.

Power of municipality to levy tax on railway.—Authorizing, as Congress did, the legislature to levy taxes for territorial purposes up to 1 per centum upon the assessed valuation of property situated within the territory in any one year, and authorizing any incorporated town or municipality thereof to levy any tax for any purpose up to 2 per centum of the assessed valuation of property within the town in any one year, Congress expressly declared that it reserved to itself the exclusive power for five years to fix and impose any tax upon railways or railway property in Alaska. The necessary effect of this reservation is to prohibit the levy of any tax upon such property during the specified period by any other power. Alaska Northern R. Co. v. Municipality of Seward, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 667, 144 C. C. A. 77.

ANIMALSVol. 1, p. 443, sec. 7.

Quarantine regulations.—The Secretary of Agriculture has full authority to make regulations designating ports of import and quarantine and inspection stations, and requiring that cattle, sheep and other ruminants and swine imported into the United States, which are subject to both quarantine and inspection, must be entered at such ports of entry and inspected by an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry. Estes v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 818, 142 C. C. A. 342.

Vol. X, p. 34, sec. 1.

Power of Secretary to prescribe regulations.—To accomplish the purposes of this statute, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to make such regulations and take such measures as may be deemed proper. U. S. v. Pennsylvania Co., (W. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 961. See also U. S. v. Cudahy Packing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1917) 243 Fed. 441.

Vol. X, p. 35, sec. 2.

Quarantine regulations.—The Secretary of Agriculture has full authority to make regulations designating ports of import and quarantine and inspection stations and requiring that horses, cattle, sheep and other ruminants, and swine imported into the United States, which are subject to both quarantine and inspection, must be entered at such ports of entry and inspected by an inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry. Estes v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 818, 142 C. C. A. 342.

Vol. X, p. 36, sec. 4.

State regulations.—When the subject of transportation of live stock from one state to another is taken under direct national supervision and a system devised by which diseased stock may be excluded from interstate commerce, any state regulations in respect of such matters will cease to have any force. The acts of Congress and the regulations thereunder will alone control. Pecos, etc., R. Co. v. Hall, (Tex. Civ. App. 1916) 189 S. W. 535.

1909 Supp., p. 43, sec. 1.

Application of statute—Shipment originating in foreign country.—That the point of origin of shipment was in a foreign country is immaterial, when the period of confinement while passing through the United States exceeds the statutory limitation. Regardless of the points of origin or destination of the shipment the statute applies whenever its violation occurs within the jurisdiction of the federal government. Grand Trunk R. Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 116, 143 C. C. A. 392.

Liability of connecting carrier for delay of initial carrier.—Where the initial carrier has incurred liability for the penalty, such liability is not transferred to the connecting carrier with the delivery of the stock. U. S. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., (N. D. Ia. 1916) 234 Fed. 386.

Sufficiency of request extending time.—An indorsement, by a shipper or by a member of a firm making a shipment, in his own handwriting on the blank margin of the bill of lading covering one of the shipments, is sufficient to bring the shipment in question within the terms of the proviso. Norfolk, etc., R. Co. v. Steele, (1915) 117 Va. 788, 86 S. E. 124.

Equipment of stock pens.—Stock pens in open corrals in the sand, wholly without shade or covering of any kind, held to be unfit and not properly equipped for rest. Southern Pac. Co. v. Stewart, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 956, 147 C. C. A. 630.

Defenses — In general.—Any defense to an action for the penalty for confinement of cattle in violation of this law must rest upon one of two grounds. One is the absence of a corpus delicti, that is, any confinement not due to storms or accidents, etc. If such fact is present, the defendant is not liable because no offense has been established. The other is that the offense, although made out to exist and to have been committed by the defendant, was committed unwittingly. U. S. v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 238 Fed. 428.

Compliance with statute as defense to delay in delivery.—See St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Shepherd, (1916) 240 U. S. 240, 36 S. Ct. 274, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 622.

Accident as defense to delay.—Confinement exceeding the maximum thirty-six-hour period necessitated by accidents happening near final destination is excused where, in the exercise of ordinary care, prudence, and foresight the carrier reasonably could have expected that, following the determined schedule, the containing car would have reached its destination or some unloading place within the prescribed time, and thereafter exercised the diligence and foresight which prudent men, experienced in such matters, would have adopted to prevent accidents and delays, and to overcome the effect of any that might happen,—with an honest purpose always to secure unloading within the lawful period. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 246 U. S. 512, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) 434, reversing (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 268, 148 C. C. A. 170.

An indistinct notation upon a bill of lading of the time live stock was loaded on the cars is not a defense to an action under this section. It can be considered, if at all, only in mitigation. U. S. v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., (N. D. Ia. 1916) 234 Fed. 663.

Civil action for damages.—A shipper of live stock, furnished by an interstate carrier with transportation under a contract to care for, feed, water, and unload his own stock when necessary, who actually accompanies his shipment on the train in which they are transported, and consents to and participates with the carrier in a violation of the federal statutes relating to such shipment, is not in a position to maintain a civil action for damages against such carrier, alleged to have been caused by such violation. Fluckinger v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., (1915) 99 Neb. 6, 154 N. W. 865.

1909 Supp., p. 45, sec. 3.

"Wilfully."—The term "wilfully," as employed in this act, does not imply deliberate intent to do injury to the stock or to its owner. The jury may conclude that the violation was wilful, if from the evidence they find that the carrier in confining the stock beyond the statutory limit, manifested disregard of the law or indifference to its requirements. Grand Trunk R. Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 229 Fed. 116, 143 C. C. A. 392.

The ultimate question of the wilfulness of the act of confinement must be determined from the evidentiary facts, and it makes no difference that such facts appear by stipulation of the parties rather than through oral or documentary evidence. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 272, 148 C. C. A. 174.

Construction of proviso — Question for court.—The proviso in this section deals wholly with the structure of the car. If the car is such that "they can and do have proper space and opportunity to rest," then the requirement in regard to unloading does not apply. It is for the court to say what Congress meant by this language. That question cannot be left to the jury. Otherwise there would be as many rules as there are verdicts. Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Finch, (D. C. N. D. 1915) 225 Fed. 676.

"Opportunity to rest."—The phrase "opportunity to rest" means opportunity to lie down. Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Finch, (D. C. N. D. 1915) 225 Fed. 676.

Burden of bringing case within proviso.—The government need not negative the excuse embodied in the proviso of this section. Grand Trunk R. Co. v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 116, 143 C. C. A. 392.

1909 Supp., p. 46, sec. 1.

Validity of statute.—This statute is constitutional. U. S. v. Cudahy Packing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1917) 243 Fed. 441.

Purpose of law.—The entire meat inspection law was, as distinctly indicated in it, to prevent the sale of food which is unsound, unwholesome or otherwise unfit for human use or misbranded. It was not the design of Congress to provide standards of quality except to prohibit the sale of food which was unsound, unwholesome or otherwise unfit for human use and secure true branding. St. Louis Independent Packing Co. v. Houston, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1914) 215 Fed. 553, 132 C. C. A. 65, reversing (E. D. Mo. 1913) 204 Fed. 120. See further St. Louis Independent Packing Co. v. Houston, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 337, 155 C. C. A. 113.

Relation to Oleomargarine Act.—This statute applies to oleomargarine dealers notwithstanding the Oleomargarine Act of May 9, 1902, ch. 784 (title Food and Drugs, vol. 3, Fed. Stat. Annot. p. 127). Brougham v. Blanton Mfg. Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 503, 156 C. C. A. 201.

Meat food product.—Oleo oil is a meat food product.—It is, without being refined or undergoing any chemical change, the principal ingredient of oleomargarine. In manufacturing this substitute for butter, oleo oil is mechanically mixed with other substances. What the oleo oil was before mixing, it continues to be afterward; the mixture is fit for human consumption and is largely used for food. Totten v. Pittsburgh Melting Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 694, 146 C. C. A. 620, reversing (W. D. Pa. 1916) 229 Fed. 214.

Oleomargarine is a meat food product and its manufacture comes within the language of this act. See further the preceding note, Relation to Oleomargarine Act. Brougham v. Blanton Mfg. Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 503, 156 C. C. A. 201.

Authority to make regulations.—While it is true that Congress cannot delegate its legitimate powers, it can, nevertheless, delegate authority to the proper administrative or executive officer to make administrative rules, violations of which may be punished as public offenses where the act of legislation which delegates the authority ordains that this be done. U. S. v. Cudahy Packing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1917) 243 Fed. 441; U. S. v. Pennsylvania Co., (W. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 961.

Finality of Secretary's decision.—It is within the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture to find whether meat products are unsound, unhealthful or unwholesome. But his finding is not conclusive upon the courts. St. Louis Independent Packing Co. v. Houston, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 337, 155 C. C. A. 113, reversing (E. D. Mo. 1916) 231 Fed. 779. See also St. Louis Independent Packing Co. v. Houston, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1914) 215 Fed. 553, 132 C. C. A. 65, reversing (E. D. Mo. 1913) 204 Fed. 120.

1909 Supp., p. 47. [Inspectors to be appointed at canning, etc., establishments.]

Inspection by packer.—Under the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture, the packer is forbidden to make an inspection prior to the government's inspection, in the manner in which such inspection is made; but there is nothing to indicate that a subsequent independent inspection is forbidden or could not be made by the packer. And where he fails to make an inspection for himself in order to determine whether the meat sold by him is fit for food, the inspection by the government will not relieve him from civil liability for damage. Ca-

1909 Supp., p. 50. [Penalty for violations.]

Civil liability.—The provisions herein for meat inspection by government officers do not relieve the packer from liability for damages where he has made no inspection nor taken any steps to ascertain for himself whether the meat sold by him is fit for food. The common-law duty to sell only wholesome food still remains, and the burden of discharging this duty has not been shifted to government inspectors. So where the jury having found that the death of plaintiff's husband was the result of eating meat packed by defendant which was affected by a disease which the evidence showed was discoverable by proper inspection, it was held that the burden was on defendant to show fulfillment of its duty, which burden was not met by merely proving inspection by the United States government inspectors. Catani v. Swift, (1915) 251 Pa. St. 52, 95 Atl. 931, L. R. A. 1917B 1272.

1909 Supp., p. 50. [Appointment of inspectors — rules and regulations.]

The Secretary of Agriculture has no power to adopt and enforce a regulation which prohibits the making of a compound that is sound, healthful, wholesome, and free from dyes, chemicals, preservatives or ingredients which render such compound unfit for human food. St. Louis Independent Packing Co. v. Houston, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1914) 215 Fed. 553, 132 C. C. A. 65, holding that the Secretary of Agriculture had no power to prohibit manufacture and sale of sausage and cereal where the cereal was in excess of 2 per cent., reversing (E. D. Mo. 1913) 204 Fed. 120. See also St. Louis Independent Packing Co. v. Houston, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 337, 155 C. C. A. 113, reversing (E. D. Mo. 1916) 231 Fed. 779.

1909 Supp., p. 51. [Exceptions to farmers, retailers, etc.]

Application of first proviso.—This proviso does not fix responsibility for the condition of food subsequent to its inspection. So, one who delivers and offers for transportation in interstate commerce an unwholesome food product which is marked "inspected" by label as provided in this Act, is not within the proviso. U. S. v. Northwestern Fisheries Co., (W. D. Wash. 1915) 224 Fed. 274.

BAIL AND RECOGNIZANCES

Vol. I, p. 521, sec. 1015.

Declaratory of common law.—The power conferred by Congress to bail offenders against the criminal laws of the United States is declaratory of the power inherent at the common law. Ewing v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 241, 153 C. C. A. 167.

Vol. I, p. 523, sec. 1020.

Petition—Pleading.—An allegation in the petition for the remission of the penalty, "that there has been no wilful default" of the defendant or his sureties is a sufficient averment of that fact. Allegations of the evidence that the default was not wilful are not necessary. U. S. v.

Smart, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 978, 150 C. C. A. 628.

Verification.—The verification of the petition by a person who put up the money to induce the sureties to sign the recognizance, and who is therefore the real party in interest, is sufficient. U. S. v. Smart, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 978, 150 C. C. A. 628.

Time for application for remission.—The penalty may be remitted after final judgment, after the expiration of the term in which the default was adjudged and after the expiration of the term in which the final judgment was entered. U. S. v. Smart, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 978, 150 C. C. A. 628.

BANKRUPTCY

1912 Supp., p. 464. [Act of June 25, 1910.]

General purposes of the Act.—The purpose of the Bankruptcy Act is to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States, and place the bankrupt's property, wherever situate, under the control of the court, for the purpose of determining the status of the bankrupt and the settlement and distribution of such estate. West v. Empire L. Ins. Co., (W. D. Wash. 1917) 242 Fed. 605.

Suspension of state insolvency laws.—The bankruptcy law is paramount. Hawkins v. Dannenberg Co., (S. D. Ga. 1916) 234 Fed. 752.

Where the jurisdiction of the federal bankruptcy court is invoked, the state insolvency laws are suspended. Shaw v. Standard Piano Co., (N. J. 1917) 100 Atl. 167.

1912 Supp., p. 465, sec. 1a (9).

Attorney.—This court is of the opinion that the practice which has grown up, and which seems to be recognized by the Act itself, requiring attorneys at law duly admitted, who appear for a creditor and desire to vote for trustee, to have specific written authority, is a wise and necessary rule of practice. In re Capitol Trading Co., (D. C. N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 806. See also In re H. E. Ploof Machinery Co., (D. C. S. D. Fla. 1916) 243 Fed. 421.

1912 Supp., p. 466, sec. 1a (15).

Capital stock.—This definition indicates that the capital stock of a corporation is not to be taken into account in determining whether a corporation is insolvent. Capital stock is a liability, but in no sense can it be said to be a corporate debt to be reckoned with in ascertaining whether the company is insolvent. Teipel v. Coleman, (D. C. Pa. 1914) 229 Fed. 300.

1912 Supp., p. 468, sec. 1a (24).

Porto Rico is included in the word states, as here used. In re Vidal, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 733.

1912 Supp., p. 469, sec. 2. [Act of June 25, 1910.]

Jurisdiction paramount and exclusive.—The United States District Courts are by the Bankruptcy Act created into bankruptcy courts, and their jurisdiction as such is limited. All the courts of the United States are of limited jurisdiction. They possess only such powers as are either expressly or by necessary implication conferred upon them. Their jurisdiction and powers are derived from the Constitution and the acts of Congress passed in pursuance thereof. In re Hollins, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 349, 143 C. C. A. 469.

But such jurisdiction is unlimited in respect of its power over bankruptcy proceedings. The jurisdiction of a court of bankruptcy attaches from the time of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, and the effect of the filing of the petition is to place all of the property of the bankrupt, not in the possession of adverse claimants, in the legal custody and under the exclusive control of the court of bankruptcy. After the petition has been filed no other court can make any order, or decree, which will deprive the court of bankruptcy of its exclusive control over the administration of the bankrupt's property. In re Sage, (E. D. Mo. 1915) 224 Fed. 525.

The jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court is intended to be exclusive of all other courts, and such proceedings include all matters of administration and the determining of rights between contending parties with relation to the estate upon a fund in the custody of the courts. Gibbons v. Dexter Horton Trust, etc., Bank, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 424.

It is the general rule that the jurisdiction of a federal court of bankruptcy over the administration of the affairs of insolvent corporations is exclusive and paramount. Commercial Trust, etc., Bank v. Busch-Grace Produce Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 300, 142 C. C. A. 592.

A bill in equity will not be entertained for the purpose of adjudicating any matter or reviewing any proceeding in the court of administration in the bankruptcy court. Gibbons v. Dexter Horton Trust, etc., Bank, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 424.

Territorial jurisdiction.—Where the necessary parties are before a court of equity, it is immaterial that the subject matter of the controversy, whether real or personal property, is beyond the territorial jurisdiction of the court. In such case the power exists to compel a defendant to do all things necessary which he could do voluntarily to give full effect to the decree against him. Obedience to the decrees so made is enforced by means of process against the person. Orinoco Iron Co. v. Metzel, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 40, 144 C. C. A. 338.

Equitable jurisdiction.—The bankruptcy court is a court of equity and, controlled by the statute, may do equity guided by the well-defined and established principles of equity jurisprudence. It does not always require actual and intentional fraud to afford a remedy in equity. Implied fraud or constructive fraud growing out of both representations and the concealment of or failure to disclose material facts, many times is ground for equitable relief. In re Syracuse Gardens Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 284.

Appointment of special master.—A court in bankruptcy is a court of equity and has the powers of a court of equity, and this carries with it the power of appointing a special master to take evidence in aid of the court, and these special masters may be standing masters in chancery or appointed pro hac vice in particular cases. U. S. v. Coyle, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 256.

1912 Supp., p. 470, sec. 2 (1).

Jurisdiction as dependent on residence, domicile or place of business.—See Finn v. Carolina Portland Cement Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 815, 147 C. C. A. 9.

Partnership.—See In re Gurler, (N. D. Ia. 1916) 232 Fed. 1016.

Traveling salesman.—In the case of a traveling salesman whose only compensation consists of a commission on sales, and who spends over one-half of his time on the road it has been held that he does not have a "place of business," within the meaning of this section, at the place where he spends the remainder of his time so as to confer jurisdiction on the federal court in the latter place. In re Price, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 1001.

Corporation's principal place of business.—Question of fact.—The question as to where the principal place of business of a corporation is situated is determined purely by the facts, and not by intentions of the corporate authorities or recitals in the charter. In re San Antonio Land, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 228 Fed. 984.

The locus of the principal place of business of a corporation is a question of fact and the burden of proving it rests on the petitioning creditors. In re Pennington, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 388.

Concurrent jurisdiction.—Where a corporation has its domicile in one district and its principal place of business in another the court of either district has jurisdiction. In re New Era Novelty Co., (D. C. N. J. 1916) 241 Fed. 298.

Jurisdiction in case of aliens.—As to jurisdiction where the alleged bankrupt is an alien or his creditors are aliens, see In re Berthoud, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 529.

Objections to jurisdiction.—The fact that a bankrupt appears by filing demurrer to the petition of the creditors, going to the merits of the controversy without objecting to the jurisdiction does not preclude him from thereafter timely asserting the want of jurisdiction. Finn v. Carolina Portland Cement Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 815, 147 C. C. A. 9.

"Property within their jurisdiction."—Determining what is included or meant by this phrase, see In re San Antonio Land, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 228 Fed. 984.

1912 Supp., p. 472, sec. 2 (2).

Jurisdiction of court.—Generally speaking, the jurisdiction of courts of bankruptcy in the administration of bankrupt estates extends "to all matters of bankruptcy without limitation. It is coextensive with the United States." It knows no state or district boundaries. Orinoco Iron Co. v. Metzel, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 40, 144 C. C. A. 338.

The rule which gives the bankruptcy court exclusive jurisdiction to determine claims to property in its custody is not limited to actual possession, but extends to constructive possession as well, including property held not only by but for the bankrupt. Orinoco Iron Co. v. Metzel, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 40, 144 C. C. A. 338. See also Nisbet v. Federal Title, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 229 Fed. 644, 144 C. C. A. 54.

Conflicting and adverse claims.—As to property within the custody of the bankruptcy court its exclusive jurisdiction over the general administration of the bankrupt's estate carries with it exclusive authority to determine, not only the claims of creditors, but also adverse claims, whether by way of ownership or paramount liens. Orinoco Iron Co. v. Metzel, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 40, 144 C. C. A. 338.

Where the bankrupt has possession of the property, and such possession passes to the trustee, this possession gives to the bankruptcy court control of the res and authority to administer it; and of course authority to administer it includes the power to ascertain and determine all conflicting claims thereto, whether the claimants reside in the district where such bankruptcy proceeding is pending or in some other state. In re Wegman Piano Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 228 Fed. 60.

Remedy.—A court which has possession of a fund has jurisdiction of a proceeding in which a petitioner claims a lien thereon and it is said that the proper and most convenient method is by ancillary bill in the bankruptcy proceedings. Brown Bros. Co. v. Smith Bros. Co., (E. D. La. 1916) 231 Fed. 475.

1912 Supp., p. 472, sec. 2 (3).

Appointment of receivers — Paramount jurisdiction of bankruptcy court.—The fact that the bankrupt has made a general assignment under the state law to one who has taken possession of the estate does not preclude the bankruptcy court from exercising its jurisdiction to appoint a receiver, especially where the interests of creditors will be better protected. In re Federal Mail, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 691.

Appointment must be necessary for preservation of estate.—"In order to warrant the court in appointing a receiver, the court must find that it is absolutely necessary for the preservation of the property of the bankrupt that a receiver be placed in charge thereof." In re Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co., (E. D. Mo. 1917) 239 Fed. 155.

"A receiver appointed by the state court is in every sense the official arm of that court, and while this court, sitting in bankruptcy, has in my opinion exclusive jurisdiction, after a petition has been filed, to control the custody of the property, there can be no reason ordinarily for adding to the expenses by appointing a federal receiver, and such appointment should not, in the absence of special controlling circumstances, be made. That receiver is the choice of a court acting independently of the insolvent, and not of the insolvent himself." In re Federal Mail, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 691.

Where a receiver has been appointed by a state court and it is not claimed that he is not careful, prudent or responsible or that the assets are in any way endangered, a federal bankruptcy court should not interfere by appointing a receiver to take charge of the estate. Ingram v. Ingram Dart Lighterage Co., (S. D. Ga. 1915) 226 Fed. 58.

In involuntary proceedings receivers should never be appointed under this section without full compliance with all the requirements, including a showing of cause. Badders Clothing Co. v. Burnham-Munger-Root Dry Goods Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 470, 143 C. C. A. 52.

Proof of necessity.—"Where the appointment of a receiver in bankruptcy is sought it is not enough to allege the necessity for such appointment in the language of the statute, but the moving papers must set forth the specific facts which reasonably establish such necessity." In re Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co., (E. D. Mo. 1917) 239 Fed. 155.

Receiver's powers and duties in general — As to court orders.—In addition to the duties devolving upon a receiver as a preserver of property actually in his possession, he is a proper person, pending the appointment of a trustee, to carry out any orders that the court may make for the enforcement of the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act under section 2, subd. 15. It is his duty, as well as his privilege, to bring to the court's attention any matters which suggest the advisability of making an order as to book accounts transferred to a creditor. In re Gottlieb, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 245 Fed. 139.

A receiver of private bankers in a bankruptcy court is not entitled to hold the proceeds of checks collected by them for depositors where the pass book provided that "Deposits of checks shall not be drawn against until collected." And the fact that the depositors were permitted as a favor to draw upon the deposit is not material, it not appearing that there was any agreement, express or implied, which modified the provision in the pass book. In re H. & L. Jarmulowsky, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 632.

Right of receiver to maintain suits—Suit to prevent enforcement of fraudulent judgment.—A receiver may maintain a suit to prevent the enforcement of a judgment on the ground that it was fraudulently procured, although the claim has not been formally presented. Owen v. Clifton, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 136, 146 C. C. A. 328.

Intervention by party.—"A party may not intervene in an ancillary suit brought by the trustee or receiver, the sole purpose of which is to collect assets of the bankrupt for transmission to the bankruptcy court for administration." West v. Empire L. Ins. Co., (W. D. Wash. 1917) 242 Fed. 605.

Restraining suits against receivers.—Where an order appointing an ancillary receiver of a corporation enjoined the corporation, its officers "and all other persons whomsoever, . . . from interfering with, attaching, levying upon, or in any manner whatsoever disturbing the claims, choses in action, and causes of action of the said defendant railway company, . . . or any of the property and premises of the defendant railway company, . . . or from taking possession of, or in any way assuming a control of, or from interfering with, the said claims, choses in action, causes of action, or any other property or premises, or any part thereof" it was held that such provision did not prevent the prosecution of previously instituted actions by stockholders against the corporation and others. American Steel Foundries v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 231 Fed. 1003.

Jurisdiction conferred by section.—A bankrupt estate is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court from the time of the filing of the petition, and this jurisdiction does not depend upon actual possession of the property affected; there is no right to seize or attach property admittedly belonging to an alleged bankrupt after the filing of the petition against him, without the consent of the bankruptcy court, regardless of whether actual possession of the property has been taken by its officers. In re Wellmade Gas Mantle Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 502.

The bankruptcy court has jurisdiction under this section of a bill in equity filed by trustees to restrain foreclosure of certain mortgages made by the bankrupt in which the validity of these mortgages, as well as the amount due thereunder, is attacked in an attempt to test their claims against the property now in the possession of trustees elected in bankruptcy proceedings pending in this district. Karasik v. People's Trust Co., (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 241 Fed. 939.

"Generally speaking, a court of equity has power to determine all questions affecting a fund in course of distribution." In re Jamison, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 30, 142 C. C. A. 3.

Where shares of stock are actually in the custody of the trustee, who holds them in that character, the court has jurisdiction to determine the question as to the right of the parties where they had been pledged by the bankrupt and afterwards returned to the trustee by the pledgee. In re Jamison, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 30, 142 C. C. A. 3.

1912 Supp., p. 476, sec. 2 (8).

Determination of extent of liens and rights thereunder.—As to the exercise of jurisdiction by the federal courts in the case of a petition by lien creditors to have the property of a bankrupt returned to a state court for administration there, see Union Electric Co. v. Hubbard, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 248, 155 C. C. A. 88.

Reopening of estate.—Where an application is made to reopen an estate the referee may take judicial notice of what his own record showed in the original case. Pollack v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 861, 147 C. C. A. 535.

Practice.—Where, after the referee has overruled a demurrer by a bankrupt to a petition to reopen the estate, any error in the ruling on the demurrer is waived by the bankrupt pleading over in an answer. Pollack v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 861, 147 C. C. A. 535.

Time of making application for reopening.—An application to reopen is regarded as timely though made more than two years after the closing of the estate, where made directly after the recording of conveyances alleged to be fraudulent. Duncan v. Watson, (Ala. 1916) 73 So. 448.

1912 Supp., p. 478, sec. 2 (11).

Extent of jurisdiction—Generally.—After property has been set apart to the bankrupt as exempt, the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court is at an end so far as adjudication of the rights of claimants thereto is concerned. Barker-Bond Lumber Co. v. Whaley, (1915) 117 Va. 642, 86 S. E. 160.

Under this section a court of bankruptcy has jurisdiction of a claim by a bankrupt of homestead exemption. Drees v. Armstrong, (Ia. 1917) 161 N. W. 40.

1912 Supp., p. 479, sec. 2 (15).

General power of bankruptcy court.—Where the question involved is that of jurisdiction to enforce the bankruptcy law or to administer the estate and to protect the bankrupt free from claims vacated or made void by the adjudication the provisions of this section apply. But the court can retain control of the bankrupt only to carry out the law and not to prevent litigation in courts which have jurisdiction to litigate. In re Lockwood, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 161.

Power to open and reconsider orders.—The court of bankruptcy is always open, and until the distribution of the fund in controversy the court has the power to open and reconsider on the merits its own orders. Hume v. Myers, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 827, 155 C. C. A. 415.

Injunction to protect or preserve assets.—See In re Consumers' Albany Brewing Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 235.

Enforcing agreement by claimant of property to surrender proceeds of sale to officers of court.—A bankruptcy court has power to enforce an agreement by which a claimant of property undertakes to sell the same and deliver the proceeds of the sale to the receiver of a bankrupt. In re Hollingsworth, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 753, 155 C. C. A. 341.

Powers and duty of receivers.—In addition to the duties devolving upon a receiver as a preserver of property actually in his possession, he is a proper person, pending the appointment of a trustee, to carry out any orders that the court may make for the enforcement of the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act under section 2, subd. 15. It is his duty, as well as his privilege, to bring to the court's attention any matters which suggest the advisability of making an order as to book accounts transferred to a creditor. In re Gottlieb, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 245 Fed. 139.

1912 Supp., p. 480, sec. 2 (16).

Facts must exist showing contempt.—There must be evidence showing contempt and the facts in the particular case. In re Sobol, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 487, 155 C. C. A. 263.

Defense.—The fact that a bankrupt has been sentenced for concealing assets and has served out his term is no defense in a proceeding to punish him for contempt with an order to turn over the assets he concealed. In re Sobol, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 487, 155 C. C. A. 263.

Valid excuse.—The law is well settled that inability to comply with an order requiring the payment of money, resulting from poverty, insolvency, or other cause not attributable to the fault of the party charged, will under ordinary circumstances be received as a valid excuse from the consequences of contempt. In re Sobol, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 487, 155 C. C. A. 263.

Criminal contempt.—Where the Act complained of as a contempt is criminal under the Bankruptcy Act it seems that even conceding the existence of the power to punish by imprisonment for contempt, the court should not exercise it. In re Elias, (E. D. N. C. 1917) 240 Fed. 448.

1912 Supp., p. 480, sec. 2 (20).

Ancillary jurisdiction authorized.—The ancillary court may act summarily in aid of the court of original jurisdiction, when such court could have compelled an act by summary proceedings. Babbitt v. Dutcher, 216 U. S. 102, 30 Sup. Ct. 372, 54 L. ed. 402, 17 Ann. Cas. 969. But for all substantial purposes of administration the court of original jurisdiction, which is in control of the bankrupt estate, is regarded as in charge, and the ancillary court has nothing to do but collect the assets and transmit them to the bankruptcy court for distribution. West v. Empire Life Ins. Co., (N. D. Wash. 1917) 242 Fed. 605.

A court exercising ancillary jurisdiction and powers in aid of the main jurisdiction and having possession of a specific fund, the title to which is in question and the existence or nonexistence of liens thereon, held by parties residing in the jurisdiction of the court of ancillary jurisdiction, being in question, such last-mentioned court has the power, and it is its duty, to determine title and the existence or nonexistence of such liens thereon. In re Einstein, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 189.

It is well settled that a court of bankruptcy can exercise ancillary jurisdiction for the purpose of enabling a trustee in bankruptcy, who has been appointed and qualified in another jurisdiction, to reduce to his possession property of the bankrupt which is within the territorial jurisdiction of the court whose ancillary jurisdiction is invoked, and that, where the court of primary jurisdiction can act summarily, the court exercising ancillary jurisdiction may also proceed by summary order. In re Sage, (E. D. Mo. 1915) 224 Fed. 525.

Ancillary receiver—Restraining suits against.—Where an order appointing an ancillary receiver of a corporation enjoined the corporation, its officers "and all other persons whomsoever, . . . from interfering with, attaching, levying upon, or in any manner whatsoever disturbing the claims, choses in action, and causes of action of the said defendant railway company, . . . or any of the property and premises of the defendant railway company, . . . or from taking possession of, or in any way assuming a control of, or from interfering with, the said claims, choses in action, causes of action, or any other property or premises, or any part thereof," it was held that such provision did not prevent the prosecution of previously instituted actions by stockholders against the corporation and others. American Steel Foundries v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 231 Fed. 1003.

Adverse claims.—A court of bankruptcy exercising ancillary jurisdiction has power to determine whether or not a fund held by a receiver in bankruptcy belongs to the estate for which he is acting or to another bankrupt estate and to make proper allowances to the receiver where he has had the care and custody of the fund and has been charged with its preservation. In re Einstein, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 189.

Right to intervene in ancillary suit.—“A party may not intervene in an ancillary suit brought by the trustee or receiver, the sole purpose of which is to collect assets of the bankrupt for transmission to the bankruptcy court for administration.” West v. Empire Life Ins. Co., (W D. Wash. 1917) 242 Fed. 605.

1912 Supp., p. 481, sec. 3a.

“The burden is upon the petitioners to show that respondent has committed an act which brings it within the purview of the statute.” Maplecroft Mills v. Childs, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 415, 141 C. C. A. 245.

The fact that acts charged against a corporation were ultra vires and void, and were not corporate acts does not constitute a defense to a petition for an adjudication of bankruptcy. Badders Clothing Co. v. Burnham-Munger-Root Dry Goods Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 470, 143 C. C. A. 52.

1912 Supp., p. 481, sec. 3a (1).

Necessity of intention to hinder, delay or defraud.—In this connection it has been said regarding a chattel mortgage: “The mere fact that the mortgage had the effect to prefer one creditor to another, or to hinder or delay other creditors until the mortgagee’s claim could be collected, or even that it might have the effect to deprive other creditors of a means of obtaining payment of their claims, was not sufficient to constitute the act of bankruptcy charged, if the mortgage was given in good faith to secure the payment of an honest debt. Section 3, subdivision 1, must have the same construction as the statute of Elizabeth. An actual intent to hinder, delay, and defraud other creditors more than is necessary to secure the preferential payment of the debt of the mortgagee is essential to the act of bankruptcy there described.” Johnson-Baillie Shoe Co. v. Bardsley, 237 Fed. 763.

Concealment of property.—Where it appeared that an alleged bankrupt, in response to an inquiry by a creditor, as to what he had done with certain money collected by him, replied that he had it in a safe place, and that it was available on a settlement but that he had offsets amounting to more than petitioners claim, it was held that this amounts to a concealment of property and is an act of bankruptcy. In re Burg, (N. D. Tex. 1917) 245 Fed. 173.

The filing of a petition in a state court by an individual stockholder acting on his own behalf, and who is also the president and director and owner of a majority of the capital stock, to which answer is filed, is not an act of bankruptcy under this section. In re Valentine Bohl Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 685, 140 C. C. A. 225.

Burden of establishing intent.—Creditors alleging that a chattel mortgage was an act of bankruptcy within the meaning of this clause have the burden of proving the bad faith and evil intent which they charge. Johnson-Baillie Shoe Co. v. Bardsley, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 763, 150 C. C. A. 517.

Confessing judgment.—Confession of a judgment thus creating a lien on real estate through which a sale can be effected is a transfer within the meaning of this clause. In re Irish, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 238 Fed. 411.

Validity of mortgage—State laws.—The question as to the validity of a mortgage alleged as an act of bankruptcy within the terms of this clause is to be determined by the laws of the state where the property is situated and the mortgage made, and if not invalid there will not be considered as an act of bankruptcy as here provided. Johnson-Baillie Shoe Co. v. Bardsley, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 763, 150 C. C. A. 517.

Distinction in cases covered by subdivisions a (2) and a (3).—“Upon consideration it is concluded that while a preference effected through judicial proceedings may fall within one class or the other, the two provisions do not necessarily overlap. The distinction is to be found in the presence or absence of an intent on the part of the debtor to give a preference, and by intent is meant an actual, and not merely a constructive, intent. If the debtor has acted in such a way as to give a preference with the intent and purpose so to do, it is quite immaterial by what means such purpose is accomplished, whether by judicial proceedings or in some other manner. In such case the act falls within a (2). Upon the other hand, if, through legal proceedings, a preference has in fact been permitted or procured, but without any intent or purpose on the part of the debtor to give it, then the act falls within the terms of subdivision a (3).” In re Musgrove Min. Co., (D. C. Idaho 1916) 234 Fed. 99.

Receivership suit in state court—Estoppel.—Where a receiver has been appointed in proceedings in a state court in which a dividend has been declared and the receivership proceeding practically concluded, creditors who have received dividends thereunder are estopped from asserting in a subsequent proceeding in bankruptcy not only any claim to an adjudication on the ground of the appointment of the receiver constituting an act of bankruptcy but also on the ground of preferential payment constituting such an act. Ohio Motor Car Co. v. Eseman Magneto Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 370, 144 C. C. A. 512.

Failure to release levy of attachment.—The failure of an alleged bankrupt to release the levy of an attachment upon his supposed interest in property transferred by him nearly seven years previously has been held not to constitute an act of bankruptcy, even though it be alleged that such transfer was a fraudulent one. Nor can it appear that such attaching creditor will obtain a preference until such sale has been determined to be fraudulent in an action to which the transferee is a party. In re Murphy, (N. D. Cal. 1914) 228 Fed. 1018.

Confession of judgment.—Confession of a judgment, thus creating a lien on real estate, through which a sale can be effected, is a transfer within the meaning of this clause. In re Irish, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 238 Fed. 411.

Subdivision a (2) distinguished.—See note under section 3a (2), supra, p. —.

Elements of preference.—The preference, which is an act of bankruptcy, is only an execution levy or analogous lien which has been "suffered or permitted" to come into existence and which is allowed to continue until five days before the execution sale. Golden Hill Distilling Co. v. Logue, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 342, 156 C. C. A. 122.

Lien obtained beyond four months' period.—The statute does not contemplate that the judgment obtained by a diligent creditor prior to the four months' period, and the lien obtained likewise prior to the four months' period, should be defeated merely because it was not possible to have the sale take place earlier than some date which fell within the four months' period. In re Superior Jewelry Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 239 Fed. 372.

Failure to discharge valid liens acquired through legal proceedings more than four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy does not constitute an act of bankruptcy under this section. In re Superior Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 368, 156 C. C. A. 148.

1912 Supp., p. 488, sec. 3a (4).

- I. Assignment for benefit of creditors.
- II. Appointment of receiver or trustee.

I. ASSIGNMENT FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS

In general.—"Under the Bankruptcy Act an assignment for the benefit of creditors is in itself an act of bankruptcy. The assignment remains valid, unless and until an adjudication in bankruptcy is made. It is properly regarded as potentially a fraud upon the Bankruptcy Law and upon the creditors, since its necessary effect would be to defeat the operation of the Bankruptcy Law and to deprive creditors of the protection that that law affords them and the provisions it makes for a speedy and equal distribution of the estate." In re Neuburger, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 947, 153 C. C. A. 633.

Form of assignment.—The assignment need not be formal, and it is not even necessary that it should be valid for all purposes. In re Matthews, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 229 Fed. 309, affirmed (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 539, 149 C. C. A. 591.

"A general assignment, within the meaning of the cited provision of the Bankruptcy Act, embraces any act by the alleged bankrupt having the effect of a conveyance of all its property and an appropriation of it to raise funds to pay its debts, share and share alike. The name and form which the transaction assumes are not material." Moody-Hormann-Boelhauwe v. Clinton Wire Cloth Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 653, 158 C. C. A. 609.

So the execution of an instrument which, though not in terms yet in legal effect, is an assignment, is an act of bankruptcy under this section. Anders v. Latimer, (Ala. 1917) 73 So. 925.

It has been held quite uniformly that the general assignment here contemplated is to be taken in its generic sense, and embraces any conveyance, at common law or by statute, by which one intends to make an absolute and unconditional appropriation of all his property to pay his creditors, share and share alike. In re Matthews, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 229 Fed. 309, affirmed (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 539, 149 C. C. A. 591.

And it is immaterial whether such general assignment is voluntary or statutory. In re Berthoud, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 529.

Extent of assignment.—An absolute transfer by the debtor of both the legal and equitable titles is indispensable. In re Matthews, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 229 Fed. 309, affirmed (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 539, 149 C. C. A. 591.

Place of assignment.—It is immaterial whether such a general assignment is made within or without the United States, and the statute evidently contemplated that wherever a person made such a general assignment, the act was an act of bankruptcy. In re Berthoud, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 529.

And where the assignment is alleged to have occurred in another country it is immaterial that under the laws of that jurisdiction an act of bankruptcy must have occurred within three months before the presentation of the petition by creditors. In re Berthoud, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 529.

Deed of trust.—The execution of a deed of trust which is placed with an attorney, to be held in escrow, to be delivered in the event that all the creditors should consent to the agreement which had been entered into by the advisory board, and has not been delivered to the trustee, is not an act of bankruptcy under this section. Carpenter v. Lybrand, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 230 Fed. 84, 144 C. C. A. 382.

Where it appears that the creditors of an alleged bankrupt had been receiving payments on their debts in pursuance of an agreement, and that within ninety days all the creditors would be paid in full, this was declared to be sufficient to show that it was not the purpose of the debtor in executing a deed of trust to in any wise hinder, delay, or prevent his creditors from collecting the debts which he owned. Carpenter v. Lybrand, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 230 Fed. 84, 144 C. C. A. 382.

Deed of assignment.—The execution of a deed of assignment of property directing the sale thereof and, from the proceeds, the payment of mortgages thereon in the order of their priority and the balance to the general creditors of the assignor, is an act of bankruptcy. In re Cutler, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 771.

Power of attorney.—A mere power of attorney does not operate as in general assignment under this section. In re Matthews, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 229 Fed. 309, affirmed (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 539, 149 C. C. A. 591.

No defense is possible to a general assignment as an act of bankruptcy. In re Federal Mail, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 691.

In general.—An application by an insolvent debtor for the appointment of a receiver or trustee is an act of bankruptcy. In re McKinnon, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 237 Fed. 869.

II. APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER OR TRUSTEE

"It is to be noted that not every receivership, even though to finally administer a debtor's assets, or that results in finally administering an insolvent debtor's assets, is an act of bankruptcy, but those only are such acts as the Bankruptcy Act so declares." In re Butte Duluth Min. Co., (D. C. Mont. 1915) 227 Fed. 334.

Trustee named by stockholders.—Where by a vote of the stockholders of a corporation it was dissolved and the directors were named as trustees to liquidate the affairs of the corporation as provided by the state law, it was held that this was in the nature of an assignment which amounted to an act of bankruptcy, although the action was taken by the stockholders. Moody-Hormann-Boelhaue v. Clinton Wire Cloth Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 653, 158 C. C. A. 609.

Insolvency essential.—Where the record of the receivership involved in the proceedings in a state court neither directly nor by implication makes it appear that the debtor was insolvent within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act—that is, that the aggregate of its property at a fair valuation was not sufficient in amount to pay its debts—it fails to show that because of insolvency as so defined a receiver was put in charge of respondent's property, and so fails to prove that respondent committed the act of bankruptcy under this section. In re Butte Duluth Min. Co., (D. C. Mont. 1915) 227 Fed. 334.

"Insolvency is an indispensable prerequisite to the exercise by this court of jurisdiction over the property now in the custody of the receiver of the state court. In re Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co., (E. D. Mo. 1917) 239 Fed. 155.

It was obviously not the purpose of Congress, in using the terms "being insolvent," or "because of insolvency," to have the same apply when the facts upon which a receiver was appointed only show that its assets would not bring enough to pay its debts at a forced sale, or where there was imminent danger of insolvency. Maplecroft Mills v. Childs, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 415, 141 C. C. A. 245.

1912 Supp., p. 491, sec. 3a (5).

Test of admission.—Where the written admission referred to in this section is averred, it may be set up that the proceedings are the result of fraud and collusion between the bankrupt and the petitioners. The opposing creditors may not be able to deny the genuineness of the bankrupt's admission but, certainly, they may still assert that even a genuineness admission is in aid of a collusive scheme. Accordingly, if an amended answer sufficiently avers fraud and collusion between the bankrupts and the petitioning creditors, a proper issue is tendered that calls for disposal. In re Cohn, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 227 Fed. 843, 142 C. C. A. 367.

Admission by corporation.—A corporation by filing a petition in bankruptcy commits an act of bankruptcy within the meaning of this section. In re Southern Arizona Smelting Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 87, 145 C. C. A. 275; Bell v. Blessing, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 750, 141 C. C. A. 34.

Insolvency unnecessary.—It is settled that the question of solvency or insolvency is immaterial where the act of bankruptcy is the written admission referred to in the statute. In re Cohn, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 227 Fed. 843, 142 C. C. A. 367.

1912 Supp., p. 493, sec. 3c.

Burden of proof.—The burden of proof is in the alleged bankrupt to show his solvency. In re Burg, (N. D. Tex. 1917) 245 Fed. 173.

1912 Supp., p. 494, sec. 3e.

[Petitioner to give bond.]

The amount of the bond fixes the extent of the liability of creditor and sureties. In re Weissbord, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 241 Fed. 516.

1912 Supp., p. 494, sec. 3e.

[Allowance of costs, damages, etc.]

Costs on dismissal of petition.—This provision as to costs, damages, etc., relates to the dismissal of a petition for seizure of property, before adjudication, as by receivership, and has nothing to do with the awarding of costs upon a mere dismissal of the petition. In re National Carbon Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 330, 154 C. C. A. 210.

The court has jurisdiction to fix costs and assess damages occasioned by the seizure and detention of the debris property by the receiver though the petition for adjudication has been dismissed. In re Weissbord, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 241 Fed. 516.

Amount of recovery.—The liability of bondsmen under this section is limited to such costs, expenses, and damages as were incident to the taking and withholding of the property, and no recovery can be had as against the bondsmen for costs or expenses incurred in meeting the issue and resisting the petition in bankruptcy. In re J. Ito Terusaki, (W. D. Wash. 1916) 238 Fed. 934.

Counsel fees.—Under this section if an alleged bankrupt sees fit to procure the release of his property from the seizure by seeking a dismissal of the petition for adjudication, rather than by an independent proceeding, he cannot be compensated for the expenses and counsel fees which he thus incurred. In re Weissbord, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 241 Fed. 516.

Validity and purpose.—The Bankruptcy Act recognizes the right of the bankrupt to make a voluntary assignment of his property, with the purpose of avoiding attachments, and thereby securing an equal distribution of his property among all his creditors, and it cannot be predicated of such a proceeding that its purpose is to defraud the attaching creditors. Bell v. Blessing, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 750, 141 C. C. A. 34.

Corporations.—This section extends to a corporation not within the exceptions the same privilege of becoming a voluntary bankrupt as to an individual, and there exists no good reason why it may not become such a bankrupt in the same way. It is only necessary for such a petitioner, praying adjudication, that he show that he owes debts which he is unable to pay in full, and that he is willing to surrender his property for the benefit of his creditors. Bell v. Blessing, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 750, 141 C. C. A. 34.

A subordinate lodge of Odd Fellows organized and existing under the laws of the state of New York is a corporation and entitled to the benefits of this provision. In re Carthage Lodge, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 694.

A farmer may institute voluntary proceedings in bankruptcy and a state court is therefore without jurisdiction over a voluntary proceeding in insolvency by a farmer. Pitcher v. Standish, (1916) 90 Conn. 601, 98 Atl. 93, L. R. A. 1917A 105.

1912 Supp., p. 495, sec. 4b.

II. Statutory exceptions.

III. Natural persons.

IV. Corporations and unincorporated companies.

II. STATUTORY EXCEPTIONS (p. 496)

Date of status of statutory exceptions.

—The question whether an insolvent is exempt, under this section, depends upon his status as to occupation at the time the acts of bankruptcy were committed. Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. v. Shelhorse, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 493, 143 C. C. A. 75; Harris v. Tapp, (S. D. Ga., 1916) 235 Fed. 918.

Persons engaged chiefly in farming or the tillage of the soil.—In general.—These persons are not amenable to involuntary bankruptcy proceedings. Harris v. Tapp, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 235 Fed. 918; Pitcher v. Standish, (1916) 90 Conn. 601, 98 Atl. 93, L. R. A. 1917A 105.

For an extended statement of facts under which a person was held to be "engaged chiefly in farming" and not subject to adjudication as a bankrupt, see Harris v. Tapp, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 235 Fed. 918.

Farming and tillage.—"The word 'farming' and the words 'tillage of the soil' mean the same thing." Hart-Parr Co. v. Barkley, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 913, 146 C. C. A. 109; In re Spengler, (S. D. Ia. 1916) 238 Fed. 862.

The business of threshing grain for others for hire is not farming. Hart-Parr Co. v. Barkley, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 913, 146 C. C. A. 109.

Distinction between exemption of farmer and wage-earner.—"A farmer is exempt from involuntary proceedings, whatever his other interests, if farming is his chief occupation; a wage-earner is exempt only when he actually pursues the calling which that term describes. The farmer works for himself; the wage-earner is an employe, and this implies service for another which is substantially exclusive. This characteristic difference between the two classes is clearly recognized in the language of section 4b." Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. v. Shelhorse, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 493, 143 C. C. A. 75.

Wage-earner—Burden of proof.—The burden of proof is on the petitioners to show that a person was not a wage-earner when the acts of bankruptcy were committed. Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. v. Shelhorse, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 493, 143 C. C. A. 75.

This burden was held to be sustained by the presumptions arising from years of nonexempt occupation, from the apparent continuance of that occupation down to a later period, and from other facts and circumstances tending to identify him as a manufacturer and trader. Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. v. Shelhorse, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 493, 143 C. C. A. 75.

Jurisdiction under state laws over exempted classes.—The state insolvency laws remain in force as to classes of persons expressly excluded from the operation of the Federal Act, and classes which these provisions do not reach; and the same rule should apply to classes of cases not within the scope of the Federal Act. So the provision that a farmer cannot be adjudged a bankrupt in involuntary proceedings leaves that field open to state action, and a state court may have jurisdiction of involuntary proceedings against farmers under a state act. Pitcher v. Standish, (1916) 90 Conn. 601, 98 Atl. 93, L. R. A. 1917A. 105.

III. NATURAL PERSONS (p. 498)

Private bankers are amenable to involuntary bankruptcy. In re Sage, (E. D. Mo. 1915) 224 Fed. 525.

IV. CORPORATIONS AND UNINCORPORATED COMPANIES (p. 498)

Insurance corporations—Fraternal benefit societies.—In the case of In re Grand Lodge, etc., (N. D. Cal. 1916) 232 Fed. 199, it was held that a fraternal benefit society is not an insurance corporation within the meaning of the Bankrupt Law.

"Unincorporated company"—Construction and scope of word "company."—"Whatever may be the full scope of the word 'company,' it does include at least any unincorporated association or group of individuals whose object and purpose are either wholly or chiefly of the same kind as the object and purpose of a moneyed business, or commercial corporation. In re Order of Sparta, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 235, 155 C. C. A. 75, affirming (E. D. Pa. 1916) 238 Fed. 437.

An unincorporated fraternal beneficial association has been held to be a company within the meaning of this section. In re Order of Sparta, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 235, 155 C. C. A. 75, affirming (E. D. Pa. 1916) 238 Fed. 437.

1912 Supp., p. 501, sec. 4b.

[Liability of officers and stockholders of corporations.]

The express provision of the Bankruptcy Act specifically forbids that the bankruptcy of a corporation shall not release its officers or directors from any liability under the laws of a state, territory or United States. In re United Grocery Co., (S. D. Fla. 1917) 239 Fed. 1016.

1912 Supp., p. 501, sec. 5a.

Adjudication of partnerships as bankrupts, in general.—"The statute provides that a partnership may be declared bankrupt. A partnership is an entity to that extent. The statute does not impose the condition that the partners shall be declared bankrupt at the same time as the partnership. It is plain that the partnership may be declared a voluntary or involuntary bankrupt. There is no limitation in the statute in this regard. In re Hansley, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 228 Fed. 564.

If the total assets of the firm and individuals will not suffice "to pay the partnership debts," the firm property and the individual properties may be administered in bankruptcy if the firm is insolvent and if the unadjudicated partner does not object, i. e., consents thereto.

If the firm is insolvent and a solvent partner consents to the administration of the firm and individual assets, it would seem that section 5h would apply and that an adjudication against the insolvent partners and against the firm would be legally possible. The administration of all the assets in the bankruptcy court would follow, and the solvent partner would be entitled to guide or share in that administration under the jurisdiction of the court.

In re Kobre, (E. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 106.

Existence of partnership necessary.—In order to justify an adjudication that a person is bankrupt as a partner there must be evidence from which the court can properly find as a fact that such person was a partner. "It would not be enough that to various creditors he had held himself out as a partner, because, while an estoppel might give rights to those who were misled, in order to give rights to all creditors he must have been in fact a partner." In re Kaplan, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 866, 148 C. C. A. 464.

Necessity of showing insolvency of members composing firm.—No firm can be compulsorily adjudicated a bankrupt in which any partner appears to be solvent to the extent of having a surplus of property over the debts for which he is personally liable and the debts for which he is liable as a member of the firm. In re Kobre, (E. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 106.

Where there is no allegation of any act of bankruptcy committed by a non-joining partner, there is no ground for adjudicating him a bankrupt. In re Lenior-Cross, (E. D. Tenn. 1915) 226 Fed. 227.

Petition.—Where there is no prayer in the petition for an adjudication of the petitioners individually, the adjudication should be limited to that of the firm, and where an adjudication is desired of the petitioning partners as individuals as well as the firm, there should at least be inserted in the prayer of the petition a request for an adjudication of the petitioning partners as well as of the firm. In re Lenoir-Cross, (E. D. Tenn. 1915) 226 Fed. 227.

Who may petition.—It is well settled that one partner may petition to have the partnership declared a voluntary bankrupt. In re Hansley, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 228 Fed. 564.

Creditors.—There is only one method in the statute for the institution of an involuntary bankruptcy proceeding, namely, by the petition of a creditor or creditors, stating certain jurisdictional facts. In re Hansley, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 228 Fed. 564.

Jurisdiction.—When a person submits himself to the bankruptcy jurisdiction of the District Court in the district in which his partner is resident, that court acquires jurisdiction of him and of his estate wheresoever situated, for all purposes of bankruptcy. Gretsch v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 57, 145 C. C. A. 245.

Distribution.—"From 1841 down to the present time, the several Bankruptcy Acts have so far recognized the doctrine of the separate entity of a firm as distinguished from its individual partners, as to specifically enforce in bankruptcy the equitable rule of distribution, generally recognized aliunde in the Federal courts, that the net proceeds of the partnership property are to be first appropriated to the payment of partnership debts; the individual estates of the partners, to the payment of their individual debts; and any surplus in either fund, to be applied to the other." In re Nashville Laundry Co., (M. D. Tenn. 1917) 240 Fed. 795.

Reduction of claims to judgment.—"The reduction of their claims to judgment by the partnership creditors does not change the character of such indebtedness from a partnership debt to an individual debt, but changes the form of the debt only. Its character as a partnership debt remains as before, and for which each member of the partnership may be liable, if the partnership assets are insufficient to pay the sum; and section 5f of the Bankruptcy Act provides how the distribution of the assets of the partnership, and of the individual members thereof, shall be made among their creditors, and controls in the distribution of such assets." In re Hacker, (N. D. Ia. 1915) 225 Fed. 869.

The reduction of partnership debts to judgment, in a state court according to the local law, against both the firm and the individual members, all being thereafter adjudged bankrupt, does not entitle the judgment creditor to primary participation in the distribution in the bankruptcy court of the individual estates. Cutler Hardware Co. v. Hacker, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 146, 151 C. C. A. 222.

Joint individual debts.—In construing these several Bankruptcy Acts giving partnership debts priority of payment out of partnership assets, it has been held by the federal courts, from the beginning, that joint debts of the individual partners of a firm, not created in furtherance of the business of the firm or in its behalf or for a consideration passing to it, are merely the joint individual debts of the partners entitled to share in their individual assets, and are not partnership debts entitled to share as such in the distribution of the partnership property in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Nashville Laundry Co., (M. D. Tenn. 1917) 240 Fed. 795.

Where two members of a firm execute joint notes for property purchased by one of the makers and such purchase has no connection with the partnership business, the holders are not entitled to participate in the administration of the partnership assets in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Nashville Laundry Co., (M. D. Tenn. 1917) 240 Fed. 795.

Partnership and individual insolvency.—When a partnership as such is insolvent and when each individual member is also insolvent, and when the only fund for distribution is produced by the individual estate of one member, the individual creditors of such member are entitled to priority in the distribution of the fund. Farmers', etc., Nat. Bank v. Ridge Ave.

Bank, (1916) 240 U. S. 498, 36 S. Ct. 461, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 767, L. R. A. 1917A 135.

In case of a bona fide dissolution of a partnership where the firm property has been transferred by the retiring partner to his copartner, the bankrupt, a considerable period of time before the filing of the petition, it has been held that a creditor of the firm has no rights, in preference to the trustee to a fund derived from a sale of the property of the bankrupt. In re Zartman, (M. D. Pa. 1917) 242 Fed. 595.

Pro rata distribution between firm and individual creditors.—As to the rights of individual creditors to such a distribution, under section 36 of the prior Bankruptcy Act, the current of opinion was that where there is no partnership estate and no solvent partner, partnership creditors were entitled to share ratably with individual creditors in the individual assets of the bankrupt partner. But under the present law the greater authority is to the point that no such exception should be recognized, but that the distribution should follow strictly the language of the Act. In re Hull, (M. D. Ohio 1915) 224 Fed. 796.

Selection of trustee.—Where the record of the first meeting of creditors, after giving the title of the cause and reciting that, "this being the time and place for the first meeting of creditors in the above matter in bankruptcy," states that creditors appeared by a person who having a majority of claims in number and amount of those presented for approval, nominated and elected the plaintiff as trustee, and it is not shown that the trustee was selected wrongfully, and the record contains no intimation that the trustee was elected by persons who were not creditors of the partnership; the recital of the appointment sufficiently shows in an action by the trustee to recover an alleged preference, especially in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, that the trustee of the partnership estate was selected in full compliance with this section. Anderson v. Stayton State Bank, (1916) 82 Ore. 357, 159 Pac. 1033.

Marshaling assets.—This section relates to the marshaling of assets between the partnership estate and individual estates of the partners. In re Cobb's Consol. Co.'s, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 233 Fed. 458.

Proof of claims—Jurisdiction.—"It is settled that where a partnership is declared bankrupt on a ground involving its insolvency, although one or more, but not all, of the individual members are declared bankrupt, the effect of the adjudication is to draw to the jurisdiction and administration of the bankruptcy court the separate estates of all the partners as well as the partnership estate." Ft. Pitt Coal, etc., Co. v. Diser, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 443, 152 C. C. A. 321.

Firm creditors.—"The general rule is that firm creditors are not entitled to receive dividends from the separate estates of the partners until separate creditors have been paid in full." International Agricultural Corp. v. Cary, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 101, 153 C. C. A. 137.

Insolvent partners of an insolvent partnership cannot rightfully devote the whole of their separate estates to the benefit of a single firm creditor under the guise of treating him as their private creditor, and so ignore their joint and several liability to all the firm creditors. Ft. Pitt Coal, etc., Co. v. Diser, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 443, 152 C. C. A. 321.

Firm creditor secured by mortgage.—Where insolvent partners attempt to secure a firm creditor by mortgages on their individual property the court may well set such acts aside in virtue of its power under this section. Ft. Pitt Coal, etc., Co. v. Diser, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 443, 152 C. C. A. 321.

1912 Supp., p. 508, sec. 5h.

When section applies.—This section is limited in its effect to cases in which the partnership is not adjudicated bankrupt and one or more, but not all, the members are so adjudicated.

So where a partnership composed of two members and one of the members are adjudicated bankrupt, and the other member is not so adjudicated, the bankruptcy court may draw to itself and administer the property of the latter to the extent necessary to pay the debts of the partnership. Armstrong v. Fisher, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 97, 139 C. C. A. 653.

- I. Claiming exemption.
- II. Matters affecting right to exemption.
- III. Recognition of state and federal exemption laws.

I. CLAIMING EXEMPTION (p. 508)

Time and manner of claiming.—See to same effect as original annotation In re Lenters, (D. C. Pa. 1915). 225 Fed. 878.

The schedules of the bankruptcy must contain his claim of exemptions, and the trustee is required to set apart the bankrupt's exemptions and to report to the court as to the exemptions so set apart. In re Brincat, (S. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 811.

Claiming specific property.—Whether a specific item of property should go to creditors or be reserved by the bankrupt, it is not for him to constitute himself the judge; but it is his duty to disclose the transaction, that the bankrupt court may determine the right. In re Brincat, (S. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 811.

Amendment of schedules.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Radcliffe, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 23 Fed. 716; In re Hewit, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 244 Fed. 245.

While the allowance of an amendment is said to be a matter of grace, the allowance of a claim for exemption is a matter of substantial right, and if, by refusing to allow the amendment, the bankrupt is denied a right which the courts should be astute to recognize and allow, he has gone beyond matters of grace, upon which discretion may be properly exercised, and denied the bankrupt a substantial right, which has not been expressly waived by him, and which he should not be estopped from asserting by reason of any conduct disclosed in this record. In re Lenters, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 878.

II. MATTERS AFFECTING RIGHT TO EXEMPTION (p. 510)

Fraud.—Ordinary creditors have no interest in exempt property. Its transfer, even with a purpose to hinder, delay, or defraud them, is not therefore an act of which they can justly complain. In re Ziff, (M. D. Ala. 1915) 225 Fed. 323.

Where mercantile statements as to assets and schedules subsequently filed, make out in favor of the creditors a prima facie case of concealment on the part of the bankrupt, the burden is cast upon the bankrupt, either to show that the statements were false when made, or else to explain what became of his assets; otherwise, the conclusion would follow that he was concealing a part of his assets. In re Powell, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 230 Fed. 316.

The fraud of the bankrupt has been held in Alabama not to disentitle him to his exemptions, even in property fraudulently transferred, when recovered by the creditors. In re Ziff, (M. D. Ala. 1915) 225 Fed. 323.

In some jurisdictions under the statute there in force a bankrupt loses his exemption in case of a fraudulent concealment of a part of his property from his creditors. In such cases in order, therefore, to determine the question whether the bankrupt should be allowed his exemption or not, it is necessary to ascertain whether the bankrupt made a full and fair disclosure of all his personal property, or was guilty of willful fraud in the concealment of a part of his property from his creditors, under the state statute. In re Hardy, (D. C. Ga. 1916) 229 Fed. 825.

Homestead exemption.—The failure of a bankrupt to make a full and fair disclosure of all the property owned by him at the time of the filing of his petition will defeat his right to his homestead exemption. In re Hadden, (S. D. Ga. 1917) 242 Fed. 284.

Evidence explaining shortage of goods as bearing on right to exemption.—Where a bankrupt attempts to explain a shortage of goods for the purpose of claiming an exemption the measure of proof applicable is that which obtains in civil cases, and not that necessary in cases of contempt for disobedience of an order to surrender. In re Aronson, (N. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 1022.

Lien against homestead.—“Congress cannot destroy the plaintiff's lien against the homestead by the Bankruptcy Act.” Watters v. Hedgpeith, (1916) 172 N. C. 310, 90 S. E. 314.

Abandonment.—“It is to be kept in mind always that, whenever land shall have had impressed upon it the homestead character, its abandonment as homestead must be beyond doubt before the homestead protection will be refused. There must be an unequivocal and absolute intention to abandon; and, in most cases, the inference of abandonment will not be indulged in the absence of the acquisition of a new homestead.” Woodward v. Sanger, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1918) 246 Fed. 777.

Waiver.—The right to claim exemption to specific property exempted by law belongs to the bankrupt householder, and he may surrender or waive it in favor of general creditors, execution creditors and trustee in bankruptcy, but should not be permitted to do so as against a mortgagee in good faith and for value, who, by virtue of his mortgage, has succeeded to his title and interest. In re French, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 255.

The fact that a bankrupt has given notes in which he waived his right to exemptions does not give the bankruptcy court jurisdiction to administer his exempt property, nor affect his right to have the same set apart to him. In re Ziff, (M. D. Ala. 1915) 225 Fed. 323.

A court of bankruptcy has no control over the bankrupt's exemption for the purpose of distributing it among creditors holding waiver notes and cannot do any more than set apart the exemption and turn it over to the bankrupt, or some one duly constituted and appointed to receive it. In re Anderson, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 790.

“A waiver of homestead rights in favor of all creditors cannot be worked out through a waiver made to one creditor only, nor can the latter form of waiver entitle all creditors to a right to marshal securities or funds.” In re Brown, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 533.

III. RECOGNITION OF STATE AND FEDERAL EXEMPTION LAWS (p. 513)

Construction.—The exemption laws should be liberally construed. In re Lenters, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 878; In re Opava, (N. D. Ia. 1916) 235 Fed. 779.

State law adopted.—To the same effect as the original annotation, see Grattan v. Trego, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 705, 140 C. C. A. 579; Siege v. Greene,

(C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 955, 141 C. C. A. 79; Olmstead-Stevenson Co. v. Miller, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 69, 145 C. C. A. 257; Watters v. Hedgpath, (1916) 172 N. C. 310, 90 S. E. 314.

"The Bankruptcy Act does not create any personal or homestead exemptions in favor of the bankrupt. It merely preserves to the bankrupt the full benefit of such exemptions as at the time of the adjudication he is entitled to under the state law." In re Hewit, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 244 Fed. 245.

"The bankrupt court can do nothing more than cause to be set apart to the bankrupt the property which the state law exempts from his debts. Lockwood v. Exchange Bank, 190 U. S. 294, 23 Sup. Ct. 751, 47 L. Ed. 1061. Otherwise the trustee has nothing to do with exempt property." In re Brown, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 533.

Distinction between firm and individual property.—While, by this provision, the state law is controlling as to the character and amount of exemptions to be allowed to a bankrupt, the distinction between firm and individual property in the administration of a bankrupt estate is to be determined as a matter of general law in the federal courts, irrespective of the views of the state court of the bankrupt's domicile, in equity or under insolvency acts. In re Turnock, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 985, 145 C. C. A. 179.

Homestead exemptions.—The rule that the allowance of exemptions under the Bankruptcy Law is governed by the state statutes applicable thereto, has been applied to homestead exemptions.

Georgia.—A bankrupt who does not include property in his schedules which should have been included is not entitled to a homestead exemption where the state law provides that a debtor shall forfeit his right to the exemption allowed by law if he is guilty of fraud in concealing from his creditors any part of his property at the time he seeks the benefit of the exemption. In re Anderson, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 790.

A claim of a homestead exemption has been denied where it was shown that the creditor sought to avail himself of the statute allowing it to enable him to pay a debt and thus prefer a creditor to whom, as well as to several other creditors, he had given a note with a waiver of homestead attached. In re Anderson, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 790.

Iowa.—Where there is no registration and record of a deed as required by statute, within the four months' period, it has been held that the deed is voidable as to the excess over the homestead right. Siege v. Greene, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 955, 141 C. C. A. 79.

Ohio.—Where by statute a bankrupt who owns no homestead is entitled to an exemption out of his personal property, the latter exemption should be allowed where it appears that real estate owned by him and which was covered by mortgages in excess of its value has been conveyed by the trustee to the mortgagees. In re Radcliff, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 243 Fed. 716.

Oklahoma.—In Gregory v. Pritchard, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 414, 153 C. C. A. 340, the following facts appeared: About 11 months before the proceedings in bankruptcy were begun the bankrupt purchased a dwelling property in Oklahoma City for the declared purpose of occupying it as a home for himself and wife. At the time of purchase it was in possession of a third party under a lease for a year recently executed. The bankrupt had been informed that he could probably obtain possession and so made the purchase; but the tenant, upon being applied to by the bankrupt and by others in his behalf, finally declined to vacate the premises, or to let the bankrupt and his wife have a room in the house. The bankrupt made all reasonable efforts to obtain possession, but failed. He had no other homestead and no other real property. Between his purchase and the bankruptcy proceedings he painted the house, made some repairs on and about it, and pruned the fruit trees. In area and value this property was within the provisions of the Oklahoma Constitution as to homesteads. It was held that the bankrupt was entitled to a homestead exemption. Gregory v. Pritchard, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 414, 153 C. C. A. 340.

Oregon.—Where a statute provides for the exemption of a homestead limited in value and extent, it was held that as the premises claimed by the bankrupt fell within the limitations of the statute the court was without discretionary power to refuse to set the exemption aside. In re Barde, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 715, 140 C. C. A. 589.

Texas.—Where the law of a state provides that "the homestead, not in a town or city, shall consist of not more than 200 acres of land, which may be in one or more parcels, with the improvements thereon; * * * provided, also, that any temporary renting of the homestead shall not change the character of the same, when no other homestead has been acquired," it has been declared that where the head of a family owning several tracts not exceeding 200 acres in the aggregate, lives upon one of the tracts, and claims all as a homestead, the burden of proving one of the tracts not homestead should be upon the person attacking the homestead claim. The presumption should be that all is homestead. Woodward v. Sanger, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1918) 246 Fed. 777, — C. C. A. —.

Growing and unmatured crops.—When an order is made setting aside a homestead to a bankrupt, whether the homestead be exempt under the laws of the state or under the laws of the United States, the order of necessity carries with it all growing and unmaturing crops. Olmstead-Stevenson Co. v. Miller, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 69, 145 C. C. A. 257. See also Olmstead-Stevenson Co. v. Langsdorf, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 76, 145 C. C. A. 264.

Partnership exemptions.—Where state laws allow no exemptions out of partnership assets, none can be claimed by bankrupts out of the property in the hands of the trustee and specifically identified as part of the former firm property which shortly prior to the filing of an involuntary petition to have the firm adjudged bankrupt, the members of the partnership, with knowledge of the insolvency, divided among themselves for the purpose of enabling each of them to claim an exemption. In re Turnock, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 985, 145 C. C. A. 179.

Tools, implements of trade, etc.—Exemptions given bankrupts in their stock in trade, tools and fixtures are personal and cannot be claimed by a purchaser under a mortgage foreclosure sale of the property. Feilbach Co. v. Russell, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 412, 147 C. C. A. 348.

Milk cans, plows, harrows, cultivators, buzz saws, ice racks, hayracks, harness for team and team blankets are necessary working tools for a farmer. In re French, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 255.

Auto truck.—Under a code provision exempting one dray or truck by the use of which a drayman, truckman, etc., habitually earns his living, it was declared that without passing upon the question as to whether or no an auto truck would be exempt under any circumstances, it would not be where it does not appear that the petitioner habitually earned his living by the use of the truck in question. In re Schumm, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 232 Fed. 414.

Work cattle.—"Three yoke of work cattle and their yokes" by all common understanding means bovines and their yokes, and not equines and their harness. Kennedy v. Hills, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 666, 147 C. C. A. 474.

Wages.—Where a man is the head of a family his creditors have no interest in his wages which are exempt and he may do with them as he chooses. In re Opava, (N. D. Ia. 1916) 235 Fed. 779.

Wearing apparel.—Jewelry.—A diamond finger ring valued at $650 has been held not to be exempt. Rivas v. Noble, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 673, 154 C. C. A. 431.

City pension.—A pension payable by the City of New York to a bankrupt under charter provisions which permit the board of estimate and apportionment to retire "from active service" any officer, clerk, or employee who shall have been in the employ of the city of New York for a period of thirty years and upwards, and who shall have become physically or mentally incapacitated for further performance of the duties of his position, and to award him an annual sum or annuity, to be fixed by such board, is not a vested right, but a bounty granted by the government through the municipality to encourage persons engaged in the public service. It can be recalled at will, and is not, therefore, an asset which passes to the trustee in bankruptcy. In re Hoag, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 227 Fed. 478.

Life insurance.—Where at the time of the passage of an act exempting insurance policies on the life of a bankrupt ordinary creditors could have looked to the policies for payment of their debts the act has no effect as to them. In re Bonvillain, (E. D. La. 1916) 232 Fed. 370.

But where a policy had no cash or surrender value when such an act was passed, and was not available as an asset, it was held that the bankrupt was entitled to the policy as against creditors whose debts had not come into existence at that time. In re Rosenberg-Oldstein Co., (E. D. La. 1916) 236 Fed. 812.

Duty of trustee.—One of the first concerns of the trustee should always be promptly to set aside to the bankrupt any exempt property. If the real estate in which the homestead is claimed be indivisible, steps should be taken to have it sold. In re Brown, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 533.

1912 Supp., p. 520, sec. 7a (8).

I. Schedule of assets.

II. Schedule of creditors and liabilities.

I. SCHEDULE OF ASSETS (p. 521)

Sufficiency of schedule.—As to what should be included in the schedules, it has been said: "It is not unusual to require a report of property which cannot be utilized by the trustee. For example, a bankrupt is required to report all the property which he claims is exempt, although all that can be done with it is to set it off to him. Again, he is required to report what portion of the bankrupt estate has passed under assignment for benefit of creditors, although, if it was more than four months before the bankruptcy, it cannot be recovered by the trustee. Other provisions might be cited, but this is sufficient for our purpose. In other words, the rule requires the reporting of much property that may or may not be held by the trustee that the courts may determine its liability for the payment of debts. Such determination is a part of the administration of the estate." Pollack v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 861, 147 C. C. A. 535.

Exempt property.—This section does not require that the bankrupt shall enumerate articles claimed as exempt, but only that the claim for such exemption as he may be entitled to shall appear in the schedules which he is required to file. A strict adherence to form is not necessary in order to obtain a substantial right of this nature in a court of bankruptcy. In re Lenters, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 878.

A remainder, vested or contingent interest in land must be scheduled. Pollock v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 861, 147 C. C. A. 535.

II. SCHEDULE OF CREDITORS AND LIABILITIES (p. 521)

Sufficiency of schedules as to addresses.

—When there is a failure to state the correct residence of the creditor the debt is not duly scheduled, and hence not discharged by the decree in bankruptcy, unless it shall appear that the creditor had actual knowledge of the proceeding. Horbach v. Arkell, (1916) 172 App. Div. 566, 158 N. Y. S. 842.

Omission of street and number.—

“Whether or not the use of initials and omission of street addresses are insufficient will almost invariably depend upon extrinsic circumstances. It is a matter of common knowledge that there are business concerns whose commercial names and places of business are known throughout the world of commerce. It would be a superfluous task to append street number address in such cases.” Clafin v. Wolff, (1915) 88 N. J. L. 308, 96 Atl. 73.

General Order No. VIII—Schedule by nonjoining partner.—Upon an adjudication of bankruptcy against a firm the nonjoining partner may be required to file a schedule of his debts and an inventory of his property, in accordance with the concluding clause of the Eighth General Order in Bankruptcy. In re Lenoir, (E. D. Tenn. 1915) 226 Fed. 227.

As the individual property of a partner, who resisted a petition to have the firm adjudicated a bankrupt, is subject to administration and application by the court of bankruptcy so far as necessary in order to pay in full the partnership debts, he is required by General Order in Bankruptcy No. VIII (89 Fed. vi, 32 C. C. A. xi) to file a schedule of his debts and an inventory of his property within ten days after his adjudication in bankruptcy. Armstrong v. Fisher, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 97, 139 C. C. A. 653.

Incomplete schedule as affecting jurisdiction of referee.—Where it was objected on a hearing to confirm the report of the referee that he had no jurisdiction to proceed because the schedules were incomplete and the deposit did not cover all the existing claims, the court, confirming the report of the referee, said: “It is now urged by the objecting creditors that, upon it appearing that there were claims not scheduled, the referee lost jurisdiction until the schedules had been amended and a deposit made, or a waiver filed, to cover the added indebtedness. Sections 12a, 7a, 39a (2) and General Order 9 (89 Fed. vi, 32 C. C. A. xiii) are referred to in support of this contention. No decision on the point has been called to my attention. If such an objection can of right be insisted on by any creditor except those so omitted—which I doubt—I am of opinion that the sections and order mentioned do not so limit the general discretionary power of the court in matters of reference to and reports from referees as to prevent me from hearing and deciding the case on the present report of the referee, accompanied as it is by the evidence and exhibits before him. In re Spiller, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 490.

1912 Supp., p. 524, sec. 7a (9).

Scope and application.—This section applies to the bankrupt only, and does not protect the ordinary witness, whose rights must rest upon the general rules of law. Knoell v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 16, 152 C. C. A. 66.

Officers of a bankrupt corporation are included within this Act. People v. Lay, (1916) 193 Mich. 17, 159 N. W. 299.

Perjury.—The Bankruptcy Act, which requires the bankrupt to submit to an examination, does not permit him to give false testimony regarding his estate or property and its whereabouts or the disposition thereof, and then claim immunity from a prosecution for perjury committed while so testifying. U. S. v. Coyle, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 256.

Production of books and papers.—A bankrupt private banker may lose his right to object to the use of books and papers in a criminal prosecution against him by a failure to avail himself of the right afforded by the state law to obtain a restitution of the same within the period designated by such law. In re Mandel, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 642.

1912 Supp., p. 527, sec. 8a. [Not to abate proceedings.]

Death as abating proceedings.—“Bankruptcy proceedings, once commenced, do not abate on the death of the alleged bankrupt, whether the proceeding be voluntary or involuntary, and whether adjudication has been had, or not, at the time of such death.” In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650.

A proceeding to vacate a sheriff's sale, made after the death of the bankrupt, is properly brought by the trustee under this section. Home Buyers' Bldg., etc., Ass'n v. Peterman, (1916) 253 Pa. St. 418, 98 Atl. 619.

1912 Supp., p. 528, sec. 8a.

[Dower and allowances for widow and children.]

An assignment for the benefit of creditors within four months of an adjudication in bankruptcy does not affect the right, under this section, of the widow of the bankrupt. In re Scott, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 201, 141 C. C. A. 653.

1912 Supp., p. 529, sec. 9a.

Arrest prior to institution of bankruptcy proceedings.—A judgment for a breach of contract of marriage, if not accompanied by seduction, is dischargeable in bankruptcy. Where a defendant was arrested on execution against the person on such a judgment prior to the institution of a bankruptcy proceedings a writ of habeas corpus has been sustained. In re Komar, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 378. See also Ex parte Margiasso, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 242 Fed. 990.

Exemption from arrest.—In the case of an application to restrain the sheriff from levying a body execution upon the judgment debtor in a state court, pending the time within which an application for discharge could be made, the question of the discharge litigated, and the proceedings in bankruptcy carried on to a point where the bankrupt would not be harassed and interfered with in his bankruptcy proceedings by the process in the hands of the sheriff, the court granted the motion for a definite period to be stated in the order when settled, in order to allow the bankrupt to apply to the state court for the appropriate remedy to bring up the question of the effect of his discharge. In re Lockwood, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 161.

1912 Supp., p. 531, sec. 11a.

- I. In general.
- II. Discretion as to granting stays.
- V. Where state court has complete jurisdiction.

I. IN GENERAL (p. 532)

In view of the paramount character of the Bankruptcy Law, the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court, when properly invoked, is exclusive as respects the administration of the affairs of insolvent persons and corporations. The inhibition of section 720 of the Revised Statutes against the issue of injunctions to stay proceedings in a state court, or to take possession of the property, distinctly excepts cases where the injunction is authorized by the Bankruptcy Law. Ohio

Motor Car Co. v. Eiseman Magneto Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 370, 144 C. C. A. 512.

Limitation of stay.—A stay under this section cannot delay the prosecution of a suit longer than the determination of the application for a discharge. The court can retain control of the bankrupt only to carry out the law and not to prevent litigation in courts which have jurisdiction to litigate. In re Lockwood, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 161.

Suits brought after petition filed.—This section does not in terms cover suits begun after the filing of the petition; but it is obvious that such suits, in so far as they interfere with the bankruptcy administration, are inconsistent with its exclusive jurisdiction, and it is settled that when they do interfere they will be enjoined. In re Lavery, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 910.

II. DISCRETION AS TO GRANTING STAY (p. 532)

Stay discretionary.—To same effect as original annotation, see Smith v. Miller, (1917) 229 Mass. 187, 115 N. E. 243.

Consideration of comity.—Where property is in the possession of a receiver appointed by the state court, an application for a stay therein should in the first instance, in obedience to the rule of comity, be presented to the state court, and it cannot be presumed that the application will be denied. Ohio Motor Car Co. v. Eiseman Magneto Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 370; 144 C. C. A. 512.

V. WHERE STATE COURT HAS COMPLETE JURISDICTION (p. 535)

Mere interest of trustee.—A court of bankruptcy has no power to temporarily enjoin a sale of property of the bankrupt, proposed to be made by a state officer pursuant to a decree of a state court entered, before the petition in bankruptcy was filed, in proceedings to foreclose a valid mortgage, which was executed more than four months prior to the adjudication in bankruptcy, when the only reason why the stay is sought is to permit the trustee to attempt to secure a purchaser and to advertise the proposed sale more extensively than has been done by the state officer, and thus possibly realize more for the general creditors. In re Schmidt, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 224 Fed. 814.

Assets unaffected.—Where a bankrupt is not entitled to a discharge because of a prior discharge within six years he cannot have the suits of creditors in a state court stayed where the assets in the custody of the bankrupt court will in no wise be affected thereby. In re Johnson, (S. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 841.

Supplementary proceedings.—Though an order in supplementary proceedings is stayed by the order adjudging the defendant a bankrupt for the period of twelve months, pursuant to the provisions of this section, the proceeding, however, is not superseded and can be continued at any time one year from the adjudication. Taylor v. Buser, (1917) 167 N. Y. S. 887.

1912 Supp., p. 540, sec. 11d.

Construction.—This section must be construed with section 2, subdivision 8, which invests the court of bankruptcy with the power to close estates, whenever it appears that they have been fully administered, by proving the final accounts and discharging the trustees, and to reopen them whenever it appears that they were closed before being fully administered. Duncan v. Watson, (Ala. 1916) 73 So. 448.

Time within which trustee may sue.—In an action in a state court it has been held that where the statute of limitations has not run on an action by a trustee in bankruptcy on promissory notes held by the bankrupt, owing to the fact that the Bankruptcy Act suspends the running of the statute in favor of such trustee, a recovery is not barred by laches because the action was delayed more than seven years, for an action at law timely brought with respect to the statute of limitations cannot be deemed barred by mere laches without evidence of estoppel. Oppenheimer v. Roberts, (1916) 175 App. Div. 424, 161 N. Y. S. 1049.

Effect of section.—This section provides a method whereby the expenses of preserving and conducting the business of an estate pending action on the composition may become part of the expenses of administration, in case composition is finally denied and adjudication made, and impliedly at least, negatives the idea that such expenses may become part of the expenses of administering the estate where the defendant, without invoking the action of the court, in the prescribed manner, voluntarily and on its own sole motion continues the conduct of its business. In re Kinnane Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 769, 155 C. C. A. 357.

Theory of composition agreement.—“The fundamental theory and purpose of a composition agreement is that all creditors shall be treated alike, and that none shall have any advantage, secret or otherwise, over the other.” In re Gordon, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 905.

Composition after discharge.—The fact that a dividend has been paid to creditors and the bankrupt has applied for and received his discharge does not preclude the bankrupt from making an offer of composition. In re Spiller, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 490.

The schedules filed by the bankrupt are binding upon him in the absence of fraud or mistake. In re Aarons, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 243 Fed. 634.

1912 Supp., p. 541, sec. 12b.

Application for confirmation.—Where, from a financial standpoint, an offer of composition is in the best interest of creditors and it would be an undue hardship on a bankrupt if the composition agreement should fail, a new application to confirm the agreement may be made after an arrangement, by reason of which a confirmation was refused, has been nullified. In re Gordon, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 905.

Withdrawal of claim by creditor.—“There is nothing in this section which prevents a creditor from withdrawing a claim at any time he pleases, provided, of course, such withdrawal is in good faith and without fraud or other wrongful agreement or means.” In re Gordon, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 905.

Deposit—Generally.—“The ‘consideration to be paid by the bankrupt to his creditors’ may or may not be cash. A bankrupt usually does not have enough ready money of his own to carry out a composition. The ‘consideration to be paid’ may be the bankrupt’s notes, secured or even wholly unsecured, or his mere promise to pay in the future a given amount. . . . It is common knowledge that compositions sometimes contemplate the taking by creditors of stock or securities under a reorganization. . . . It is, we think, also clear that such ‘consideration’ need not be actually deposited with the court. True, the statute requires that it ‘be deposited in such place as shall be designated by and subject to the order of the judge,’ thus plainly permitting a deposit of notes or other evidences of debt, secured or unsecured, with any approved depository. But this deposit is for the sole benefit of the creditors concerned, and there can, we think, be no doubt of the power of such creditors to waive actual deposit of money or securities.” Kinhead v. Bacon, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 362, 144 C. C. A. 504.

Where an offer of composition is made before the year is up it is regarded as made to all those who are shown on the schedules, including those who may not prove till after the year is past, and the bankrupt must deposit a sum sufficient to pay the dividends of all creditors scheduled. In re Atlantic Const. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 228 Fed. 571.

1912 Supp., p. 543, sec. 12d (1).

The decision of the creditors is evidence, prima facie, that the composition is for the best interest; and the burden is upon those who attack the composition. In re Spiller, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 490.

"The mere fact that the estate will on full administration pay more to the creditors than the offer in composition is not sufficient reason for refusing confirmation. Other considerations than the mere amount of the dividends may properly be considered by creditors in determining whether to accept or reject the offer. They have, within fair limits, a right to decide in favor of an immediate payment, as against a postponed and uncertain one, probably of larger amount. A decision to that effect, honestly made by an overwhelming majority of the creditors, in the exercise of their business judgment, ought not to be overridden, unless justice to the objecting minority plainly requires such action." In re Spiller, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 490.

When composition will not be confirmed.—Where the court is not satisfied with the proof of the validity of claims of certain of the creditors necessary to constitute the required majority assenting to the composition, confirmation may be denied. In re Weintrob, (E. D. N. C. 1917) 240 Fed. 532.

Where a bankrupt omitted from a financial statement a liability for the purchase price of goods still on hand confirmation of a composition has been denied. In re Kerner, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 807.

Where there is either an unexplained large shortage in the bankrupt's assets or certain statements made by him several months prior to his offer of composition were false, confirmation of the composition will be denied. In re Weintrob, (E. D. N. C. 1917) 240 Fed. 532.

An offer of composition has been rejected where it was offered to the creditors before the bankrupt was examined in open court and had filed in court his schedules. In re Berler Shoe Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 246 Fed. 1018.

1912 Supp., p. 544, sec. 12d (2).

Concealment.—Where the only books a bankrupt kept were a merchandise ledger, which showed his accounts with all those from whom he purchased on credit, a check book and a pass book, this was held not to authorize an inference of intended concealment. In re Silberstein, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 665.

Fraudulent transfer.—Payment of money to a wife and to a daughter for a wedding trousseau do not necessarily operate as a bar to a discharge and therefore authorize a refusal by the court of a confirmation of a composition but much must depend on the circumstances of the particular case. In re Silberstein, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 665.

1912 Supp., p. 545, sec. 12e.

Effect of confirmation.—While the confirmation of a composition discharges the bankrupt where he lives up to the agreement and composition yet it has been held that where cash and notes are given pursuant to the order confirming the composition, and the notes are not paid, the original debt revives. And this is said to be true though the notes are indorsed by a third party, unless it is established by the evidence that they were taken in satisfaction of the original debt. American Woolen Co. v. Friedman, (1916) 97 Misc. 593, 163 N. Y. S. 162.

Distribution.—The clerk of the court is not charged with the duty of making the distribution of the consideration in cases of compositions. In re Newbold, (D. C. Utah 1917) 244 Fed. 888.

Nor is the clerk of the court entitled to charge any amount, for the distribution of the consideration paid in compositions effected in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Newbold, (D. C. Utah 1917) 244 Fed. 888.

Claims not scheduled.—Where a bankrupt offered a composition which omitted the claimant from its schedule of creditors for the reason that such creditor had refused to file a claim in the estate of the bankrupt on the theory that its debt was not one dischargeable in bankruptcy it was declared: "Either the composition should include the payment of this dividend, and the dividend should be paid with an express provision that it is on account of a debt claimed to be not dischargeable, or the bankrupt Alpert must deposit the amount which would be the dividend to be paid upon the amount which is claimed by the Nankin estate, and the amount of this claim may be litigated further." In re Alpert, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 295.

Claims reserved for future liquidation.—Where the claims of creditors secured by a special fund were reserved for future liquidation in an order of confirmation it was held that the claims must be first liquidated before the court could distribute the consideration for the composition. In re Hollins, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 920.

Consideration for composition not paid.—Where a composition has been ordered the moral obligation to pay in full is sufficient to support a new promise, made after the bankrupt is discharged, to pay a creditor in full. Spann v. Read Phosphate Co., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 338, 151 C. C. A. 354.

1912 Supp., p. 546, sec. 13a.

Order confirming composition will not be disturbed, where the court on appeal is unable to say from a consideration of the evidence before the referee and the district judge that they were clearly in error in finding it insufficient to prove a statement made by the bankrupt was materially false and made for the purpose of obtaining credit thereby. International Trust Co. v. Myers, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 110, 157 C. C. A. 406.

1912 Supp., p. 547, sec. 14a.

Right to discharge.—"The policy of the law with respect to the discharge of bankrupts from the legal obligation to pay their debts has been determined and settled by Congress. The bankrupt is entitled to the discharge, except in certain clearly defined cases." In re Pechin, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 798.

Who entitled to a discharge.—"A corporation is entitled in a proper case to receive a discharge in bankruptcy. In re Hargadine-McKittick Dry Goods Co., (E. D. Mo. 1917) 239 Fed. 155.

Individual firm members.—"Where no act of bankruptcy is charged against the members of a firm, and the proceedings are against the partnership as a legal entity, the individual members are not entitled to a discharge in bankruptcy. Peterson v. Perego, etc., Co., (Ia. 1917) 163 N. W. 224.

Administrator.—"Bankruptcy proceedings do not abate on the death of the alleged bankrupt, in which case the administrator may properly file an application for a discharge. In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650.

Application for discharge.—"The question as to whether the bankrupt will apply for a discharge, or not apply, is determined by himself alone. The court has no part in this determination. This is a personal matter of the bankrupt until the petition for a discharge is filed, and neither the creditors nor the court are called upon to act until the application is filed." In re Skaats, (S. D. Ala. 1914) 233 Fed. 817.

Notice.—"Application for discharge must be made by the bankrupt upon notice to the creditors at the addresses given in the schedules, unless something in the record gives information that that address has been changed, or that some one else has succeeded to the creditor's rights. In re Blaesser, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 528.

When application must be made.—"The next twelve months."—"If the true construction of the words 'subsequent to being adjudged a bankrupt' in the law is that they were placed there solely to prevent the filing of a petition for a discharge before adjudication, which adjudication follows a voluntary petition as matter of course, then the words 'within the next twelve months' would clearly refer to the words 'after the expiration of one month,' and the true reading would be 'any person, subsequent to being adjudged a bankrupt may, after the expiration of one month and within the next twelve months, file an application,' etc. As the section is written in the statute it is quite clear that the Congress intended that the bankrupt should be debarred from filing his petition for a discharge for one month after his adjudication as a bankrupt, giving that time for his creditors to make inquiry and examine the bankrupt and witnesses prior to the filing of an application for a discharge. Then comes the fixing of the time, limitation of time, within which the application for discharge must be filed, and then the right to an extension of time by order of the court in case he (the bankrupt) is unavoidably prevented from filing his application within the 12 months next succeeding the adjudication." In re Snell, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 244 Fed. 613. See also In re Jacobs, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 620, 154 C. C. A. 378; In re Daly, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 263.

Delay.—"If delay is occasioned by the fault of a postmaster, or the postmaster's employees, where the application is forwarded by mail, or is occasioned by the fault of some clerk or employee in the office of the attorney making the application, justice demands that a nunc pro tunc order be made. It is not the purpose or policy of the law in such a matter as this to take advantage of errors, or mistakes, or misconstructions." In re Daly, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 263.

Delay by court or referee.—"Delay by the court or referee in conducting the bankruptcy proceedings proper or in deciding questions relating to the due administration of the estate arising therein affords no excuse for not filing the application for a discharge within the time fixed by statute. The decision or determination of such questions in no way affect the right of a bankrupt to file his application for a discharge. In re Snell, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 244 Fed. 613.

Mistake.—"Where the petitioner's counsel, through an honest mistake as to the law, supposed that the petition for discharge could not be filed until the equity proceedings in the state court (in which charges were made against the bankrupt, which would be sufficient, if established, to defeat the discharge) had been terminated, and he therefore did not attempt to file the petition for discharge until the conclusion of those proceedings it was declared that it would be altogether too strict a construction of the statute to hold that on such facts the bankrupt did not have the right to petition for his discharge within the six months' period. In re Swain, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 243 Fed. 781.

Effect of failure to apply for discharge on subsequent bankruptcy proceedings.—"Where a bankrupt fails to apply in due time for a discharge, or is denied a discharge, from debts provable in one proceeding, he cannot be granted a discharge from such debts in a subsequent proceeding." In re Warnock, (W. D. Tenn. 1917) 239 Fed. 779.

The failure of a bankrupt to apply for a discharge in a previous proceeding precludes him, in a subsequent proceeding, from procuring a discharge from the scheduled and provable debts in the former. In re Cooper, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 236 Fed. 298.

In a subsequent bankruptcy proceeding, when it appears that there are debts which have been incurred since the first proceeding, from which he is entitled to a discharge, the bankrupt may be granted a qualified discharge, excepting the old debts. In re Cooper, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 236 Fed. 298.

1912 Supp., p. 549, sec. 14b.

I. Generally.

II. Objections to bankrupt's discharge.

III. Hearing and proof.

IV. Determination.

I. GENERALLY (p. 549)

Nature of proceeding.—"An application for a discharge is in the nature of a separate proceeding from the original case, which is closed with the final distribution of assets. The reference to the referee of the original case confers no jurisdiction whatever on him as to the discharge." In re Kendrick, (D. C. Vt. 1915) 226 Fed. 980.

Discharge as a matter of right.—"A discharge under the present act is a legal right, unless some objection be filed and affirmatively sustained, for reasons specifically enumerated in section 14 of the statute, and not otherwise." In re Kaufman, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 305, 152 C. C. A. 293. See also In re Wix, (W. D. S. C. 1916) 236 Fed. 262.

Conditions of discharge.—"An insolvent debtor has no means of obtaining a discharge, except under favor of the Bankruptcy Law, and that law expressly forbids the granting of a discharge under certain conditions, and they cannot be disregarded even though the denial may impose a hardship on the bankrupt. In re Fackler, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 864.

Effect of nondischargeable debts.—"The fact that a discharge from one of the debts cannot be granted does not affect the right of the bankrupt to be discharged from such as are dischargeable. In re Lockwood, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 158.

II. OBJECTIONS TO BANKRUPT'S DISCHARGE (p. 550)

Right to object.—"The right to oppose the bankrupt's discharge may be a property right, in the sense that, if discharge is denied, any lien would remain and would pass under the state law in case of the death of a creditor. But this right to oppose is not such that the bankrupt should be compelled to proceed in the proper jurisdiction for administration of the deceased creditor's estate, in order to cut off those rights by actual notice of further hearings to all parties who might prove themselves entitled to name the representative of the estate, or who might contest successfully the claims of others to name such representative. A trustee would not be bound, in declaring a dividend, to seek out those who had a right to make claim to that dividend; but the burden would be upon the proper representatives of the estate of the deceased creditor to claim their property. So, in the matter of discharge, the burden is upon the bankrupt to give reasonable notice to all those appearing by the record to be entitled to an opportunity of being heard or of putting themselves in a position where their interests may be heard. If the bankrupt does this, he is entitled to have the proceedings go forward, after waiting a reasonable time for other claimants to assert their claims." In re Blaesser, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 528.

Specification of objections—Requisites.—"A bankrupt is entitled to a discharge unless one or more of the six grounds set out in section 14 of the Bankruptcy Act . . . are pleaded and sustained by proof, and the burden to do this rests upon the objecting creditor. The rule of pleading requires the same certainty in the specifications of objections as in other pleadings; such certainty as will put the bankrupt on notice of what he is to meet. In re Groves, (S. D. Fla. 1917) 244 Fed. 197.

Where it is alleged in the specification of objections that some of the creditors are pecuniarily interested in the estate and that they have filed proof of their claims which have been allowed and it appears that all of the objecting creditors have claims which will be barred by the discharge, a right to oppose the granting of a discharge is sufficiently shown. In re Fackler, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 864.

A specification in objections to the discharge of a bankrupt on the ground of concealment is insufficient where it does not charge that the concealment was knowingly and fraudulently done. In re Opava, (N. D. Iowa, 1916) 235 Fed. 779.

Amendment.—"Where after the original specifications of objections were filed, and during the progress of the hearing upon those which were filed, another alleged instance of the same general character as those already charged came to the knowledge of the trustee and of objecting creditors, it was held that leave should be granted to amend the specifications. In re Pechin, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 798.

Who may object.—A mere volunteer, not having a party in interest, cannot object to a discharge "unless the creditors, either singly or collectively, desire that a bankrupt's discharge be opposed, such discharge must be granted." In re White, (N. D. Cal. 1917) 238 Fed. 874.

Party in interest.—Where a petitioner's claim has been proved, admitted by the bankrupt, objected to by no one, allowed by the referee, and not reconsidered on motion of the trustee, it should be regarded as "liquidated" under section 57 of this Act, and the petitioners are a "party in interest" entitled to oppose the bankrupt's discharge under this section. In re Menzin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 773, 151 C. C. A. 623.

A creditor cannot insist on remaining in the bankruptcy proceeding and at the same time pursue his remedy in the state court on the theory that his debt is not dischargeable. A creditor like this one can prove his claim in bankruptcy and oppose the discharge on the ground of false statement in obtaining property; but, if he will not liquidate his claim, and persists in proceeding in another jurisdiction on the theory that the debt is not provable and not dischargeable, then by his own interpretation he is not a "party in interest" entitled to oppose discharge. In re Menzin, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 333.

III. HEARING AND PROOF (p. 553)

Nature of hearing.—Objections to a bankrupt's discharge are the beginning of a distinct and separate dispute, and the hearing thereon is in effect a trial in equity. In re Amer, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 576.

Evidence.—The testimony of an objecting creditor, taken by consent and given under oath, may be used, after his death, upon proof of the administration of the oath to testify, even if the actual signature or verification upon the paper itself cannot be obtained. In re Blaesser, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 528.

Burden of proof.—The burden rests on the creditor objecting to the discharge of a bankrupt to show that he is not entitled to it. In re Wix, (W. D. S. C. 1916) 236 Fed. 262.

Hearing postponed pending proceeding in state court.—Where a petitioner brought suit in a state court more than four months before bankruptcy and had garnishments served on property, to secure a release of which a bond was filed, it has been held that he has an equity entitling him to a "reasonable postponement" of the discharge of the bankrupt, so as to enable him to enforce his rights in the state court. In re Philips, (S. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 628.

Where a creditor dies during the hearing on his specifications of objections, there can be no general presumption that a man is unable to pay his debts, and that therefore he has creditors who are more interested than his next of kin, and where a reasonable time has elapsed to allow such creditors, if they exist, to act on the default of the next of kin, or representatives of the deceased, there would seem to be no reason why the bankrupt should not be allowed to proceed with his application for discharge. In re Blaesser, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 528.

Reference to special commissioner—Jurisdiction.—The question of the effect of a discharge on a particular debt can be raised only in a proceeding before a court having jurisdiction to decide that issue, and cannot be determined by a special commissioner to whom specifications of objection to the discharge have been referred. In re Lockwood, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 158.

Confirmation of findings by special commissioner.—As to the confirming of such findings it has been said: "Experience has proven that a report in the form of an opinion, such as has been used in admiralty and equity and is customary in bankruptcy, is generally of more value than enumerated statements of fact and conclusions of law, which require extensive exceptions in the nature of a pleading, if confirmation is opposed. A simple motion to confirm a report, in the form of an opinion, allows argument of any question involved. Further, the District Court will not overrule the findings of the commissioner, if there is any evidence upon which those findings are based, unless the conclusions are contrary to law, or unless consideration of the entire issue leads to different construction of some of the acts involved. It will be held, therefore, that there is no necessity for returning the report, or for more particular findings." In re Rowe, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 165.

Collateral attacks—Order extending time—Letters of administration.—On the hearing of an application for a discharge made by the administrator of a deceased bankrupt after the expiration of the year under the authority of an order extending the time in which to make such an application, the order granting the extension cannot be attacked in the proceeding before the special master or judge, nor can the regularity or validity of the letters of administration. Such an attack can only be made by motion. In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650.

IV. DETERMINATION (p. 555)

Vacating discharge.—An order may be granted vacating a discharge and allowing specifications to be filed where the default of the objecting creditor in filing them arose through some misunderstanding between him and the bankrupt's attorney about the time and place when the bankrupt should appear for his examination. In re Applegate, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 235 Fed. 271.

Costs.—As the hearing on the objections to a bankrupt's discharge is in effect a trial in equity, the equity rules as to taxation of costs may be properly applied. In re Amer, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 576.

The fact that the same objecting creditor filed similar exceptions in five separate cases does not relieve it from payment of costs to each of the bankrupts. In re Amer, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 576.

1912 Supp., p. 557, sec. 14b (1).

Making false oath.—Although it is a crime to make any false oath in any proceeding in bankruptcy, it is not a ground for denial of a discharge unless the oath be made in the bankruptcy proceedings of the bankrupt himself. A mere literal reading of the two sections (Bankr. Act, §§ 14 and 29) might lead to a contrary result; but it is perfectly obvious that the bankrupt's discharge depends upon his conduct toward his own creditors; and not upon his general truthfulness, even in other independent proceedings. In re Lesser, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 368.

Incredible answers.—A discharge has been refused where on his examination the bankrupt again and again replied, "I don't know," "I couldn't say," "I don't remember," to questions concerning matters which had been within his knowledge, which had taken place within a few months before the examination, and which were of such character that entire forgetfulness concerning them all was incredible. The court further said in this case: "More than 60 times during an examination covering fourteen pages of typewriting, the bankrupt made answers of the sort referred to. In some instances the answers can, perhaps, be justified by the phrasing of the question; but in many others they are obviously untrue. The inference of an intent to falsify is greatly strengthened by the repetition of such answers to various sorts of questions, such as occurs in this examination." In re Kaplan, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 222.

False oath due to mistake or advice of counsel.—If a false oath was due to a mistake in fact, or the honest advice of counsel, to whom the bankrupt had disclosed all the facts relative to the items omitted from his schedules, and which form the basis of the objections, a discharge will not be refused. In other words, such oath must have been knowingly and fraudulently made. In re Stafford, (D. C. Conn. 1915) 226 Fed. 127.

False oath as to homestead exemption.—An objection that the bankrupt made a false oath with reference to his homestead exemption certainly cannot be passed upon until the question is settled of the bankrupt's right to the exemption, and even if it should be determined that he is not entitled to the exemption, that would not show that he swore wilfully false in his application for the same. In re Meikleham, (N. D. Ga. 1916) 236 Fed. 401.

Specifications alleging false oath.—The specifications of objection must state that the oath was "knowingly and fraudulently" made. This must be the charge in the specifications, and the oath made must be as to a material matter, which must appear from the specifications of objection. The requirement that the false oath must have been, not only knowingly made, but "fraudulently" made, is of the very essence of the objection. "Intentionally" is not the same as "fraudulently." The meaning of the two words is not the same. The one word is not a synonym of the other. In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650.

Omissions and inaccuracies in the schedule.—Where it appears that a bankrupt has concealed assets which have not been listed in his schedules, he will be deemed to have taken a false oath when he swore to the truth of the schedules. In re Stafford, (D. C. Conn. 1915) 226 Fed. 127.

Where in making up his schedules the bankrupt attempted to decrease certain claims to a creditor and it appeared that the claim was much larger it was declared that unless the creditor could have been successfully estopped, and his claim held down to the lower amount, it would seem that the attempt by the bankrupt to falsely state his financial condition would be sufficient ground for denial of discharge. In re Rowe, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 165.

Concealment—"Knowingly and fraudulently."—To constitute the punishable offense of having knowingly and fraudulently concealed while a bankrupt from his trustee property belonging to his estate in bankruptcy, such concealment must have been by the bankrupt after the filing of a petition against him, while a bankrupt, or after his discharge, and the property must have been concealed from the trustee, and such property must have belonged to the estate in bankruptcy. The concealment must be knowingly and fraudulently done. The evidence must be clear. In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650.

Opponents of discharge must show existence of property.—Specifications of objection should point out or specify what property was concealed, and when, with some reasonable degree of certainty. In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650. 1912 Supp., p. 558, sec. 14b (2).

1912 Supp., p. 558, sec. 14b (2).

Concealment of financial condition.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Shrimer, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 794; In re Kaplan, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 222.

Intention to conceal.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Shrimer, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 794.

"Failed to keep books of account."—In a case involving the construction of this provision it was said: "Analyzing this statutory provision, it is clear that its sole purpose is to condemn a design on the part of a bankrupt to conceal his financial condition by either (a) destroying his books of accounts or records, or (b) concealing them, or (c) failing to keep them. It cannot be construed to require any particular system of bookkeeping, nor can it be construed to require the keeping of books at all. The books kept may be so faulty and deficient as to in fact deceive creditors as to the bankrupt's financial condition, yet, if they have been so kept with no purpose to conceal such condition, the inhibition of this statute does not apply. Congress emphasized this construction when by the amendments of 1903 it struck out the words 'fraudulent' before the word 'intent,' 'true' before the words 'financial condition,' and the words 'and in contemplation of bankruptcy' following the words 'financial condition.'" Sherwood Shoe Co. v. Wix, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 692, 153 C. C. A. 490.

No particular method of bookkeeping is required; the law does not require a man to keep books at all. The only provision of the law is that he must not adopt a method of keeping books for the purpose of concealing his true financial condition. No matter how irregularly or poorly kept his books may be, if the evidence does not show that his intent was to conceal his true financial condition, he is entitled to his discharge. In re Wix, (W. D. S. C. 1916) 236 Fed. 262.

False entries.—The making of false entries in the books is, of course, a failure to keep true books of the most glaring sort, and only from true books can the bankrupt's financial condition be ascertained. In re Helfgott, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 358.

Limited business.—The nature and extent of the bankrupt's business may be so limited that an intent to conceal his financial condition will not be inferred from his failure to keep books or more complete records. In re Arnold, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 228 Fed. 75. See also Devorkin v. Security Bank, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 171, 156 C. C. A. 37.

Long established method.—The fact that a bankrupt had for ten years adopted the same method or lack of method of bookkeeping refutes the presumption that he had adopted such method for the purpose of concealing from his creditors his financial condition. Sherwood Shoe Co. v. Wix, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 692, 153 C. C. A. 490.

Where the agent of a bankrupt failed to keep the required books, the bankrupt may be refused a discharge, it being said that there is no reason why the bankrupt should not be required to take the risk of the agent's conduct, as in many other instances. In re Janavetz, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 219 Fed. 876, 135 C. C. A. 546; In re Landersman, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 239 Fed. 766.

Intention presumed.—That the failure of a bankrupt to keep books and records was with the intent to conceal his financial condition, in the absence of any reasonable explanation will be presumed, on the theory that he is chargeable with intending the natural and probable consequences of his own acts and omissions. In re Landersman, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 239 Fed. 766.

"The intent spoken of in this clause of the act need not be proven by absolute showing that the party, in failing to keep books, designed to conceal assets or fail to disclose the state of his business; but it may be deduced from all the facts and circumstances in the case and thus ascertained and determined. The well-established rule is often invoked in determining the intent, namely, that a man must be presumed to intend the natural consequences of his act." In re Josephson, (D. C. Ore. 1916) 229 Fed. 272; In re Chass, (W. D. Pa. 1916) 238 Fed. 573.

The mere destruction of books is not prohibited unless it is done with guilty intent, and where there is no proof to that effect and no pretense that a fraud was perpetrated, a discharge will not be denied. In re Rosenthal, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 449, 145 C. C. A. 443.

Burden of proof.—In determining whether the bankrupt has offended against the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act in failing to keep certain books the burden rests on the objecting creditors to prove the essential element of the offense that the acts done and omitted by the bankrupt were with intent to conceal his financial condition. Sheinberg v. Hoffman, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 343, 149 C. C. A. 475.

The objecting creditor carries the burden of establishing the unlawful intent. In re Shrimer, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 794.

1912 Supp., p. 560, sec. 14b (3).

False statement in writing.—In general.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Josephson, (D. C. Ore.

1916) 229 Fed. 272; In re Smith, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 248.

The written statement must have been (1) materially false, and (2) made for the purpose of obtaining property on credit. A statement, to be "materially false" within the meaning of this statute, must be not only false in fact in a material matter, but must have been made with the intention to deceive. And such statement must have been made for a certain specified purpose, namely, "to secure property from another on credit." Aller-Wilmes Jewelry Co. v. Osborn, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 907, 146 C. C. A. 103.

It must appear not only that the statement relied on was false but was also knowingly made. Hamlin v. J. M. Radford Grocery Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1916) 182 S. W. 716.

Extension of credit on faith of statement.—A false statement in writing made for the purpose of obtaining money or credit bars a discharge. In re Smith, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 248; In re Blank, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 236 Fed. 801; In re Samet, (D. C. Md. 1917) 243 Fed. 203.

Conditional sale on faith of statement.—Where false statements are made the case is not taken out of the operation of this provision though the goods were delivered under "conditional sale contracts" with a reservation of title. In re Fackler, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 864.

False statement by stockholder of corporation.—A false statement made by a bankrupt may bar his right to a discharge, although the credit was obtained by a corporation of which the bankrupt owned the majority of the stock. In re Stafford, (D. C. Conn. 1915) 226 Fed. 127.

False statement by stock broker.—Where a stock broker represented to a customer who purchased stock on margin, that he had stocks "on hand" for him and the latter, induced thereby, made further payments thereon, it was held proper to deny a discharge to the broker. In re Shea, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 363.

Financial statement to bank.—Where a bank relying on false statements made by the bankrupt did not apply the debtor's balance to the reduction or extinguishment of any of his notes when they fell due in consequence of which he owed the bank more than he otherwise would have done, a discharge was denied. In re Samet, (D. C. Md. 1917) 243 Fed. 203.

False statement to commercial agency.—Where the bankrupt gave a false statement of his financial standing to a mercantile agency and according to his own testimony the purpose was not merely to obtain a rating but to obtain credit through the agency from his creditors it was held that the bankrupt made such agency his duly authorized agent to circulate the falsehoods concerning his financial condition among his different creditors whenever they should ask for information, and the case therefore falls directly within the terms of section 14b. In re Haimowich, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 378, affirmed (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 338, 156 C. C. A. 118.

But if in fact the false statement was made generally to the mercantile agency and was not afterward communicated to a subscriber, and if, therefore, no credit was procured upon faith in it, then obviously the provision, which contemplates obtaining property on credit based upon a false statement, does not extend to a false statement alone. Haimowich v. Mandel, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 338, 156 C. C. A. 118, affirming (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 378.

A false statement made to a commercial agency two years before incurring the debt in question has been held not to be a sufficient ground on which to base opposition to a discharge, as it was not a statement made in contemplation of securing credit, which could be relied on by the creditor without additional inquiry. Balfe v. Tilton, (D. C. N. H. 1916) 237 Fed. 684.

In J. W. Ould Co. v. Davis, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 228, 158 C. C. A. 388, it was held that Congress did not intend to make "general statements to mercantile agencies not specifically asked for by prospective creditors" available ground for opposing bankrupt's discharge.

False statement made by partner.—See to same effect as original annotation, Doyle v. Baltimore First Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 649, 145 C. C. A. 535.

An omission of an indebtedness of partners to relatives, in a statement made by a member of a firm for the purpose of obtaining credit, is a ground for refusing a discharge. In re Blank, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 236 Fed. 801.

Statement omitting liabilities.—A bankrupt who omitted some liabilities from a statement by him of his financial condition cannot defend by showing that the balance is substantially correct. In re Maaget, (S. D. N. Y. 1911) 245 Fed. 804. See In re Kerner, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 807.

Immaterial false statement.—While there may be a point at which the proportion of sums omitted in an untrue statement to the total sum of liabilities or surplus may be so insignificant as to have no weight in making the untruth material, yet in the consideration of the question, each case must stand upon its own facts. In re Blank, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 236 Fed. 801.

It has been held that the discharge must be denied, if money or property in any amount, not utterly trivial, is thus obtained. In re Fackler, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 864.

Intent.—See to the same effect as original annotation, Doyle v Baltimore First Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 649, 145 C. C. A. 535.

Evidence—Burden of proof.—The burden is upon the objector to sustain the allegations in his specifications of objection. In re Haimowich, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 378.

1912 Supp., p. 562, sec. 14b (4).

Concealment, etc., of assets—In general.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Cooper, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 991, 145 C. C. A. 185; In re Opava, (D. C. N. D. Iowa 1916) 235 Fed. 779; In re Braus, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 139; In re Wibeck, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 135.

What constitutes concealment—Small bank balance.—Where a bankrupt had a sum of money on deposit in a bank which he did not schedule or turn over to the trustee, but later checked it out and used it for his own personal benefit, there was held to be a concealment justifying an inference of fraud, even though the amount was small. In re Smith, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 248.

Transfer to bankrupt's wife.—Although a deed given to a bankrupt's wife within four months of bankruptcy might constitute a preference it would not of itself be a ground for opposition to a discharge. "If the payment merely constituted a preference, the discharge should be granted, and if the bankrupt did not intentionally conceal his assets from his creditors, but sought to secure an equitable claim belonging to his wife, even though it might make him insolvent, it would not legally of necessity involve fraudulent concealment of assets." In re Keen, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 684.

Mere carelessness in scheduling assets will not amount to such a fraudulent concealment as will bar a discharge. In re Meikleham, (N. D. Ga. 1916) 236 Fed. 401.

A transfer made more than four months prior to filing of petition, though probably made to hinder, delay, and defraud creditors, is not a ground for objection to a discharge. In re Fackler, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 864.

Transfer of equity of redemption.—Whether such a transfer will operate to bar a discharge was considered in Devorkin v. Security Bank, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 171, 156 C. C. A. 37.

Presumption of value.—"In deciding whether a conveyance had the effect to hinder, delay, and defraud creditors, it is of no controlling importance that the trustee has not been able to avoid it, or even that he has not tried to avoid it, and, doubtless, in the absence of any proof, there would be some presumption that property conveyed by the bankrupt had value." Devorkin v. Security Bank, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 171, 156 C. C. A. 37.

Advice of counsel.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Stafford, (D. C. Conn. 1915) 226 Fed. 127.

Evidence—Burden of proof on opposing creditors.—Creditors, opposing the bankrupt's application for a discharge on the grounds specified in this section have the burden of proof. In re Landersman, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 239 Fed. 766; Poff v. Adams, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 187, 141 C. C. A. 185.

1912 Supp., p. 567, sec. 14b (5).

Application and effect of section.—While this act provides that a bankrupt may have only one discharge within six years it does not preclude him from having more than one adjudication and distribution of his property through a bankrupt court during that period. In re Johnson, (S. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 841.

There is no limit to the number of petitions a debtor may file in bankruptcy, nor of their frequency, except he may not be granted more than one discharge in a voluntary proceeding within a period of six years. In re Warnock, (W. D. Tenn. 1917) 239 Fed. 779.

Proceedings brought within six years.—Previous proceedings in bankruptcy in which no application for a discharge was made do not bar the right of the bankrupt to a discharge in subsequent proceedings brought within six years. In re Skaats, (S. D. Ala. 1914) 233 Fed. 817.

1912 Supp., p. 567, sec. 14b (6).

[Refusal to obey lawful orders.]

Refusal to answer proper questions.—In order to justify the denial of a discharge on the ground of the refusal by a bankrupt to answer questions it must appear that the court or referee approved the question propounded, and that then the bankrupt refused to answer, and that such question was material. In re Lenweaver, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 987.

1912 Supp., p. 568, sec. 14b (6).

[When trustee may interpose objections.]

Scope of trustees' authority.—See the case of In re White, (N. D. Cal. 1917) 242 Fed. 1001.

1912 Supp., p. 568, sec. 15.

Revocation of discharge.—This section does not prevent the granting of an order vacating a discharge and allowing specifications to be filed where the default of the objecting creditor in filing them arose through some misunderstanding between him and the bankrupt's attorney about the time and place when the bankrupt should appear for his examination. In re Applegate, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 235 Fed. 271.

1912 Supp., p. 569, sec. 16a.

Surety on bond to dissolve attachment.

—In an action against the sureties on a bond given to dissolve an attachment it has been held that the fact that the plaintiff had presented his claim against the bankrupt to the bankruptcy court, and received dividends thereon in excess of the sum in which the undertaking involved in the pending suit was given, did not operate to discharge the obligation of the sureties upon said undertaking. Curtin v. Katchinski, (1916) 31 Cal. App. 768, 161 Pac. 764.

Surety on injunction bond.—In an action on a bond given on the issuance of an injunction to enjoin the collection of a judgment, it has been held that an adjudication and discharge of the judgment debtor in bankruptcy and the action of the creditor in accepting a composition and a share of the proceeds thereof does not operate to discharge the surety on the bond. Martin Furniture Co. v. Massey, (1916) 135 Tenn. 338, 186 S. W. 451.

The surety on a "forthcoming bond" given to release on levy on property of the judgment debtor, is not released by the discharge of the debtor in bankruptcy proceedings. Evans v. Rea, (Tex. Civ. App. 1917) 193 S. W. 707. See also Evan v. Rea (1917) 108 Tex. 260, 191 S. W. 1133.

Indorsers of promissory notes.—The provisions of this section have been applied in the case of an action against the indorsers of a promissory note, the maker of which has been discharged in bankruptcy. Bass v. Geiger, (Fla. 1917) 73 So. 796.

1912 Supp., p. 570, sec. 17a.

Effect of discharge.—"The discharge is prima facie a release from all debts—at least a bar against enforcement." Halligan v. Dowell, (Ia. 1917) 161 N. W. 177.

All provable debts released—In general.—See to same effect as original annotation, Butler Cotton Oil Co. v. Collins, (Ala. 1917) 75 So. 975; Bunting Stone Hardware Co. v. Alexander, (Tex. Civ. App. 1917) 190 S. W. 1152.

Liens and mortgages.—All liens and mortgages are not annulled or voided by bankruptcy or discharge, but only those which come within the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act. Butler Cotton Oil Co. v. Collins, (Ala. 1917) 75 So. 975.

Valid liens against the property of a bankrupt may be enforced after he is discharged in bankruptcy as he is released from personal liability only. Wills v. E.

K. Wood Lumber, etc., Co., (1915) 29 Cal. App. 97, 154 Pac. 613.

Nondischargeable debt.—Where a debt is not dischargeable in bankruptcy, the creditor is not required to come into a bankruptcy court and prove his claim, with a view of having it excluded from the order of discharge. In re Warnock, (W. D. Tenn. 1917) 239 Fed. 779.

Judgments.—A judgment on a note made by the bankrupt and indorsed by another is a claim provable in bankruptcy and after a discharge has been granted to the bankrupt the enforcement of the judgment against the indorser may be restrained. Bunting Stone Hardware Co. v. Alexander, (Tex. Civ. App. 1917) 190 S. W. 1152.

Pleading discharge—Necessity of pleading.—In a suit to enjoin the sale of property under execution where it is claimed that the judgment on which the execution was issued is barred by a discharge in bankruptcy it is necessary for him to plead his discharge and that the debt from which he was discharged and which was asserted against him in the subsequent proceeding was not within any of the classes of claims which the Act excepts from the operation of the discharge. Bunting Stone Hardware Co. v. Alexander, (Tex. Civ. App. 1917) 190 S. W. 1152.

Burden of proof.—In a suit to enjoin the sale of property under execution where it is claimed that the judgment on which the execution was issued is barred by a discharge in bankruptcy the burden is on the plaintiff to prove his discharge. Bunting Stone Hardware Co. v. Alexander, (Tex. Civ. App. 1917) 190 S. W. 1152.

In an action upon a judgment the burden of establishing that it has been discharged in bankruptcy rests upon the defendant. Hyde Park Flint Bottle Co. v. Miller, (1917) 179 App. Div. 73, 166 N. Y. S. 110.

It is for the judgment creditor to show by a preponderance of the evidence that the judgment upon which he sues was not affected by the discharge in bankruptcy because the liability upon which his judgment is bottomed is within said exceptions. Halligan v. Dowell, (Ia. 1917) 161 N. W. 177.

1912 Supp., p. 573, sec. 17a (2).

- I. False pretenses or representations.
- II. Wilful and malicious injuries.
- III. Miscellaneous.

I. FALSE PRETENSES OR REPRESENTATIONS (p. 573)

Liability for obtaining property by false pretenses or false representations.—See to same effect as original annotation In re Menzin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 773, 151 C. C. A. 623.

Judgment—In general.—The fact that a liability has passed to judgment does not take it out of the operation of this section, as the judgment does not so far work a merger that the original claim cannot be inquired into. Taylor v. Buser, (1917) 167 N. Y. S. 887.

Judgment on surety bond.—Where a bond was obtained from a surety company by false representations and the company, having been compelled to pay the bond, thereafter sued the insured for false representations in obtaining the bond and obtained judgment against him for the penalty and interests, such judgment is not canceled by his discharge in bankruptcy. In re Dunfee, (1916) 219 N. Y. 188, 114 N. E. 52.

Judgment for costs.—Costs decreed to defendants in a suit in equity to reform a written contract of sale, in connection with which false and fraudulent representations were made, as established by a judgment in an action at law, constitute a provable debt in bankruptcy proceedings where they were commenced and the discharge granted after the equity case came into the appellate court. Kennett v. Tudor, (Vt. 1916) 99 Atl. 306.

Promissory notes given by bankrupts.—The discharge of a bankrupt does not discharge his liability on a note, executed for borrowed money where it appears that he had created the debt through false pretenses and representations in regard to an insurance policy. Ehlinger v. Speckels, (Tex. Civ. App. 1916) 189 S. W. 348.

Renewal note.—The mere giving of a note in renewal of a former one, even if acceptance is induced by false representations is not an obtaining of property by false pretenses or false representations within the meaning of this section. Carville v. Lane, (1917) 116 Me. 332, 101 Atl. 968.

When a tort may be waived and an action quasi ex contractu maintained, the claim is a debt within the meaning of the Bankruptcy Act and provable. Enosburg Falls First Nat. Bank v. Bamforth, (1916) 90 Vt. 75, 96 Atl. 600.

II. WILFUL AND MALICIOUS INJURIES (p. 575)

Wilful and malicious injury defined.—The words "wilful and malicious" do not have the general, broad, legal significance, but they are used in a more narrow and specific sense, implying actual malice and "wilful disregard of what one knows to be his duty, an act which is against good morals and wrongful in and of itself, and which necessarily causes injury and is done intentionally." It is not necessary that "malice," as used in the phrase "wilful and malicious injuries to the person," should be shown toward a particular individual. In acts of a certain character, the law will imply malice. McClellan v. Schmidt, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 986. See further In re Levitan, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 224 Fed. 241.

Assault and battery.—The bringing of a suit on a judgment rendered in an action for assault and battery and the recovery of a second judgment thereon does not operate to take the claim out of the operation of this provision. Taylor v. Buser, (1917) 167 N. Y. S. 887.

Conversion of property.—Where a person with whom money has been deposited to secure the performance of a contract by another, which contract is fully performed, converts such money to his own use, there is a wilful and malicious injury to the property of another within the meaning of this section. In re Keeler, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 770.

A conversion of stock by a firm of brokers constitutes a wilful and malicious injury to property where, in violation of instructions to have the stock transferred to the name owner for whom it was purchased, they misappropriate it to help themselves over a financial crisis. Wood v. Fiske, (1916) 175 App. Div. 135, 161 N. Y. S. 1097.

Burden of proof.—Where a debt is one which is provable in bankruptcy the burden of proof is on the judgment creditor to show that such liability is within the exception of this provision as to liabilities for wilful or malicious injury to the person or property of another. In re Levitan, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 224 Fed. 241.

III. MISCELLANEOUS (p. 576)

Liabilities for alimony.—Where a state court in awarding a judgment for alimony gives the wife the right to occupy certain property as a homestead, such judgment is not released by a discharge in bankruptcy. Brown v. Brown, (1916) 172 Ky. 754, 189 S. W. 921.

A divorce decree by which a wife was awarded the "sum of fifty (50) dollars per month, as alimony, payable monthly, or en masse, at the option of the plaintiff, in the sum of five thousand (5,000) dollars," has been held to be a judgment in the nature of alimony and not released by a discharge of the husband in bankruptcy. Egbers v. Egbers, (1917) 98 Wash. 531, 167 Pac. 1073.

1912 Supp., p. 577, sec. 17a (3).

Debts not scheduled.—Address of creditor.—A debt is not duly scheduled where it appears that the address of the creditor given in the schedule was the business address of the creditor and the debtor knew that the creditor had not conducted business at such address for several years and that any communication addressed there would not be received. Jenkins v. Levy, (1917) 167 N. Y. S. 847.

Stating the residence of a judgment creditor as unknown, without some evidence of due diligence to ascertain the address, does not constitute a due scheduling of the debt so as to effect its discharge.

Hyde Park Flint Bottle Co. v. Miller, (1917) 179 App. Div. 73, 166 N. Y. S. 110.

Notice or actual knowledge.—"While it is true that the word 'actual' does not usually advance the meaning, it must be understood in the connection used in the statute under consideration to emphasize the fact that the knowledge of the party must be actual as contradistinguished from constructive or speculative; it must be something existing in fact." Wheeler v. Newton, (1915) 168 App. Div. 782, 154 N. Y. S. 431.

Actual knowledge of officer of creditor bank in time to permit of participation in the proceedings in time to prove the claim, is sufficient. Wrightsville Bank v. Four Seasons, (Ga. App. 1917) 94 S. E. 649.

Knowledge of bankruptcy proceedings.—The fact that one's debtor has gone into bankruptcy is not notice or knowledge of "the proceedings in bankruptcy;" it does not impose the duty upon the creditor of taking active steps. Wheeler v. Newton, (1915) 168 App. Div. 782, 154 N. Y. S. 431; Jenkins v. Nevy, (1917) 167 N. Y. S. 847.

Burden of proof.—The burden of proof is upon the bankrupt to establish the fact that the debt was duly scheduled and that the creditor had actual knowledge of the proceedings in bankruptcy. Jenkins v. Levy, (1917) 167 N. Y. S. 847.

1912 Supp., p. 578, sec. 17a (4).

Debt created by fraud or embezzlement.

—One who has stolen or fraudulently received a sum of money cannot retain that money and schedule the claim as a debt in his own estate and then obtain a discharge in bankruptcy. In re Alpert, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 295.

Embezzlement.—A claim against the president of a corporation for money embezzled by him is not released by the discharge of such officer in bankruptcy. Floyd v. Layton, (1916) 172 N. C. 64, 89 S. E. 998.

Fiduciary capacity.—The term "fiduciary capacity" embraces technical trusts only and not implied trusts. Enosburg Falls First Nat. Bank v. Bamforth, (1916) 90 Vt. 75, 96 Atl. 600.

Factor, commission merchant, etc.—A debt due by a commission merchant is not one accruing in a fiduciary capacity and though such a person converts the proceeds of goods sold on commission, the liability thus arising does not come within the exception in this provision. Butler-Kyser Mfg. Co. v. Mitchell, (1915) 195 Ala. 240, 70 So. 665.

Where goods are consigned under a contract providing that title thereto remains in the consignor, the consignee to hold the proceeds of any sale separate and apart in trust for the use and benefit of the consignor, the consignee is not acting in a fiduciary capacity within the meaning of this provision. Michelin Tire Co. v. Hearn, (Tex. Civ. App. 1916) 188 S. W. 943.

A debt created by fraud, embezzlement, misappropriation, or defalcation while acting in a fiduciary capacity will not be released by a discharge in bankruptcy. Arnold v. Smith, (1917) 137 Minn. 364, 163 N. W. 672.

1912 Supp., p. 579, sec. 18a.

Irregularities in proceedings.—As to the distinction between irregularities in proceedings leading to the adjudication which are errors of procedure and not jurisdictional defects, see In re Sage, (E. D. Mo. 1915) 224 Fed. 525.

Petition—Sufficiency.—The sufficiency of a petition in involuntary bankruptcy in respect to the description of the claim of the petitioners is to be tested by the rules of pleading which would govern a declaration or a bill in equity in an action or suit brought to enforce such claims. Doty v. Mason, (S. D. Fla. 1917) 244 Fed. 587.

A petition has been held sufficient though it only alleges that a confession of judgment was made with an intent to prefer, without setting forth the facts and circumstances from which such intent may be inferred. In re Musgrove Min. Co., (D. C. Idaho 1916) 234 Fed. 99.

Amendment of petition.—Where a defect is easily amendable the petition will not be dismissed without opportunity afforded the petitioners to make the required amendment. Doty v. Mason, (S. D. Fla. 1917) 244 Fed. 587.

The exercise of the jurisdiction to amend is within the sound discretion of the court, having in mind the interests of the creditors. International Silver Co. v. New York Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 945, 147 C. C. A. 619.

The fact that an application to amend a petition is not in writing does not affect jurisdiction to act thereon where notice has been waived by express written consent to the amendment. International Silver Co. v. New York Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 945, 147 C. C. A. 619.

Verification.—While an amendment does not affirmatively appear to have been verified as required by General Order in Bankruptcy No. XI, yet where the order stated that "said amendment was made accordingly on the face of the bill," meaning, of course, the petition—it was within the power of the court to permit verification later. International Silver Co. v. New York Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 945, 147 C. C. A. 619.

Service—Waiver.—See to same effect as original annotation. In re Continental Engine Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 58, 148 C. C. A. 74.

Service on Sunday.—Service of subpoena and of copy of petition in an involuntary bankruptcy proceeding may be made upon a Sunday. Lamar-Wells Co. v. Hamilton Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 54, 150 C. C. A. 256.

Dismissal of proceedings.—Suit pending in state court.—The fact that a suit is pending in a state court between one of the petitioners in the bankruptcy proceedings and the indorsers on a note is not a sufficient ground for the dismissal of the proceedings. Doty v. Mason, (S. D. Fla. 1917) 244 Fed. 587.

1912 Supp., p. 581, sec. 18b.

Right to appear or plead.—“From the fact that the Bankruptcy Act (section 18b) makes express provision for the exercise by the bankrupt or by any creditor of a right to appear and plead to a petition for involuntary bankruptcy it does not follow that it was a purpose of the act to withhold from the court of bankruptcy the power of permitting participation in the proceedings by other parties shown to be interested in the result of them. Jackson v. Wauchula Mfg., etc., Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 409, 144 C. C. A. 551, wherein the court so stated where the liability to the petitioner was for a personal injury not “wilful or malicious.”

1912 Supp., p. 582, sec. 18c.

Amendment.—Where the certificate of the notary is a falsification there is no verification and the petition cannot be amended. In re Frank, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 234 Fed. 665.

1912 Supp., p. 583, sec. 18d.

Effect of adjudication.—An adjudication, of itself, imports the existence of all the jurisdictional facts. Anderson v. Stayton State Bank, (1916) 82 Ore. 357, 159 Pac. 1033.

Exclusive jurisdiction.—“Where a valid adjudication of bankruptcy has been made by a court of bankruptcy, the jurisdiction of that court to administer the property of the bankrupt is exclusive, and it cannot properly surrender its jurisdiction to any other court.” In re Sage, (E. D. Mo. 1915) 224 Fed. 525.

Where a surviving partner has been adjudicated a bankrupt this carries with it the entire rights and obligations of the firm as it existed prior to the copartner's death. In re Stringer, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 454.

Assignment.—If an adjudication in bankruptcy follows an assignment for the benefit of creditors it has the effect of automatically and of its own force avoiding the assignment. In re Neuberger, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 947, 153 C. C. A. 633.

Vacating adjudication.—Proceedings in bankruptcy are in rem, binding all parties interested in the bankrupt's property. If a creditor desires to vacate an adjudication, and his motion is addressed to the sound discretion—that is, the judicial discretion—of the judge, it is incumbent upon him to show that the vacation of the adjudication would result in benefit to him; i. e., that on trial of the issue tendered the result would probably be favorable to his contention. Abbott v. Wauchula Mfg., etc., Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 938, 153 C. C. A. 624.

In a voluntary proceeding, where an adjudication in bankruptcy immediately follows the filing of a petition good on its face, without opportunity to any interested person to question the allegations of the petitioner, it seems to be entirely settled that allegations as to residence, domicile, and principal place of business are jurisdictional matters, and a petition to vacate upon the ground that the court obtained no jurisdiction of the subject matter, if these facts are not as alleged, is the correct practice. In re San Antonio Land, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 223 Fed. 984.

Jurisdictional grounds.—Where the petition is in due form and is properly verified, and avers all the jurisdictional and other facts essential to entitle the petitioner to have an order entered adjudicating it bankrupt, after the adjudication has been made, any party who has the requisite interest in the proceedings may move to vacate the adjudication upon jurisdictional grounds. In re Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co., (E. D. Mo. 1917) 239 Fed. 155.

1912 Supp., p. 586, sec. 18g.

Simultaneous pendency of voluntary and involuntary proceedings.—While the mere pendency of the involuntary petition does not take away jurisdiction to entertain the voluntary petition and to adjudicate thereunder, the duty arises to choose the course for the best interests of creditors. In many cases such interests are best subserved by adjudicating upon a voluntary petition, thus saving delay, litigation and expense in procuring an adjudication; but notice of the filing of the voluntary petition should be given to the petitioning creditors, and opportunity thus afforded to determine the course most likely to conserve the interests of the estate. The fact, however, that adjudication was made under the voluntary petition did not preclude jurisdiction to protect the rights of creditors under the involuntary petition. International Silver Co. v. New York Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 945, 147 C. C. A. 619. See also In re Continental Coal Corp., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 113, 151 C. C. A. 189.

1912 Supp., p. 586, sec. 19a.

Right to trial by jury.—In an action at law to recover alleged preferential cash payments the defendant has a right to have the suit tried by jury, and unless such right has been either expressly or impliedly waived a reference to the master is unauthorized. Wm. Edwards Co. v. La Dow, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 378, 144 C. C. A. 520.

Where the distribution of the fund is the only issue before the court, there is no question, under the Bankruptcy Act or other law, to be submitted to a jury for determination. In re Gibbons, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 420.

Waiver of right to jury trial—Failure to demand.—“It is the general and well-settled rule that parties are presumed to have waived a jury, even in the absence of written stipulation, whenever it appears that they were present at the trial in person or by counsel and made no demand for a jury.” Wm. Edwards Co. v. La Dow, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 378, 144 C. C. A. 520.

Where a bankrupt answered petitions against him denying both insolvency and acts of bankruptcy but did not ask for a jury trial and an order was immediately entered directing the referee to hear the issues as special master, it was held that the refusal of a separate demand filed on the next court day but one was not an abuse of discretion. In re Wester, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 465, 155 C. C. A. 241.

1912 Supp., p. 589, sec. 21a.

Right of examination.—“It is now settled by the Supreme Court, notwithstanding many decisions in the lower courts to the contrary, that the moment a petition in bankruptcy is filed, whether voluntary or involuntary, and a receiver appointed, the administration of the estate has begun, and an order may be granted under section 21a for the examination of the bankrupt or any designated witness or witnesses.” In re Emigh, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 988.

Scope of examination—Issue of solvency.—“It would be a perversion of the purpose of section 21a to exercise the power it confers to obtain evidence for use on the trial of the issue of solvency or insolvency. Section 3b contains the provision applicable to the examination of the alleged bankrupt with reference to that issue. Rawlins v. Hall-Epps Clothing Co., 217 Fed. 884, 133 C. C. A. 594; Cameron v. United States, 231 U. S. 710, 34 Sup. Ct. 244, 58 L. ed. 448. By the terms of the last-mentioned provision the only effect given to the alleged bankrupt's failure to attend and submit to the examination provided for is that ‘the burden of proving his solvency shall rest upon him.’” Abbott v. Wauchula Mfg.

etc., Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 677, 144 C. C. A. 87.

Conduct of examination—Competency of wife.—The competency of a wife to testify against her husband in a civil proceeding under this Act is determined by state law. In re Kessler, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 394.

Books and papers.—Where a state law gives to a private banker the right to apply within a certain number of days for a restitution of possession of papers and books seized by the state banking department, the privilege thus conferred must be asserted or it is lost and it has been held that the court will not direct the state district attorney to deliver such papers and books to the receiver in bankruptcy. In re Mandel, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 643.

Right of witness to counsel.—Supplementing the original note, see In re Emigh, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 988.

1912 Supp., p. 593, sec. 21e.

Force of order.—A certified copy of an order showing approval of the trustee's bond is under this section conclusive evidence of the vesting in him of title to the property of the bankrupt. Anderson v. Stayton State Bank, (1916) 82 Ore. 357, 159 Pac. 1033.

1912 Supp., p. 593, sec. 21f.

Certified copy of order as evidence.—In a suit against the bankrupt, subsequent to his discharge, upon a debt existing at the time of the filing of the petition, the production of a certified copy of the order of discharge makes a prima facie defense, and the burden is cast upon the plaintiff to show that his debt came within the exceptions. Claffin v. Wolff, (1915) 88 N. J. L. 308, 96 Atl. 73.

Where a discharge in bankruptcy is pleaded as a defense to an action, and the plea is traversed, the burden is upon the defendant to prove his discharge; and, to carry this burden, he must put in evidence a certified copy of the order granting the discharge. Williams v. Millen First Nat. Bank, (Ga. 1917) 94 S. E. 73.

1912 Supp., p. 594, sec. 23a.

Adverse claimants.—Where facts are undisputed, and only a question of law is involved, and the question of law is debatable, the person resisting is not an adverse claimant. Alco Film Corp. v. Alco Film Service, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 55, 148 C. C. A. 71.

Jurisdiction of state court.—This section does not have the effect of depriving a state court of jurisdiction of a suit brought by a third party claiming title, and right of possession of property, though the trustee claims that the property is in his actual possession as trustee.

tee, as an asset of the estate, where it appears that the bankruptcy court never by summary process, or any kind of process, took actual possession of the property, and never by writ or otherwise authorized the trustee to do so, and never claimed possession of it as an asset of the estate. Peters v. Bowers, (1916) 61 Colo. 534, 158 Pac. 1101.

1912 Supp., p. 595, sec. 23b.

- I. Jurisdiction of adverse claims.
- II. Jurisdiction as affected by possession.
- III. Jurisdiction by consent.
- IV. Recovery of preferential and fraudulent transfers.
- V. Summary and plenary jurisdiction.
- VI. Jurisdiction of state courts.

I. JURISDICTION OF ADVERSE CLAIMS (p. 595)

Bona fide adverse claims.—“Claims made after petition filed, but arising before that time, constitute adverse claims, when the fund is in possession of one who makes no adverse claim.” In re Interocean Transp. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 409.

Jurisdiction—rule stated.—“We understand the rule in all such cases to be that if a real adverse claim exists, as distinguished from one which is merely colorable, the claimant cannot be compelled against his will to try the issue in the court of bankruptcy. Whether the claim is real or colorable does not depend upon whether it turns upon a question of fact or upon a question of law. Does the claim rest upon mere pretense of fact or of law? Is it put forward in good faith, and in that sense is it real? Or is it put forward in bad faith, and therefore unreal? If there is a real question either of law or of fact, the claimant need not submit it to the court of bankruptcy, unless he consents to do so; but the trustee must institute his independent action in a court having jurisdiction of the subject-matter and have the claim regularly adjudicated, as the bankrupt himself must have done, had bankruptcy proceedings not been pending.” In re Midtown Contracting Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 56, 155 C. C. A. 586.

Adverse claimant.—A petitioning creditor who after adjudication has received money the title to which has already passed by operation of law to the trustee has been held not to be an adverse claimant. In re O. L. Ward, (D. C. N. D. Cal. 1917) 242 Fed. 999.

II. JURISDICTION AS AFFECTED BY POSSESSION (p. 597)

Possession of property gives jurisdiction thereover.—See to the same effect as original annotation, In re Cobb's Consol.

Gas, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 233 Fed. 458; In re Dialogue, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 241 Fed. 290.

“It is well settled that the general rule, that possession of the res vests the court which has first acquired jurisdiction with power to hear and determine all controversies relating thereto, and for the time being disables other courts of coordinate jurisdiction from exercising a like power, and from interfering with the former court, is applicable to courts of bankruptcy.” In re Schmidt, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 224 Fed. 814.

“A bankruptcy court has no authority or jurisdiction, in the absence of lawful possession of the property by its officers, to draw to itself and determine in a summary proceeding the adverse claim of one claiming for his own benefit a lien upon or title to property of the bankrupt which was created, or is claimed to have been created, otherwise than by the legal proceeding specified in section 67c, 67f, prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy.” American Trust, etc., Bank v. Ruppe, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 581, 150 C. C. A. 463.

Possession through agreement.—The fact that control of property after it had been relinquished by the trustee under a decree of court was only regained through agreement of the party into whose possession the property had been surrendered, does not impair the jurisdiction of the court to determine the ownership thereof. In re Traunstein, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 225 Fed. 317.

III. JURISDICTION BY CONSENT (p. 599)

Effect of consent.—See to same effect as original annotation, Jones v. Blair, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 783, 155 C. C. A. 371.

IV. RECOVERY OF PREFERENTIAL AND FRAUDULENT TRANSFERS (p. 600)

Jurisdiction to recover property fraudulently or preferentially transferred.—See to same effect as original annotation, Winslow v. Starr, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 305.

Suit against transferee of property.—In a case where a creditor of the bankrupt accepted goods in payment of some of the indebtedness to him the court said: “His claim of right to such goods is of substance, and not a mere fictitious or colorable one. The questions whether he obtained a preference in such transaction or whether it was tainted with fraud are not pertinent upon the issue whether such creditor is an adverse claimant. The referee had jurisdiction to issue the rule to show cause, there being sufficient in the affidavits upon which such rule was based to justify the inquiry; but as soon as it developed that a transfer of property from the bankrupts to one of their creditors had been made, to discharge some of their indebtedness to him, and that such creditor refused his consent to the referee's inquiring into the legality of such transaction in a summary way, it was the duty of the referee to stay such proceedings and remit the trustee to a plenary suit under section 23b of the Bankruptcy Act. . . . As such creditor never consented to such summary jurisdiction, but always protested against it, the order under review is reversed, and the cause remanded, that proceedings plenary in their nature may be instituted, if the same be deemed advisable." In re Vallozza, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 225 Fed. 334.

V. SUMMARY AND PLENARY JURISDICTION (p. 601)

General principles controlling jurisdiction.—See In re Flanigan, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 339.

Summary jurisdiction.—See to same effect as original annotation, Courtney v. Shea, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 358, 140 C. C. A. 382.

"The District Court sitting in bankruptcy has jurisdiction to draw to itself and to determine by summary proceedings after reasonable notice to the claimants all controversies between the trustee and adverse claimants over liens upon and the title and possession of (1) property in the possession of the bankrupt when the petition in bankruptcy is filed, (2) property held by third parties for him, (3) property lawfully seized by the marshal as the bankrupt's under clause 3 of section 2 of the bankruptcy law, and (4) property claimed by the trustee which has been lawfully reduced to actual possession by the officers of the court." Darrough v. Claremore First Nat. Bank, (Okla. 1916) 156 Pac. 191.

Jurisdiction in summary proceedings, being of statutory authority, and based upon necessity to prevent threatened loss to the rightful owners of property, or defiant disobedience to the orders and decrees of courts, should not be enlarged by construction or implication. In re Cox-Rackley Co., (E. D. N. C. 1917) 245 Fed. 367.

Possession as requisite to summary jurisdiction.—The summary jurisdiction of the court can be sustained only when the bankruptcy court, through the acts of its officers, such as referees, receivers, or trustees, has taken possession of the res as the property of the bankrupt. In re Schmick Handle, etc., Co., (D. C. Me. 1916) 233 Fed. 446.

Where the claimant has submitted to the jurisdiction of the court, and has placed the funds in the hands of the officers of the court, summary process is the proper method to determine the final ownership of the fund. In re Schmick Handle, etc., Co., (D. C. Me. 1916) 233 Fed. 446.

Where book accounts have been assigned to a creditor prior to bankruptcy and collections have been made thereon, the assignee's possession prevented such collections from becoming a part of the res which passed into custodia legis with the filing of the petition in bankruptcy and in the absence of consent or waiver these collections cannot be recovered by summary action in proceedings before a referee. But as to uncollected accounts it has been held that the referee has jurisdiction to summarily determine the right thereto. In re Gottlieb (D. C. N. J. 1917) 245 Fed. 139.

Bona fide adverse claim.—A federal court may not in summary proceedings determine the sufficiency of a truly adverse claim, but the court has granted similar relief where the claim, made by the possessor of the property, after fraudulent transfer, is founded upon patent and flagrant fraud. In re Resnek, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 246 Fed. 879.

"The courts have held in numerous cases that a stranger to the proceedings in bankruptcy, who sets up an adverse title to property which is claimed by the trustee as assets of the bankrupt, cannot be compelled to submit his claim to adjudication in a summary proceeding in the court of bankruptcy provided his claim is made with the apparent intention of defending it in good faith and is not merely colorable, but is entitled to be heard in a plenary suit." In re Midtown Contracting Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 56, 155 C. C. A. 586.

The title to property in the possession of a third party under a claim adverse to that of the bankrupt estate cannot be asserted in summary proceedings. In re Flanigan, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 339.

Effect of failure to object to jurisdiction.—Acquiescence in summary proceedings may operate as a waiver of the right to object. In re Hopkins, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 378, 143 C. C. A. 469.

Necessity of plenary action.—See to same effect as original annotation, Courtney v. Shea, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 358, 140 C. C. A. 382; In re McCracken, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 234 Fed. 776; In re Vocks, (W. D. Ky. 1917) 242 Fed. 963.

Effect of amendments of 1903 and 1910.—The jurisdiction of a plenary suit by a trustee to recover a debt due from the bankrupt's estate as it stood before the amendments of 1903 and 1910 has been unaffected by those amendments. De Friece v. Bryant, (E. D. Ky. 1916) 232 Fed. 233.

Suit against adverse claimant.—A federal court has no jurisdiction of plenary suit by the trustee in bankruptcy against an adverse claimant, save as provided in section 23b. De Friece v. Bryant, (E. D. Ky. 1916) 232 Fed. 233.

Suit against stockholder.—A proceeding as against the individual stockholder upon his refusal to pay his delinquent subscription is not a mere proceeding in bankruptcy for the collection of the assets of the estate, but a suit plenary in its nature and subject to all the limitations expressed in section 23b of the Bankruptcy Act. Kelly v. Aarons, (S. D. Cal. 1917) 238 Fed. 996.

Action for concealment or conversion by bankrupt and agents.—See Jones v. Blair, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 783, 155 C. C. A. 371.

Application of General Order XXXVII.—General Order XXXVII applies only to equity proceedings, properly so called, and not to summary proceedings in bankruptcy. Even in summary proceedings the court allows the respondent full opportunity for hearing and defense, but it is not limited by the technical rules of procedure in equity. In re Cunney, (D. C. Mass. 1904) 225 Fed. 426.

VI. JURISDICTION OF STATE COURTS (p. 602)

Failure or refusal to assert jurisdiction.—Where it appears that the federal court has not only failed to assert exclusive jurisdiction, but also that it has refused to assert or claim it, the state court before which a general creditor's bill is pending not only may, but should proceed to a determination of the questions before it. Morgan v. Dayton Coal, etc., Co., (Tenn. 1916) 134 Tenn. 228, 183 S. W. 1019, Ann. Cas. 1917E 42.

Property in lawful possession of state court.—Where the debtor's property is in the hands of receivers appointed by a state court and its assets are being administered satisfactory to a large majority of the creditors, a petition by a small minority to have the debtor adjudged a bankrupt will be dismissed, it also appearing that bankruptcy proceedings would enure only to the detriment of the creditors generally. In re McKinnon Co., (D. C. E. D. N. C. 1916) 237 Fed. 869.

The court which first assumed control and had jurisdiction of the property or fund may retain it all for the purpose of a final order or decree where the rights of the parties urging claims that conflict with one another on the same property or fund would be the same whether presented in the state court or in bankruptcy court. Pietri v. Wells, (1915) 137 La. 1087, 69 So. 847.

1912 Supp., p. 603, sec. 24a.

I. CONTROVERSIES ARISING IN BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS (p. 603)

Intervention.—An intervention in bankruptcy proceedings where claimants assert liens against particular funds has been held to give rise to a controversy in bankruptcy proceedings within the meaning of this section. Emerson v. Castor, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 29, 149 C. C. A. 239.

The appearance of the mortgagees in response to notice of the petition of the mortgagor's trustees in bankruptcy for the marshaling of assets, the sale of the encumbered property, and the application of the proceeds to the payment of all liens thereon, and their assertion of their conflicting rights under their respective mortgages, and their attempt to have them enforced against the proceeds, has been held to be the equivalent of an affirmative intervention, and, when taken in connection with the trustees' petition, brought into the bankruptcy proceedings a "controversy" over which the circuit court of appeals was vested, by the Bankrupt Act of July 1, 1898 (30 Stat. at L. 544, ch. 541) § 24, with the same appellate jurisdiction which, under the Judicial Code, § 128, it possesses in other cases. Moody v. Century Sav. Bank, (1915) 239 U. S. 374, 36 S. Ct. 111, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 336.

Dismissal of petition made by trustee.

—Where the issues made in the petition and return were (1) the title of the trustee to certain assets claimed by him to be in existence as part of the bankrupt estate which the bankrupts claimed should not have been embraced in their schedules, and which, they joined their agents in saying, were either not assets at all, or were assets belonging to their agents; and (2) an accounting by the bankrupts and their agents for the proceeds of cotton and other property disposed of, it was said that the questions were not solely between the bankrupts or the trustee and their creditors, but between the trustee and the bankrupts, and also the bankrupts' agents, and it was clearly a "controversy arising in bankruptcy proceedings," as distinguished from a "proceeding in bankruptcy," and therefore is properly here by appeal under section 24a, rather than by petition to superintend and revise under section 24b. Jones v. Blair, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 783, 155 C. C. A. 371.

Jurisdictional amount.—The jurisdiction given by this section is not in terms affected by the amount involved. Emerson v. Castor, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 29, 149 C. C. A. 239.

Mode of appeal.—Where there is a doubt as to correct procedure for obtaining a review of an order both the methods provided by sections 24a and 24b may be resorted to in which case the court must determine which of the two it is authorized to entertain. In re Creech Bros. Lumber Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 8, 153 C. C. A. 44.

Decisions held appealable.—A decree directing the payment to the trustee of the proceeds of the sale of a stock of goods on which a creditor, a bank, claimed a lien. Scandinavian-American Bank v. Sabin, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 579, 142 C. C. A. 211.

A controversy as to the ownership of a fund claimed by the trustee and the appellee. Wuerpel v. Commercial Germania Trust, etc., Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 269, 151 C. C. A. 285.

An order allowing a claim as a preferred claim. In re Creech Bros. Lumber Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 8, 153 C. C. A. 44.

Decisions held not appealable.—An order made ostensibly in a bankruptcy proceeding, allowing counsel fees. In re Jacobson, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 79, 152 C. C. A. 129.

An order relating to a claim secured by a lien on the assets of the bankrupt. In re Monarch Acetylene Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 741, 158 C. C. A. 143.

1912 Supp., p. 611, sec. 24b.

Appeal or petition to revise as exclusive or optional right.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Creech Bros. Lumber Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 8, 153 C. C. A. 44.

It is now the settled law of this circuit that the remedies by appeal and petition to revise are mutually exclusive. Henkin v. Fousek, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 285.

Where there is a doubt as to the correct procedure for obtaining a review of an order both the methods provided by sections 24a and 24b may be resorted to in which case the court must determine which of the two it is authorized to entertain. In re Creech Bros. Lumber Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 8, 153 C. C. A. 44.

Appeal united with petition.—Resort may be had to both appeal and petition to bring up for review rulings complained of, in order to avoid a mistake in remedy. Chavelle v. Washington Trust Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 400, 141 C. C. A. 230.

Time for filing petition.—A petition to revise must be taken within ten days after the original order was entered. In re John M. Linck Constr. Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 488, 140 C. C. A. 18.

A petition to revise an order making an allowance to the trustee's attorney must be taken within ten days after the order was entered. In re John M. Linck Constr. Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 488, 140 C. C. A. 18.

The petition to revise will be dismissed where it is not brought within ten days after entry of the order sought to be reviewed as prescribed by equity rule 38. In re Vanoscope Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 53, 147 C. C. A. 123.

When no rule of court prescribes time.

—There are no terms in bankruptcy, and no provision in the statute limiting the time within which an order of the referee may be reviewed or an order of the District Court reheard, and where there is no rule of court a proceeding to revise will not be regarded as too late. In re Barker Piano Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 522, 147 C. C. A. 408.

"Matter of law."—A proceeding which may be revised in matters of law means some formal exercise of judicial power affecting asserted rights of a party. In re Berthoud (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 797, 151 C. C. A. 647.

Only questions of law can be considered. Hall v. Reynolds, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 103, 139 C. C. A. 659; Henkin v. Fousek, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 285; In re Nankin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 811.

And the court is limited to a consideration of the questions of law arising out of the facts found or conceded. Kinthead v. Bacon, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 362, 144 C. C. A. 504.

And where a case involves a consideration and finding of facts it must be disposed of on appeal and not by petition to revise. Henderson v. Morse, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 518, 149 C. C. A. 64.

Revising testimony.—On a petition to revise the court is neither required nor permitted to review the testimony. Olmsted-Stevenson Co. v. Miller, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 69, 145 C. C. A. 257. See also Olmsted-Stevenson Co. v. Langdorf, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 76, 145 C. C. A. 264; Moore Dry Goods Co. v. Brooks, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 943, 153 C. C. A. 629.

Sufficiency of evidence.—A review of all controverted and uncontroverted facts to determine whether there is any substantial evidence to sustain the order, is a review as to a matter of law within the provisions of section 24b of the Bankruptcy Act, is well settled. In re Kuhn Bros., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 277, 148 C. C. A. 179.

Questions and orders reviewable not reviewable on petition.—Finality of order necessary.—"There must be a certain degree of finality about these administrative orders before they can be reviewed; if every order were reviewable, proceedings could easily be so tied up and prolonged that the situation would become intolerable. But where a fairly separable subject has been finally disposed of, so that rights have been definitely determined, and practically nothing remains to be done in that respect, such a subject is ready for review." In re Pechin, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 853, 142 C. C. A. 377.

An order of the district court refusing to allow a specification of objection to discharge to be filed or to be amended has sufficient finality to permit of its being reviewed. In re Pechin, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 853, 142 C. C. A. 377.

Order setting aside discharge.—An order setting aside a discharge is not one denying a discharge within the meaning of section 25a (2) and the appropriate remedy is one to superintend and revise in matter of law under section 24b. In re Jacobs, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 620, 154 C. C. A. 378.

Order as to intervention.—An order of the bankruptcy court, granting or refusing to grant leave to a party to intervene for the purpose of contesting the grounds upon which an adjudication in an involuntary bankruptcy proceeding is sought, may be reviewed. Ogden v. Gilt Edge Consol. Mines Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 723, 140 C. C. A. 597.

Review of order denying motion to vacate adjudication.—There is some question as to whether the review of an order denying a motion to vacate an adjudication in bankruptcy should be by appeal or by petition to revise; but the weight of authority seems to support the proposition that the review is by petition to revise. In re Vanoscope Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 53, 147 C. C. A. 123.

As an order denying the application of a creditor to have the judgment of the court adjudicating the debtor a bankrupt vacated and set aside is not appealable it seems that as to matters of law it may be reviewed by a petition to revise. Hart-Parr Co. v. Barkley, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 913, 146 C. C. A. 109.

An order fixing the compensation of a referee involves a "proceeding in bankruptcy" and is reviewable under this section. Kinthead v. Bacon, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 362, 144 C. C. A. 504.

Order in omnibus proceeding.—A petition to revise is the proper remedy to review an order in an omnibus proceeding, begun to determine the rights of various claimants to property in the hands of a receiver. In re Pierson, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 519, 147 C. C. A. 405.

An order requiring a bankrupt to turn over a specified amount of money to the trustee in bankruptcy is a step in bankruptcy proceedings reviewable by petition to revise under section 24b. In re Shidlovsky, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 450, 140 C. C. A. 654.

Injunction order.—Where the merits of a claim, the prosecution of an action for which has been enjoined have not been decided it has been decided that a petition to revise the injunction order and not appeal, is the proper remedy. Orinoco Iron Co. v. Metzel, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 40, 144 C. C. A. 338.

Allowance of counsel fees.—This section provides the applicable mode of review of an order denying an allowance for counsel fees for services rendered in resisting a confirmation of a composition. In re Kinnane Co.'s Estate, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 769, 155 C. C. A. 357.

Where the only questions involved were questions of fact as to whether an allowance to attorneys was a reasonable compensation for the services rendered by them and whether the allowance should be apportioned by the court it was held that there were no questions of law for the court to revise. Hall v. Reynolds, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 103, 139 C. C. A. 659.

Establishment of lien.—A proceeding in bankruptcy to establish a lien is reviewable by petition to superintend and revise and it is proper to dismiss an appeal. J. M. Radford Grocery Co. v. Powell, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 1, 142 C. C. A. 457.

Decree of state court.—A petition to revise is the proper mode to call in question a decree of a state court directing the receiver to surrender possession of the assets after deducting a sum allowed as compensation to the receiver and his attorney. State v. Angle (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 44, 149 C. C. A. 644.

Disputed questions of fact.—The court cannot determine any conflicting inferences of fact on a petition to revise an order postponing the claims of the petitioners. In re Bean, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 405, 144 C. C. A. 547.

Security for costs on petition to review.—For writs of error at common law, also for the ordinary appeals in equity, the statutes of the United States, or the rules of the courts, make provisions for security for costs on allowance of the citation, or subsequent thereto, but there is said to be no statute, or rule, or any settled practice, giving a right to a respondent or appellee to apply for security for costs on a petition to review matters of law in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Vidal, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1915) 230 Fed. 603, 145 C. C. A. 13.

1912 Supp., p. 623, sec. 25a.

Cases appealable in bankruptcy.—The only cases in which an appeal can be taken in bankruptcy proceedings are those mentioned in section 25a of the Bankruptcy Act. Ogden v. Gilt Edge Consol. Mines Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 723, 140 C. C. A. 597.

The claim of a petitioner being for unreturned goods sold on credit has been held to constitute a controversy arising in bankruptcy proceedings, which is appealable under section 25a, and not reviewable under section 24b. Howard D. Thomas Co. v. Beharrell, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 691, 144 C. C. A. 101.

Where it appeared that the appellant recognized the title to and possession of a fund in the trustee for administration under the orders of the bankruptcy court, and asserted its right to have it so administered or distributed as to recognize its equitable title to the fund it was held that this constituted a proceeding in bankruptcy, as distinguished from a controversy arising in bankruptcy proceedings, within the meaning of sections 25(a) and 24(a), respectively, and as such proceeding it was subject to the provisions of section 25(a), and should have been appealed if at all, in accordance with its provisions. Barton Lumber, etc., Co. v. Prewitt, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 919, 146 C. C. A. 115.

Conditional order.—An order which is conditional is not appealable. In re Sutter Hotel Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 241 Fed. 367, 154 C. C. A. 247.

The dismissal of a rule to compel the conveyance of real estate to the highest bidder has been held to be a step in a bankruptcy proceeding from which no appeal lies. Untereiner v. Camors, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 890, 143 C. C. A. 288.

Time for taking appeal.—Where the petition for an appeal, accompanied by an assignment of errors, was filed in the District Court within ten days from the date of the decree, and was promptly presented to a judge having authority to allow the appeal it was held that this was a presentation to the court which made the decree of the application for an appeal within the time allowed by the statute; and the order allowing the appeal, which was made on the third day after such presentation, had relation back to the date of the application therefor. Robertson Banking Co. v. Chamberlain, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 500, 143 C. C. A. 82.

Questions of fact.—In equity cases, under the new rules, appeals present the controversy for determination de novo as under the old rules; but where the trial judge has heard the testimony in open court, his finding of fact should not be disturbed, unless the record very clearly discloses either a misapprehension of the testimony or a mistaken application of the law. In re Kaplan, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 866, 148 C. C. A. 464.

Where the trial judge has found as a fact that the debtor was then in a bankrupt condition, within the statutory definition, that finding cannot be reviewed in the absence of the evidence on which it was based. Abele v. Beacon Trust Co., (1917) 227 Mass. 427, 117 N. E. 834.

The court on appeal should not reverse the finding of the trial court upon a pure question of fact, where the evidence justifies the finding, even if the appellate court might have reached a different conclusion upon the evidence. Brookheim v. Greenbaum, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 763, 141 C. C. A. 89.

Findings of referee or master.—"The findings of fact by the master and affirmed by the court are presumptively correct and will be upheld on appeal, if supported by substantial evidence, or unless a clear mistake is shown." Sheinberg v. Hoffman, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 343, 149 C. C. A. 475.

Record on appeal.—Under order No. 36 of the General Orders in Bankruptcy the Circuit Court of Appeals cannot review or reverse the order of the District Court without having before it the testimony or record upon which that court acted. In re Murphy, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 988, 144 C. C. A. 270.

Dismissal of appeal—Decree appealed from not final or conclusive.—An appeal from a decree dismissing complainant's claim for a part of the demand set forth in the bill has been dismissed where it is apparent that the decree appealed from does not dispose of the whole case, and it is at least doubtful whether the decree complained of is even final and conclusive in the court below, under the general rule that orders and decrees in chancery may be altered, revised, or revoked during the term at which they were passed, or while the cause remains open for further proceedings. Wuerpel v. Canal-Louisiana Bank, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 934, 146 C. C. A. 130.

1912 Supp., p. 632, sec. 25a (1).

Record on appeal.—Under Order No. 36 of the General Orders in Bankruptcy the Circuit Court of Appeals cannot review or reverse an order of the District Court denying adjudication and dismissing the petition without having before it the testimony or record upon which that court acted. In re Murphy (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 988, 144 C. C. A. 270.

1912 Supp., p. 633, sec. 25a (2).

Order setting aside discharge.—An order setting aside a discharge is not one "denying a discharge" within the meaning of this section. "The object of the appeal there mentioned is to provide for bringing up the facts upon which either the original grant or denial of a discharge is based." In re Jacobs, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 620, 154 C. C. A. 378.

An order granting leave to amend specifications of objection to a petition for a discharge does not possess the degree of finality required to permit of its being reviewed. In re Pechin, (C. C. A. 3d Cir.) 227 Fed. 853, 142 C. C. A. 377.

1912 Supp., p. 634, sec. 25a (3).

[From allowance or rejection of claim.]

An order allowing a claim as a preferred claim, in excess of the jurisdictional amount which is objected to on the ground that the claim is not a preferred one is appealable under this section. In re Creech Bros. Lumber Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 8, 153 C. C. A. 44.

Claim adverse to title of trustee.—Where the claim asserted by the petitioner is adverse to the title of the trustee, the petition to superintend and revise should be dismissed as appeal is the proper remedy. American Piano Co. v. Heazel, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 410, 153 C. C. A. 336.

1912 Supp., p. 635, sec. 25a (3).

[Time for taking appeal hearing.]

Judgment "rendered."—Where the date September 15, 1915, appeared at the end of the order, or judgment, of the District Court, in connection with the signature of the judge; but the filing date and the signature of the court clerk were shown at the commencement of the judgment under the date September 16th, it was held that the filing date rather than the other date, there shown indicated the time of rendition of the judgment in accordance with both the appearance docket and the journal of the court. Paris First Nat. Bank v. Yerkes, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 278, 151 C. C. A. 294.

Time for appeal.—If the appeal is not taken within the time fixed by statute, the right to take it is lost. In re Stafford, (D. C. Conn. 1917) 240 Fed. 155.

"And where the time for taking an appeal has expired, it cannot be arrested or called back by a simple order of court. If it could be, the law which limits the time within which an appeal can be taken would be a dead letter." In re Stafford, (D. C. Conn. 1917) 240 Fed. 155.

In Barton Lumber, etc., Co. v. Prewitt, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 919, 146 C. C. A. 115, it was held that because the amount involved was not five hundred dollars, or over, and because the appeal was not taken within ten days after the judgment appealed from was rendered, the appeal was improvidently allowed, and, on the authority of Coder v. Arts, (1909) 213 U. S. 223, 29 S. Ct. 436, 53 U. S. (L. ed.) 772, must be dismissed.

Order confirming composition.—Such an order is governed by this provision and a failure to appeal within the time specified is fatal to the right. In re Brookstone Mfg. Co., (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 697, 152 C. C. A. 531.

The granting of a rehearing operates to extend the time of the taking effect of an order and therefore of the time of taking an appeal which is computed from the date the order is finally disposed of.

Todd v. Alden, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 462, 157 C. C. A. 624.

An order relating to a claim secured by a lien on the assets of the bankrupt is a proceeding in bankruptcy and, as such, an appeal therefrom must be taken within ten days. In re Monarch Acetylene Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 741, 158 C. C. A. 143.

1912 Supp., p. 640, sec. 25b (1).

In order to be appealable under this section.—A decision of a Circuit Court of Appeals that a claim against a bankrupt estate for damages growing out of the anticipatory breach of an executory contract, while allowable as a provable debt for the term during which that court thought that the contract was mutually obligatory, should not be allowed beyond that period, is not reviewable in the Federal Supreme Court as presenting a federal question which would sustain a writ of error to a state court. Central Trust Co. v. Chicago Auditorium Ass'n, 240 U. S. 581, 36 S. Ct. 412, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 811, L. R. A. 1917B 580.

1912 Supp., p. 645, sec. 27a.

A compromise for an amount much less than the value of the property was not approved, where a receiver claimed title to personal property listed in the bankrupt's schedules and the evidence was such as to prima facie throw on the claimant the burden of proving his title, which was not satisfactorily done. In re Stier March Contracting Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 245 Fed. 223.

1912 Supp., p. 646, sec. 29b (1).

Concealment of assets.—Elements of offense.—"To constitute the punishable offense of having knowingly and fraudulently concealed while a bankrupt from his trustee property belonging to his estate in bankruptcy, such concealment must have been by the bankrupt after the filing of a petition against him, while a bankrupt, or after his discharge, and the property must have been concealed from the trustee, and such property must have belonged to the estate in bankruptcy. The concealment must be knowingly and fraudulently done. The evidence must be clear." In re Agnew, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 650.

Concealment by corporation.—Officers of a corporation may be prosecuted for concealment of the corporate property. Wolfe v. U. S., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 902, 152 C. C. A. 36.

Continuing concealments.—"The construction of continuous concealment has been declared by the courts principally in cases arising on applications for discharge under section 14b of the act. . . . The construction applies with equal force to concealment of property under criminal section 29b. Each section deals with the same thing, though in different ways, and with different objects. The main difference in the provisions is in the proofs required in proceeding under them, and this is the difference that always maintains between proof required in civil and criminal actions." Glass v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 65, 145 C. C. A. 253.

Omission to schedule property.—While omission of property, from a schedule, may be evidence of a fraudulent intent to conceal, we do not think that such omission in itself constitutes concealment of property." Gretsch v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 57, 145 C. C. A. 245.

Criminal intent.—See to same effect as original annotation, In re Lenweaver, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 987.

Jurisdiction.—"Concealment is a positive act committed at some time or other with respect to a physical thing. It must, therefore, be done somewhere, and wherever done in violation of the statute, there and there alone has the court jurisdiction of the offense." Gretsch v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 57, 145 C. C. A. 245.

Indictment—In general.—An indictment which, after alleging that defendants expected an involuntary petition in bankruptcy to be filed against one of them and an adjudication and the appointment of trustee in bankruptcy to follow, charges a conspiracy to conceal from such trustee certain property belonging to the expected bankrupt and specifically described, and sets forth overt acts done pursuant to the conspiracy, but does not allege that such owner was a bankrupt at the time of the conspiracy, is sufficient. Friedman v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 816, 150 C. C. A. 653.

Evidence.—Where the charge against a bankrupt was that just prior to bankruptcy he had purchased goods on credit, had sold the goods so obtained and had fraudulently concealed the proceeds of such sale from his trustee in bankruptcy, it was held that an objection to conversations with the defendant at the time he sold the merchandise and converted it into cash just prior to the bankruptcy was properly overruled. Green v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 949, 153 C. C. A. 635.

1912 Supp., p. 650, sec. 29b (2).

False oath.—"The bankrupt is required to answer and give truthful answers so far as he answers at all, and there is an issue sufficient in law for the foundation of a charge of perjury in case the bankrupt willfully and knowingly gives false testimony regarding matters pertinent to the inquiry being made." U. S. v. Coyle, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 256.

The disposition made by the bankrupt of his property is a pertinent inquiry, when examined either before or after adjudication, and if, when examined on this subject, the bankrupt willfully and knowingly and contrary to his oath testifies falsely regarding such disposition, it must be that a charge of perjury will lie. U. S. v. Coyle, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 256.

Evidence—Judgment roll in another action.—On the trial of a person for making false oaths in a bankruptcy proceeding, the admission of a judgment roll in another action to which he was also defendant has been held proper as bearing on his motive and the reason for his testimony in the bankruptcy proceedings. Hopkins v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 367, 148 C. C. A. 465.

Indictment—Alleging false testimony.—An indictment alleging that the defendant, in answer to the question whether he had since a certain date transferred any money except certain specified sums, by answering in the negative, made a false and untrue answer in that he had paid a specified sum to his son, is not insufficient in failing to show that the attention of the bankrupt was called to the particular payment. U. S. v. Coyle, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 256.

An indictment charging conspiracy to make a false account of assets and liabilities must allege the commission of an overt act during the period of the conspiracy. U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 746.

1912 Supp., p. 651, sec. 29b (4).

Conspiracy.—In the case of a conspiracy to fraudulently receive personal property from the bankrupt in violation of this provision, it is not necessary in order to obtain a conviction that the property should be in the actual possession of the bankrupt where the conspiracy was formed, if it appears that it belonged to him or to the estate. Knoell v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 16, 152 C. C. A. 66.

1912 Supp., p. 653, sec. 31a.

Computation of time by months or years.—To the same effect as the original note, see In re De Lewandowski, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 243 Fed. 787.

Where the last day falls on Sunday one has until the next day in which to act. Grafton v. Meikleham, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 737.

1912 Supp., p. 653, sec. 32a.

Transfer for convenience of parties.—"The question of the convenience of parties should be determined by the court in the domiciliary jurisdiction." In re New Era Novelty Co., (D. C. N. J. 1916) 241 Fed. 298.

1912 Supp., p. 655, sec. 38a.

Jurisdiction.—The duties of the referee do not begin until the case has been referred to him; and his jurisdiction includes only such parts of the bankruptcy jurisdiction of the District Court as are carried by the reference. In re Weidhorn, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 243 Fed. 756.

Objection to jurisdiction.—Where objection is reasonably made to the jurisdiction of the referee, the subsequent filing of an answer to the merits does not operate as an assent to his jurisdiction. In re Weidhorn, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 243 Fed. 756.

Mode of review—General Order in Bankruptcy No. 27.—The statute provides for a review by the judge of the orders or findings of the referee, and the order determines how this review may be obtained by the aggrieved party, and what the duties of the referee are pertaining to such. The former directs the referee to act upon request of interested parties, and the latter suggests that he shall act on petition filed, setting out the error complained of. The petition for review is here wanting, and this accounts for the want of a certificate from the referee. The required petition becomes the foundation of authority and cannot be dispensed with in proceedings to review. When filed, the referee is bound to certify; without it there is no authority to review. In re Avoca Silk Co., (M. D. Pa. 1917) 241 Fed. 607.

Time for review.—In the case of In re Wister, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 899, it was declared that under General Order 27 (89 Fed. xl, 32 C. C. A. xxvii), which has all the force of statutory law, no review can be had of an order, except upon petition filed with the referee. Under the rules of this court, such petition must be filed with the referee within ten days after order, and, without this, a review cannot be had, except upon allowance by the court after notice and cause shown, etc. See also In re Isert, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 232 Fed. 484.

Weight of referee's findings of fact.—The findings of fact of a referee, where there is a conflict of evidence, are entitled to great weight; and they will not be disturbed except where they appear to be clearly erroneous. In re Biehl, (E. C. Pa. 1916) 237 Fed. 720; In re Goldman, (E. D. Pa. 1917) 241 Fed. 385; In re Lavery, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 244 Fed. 959; In re Atkinson-Kerce Grocery Co., (N. D. Ga. 1917) 245 Fed. 481; In re Fackler, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 864. See to same effect, In re Anderson, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 790; In re Gay, (D. C.

Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 127; In re Murphy, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 225 Fed. 392; In re Miller, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 225 Fed. 331; McCulloch v. Davenport Sav. Bank, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 226 Fed. 309; Dallam v. Reber, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 554, 144 C. C. A. 14; Schmid v. Rosenthal, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 818, 145 C. C. A. 128; Aller-Wilmes Jewelry Co. v. Osborn, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 907, 146 C. C. A. 103; Walter A. Wood Mowing, etc., Mach. Co. v. Croll, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 679, 145 C. C. A. 565; Wilson v. Continental Bldg. etc., Ass'n, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 824, 147 C. C. A. 18; In re Ylia, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 476; In re Aronson, (N. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 1022; Henderson v. Morse, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 518, 149 C. C. A. 64; Chambers v. Continental Trust Co., (S. D. Ga. 1916) 235 Fed. 441.

The referee in bankruptcy is a judicial officer, performing certain functions as part of the bankruptcy court, and there can be no question but that his findings upon all matters within his jurisdiction have the same force and effect as if rendered by any court of general jurisdiction. McCulloch v. Davenport Sav. Bank, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 226 Fed. 309.

The court will not disturb the findings of fact of a referee, based upon conflicting evidence, involving questions of credibility, unless there is most cogent evidence of mistake and miscarriage of justice. In re New York, etc., Package Co., (D. C. N. J. 1915) 225 Fed. 219.

All presumptions with respect to the want or sufficiency of evidence are in favor of the validity of an order by the referee. In re Farmers' Dairy Ass'n, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 234 Fed. 118.

Evidence unreported.—The findings of a referee, which do not on the face of the report appear to be erroneous, are said to be final, where the evidence is not reported. In re Golub, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 512.

Weight dependent on character of evidence.—"It is also a general rule that, if the finding be a deduction from established facts, it will not carry any great weight, for the court, having the same facts, may as well draw inferences or deduce conclusions as the referee. In re New York, etc., Package Co., (D. C. N. J. 1915) 225 Fed. 219.

Appeals from interlocutory orders.—The practice of taking appeals from interlocutory orders is one not to be encouraged. It is the exceptional case where good to any one results from the practice. The evil consequences are to bring about conditions of interminable delays, which are insufferable. There is no call upon the court through petitions for review to attempt to regulate the minutest details of the practice before referees. In re Graboyes, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 574.

Discretionary orders.—An order continuing a meeting is largely within the referee's powers as a matter of discretion and will not be disturbed unless the referee has abused his discretion or erred as a matter of law. In re Rosenfeld-Goldman Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 921.

Costs.—On review of an order of the referee directing the trustee to make a certain payment where neither litigant has been wholly successful the disbursements will be taxed equally between the trustee and the claimant. In re Liberty Doll Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 242 Fed. 695.

1912 Supp., p. 658, sec. 38a (2).

A referee appointed a special master to take evidence in aid of the court has full power and authority to administer the oath and conduct the examination. U. S. v. Coyle, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 256.

1912 Supp., p. 659, sec. 38a (3).

Ordering surrender of assets.—Although the referee may order the bankrupt to surrender property in his possession to the trustee, jurisdiction to make such an order is not acquired unless the bankrupt has notice of the proceeding and its purpose. In re Atwater, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 227 Fed. 511.

Warrant for seizure of goods.—A referee is held to have authority under this section to issue a warrant for the seizure of goods in the possession of a transferee where the transfer was made within four months prior to the filing of the petition. Darrough v. Claremore First Nat. Bank, (Okla. 1916) 156 Pac. 191.

1912 Supp., p. 659, sec. 38a (4).

The referee has the specific power to hear and determine all questions arising upon claims filed and objections thereto. McCulloch v. Davenport Sav. Bank, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 226 Fed. 309.

Turning property over to trustee—Practice generally.—In the case of In re Nankin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 811, the bankrupt made a preliminary objection, not made in the court below, viz., that the District Judge had no jurisdiction to refer the petition of the trustee to a special commissioner for a report, and then to dispose of it as a court of first instance, instead of upon a petition to review an order made by him as referee, and the court said after referring to this section and general order 12: "The proper practice would therefore have been for the trustee to have applied for the turn-over order to the referee, and, after his finding, to review it, if so advised, by filing with him a petition for review by the District Judge, as provided by General Order 27 (89 Fed. xi, 32 C. C. A. xxvii)."

The referee has no jurisdiction in a summary proceeding to require a purchaser in possession of real property from the bankrupt to turn such property over to the trustee. Nor is the power to thus act affected by the fact that because of the small worth of the equity, the trustee cannot afford to institute a plenary suit for its recovery. In re McCracken, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 234 Fed. 776.

Determination of validity of bonds issued by bankrupt.—In the case of In re Valecia Condensed Milk Co., (W. D. Wis. 1916) 233 Fed. 173, it was held that a referee had power to pass on the validity of bonds issued by a bankrupt corporation.

Costs—Authority to tax.—The taxing of costs has been held to be within the discretion of the referee. In re Reeves, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 227 Fed. 711.

1912 Supp., p. 663, sec. 38a (5).

Expenses of examination and stenographer.—See In re Pearce, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 917.

1912 Supp., p. 664, sec. 39a (3).

Furnishing copies of testimony.—For a case wherein it was held that the bankrupt was entitled to a copy of the transcript of witnesses' testimony, see In re Greenbaum, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 243 Fed. 965.

1912 Supp., p. 664, sec. 39a (4).

Notice to creditors.—"The mere fact that a creditor denies that he received notice or had knowledge of the bankruptcy proceedings in time to prove his claim, is not conclusive that the statutory notice was not given or that he had no actual knowledge of the pendency of such bankruptcy proceedings, in face of a record of the District Court that such notice was given." Clafin v. Wolff, (1915) 88 N. J. L. 308, 96 Atl. 73.

1912 Supp., p. 666, sec. 40a.

Referee entitled to commissions on moneys which should have been paid through trustee where creditors who have agreed to a composition under which they are to receive a certain per cent in cash subsequently enter into an agreement by which a less amount in cash and the balance in notes were to be accepted, it has been held that the referee is entitled to a commission as though the amount first agreed on had been deposited with the court. In re H. Batterman & Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 699, 145 C. C. A. 585.

Commission on moneys expended by the trustee in carrying on the business of the bankrupt will not be allowed to a referee.

In re Bacon, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 224 Fed. 76.

Commission on rent.—The referee is not entitled to a commission on the amount paid for rent of premises occupied by the trustee in carrying on the business of the bankrupt although it has been held proper to allow a commission on rent paid prior thereto. In re J. Bacon, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 224 Fed. 764; Kinhead v. Bacon, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 362, 144 C. C. A. 504.

Compensation proportionate to the difficulties encountered in administering the estate is not authorized by law. American Surety Co. v. Freed, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 333, 138 C. C. A. 63.

Extra compensation.—To the same effect as the original annotation, see In re Langford, (S. D. Cal. 1915) 225 Fed. 311.

Statute covers all commissions and disbursements.—"The only authority for the payment of commissions to referees and trustees is found in the bankruptcy law, . . ." American Surety Co. v. Freed, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 333, 138 C. C. A. 63.

Computation—Composition agreement.—In Kinhead v. Bacon, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 362, 144 C. C. A. 504, it was said in this connection "we think the meaning of the term 'amount to be paid to creditors,' on which the commission of one-half of 1 per cent. is to be computed, means the amount which creditors are to receive by virtue of the composition agreement. The amount offered by the bankrupt and accepted by the creditors became, upon confirmation, 'the amount to be paid creditors.' This construction not only seems logically to result from the consideration to which we have already referred, but receives additional confirmation when consideration is given to the difference between the language 'on all moneys disbursed to creditors by the trustee' (on which the 1 per cent. commission is to be computed in the case of a fully administered estate) and the 'amount to be paid to creditors,' on which one-half of 1 per cent. is to be paid in case of composition—not requiring complete administration." See also In re White, (S. D. Ga. 1915) 225 Fed. 796; In re Mills Tea, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 815.

Review of referee's fees.—Where a motion was made, having for its object to secure a revision of the referee's statement of his own fees in a composition case, it was held that the objection should have been raised by review proceedings on the referee's report but that the suggestion having been made to the court that its officer has charged fees on an erroneous basis, the matter ought not, in view of the previous uncertainty as to the proper practice, to be dismissed without examination because informally presented. In re Mills Tea, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 815.

1912 Supp., p. 668, sec. 40b.

Apportionment of commissions.—Where a portion only of the money to be paid under a compromise agreement was deposited owing to a waiver by a part of the creditors, which money was disbursed by the referee to whom the case was transferred it was said: "As to the apportionment between the referee and his successor: It follows from what we have said that the fact that the successor referee made the disbursement of the moneys actually deposited by the bankrupt did not entitle the successor to the full amount of the commission thereon. We are asked by petitioner to apportion on this review the entire commissions allowed between the two referees. How completely the successor has intended to disclaim the right to participate in further commission, if allowed, is not entirely clear. As we are not considering the case on appeal, but merely upon revision in matters of law, we cannot on this review make or direct such complete apportionment. We assume that the District Judge will determine the apportionment under section 40b of the act, taking into account the proportionate labor and service performed by the two referees in the administration of the estate, in case the successor claims any interest in the further commission." Kinhead v. Bacon, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 362, 144 C. C. A. 504.

1912 Supp., p. 668, sec. 41a (1).

Contempt dependent on ability to comply with order.—Where the bankrupt is without means in his possession or control to pay over money to the trustee in accordance with an order of the referee the court cannot punish by summary imprisonment for contempt even though he may have committed an offense under section 29b of this act. In re McNaught, (D. C. Mass. 1903) 225 Fed. 511.

The law is well settled that inability to comply with an order requiring the payment of money, resulting from poverty, insolvency, or other cause not attributable to the fault of the party charged, will under ordinary circumstances be received as a valid excuse from the consequences of contempt. In re Sobol, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 488, 155 C. C. A. 263.

Failure to turn over assets.—The failure of the bankrupt to prove that he was unable to make a payment ordered by the referee and his failure to make surrender of such assets is a civil contempt of court, for which an attachment may issue committing him to the penitentiary, to be there imprisoned only unless or until he complies with the order of the bankruptcy court. In re Stanny, (W. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 517.

The fact that a bankrupt has been sentenced for concealing assets and has served out his term is no defense in a proceeding to punish him for contempt with an order to turn over the assets he concealed. In re Sobol, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 487, 155 C. C. A. 263.

1912 Supp., p. 673, sec. 41a (4).

Contempt by witnesses — Elements of offense.—"It is obvious that a refusal 'to be examined according to law' means a refusal in fact and effect. The form of the refusal, or in what way manifested, is of no importance. A formal refusal by a witness to answer questions, displayed by a flat and defiant declaration that he would not answer, is one form. Standing mute is another. Evasive, inconclusive, or irresponsible replies to clear and plain inquiries is another. Palpably and flagrantly untruthful answers is still another. In re Gitkin, (D. C.) 164 Fed. 73. There is, it must be observed, in all of these instances, the element of contumaciousness; something of the element of defiance; something which can be distinguished from mere lack of candor or frankness, or from untruthfulness, or even from plain perjury. Refusing to testify is one thing. Testifying falsely is another thing. Although equally reprehensible and open to condemnation, they are distinct and separate, and the distinction should be kept in mind, or confusion will result in visiting upon the offender the deserved punishment. The line of demarcation is distinct enough, but cannot be as readily drawn. This can be best left to the discriminating judgment of the referee before whom the bankrupt appears, and such judgment should not lightly be disturbed." In re Blitz, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 276.

Purging oneself of contempt.—"A commitment for contempt should be preceded with certain formalities. The witness would ordinarily be permitted to purge himself by showing a willingness to recant and to testify fully. He should therefore be first admonished. This should be followed with a specific question, and an answer required. The real attitude of the witness will be then disclosed, and any further proceeding be clear-cut and definite." In re Blitz, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 276.

1912 Supp., p. 674, sec. 41b.

Hearing.—This provision clearly requires a hearing as to the facts, and by necessary implication excludes any inference that in such case the alleged contemnor is to be purged merely by denial upon oath. In re Boyd, (E. D. Tenn. 1915) 228 Fed. 1005.

The punishment of contempts is within the trial court's sound discretion. In re

Sobol, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 487, 155 C. C. A. 263.

1912 Supp., p. 677, sec. 44a.

Authority of referee.—The conduct of the elections of trustees is part of the administrative work which is left largely with the referees. Their decisions in reference thereto will not be set aside, unless an unjust and injurious abuse of discretion, or a clear mistake of law, is shown. In re Grat, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 925.

"An appointment once made shall not be lightly set aside on appeal. Rights of creditors in the selection of a trustee are important, but the decision as to them ought to rest largely with the referee." In re Rosenfeld-Goldman Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 921.

Appointment by creditors — Prompt action essential.—It is essential to the proper administration of a bankrupt estate that a trustee shall be appointed as promptly as possible. In re Rosenfeld-Goldman Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 921.

Postponing election.—Where the stated time for an election has arrived and a majority in number of the creditors are ready and oppose delay it is the duty of the objecting creditors to be ready or to present a good excuse for not doing so and where no such excuse is offered it is not an abuse of discretion on the part of the referee to refuse to postpone the election. In re Grat, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 925.

Action of a creditor to control the election of a trustee is not objectionable so long as his efforts are directed to the welfare of the entire unsecured creditors. Bollman v. Tobin, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 469, 152 C. C. A. 347.

Right of relative of bankrupt to vote for trustees.—"There is no reason in law or in morals why a relative of the bankrupt, who is a legitimate creditor, shall not have the same right to vote for a trustee as any other creditor." In re Rothleder, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 398. Compare In re Ballantine, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 271, wherein the court, on an application to review the referee's decision refusing to allow the wife of the bankrupt to vote and rejecting her claim, said that the wife should in no event be permitted to dominate the choice of the trustee.

Right of attorney to vote for trustee.—Attorneys who appear for a creditor and desire to vote for a trustee should have specific written authority, even though the law itself does not expressly require this. In re Capital Trading Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 229 Fed. 806.

Improper or irregular vote for trustee.—"The election of a trustee will be disapproved where that result has been obtained through the active efforts of the bankrupt, the question is always one of good faith, and the inquiry must be as to whether anything has been done by the bankrupt which will disqualify, or tend to disqualify, a trustee from acting in that impartial and vigorous manner which will assure the proper results for the creditors." In re Rothleder, (S. D. N. Y. 1918) 232 Fed. 398.

Selection in interest of bankrupt.—"If creditors knowingly join with the bankrupt or his attorney, or with an assignee or his attorney, in an effort to do what it has repeatedly been decided they may not do, the simplest and most obvious way to defeat their purpose is to reject their selection of trustee, and permit the creditors who are not in the combination to make the selection." In re Stowe, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 235 Fed. 463.

Creditor's appointment subject to approval.—While the appointment is subject to approval or disapproval by the referee, he cannot act arbitrarily, but only for cause. Wilson v. Continental Bldg., etc., Assoc., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 824, 147 C. C. A. 18, affirming (N. D. Cal. 1915) 232 Fed. 413.

Review by judge.—It is said to be a settled practice not to disturb the acts of referees in administrative matters, as for instance the election of a trustee, unless a plain and injurious error of law or abuse of discretion is shown. In re Rosenfeld-Goldman Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 921.

The power of the court as to refusing approval of trustees will not be so exercised as to deprive creditors acting in good faith from controlling the election of trustees. In re Archbold, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 237 Fed. 408.

Where the inquiry is whether the referee and the District Court had before them substantial evidence that the relations between the bankrupt and the person appointed as trustee were such as to justify the referee in disapproving of the appointment or whether the selection was accomplished through the efforts of the officers and attorneys of the bankrupt, if there is substantial evidence upon either of these points, this court will not interfere upon a petition to revise. Wilson v. Continental Bldg., etc., Assoc., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 824, 147 C. C. A. 18, affirming (N. D. Cal. 1915) 232 Fed. 413.

1912 Supp., p. 680, sec. 45a (1).

Unsuccessful candidate.—Where there is no election of a trustee, owing to a lack of the requisite votes, the referee may select one of the unsuccessful candidates. In re F. & D. Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 69, 155 C. C. A. 13, reversing (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 895.

1912 Supp., p. 681, sec. 46a.

Ground for removal.—Where the trustee not only failed to carry out the wishes of the creditors by whom he was chosen but placed himself in direct antagonism to them, it was held that such conduct justified his removal. Bollman v. Tobin, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 469, 152 C. C. A. 347.

1912 Supp., p. 682, sec. 47a (2).

Purpose and effect of amendment of 1910.—The amendment of 1910 to this section did not confer new means of collecting ordinary claims due the bankrupt. Kelley v. Gill, (1917) 245 U. S. 116, 38 S. Ct. 38, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

"The effect of this amendment was to give to the trustee, as to all property coming into the custody of the bankruptcy court, the rights of a creditor holding a lien." In re Fitz-hugh Hall Amusement Co., (W. D. N. Y. 1915) 228 Fed. 169.

Since 1910 a trustee has two rights as to the property in his custody, that is that of a bankrupt and of a creditor with a lien. These rights are different and sometimes antagonistic in which case the trustee can take his choice. In re Seward Dredging Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 225, 155 C. C. A. 65.

Rights of trustee.—"This act has been held to confer upon the trustee the rights which the bankrupt or any of his creditors possessed or might lawfully possess at the time of the filing of the petition." Mergenthaler Linotype Co. v. Hull, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 239 Fed. 26, 152 C. C. A. 76.

Trustee has rights, remedies and powers of a judgment creditor holding an execution returned unsatisfied. Bell v. Shaw, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 976, 145 C. C. A. 170; In re Hawley Down-Draft Furnace Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 233 Fed. 451; Bunch v. Maloney, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 967, 147 C. C. A. 641; In re Ricketts, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 285, 148 C. C. A. 187; In re Reynolds, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 268; In re Zeis, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 737, 158 C. C. A. 139.

State law.—As the rights of a creditor "holding a lien by legal or equitable proceedings" are essentially a matter of state law, it follows that the trustee's rights are the same. In re Floyd-Scott Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 987.

Status of trustee.—While the Bankruptcy Act imposes upon the trustee the duty of conserving the estate, collecting outstanding claims, and resisting payment of doubtful claims, he stands in a fiduciary capacity, and is to some extent a stakeholder. In re Lenters, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 878.

A trustee appointed in subsequently instituted bankruptcy proceedings does not acquire the status of a creditor holding a lien superior to that of a mortgage executed more than four months before the petition in bankruptcy was filed but recorded within that period. Martin v. Commercial Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 651, 143 C. C. A. 173.

"Creditor."—"When speaking of a 'creditor,' Congress means a creditor of the bankrupt; it is impossible that any trustee could exercise the power or right of any creditor of any person, who (e. g.) might lawfully establish a lien upon property fortuitously coming into the court's custody." In re Seward Dredging Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 225, 155 C. C. A. 65.

Collection and reduction of assets.—"It is the imperative duty of the trustee of a bankrupt estate to exercise all due diligence to gather in the assets of the estate, and it would seem clear that an examination of the schedule and a following up of all leads naturally suggested thereby would be the first step to be taken. In the absence of some explanation for a failure so to act, the trustee must be charged with negligence and must respond for the consequences thereof." In re Kuhn, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 277, 148 C. C. A. 179.

"The trustee cannot be excused from the performance of the duties for which it receives compensation because its beneficiaries, the creditors, have the same avenues of information open to them and fail to take advantage thereof. The creditors may, but are under no duty to, investigate and search for assets, or to suggest to the trustee possible sources of information, which the latter has at least the same opportunity of knowing." In re Kuhn Bros., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 277, 148 C. C. A. 179.

Trustee's right to collect assets—Right to possession.—"Where it appears by a fair preponderance of the testimony that the bankrupt has assets in his possession which he has not turned over to the trustee a decree may be entered directing the bankrupt to turn it over." In re Dixon, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 624.

Property encumbered by liens.—"When a trustee finds that the bankrupt owns property subject to liens, he should present a petition to the court asking for instructions as to the course which he should pursue." In re Cutler, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 771.

Unrecorded chattel mortgage.—"The title of the chattel mortgage of a bankrupt corporation cannot be perfected as against the trustee in bankruptcy, who asserts the invalidity of the mortgage as against him because not properly acknowledged and recorded, by taking possession of the chattel under the mortgage after the filing of the petition in bankruptcy and before the adjudication. Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co. v. Wills, (1916) 240 U. S. 642, 36 S. Ct. 466, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 841.

Unrecorded conditional sale.—"The adjudication in bankruptcy creates a lien in favor of the trustee upon all property in the custody, or coming into the custody, of the bankruptcy court. The status of the general creditors by such act is changed, and by operation of law a lien is created and established in favor of the trustee for the general creditors, and supercedes any rights theretofore existing in favor of a conditional sale, a memorandum of which was not recorded pursuant to a state law. In re Pacific Electric, etc., Co., (W. D. Wash. 1915) 224 Fed. 220.

"The decisions since the adoption of this statute hold that where the seller of property by conditional sale has failed to record his contract of sale where the state statute renders the contract invalid as to lien creditors or bona fide purchasers without registration, he has no remedy as against the trustee in bankruptcy to enforce the lien, but is a mere general creditor, with a right to share in the assets of the estate." Hinton v. Williams, (1915) 170 N. C. 115, 86 S. E. 994.

But where the failure to file a conditional contract of sale does not under a state law make the contract void as to all creditors but only as against subsequent purchasers, pledgees and mortgagees in good faith, it is valid as to the trustee he not being clothed with the rights of a subsequent purchaser. In re I. S. Remsen Mfg. Co., (E. D. N. Y. 1915) 227 Fed. 207.

A deed of trust or assignment of property, subject to mortgages, which directs a sale thereof and from the proceeds the payment of the mortgages in the order of their priority, and the balance to the general creditors, if made within four months of the filing of a petition in bankruptcy, is avoided by the adjudication and the property passes to the trustee. In re Cutler, (S. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 771.

Unrecorded transfer.—Trustees have the rights and remedies of a lien creditor or a judgment creditor as against an unrecorded transfer. Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co. v. Wills, (1915) 240 U. S. 642, 36 S. Ct. 466, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 841.

Property accidentally in possession of bankrupt.—A creditor holding an unsatisfied judgment cannot attack the property of a third person accidentally in the possession of a bankrupt and therefore trustees cannot take title to such property. Brown Bros. Co. v. Smith Bros. Co., (E. D. La. 1916) 231 Fed. 475.

Recovery of preferences.—The trustee in bankruptcy has no more extensive and no better title or right in property than did the bankrupt himself, except he may set aside transfers of property made by the bankrupt in fraud of his creditors and recover preferences. In re Place, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 778.

Recovery of concealed property from bankrupt.—Where it appears that property was in a person's hands, and that fabricated evidence has been given by that person concerning the alleged items of payment or discharge, the natural inference is that falsehood has been resorted to, because no true and correct items of discharge exist; i. e., that the property is still in the possession of the person into whose hands it was traced. In re Dixon, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 624.

"The law is well settled that 'recent' possession of property by the bankrupt, accompanied by a failure to account for it, justifies an inference that the property is still in the bankrupt's possession." In re Dixon, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 624.

Burden of proof.—"While the burden of proof is primarily on the trustee to show that the bankrupt has not accounted for all his assets, yet, when it is established . . . that the bankrupt had possession of the unscheduled assets very recently before the bankruptcy proceedings were instituted, a presumption arises that he still had them when such event took place, and the burden is shifted to the bankrupt to show why they were not scheduled and turned over. In re Ricciardelli, (D. C. N. J. 1915) 224 Fed. 638.

Trust funds.—A trustee being vested with all the rights, remedies and powers of a judgment creditor holding an execution duly returned unsatisfied, a motion made by him, within the time allowed by law for the filing of claims against the bankrupt's estate, for an order directing that an execution issue under section 1391 of the New York Code of Civil Procedure against the income from certain trust funds for the benefit of the bankrupt and directing the testamentary trustee to pay over, etc., will be granted. Matter of Poikanzer, (1917) 101 Misc. 100, 166 N. Y. S. 811.

Liens—Validity.—Under this section the trustee has the right to attack the validity of a lien. In re Shute, (W. D. Wash. 1916) 233 Fed. 544.

Prior recorded lien.—A lien created prior to, and recorded within, the four months' period, is good as against the statutory lien of the trustee given by this section. In re Brown Wagon Co., (S. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 266.

Void mortgage.—A mortgage by the bankrupt which is void as to a creditor, who had fixed a lien on the property in controversy the day the petition in bankruptcy was filed, is void as to the trustee. Park v. South Bend Chilled Plow Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1918) 199 S. W. 843.

Mortgage void as to creditors under state law.—Where under state laws a mortgage, defective both in its execution and recordation, is by reason thereof void as to creditors subsequently dealing with the mortgagor without notice, it is held to be void as to the trustee in whom title rests. Davis v. Harlow, (1917) 130 Md. 165, 100 Atl. 102. See also as to where mortgage not recorded, In re T. H. Bunch Commission Co., (E. D. Ark. 1915) 225 Fed. 243; In re Cooper's Estate, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 226 Fed. 317; In re Kruse, (N. D. Ia. 1916) 234 Fed. 470; In re Empress Pharmacy Co., (S. D. Ia. 1916) 237 Fed. 676; In re Rosenthal, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 238 Fed. 597.

Prior recorded chattel mortgage.—The lien of a chattel mortgage executed prior to and recorded within the four months' period is superior to any lien created by this provision in the trustee. In re Virgin, (S. C. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 128. See also In re Bolstad, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 224 Fed. 283.

Landlord's lien.—Where the lien of a landlord is inchoate and covers no special property he is not entitled to priority over the lien given to the trustee under this provision. Southern R. Co. v. Wilder, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 933, 146 C. C. A. 129.

Mechanic's lien.—A contractor's trustee in bankruptcy takes his titles subject to liens filed by laborers, mechanics, materialmen or subcontractors subsequent to the assignment but within the time prescribed by a state statute. Gates & Co. v. John F. Stevens Constr. Co., (1917) 220 N. Y. 38, 115 N. E. 22.

"Valid liens created by mortgages made by the bankrupt before the institution of the bankruptcy proceeding are not subordinated to the rights of his trustee in bankruptcy, which vest as of the date of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy." Border Nat. Bank v. Coupland, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 355, 153 C. C. A. 281.

Secret and unrecorded liens.—The amendment of the Bankruptcy Law was not intended to enlarge the rights of a trustee as against lienors under a state statute, but to enable the trustee to avoid secret and unrecorded liens created by act of the bankrupt. Gates v. John F. Stevens Constr. Co., (1917) 220 N. Y. 38, 115 N. E. 22.

1912 Supp., p. 685, sec. 47a (3).

This provision is mandatory.—In re Dayton Coal Co., (E. D. Tenn. 1916) 239 Fed. 737.

A bank was not charged with notice that funds belonged to a bankrupt estate merely from the fact that certain of the checks deposited by the trustee were countersigned by the clerk of the court, pursuant to the provisions of rule 29 and section 47 of the Bankruptcy Act. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Queens County Trust Co., (1916) 174 App. Div. 160, 159 N. Y. S. 954.

1912 Supp., p. 686, sec. 47a (11).

Setting aside exemptions.—Exemption should be set aside promptly.—One of the first concerns of the trustee should always be promptly to set aside to the bankrupt any exempt property. If the real estate in which the homestead is claimed be indivisible, steps should be taken to have it sold. These things should always be promptly attended to by a trustee, and the referee should see that it is done. In re Brown, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 533.

The trustee cannot arbitrarily refuse to set aside property to which the bankrupt is clearly entitled by law; but he represents all of the creditors, and is vested with some discretion. In re Bonvillain, (E. D. La. 1916) 232 Fed. 370.

Trustee's action not final.—The bankrupt's exemption when set apart by the trustee is inchoate and not fully fixed in him until approved by the referee in bankruptcy. In re Anderson, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 790.

Exceptions to exemptions.—General Order XVII is mandatory as to the time of filing exceptions to the exemptions set apart and the District Court has no discretion to extend the time. In re Krecun, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 711, 144 C. C. A. 121.

1912 Supp., p. 689, sec. 48a.

Trustee's compensation.—The courts are controlled by the provisions of this Act in fixing the referee's compensation. In re New York Commercial Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 445, 145 C. C. A. 439.

There is no law authorizing compensation to a referee and a trustee proportionate to the difficulties encountered in administering an estate. American Surety Co. v. Freed, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 333, 140 C. C. A. 333.

Congress did not intend by the 1910 Amendment to permit trustees to charge a compensation for performing acts outside their duties as such. C. B. Norton Jewelry Co. v. Hinds, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 341, 157 C. C. A. 533.

Making sale of mortgaged property.—Commissions and expenses of a trustee in making a sale of mortgaged property have been denied where it was apparent from the first that there would be no balance over the lien for the benefit of the general estate. C. B. Norton Jewelry Co. v. Hinds, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 341, 157 C. C. A. 533.

Surcharge against trustee's commissions.—A trustee on his accounting will be surcharged against his commissions with the expense of controversies which arises through his fault. In re Eden Musee American Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 925.

Counsel fees.—Reasonable counsel fees are allowable as a proper expense in connection with a sale by the trustee. In re West, (N. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 903.

The trustee is not entitled to take credit for counsel fees for services unconnected with the sale of property. Gugel v. New Orleans Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 676, 152 C. C. A. 510.

Effect of amendment of 1910.—The amendment of 1910 was intended to furnish an enlarged basis for the computation of the trustee's commissions, but was not intended to affect the source of payment, so as to displace liens in violation of the provisions of section 67d, as amended and re-enacted in 1910. Gugel v. New Orleans Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 676, 152 C. C. A. 510.

1912 Supp., p. 690, sec. 48d.

[Compensation of receivers and marshals appointed under section 2 (3).]

Receiver's fees.—The total compensation to receivers is not to be increased by the fact that there is more than one receiver. In re Mills Tea, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 813.

A receiver's duties are limited by the powers given him in the order of appointment. He cannot exceed the powers of the appointment, and expect compensation for any activities not authorized. In re Metropolitan Motor Car Co., (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 274.

Where it is necessary for the preservation of the property that a receiver should be appointed to take charge of it before the selection of a trustee, it has been held that expenses necessitated by such receivership, including compensation to the receiver, should be allowed. C. B. Norton Jewelry Co. v. Hinds, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 341, 157 C. C. A. 533.

Orders for allowances to receivers are purely administrative, subject to entire disallowance or change by either increase or decrease with the development of the administration. Hume v. Myers, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 827, 155 C. C. A. 415.

Discretion of court.—"The receivers are entitled to a reasonable compensation for the services they have performed. The court which appointed them has the right to determine what that reasonable compensation is. In doing so it must exercise its discretion. But while the matter is left to its discretion, it is not at liberty to fix the allowance at more than a fair and reasonable amount." Appellate courts are not, however, much inclined to interfere with the exercise of this discretionary power. Eames v. H. B. Claffin Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 693, 145 O. C. A. 579.

"The compensation specified in the statute is clearly intended not as a fixed, invariable amount to be awarded in all cases, but as a maximum to be allowed only in cases justifying it. As a practical matter, in the great majority of cases the maximum compensation is so small that it is not even fair compensation for the work done; but in each case the question, nevertheless, is how much the services of the receivers were fairly worth." In re Mills Tea, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 813.

Receiver appointed by state court.—Compensation may be allowed by a bankruptcy court to a receiver appointed by a state court for services which were of value to the estate in preserving and collecting it. State v. Angle, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 644, 144 C. C. A. 640.

1912 Supp., p. 692, sec. 48d.

[When acting as mere custodian.]

Mere custodian.—The proviso limiting the compensation of the custodian was meant to cover cases where the services performed are merely those of a keeper. In re Metropolitan Motor Car Co., (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 274.

1912 Supp., p. 692, sec. 48d.

[Or confirmation of composition.]

Effect of confirmation of composition on fees.—See In re Miller, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 242.

1912 Supp., p. 695, sec. 51a (2).

Application.—This section relates only to the statutory fees to be paid to the clerk, referee and trustee as compensation for their services, and has no reference to the expenses incurred by the officers of the court in the bankruptcy proceedings. In re Crisp, (E. D. Tenn. 1917) 239 Fed. 419.

1912 Supp., p. 697, sec. 55e.

The referee, if in his judgment it is advisable, may call a meeting of the creditors, to the end that they may be heard before action is taken, subjecting the estate to possible cost and expense. In re Cutler, (E. D. N. C. 1916) 228 Fed. 771.

1912 Supp., p. 699, sec. 56b.

Secured creditors.—By sections 56a and 57e of the Bankruptcy Act secured creditors are permitted to participate in the bankruptcy proceedings as creditors, but only as creditors for the sum which the court finds to be due them over and above the value of the securities which they hold. In re Reichard, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 230 Fed. 525.

After a trustee has been chosen, a secured creditor cannot in respect to its claim vote at creditors' meetings, nor can its claim be counted at such meetings in computing either the number of creditors or the amounts of their claims unless the amounts exceed the value of such securities or priorities, and then only for the excess. Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Continental Bldg., etc., Ass'n (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 828, 147 C. C. A. 22.

While in bankruptcy proceedings a secured creditor is not entitled to vote at a creditors' meeting the fact that through the fault or inadvertence of the referee or trustee a creditor is permitted to vote at such meeting when his lien has been asserted in his claim as filed is no waiver of the lien. Horton v. Queens County Machinery Corp., (1917) 101 Misc. 31, 166 N. Y. S. 662.

1912 Supp., p. 700, sec. 57a.

Necessity and manner of proving claim.—It is essential that a proof of debt in bankruptcy show on its face the true interest of the person presenting it. In re Collins, (E. D. La. 1916) 235 Fed. 937.

"It has been uniformly held under the present bankruptcy law that the statement of the claim and its consideration must be sufficiently specific and full to enable the trustee and the creditors to make proper investigation as to its fairness and legality, without undue trouble or inconvenience." In re Hudson Porcelain Co., (D. C. N. J. 1915) 225 Fed. 325.

The proof of claim must accord with the statutory requirements before it is accorded any probative force. In re Hudson Porcelain Co., (D. C. N. J. 1915) 225 Fed. 325.

Negative averments.—Where in the sworn proof of claim for breach of a contract there are negative averments, clearly alleged, to the effect that the breach was not brought about by certain causes which would excuse it, it has been held that these allegations are prima facie evidence and in the absence of proof to the contrary sufficient proof of the claim. Board of Commerce v. Security Trust Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 454, 140 C. C. A. 486.

Where the proof of a claim for services incorporated a copy of the judgment, which showed all facts necessary to ascertain the true character of the claim, and also made a statement as to the date of the services, it was held to be sufficient in form to be acted upon and that where neither the trustee nor other creditors seemed to have been misled or hindered by lack of information as to the precise nature of the claim, the referee did not exceed his powers in treating the proof as adequate for the purpose in hand. In re Haskell, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 819.

Effect of failure to prove.—"In the case of a bankrupt corporation, the bankruptcy act does not restrain a creditor, who has not proved his claim in bankruptcy, from prosecuting an action to judgment, for the purpose of enforcing his lien upon the property attached, or of charging officers or stockholders who are liable for the debts of the corporation." Chickasaw Hotel Co. v. C. B. Barker Constr. Co., (1916) 135 Tenn. 305, 186 S. W. 115, L. R. A. 1916F 106.

"When property is sold subject to liens, the lienholder, not having presented his claim and invoked the administration of the full value of the property, cannot afterwards resort to the bankrupt estate, but is relegated to the property as security." In re Old Oregon Mfg. Co., (W. D. Wash. 1916) 236 Fed. 804.

Proof of partnership obligation.—"The better rule, sanctioned by the later cases, is that, when persons who are partners unite in making a note, though they sign their several names, instead of the partnership name, if the note is one given in a partnership transaction and the partnership receives the consideration, it should be proved and allowed as a partnership obligation in bankruptcy." In re Kendrick, (D. C. Vt. 1915) 226 Fed. 978.

Amendment of proofs.—See to same effect as original annotation, Loutos v. Coppard, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 803, — C. C. A. —; In re Soltmann, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 238 Fed. 241.

After a judgment has been rendered allowing proof of an unsecured claim to be amended the claim stands as if it had been originally filed in the way it had been amended. Britton v. Thomas, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 125, 151 C. C. A. 201.

An amendment of proof as one of an unsecured debt has been allowed where there has been no order expunging the claim. Seligman v. Gray, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 417, 142 C. C. A. 1173.

Amendment to avoid statute of limitations.—A claimant may be allowed to file an amended proof of claim for this purpose. In re Ballantine, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 271.

Who may prove claims.—A surety or an indorser for the bankrupt, whose liability is contingent, cannot prove a claim of his own by reason of such liability. It is only the creditor's claim which is provable. In re Astoroga Paper Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 792.

Proof by agent.—The Supreme Court has prescribed the form to be used by an agent, and it provides for a disclosure of the principal. It is not contemplated by rules that debts be proved by an agent when the principal is present and able to file his own proof. In re Collins, (E. D. La. 1916) 235 Fed. 937.

Proof by assignee.—"Assignees of claims have the right, under the provisions of the bankruptcy law, to prove them against the estate just as other claims may be proven." In re Breakwater Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 375.

The assignee of a claim proven and allowed, and upon which dividends have been paid, need not and cannot make proof of the same claim in his own name as the then owner and assignee of such claim. In re Louis J. Bergdoll Motor Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 230 Fed. 248.

Father of minor son.—Proofs are properly made by the father for a claim for labor performed by a minor son. In re Hadkell, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 819.

Secured creditor.—Under section 57, subsections "a" and "h," of the Bankruptcy Act, as construed by the courts, when the trustee does not elect to redeem by paying the debt, a secured creditor, having the right to sell the security, is not required, in the first instance, to so elect, but he may sell the security and file a claim for the unpaid remainder of his debt. In re McAusland, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 173.

Effect of proving claims.—Proof of a claim does not commit the claimant to a waiver of his unquestioned right to have the affairs of the debtor administered elsewhere than in the bankruptcy court. Tate v. Brinser, (M. D. Pa. 1915) 226 Fed. 878.

Where creditors have only proved a partnership debt they are not entitled on that proof to share in the distribution of a bankrupt member's individual estate. Adams v. Brown, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 688, 141 C. C. A. 444.

The allowance of a claim against the estate of one of the members of a firm is not a determination of priorities as between firm and individual creditors. International Agr. Corp v. Cary, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 101, 153 C. C. A. 137.

1912 Supp., p. 703, sec. 57c.

Where the claim reasonably delivered to the referee lacked the statement of the official character of the officer signing the jurat and the referee returned it to the creditor's attorney for correction in that respect and it was not redelivered to the referee for about two years it was held that the proof as originally filed was sufficient to form the foundation for a good proof by perfecting amendments and that the claim should appear on the referee's filing record to have been filed on the date when first presented. In re Haskell, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 819.

Allowance of claims.—The sworn proof of claim against the bankrupt is prima facie evidence of the indebtedness claimed; and the allowance of the claim amounts to an adjudication that his estate was indebted to the creditor, so long as such adjudication is not set aside or reversed. International Agricultural Corp. v. Cary, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 101, 153 C. C. A. 137.

Power to allow.—The court cannot order an unsecured creditor paid in full to the exclusion of all other unsecured creditors. Thus it was so held where a creditor, the owner of letters patent, had a valid license agreement with the bankrupt to take back upon request any of the patented articles at the net price at which they were furnished and to credit them on account or pay cash therefor and in pursuance of an opportunity given by the court to repurchase the articles, refused to do so except upon condition that its unsecured account against the bankrupt should be paid in full. L. E. Waterman Co. v. Kline, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 891, 148 C. C. A. 489.

Effect of allowance.—The allowance of claims against the estate of a bankrupt is a finding as to all parties that the debts did exist and had not been discharged or waived. Gleason v. Thaw, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 570, 148 C. C. A. 336.

1912 Supp., p. 704, sec. 57e.

Allowance of secured and priority claims.—After a trustee has been chosen a secured creditor cannot in respect to its claim vote at creditors' meetings, nor can its claim be counted at such meetings in computing either the number of creditors or the amounts of their claims unless the amounts exceed the value of such securities or priorities, and then only for the excess. Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Continental Bldg., etc., Ass'n, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 828, 147 C. C. A. 22. See also In re Reichard, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 230 Fed. 525.

One to whom notes of a bankrupt have been pledged may be allowed to prove for the whole amount of the notes if necessary to cover its claim. In re Anger Baking Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 181, 142 C. C. A. 537.

A claimant having a demand against two insolvent estates has a right to prove against each for the full amount, and can assert this right against one unimpaired by the fact that he holds security against the other. He can recover dividends from the two bankrupt estates upon the full amount of his claim, at the time the petition in bankruptcy was filed therein until from all sources he receives full payment of his claim, but no longer. In re New York Commercial Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 906, 147 C. C. A. 580.

Mortgage bondholders under a corporation mortgage have, under this section, proper standing to petition the court to vacate an order of adjudication, on the ground that the bankrupt did not have his principal place of business, residence, or domicile within the district but had its principal place of business in another district. In re San Antonio Land, etc., Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 228 Fed. 984.

1912 Supp., p. 706, sec. 57f.

Objections by trustee.—Where a trustee has been appointed, objections to claims should be made, and review proceedings, if advisable, be taken by him, or, in case he declines to act, by creditors proceeding in his name by order of the referee. The practice of recognizing individual creditors in such matters, after the appointment and qualification of the trustee, is improper and objectionable. In re Knox Automobile Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 229 Fed. 241.

Where the bankrupt and one creditor contested a petition of three creditors on the ground that the petition of one of the creditors was not valid and provable but subsequently, and after a partial hearing, the adjudication was expressly consented to and the order of adjudication was entered it was held that this adjudication could not estop the trustee acting on behalf of all creditors or any noncontesting creditors from denying the validity and provability of such claim. In re Continental Engine Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 58, 148 C. C. A. 74.

The reduction of an alleged debt to judgment in a state court before bankruptcy does not exempt it from attack by or on behalf of creditors who would be injuriously affected by its allowance, when such allowance is sought in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Continental Engine Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 58, 148 C. C. A. 74.

1912 Supp., p. 706, sec. 57g.

Surrender essential.—A creditor who has received a preference which is voidable must surrender the same before his claim will be allowed. In re French, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 255.

So where it appears that a creditor has received a preference within the four months prior to bankruptcy proceedings the referee has power to order the claim disallowed unless the claimant surrender such preference to the trustee in accordance with the provisions of this section. McCulloch v. Davenport Sav. Bank, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 228 Fed. 309.

A preferred creditor may prove his claim under this section, notwithstanding there has been no surrender of his preference by him beyond what is involved in the payment of a final judgment secured against him in a proceeding instituted by the trustee to avoid the preference. In re Louis J. Bergdoll Motor Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 230 Fed. 248.

A right asserted by a mortgagee under a chattel mortgage to the proceeds of the sale of the mortgaged property is not such a claim as, under this section, will be disallowed until the surrender of an illegal preference obtained. Even were it considered as an ordinary claim, not arising out of an entirely separate transaction, the greater weight of authority is against its disallowance. In re Johnson, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 224 Fed. 180.

Compulsory surrender.—The fact that a claimant has retained a voidable preference, until he has been compelled to surrender the same by legal proceedings, does not affect the provability or allowance of his debt after such surrender has been made. In re Louis J. Bergdoll Motor Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 410, 147 C. C. A. 346.

So a creditor may prove his claim as a general creditor after compliance with a decree directing him to return a voidable preference. State Bank v. Ingram, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 76, 150 C. C. A. 278.

1912 Supp., p. 709, sec. 57h.

The word "litigation," as used in this section, is a comprehensive term, meaning any appropriate action or proceeding in the courts to ascertain the value of the security, wherein the secured creditor and trustee may each be heard, and includes foreclosure proceedings. In re Soltmann, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 238 Fed. 241.

Right generally of secured creditor.—Under section 57, subsections "a" and "h," of the Bankruptcy Act, as construed by the courts, when the trustee does not elect to redeem by paying the debt, a secured creditor, having the right to sell the security, is not required, in the first instance, to so elect, but he may sell the security and file a claim for the unpaid remainder of his debt. In re McAusland, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 173.

Allowance for balance only.—A creditor who has realized on collateral can only prove for the amount of the debt after deduction of the amount received for the collateral. In re Bash, (E. D. Pa. 1917) 245 Fed. 808.

When the creditor lawfully converts the securities into money, the amount realized should determine the amount to be charged against the face of the claim. In re Isaacs, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 820.

The fact that a trustee knew of and acquiesced in a foreclosure suit has been held not to vary the original agreement between the mortgagor and mortgagee and, if construed as an agreement as to method of liquidation, to be without validity for lack of the court's direction as provided in this section. In re Soltmann, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 238 Fed. 241.

Burden of proof.—Where the proof of claims shows that claimant on a sale of the property mortgaged as security for its debt bought in the property, the burden is on it to show that such property was of insufficient value to pay its debts. In re McAusland, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 173.

1912 Supp., p. 710, sec. 57i.

Proof by surety.—In ordinary instances, no question of waiver of rights intervening, subsection "i" of section 57 is conclusive of the authority of a surety to prove the claim of the creditor whose debt he paid. Kilpatrick v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 587, 143 C. C. A. 109.

Where a surety has paid the amount of its obligation into court, which sum has been divided among the creditors, it is entitled to subrogation and steps into the creditor's shoes with the right to prove its claim and a claimant who has received such a dividend must credit the sum so received and confine itself to the balance. In re American Product Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 401, 140 C. C. A. 87.

Subrogation of indorser.—Upon payment of a note by the indorsers they become subrogated to the position of the creditor. In re Griffith Stillings Press, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 244 Fed. 315.

1912 Supp., p. 711, sec. 57k.

Reconsideration allowable.—Under this section and General Order XXI, a claim which has been allowed may be reconsidered and rejected on the petition of a creditor. In re Collins, (E. D. La. 1916) 235 Fed. 937.

Under this provision it is competent for the referee, proper notice being given to all persons in interest, to reconsider his action in allowing a claim and to realow it or deal with it according to the equities of the case. Cary v. International Agricultural Corp., (N. D. Ohio 1916) 243 Fed. 475; International Agricultural Corp. v. Cary, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 101, 153 C. C. A. 137.

1912 Supp., p. 712, sec. 57n.

Construction and application.—This section has reference only to the proving of claims against the bankrupt's estate. It does not apply to an offer of composition.

In re Atlantic Constr. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 228 Fed. 571. See also In re Aarous, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 243 Fed. 634; In re Breakwater Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 375.

Time for proving claims—One year limitation.—Claims must be proved within one year after the date of adjudication. In re Trion Mfg. Co., (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 521.

And the period prescribed by this section is not enlarged or started anew by the discovery of unscheduled assets. Chapman v. Whitsett, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 873, 150 C. C. A. 135.

The limitation prescribed by this section is, with some exceptions, definite and conclusive. Chapman v. Whitsett, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 873, 150 C. C. A. 135.

It was not intended to apply to any claim against the estate for something arising after the proceedings were instituted as part of the cost of administration as for instance a claim for rental of the premises occupied by the trustee. In re Green, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 231 Fed. 253.

Time of proving claims "liquidated by litigation"—The phrase "liquidated by litigation."—A preferred creditor is not barred by the one year statute of limitation, but his claim is within the protection of the proviso in section 57n as a claim "liquidated by litigation." In re Louis J. Bergdoll Motor Co., (E. D. Pa. 1916) 230 Fed. 248.

A proceeding to recover a preference is within the phrase "liquidation by litigation." In re Louis J. Bergdoll Motor Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 410, 147 C. C. A. 346.

Amendment after one year period.—Much liberality has been shown by the courts in permitting imperfect claims and proofs of claim to be put into proper form after the statutory period has expired, but there seems to be no decision that runs counter to the positive language of the Act and permits a claim that is wholly new to be presented after the limitation has run. In some form the substance of a claim must have been made within the proper time, but if this has been done amendments may be made afterward. In re Thompson, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 981, 142 C. C. A. 439.

In the case of In re Amsdell-Kirschner Brewing Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 783, the court denied an application to amend after the expiration of the one year period and an affirmation of the order of the referee disallowing the claim on the ground that it would be a waste of time to allow the amendment to the claim, and expend time and money in taking proofs in regard thereto, as the trustee in bankruptcy contested the same most strenuously.

1912 Supp., p. 716, sec. 58a (5).

Effect of notice.—An order of the bankruptcy court declaring a dividend and adjudicating the claim of a bank to priority in a fund collected from insurance companies on policies held by the bank as collateral, has been held to be binding upon indorsers who were parties to the settlement with the insurance companies and who had notice of the intention to declare the dividend, and consented to the payment of the policies to the trustee while parties to the bankruptcy proceedings, although they voluntarily withdrew their claim in the bankruptcy proceeding prior to the declaration of the dividend; in view of their relation to the whole transaction. American Sav. Bank, etc., Co. v. Munson, (1916) 93 Wash. 78, 159 Pac. 1195.

Where a claim has been properly disallowed the claimant has no standing to object to a dividend order made without giving the required ten days' notice. In re Leslie, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 465.

1912 Supp., p. 716, sec. 58a (8).

Sections 58a and 59g when used together relate only to dismissals upon application of a party in interest, and do not apply to the dismissal of a voluntary petition, upon the initiation of the court, and for the protection of its officers from the continuance of merely futile proceedings, on account of the bankrupt's own failure to take the preliminary steps necessary to bring the creditors before the court. In re Crisp, (E. D. Tenn. 1917) 239 Fed. 419.

1912 Supp., p. 717, sec. 59a.

A voluntary petition for adjudication of a corporation as a bankrupt may be filed by authority of the board of directors. In re S., etc., Mfg. Co., (N. D. Ohio 1917) 246 Fed. 1005; In re Hargadine-McKittrick Dry Goods Co., (E. D. Mo. 1917) 239 Fed. 155; In re United Grocery Co., (S. D. Fla. 1917) 239 Fed. 1016; Rudebeck v. Sanderson, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 575, 142 C. C. A. 207.

In the case of a voluntary petition authorized by the directors of a corporation it is the duty of objecting stockholders to move against it promptly if at all. Rudebeck v. Sanderson, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 575, 142 C. C. A. 207.

"The solvency vel non of the corporation is not material in a voluntary petition." In re United Grocery Co., (S. D. Fla. 1917) 239 Fed. 1016.

Effect of previous involuntary petition.—See to same effect as original annotation, International Silver Co. v. New York Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 945, 147 C. C. A. 619. See also In re Continental Coal Corp., (C. C.

A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 113, 151 C. C. A. 189.

Averments of petition.—Where an adjudication is desired of the petitioning partners as individuals as well as the firm, there should at least be inserted in the prayer of the petition a request for an adjudication of the petitioning partners as well as of the firm. In re Lenoir, (E. D. Tenn. 1915) 226 Fed. 227.

Where the averments of the petition clearly show commercial insolvency the court has authority under this section to act on the petition as soon as it is filed and to make the adjudication. In re Southern Arizona Smelting Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 87, 145 C. C. A. 275.

Right of creditors to contest.—While creditors may contest any petition in involuntary bankruptcy, no provision is made for contesting a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. In re Pennington, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 388.

1912 Supp., p. 718, sec. 59b.

- I. Who may file petition in involuntary bankruptcy
- II. Form, averments, and amendment of petition

I. WHO MAY FILE PETITION IN INVOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY (p. 718)

Creditors having provable claims.—Where one of several joint makers of a note failed and refused to pay his share and the others paid it in full and then filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the one refusing to pay it was held that the petitioners were creditors having "provable claims" against the alleged bankrupt within the meaning of Bankruptcy Act. Wright v. Rumph, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 238 Fed. 138, 151 C. C. A. 214.

Time when petitioner must be creditor.—Petitioning creditor must have provable claim when the petition is filed. In re Van Horn, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 822.

Before the petition, creditors may buy claims, and the bankrupt may induce creditors not to join in the petition; but to sustain the petition the requisite petitioners must be those who are creditors when the petition is filed. In re Kehoe, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 415, 147 C. C. A. 351.

Disqualification of creditors as petitioners—Generally.—In the case of In re Burg, (N. D. Tex. 1917) 245 Fed. 173, the list filed by defendant showing his creditors at the date of the filing of the petition discloses 24, not including the plaintiff. Only 3 of them were for more than $100, the highest being for $252.56, and 12 of them were for sums under $5. These small claims were current accounts for groceries, drugs, dry goods, milk, gas and oil, telegrams, telephone bills, water, light and gas bills, etc., such as are contracted and paid for from month to month. The court said: "Such creditors are practically secured, as their bills have to be paid from month to month before further necessities can be obtained. The bankruptcy law is never invoked by any such small creditors, who themselves have adequate remedy for the collection of their accounts by cutting off further supplies. As to these accounts, I think the maxim, 'De minimis non curat lex,' applies."

Disqualification by participation in general assignment.—A creditor who has assented to an assignment by his debtor may not ordinarily thereafter file an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against him, based solely upon such assignment. In re Campe, (N. D. Cal. 1917) 240 Fed. 433.

II. FORM, AVERMENTS AND AMENDMENT OF PETITION (p. 722)

Averment of commission of act of bankruptcy.—The words "because of insolvency" in the allegation of a petition have been construed as meaning insolvency as defined by the Bankruptcy Act, § 1a (15). In re Valentine Bohl Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 685, 140 C. C. A. 225.

General averments as to acts of bankruptcy are not sufficient. In re Mason-Seaman Transp. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 235 Fed. 974.

But the jurisdictional averments that the defendant is "insolvent" in the sense in which the term is used in the statute, and "within four months next preceding the filing of this petition" the defendant, "while insolvent," committed the respective acts of bankruptcy as alleged, and "that, being insolvent, it did apply for a receiver for its property," have been held sufficient to give the court jurisdiction. Graham Mfg. Co. v. Davy-Pocahontas Coal Co., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 488, 151 C. C. A. 424.

And an allegation that a confession of judgment was made with intent to prefer has been held sufficient though it does not set forth the facts and circumstances from which such intent may be inferred. "It would be quite impracticable to set out all the facts and circumstances upon which a party may rely to show intent, especially where, . . . it is necessary to show actual rather than constructive intent." In re Musgrove Min. Co., (D. C. Idaho 1916) 234 Fed. 99.

Amendment of fatal defects.—It has been decided that the court has no power to allow an amendment to a petition setting up a new, separate, and independent act of bankruptcy which occurred more than four months before the application to insert it in the petition. But even if the court has power to allow amendments of this character, it certainly ought not to do so, except upon a showing that the petitioner was duly diligent and that the interests of justice require such action. In re Forbes, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 316.

Amendment of allegation as to act of bankruptcy.—The averments as to acts of bankruptcy may be amended. In re Irish, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 573.

Amendment to avoid preference.—Although there has been an adjudication on a voluntary petition filed over four months after an alleged preferential transfer a petition in involuntary proceedings, commenced within the four months' period, may be amended where it alleges a preferential transfer in the language of the statute, omitting only the information necessary to enable the bankrupt to meet the charge, if necessary to protect rights which would be lost under the adjudication of the voluntary petition alone. International Silver Co. v. New York Jewelry Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 945, 147 C. C. A. 619.

1912 Supp., p. 726, sec. 59c.

Notice to creditors unnecessary.—Notice to creditors of the filing of a petition is unnecessary. Coppard v. Gardner, (Tex. Civ. App. 1918) 199 S. W. 650.

1912 Supp., p. 726, sec. 59d.

Notice required.—This section requires notification to "such creditors," meaning those creditors named in the list filed with the answer, and hence necessarily the creditors who were such when the petition was filed. In re Kehoe, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 415, 147 C. C. A. 351.

1912 Supp., p. 727, sec. 59f.

Jurisdiction.—The court which is charged with the duty of collecting and distributing a bankrupt estate alone has jurisdiction to authorize other creditors to intervene as parties. Babbitt v. Read, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 694, 153 C. C. A. 492.

Opposing petition—Involuntary proceedings.—When one having an interest in preventing or vacating an adjudication of bankruptcy on an involuntary petition seeks leave to appear and plead to the petition, and discloses as the occasion of his proposed participation in the proceedings an alleged unwarranted substitution by the debtor of an admission of the petition's allegation of insolvency in the place of his previously made denial of that allegation, the first question to be determined is whether the proposed defense was duly presented prior to the adjudication so made. The application calls for the exercise by the court of a sound discretion in determining, in the first place, whether the leave sought should be granted or refused.

Abbott v. Wauchula Mfg., etc., Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 677, 144 C. C. A. 87.

A motion to dismiss the petition being in the nature of a demurrer, the facts set forth therein, which clearly present the questions involved, will be considered as true. Graham Mfg. Co. v. Davy-Pocahontas Coal Co., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 488, 151 C. C. A. 424.

Effect of intervention.—Where a person has, on his own motion, obtained an order allowing him to intervene in a bankruptcy proceeding he thereby submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court and must remain there so far as concerns any attack by him on the court's orders. In re Ohio Copper Min Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 241 Fed. 711.

A single intervening creditor has the right to carry on a petition good on its face. In re Culin-Pace Contracting Co., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 245.

Withdrawal from petition.—"It is not within the power of a creditor who joins in good faith in a petition to have his debtor adjudged a bankrupt thereafter to withdraw from such petition, and prevent the matter from proceeding, so long as any of the petitioning creditors insist that the matter do proceed. It is doubtful whether such petitioning creditor may withdraw in any event without leave of court so to do. Any other rule would leave the door open for the perpetration of fraud, and the surreptitious bargaining between the debtor and petitioning creditors in an effort to procure the withdrawal of a sufficient number of the latter to reduce the amount of claims or the number of creditors below the requirements of the statute. The court cannot inquire into the good faith of every attempted withdrawal, nor indeed is there any way to prove the secret bargainings between debtor and creditors, and the only way to prevent them is to hold such attempted withdrawals to be ineffectual so long as any of the petitioning creditors desire in good faith to prosecute their petition to an adjudication." In re San Jose Baking Co., (N. D. Cal. 1916) 232 Fed. 200.

1912 Supp., p. 729, sec. 59g.

Sections 58a and 59g when read together relate only to dismissals upon application of a party in interest, and do not apply to the dismissal of a voluntary petition, upon the initiation of the court, and for the protection of its officers from the continuance of merely futile proceedings, on account of the bankrupt's own failure to take the preliminary steps necessary to bring the creditors before the court. In re Crisp, (E. D. Tenn. 1917) 239 Fed. 419.

Notice to creditors.—Where there is neither an application by the petition for the dismissal nor is there the consent of any of the parties, and the application is opposed by the petitioning creditor, it has been held that notice of the application served upon the petitioning creditors who have appeared in the proceeding is sufficient and that it need not be served on all the creditors of the alleged bankrupt. In re Mason-Seaman Transp. Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 235 Fed. 974.

1912 Supp., p. 729, sec. 60a.

- I. Creation of preferences
- II. Constituent elements

I. CREATION OF PREFERENCES (p. 730)

Preference created by judgment.—A preference is created where a debtor suffers and procures a judgment to be obtained and entered against it. Grant v. Auburn Nat. Bank, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 201.

Transfer defined.—The word "transfer" is given a broad meaning by the statutory definition. A money payment is within this generality of definition. Golden Hill Distilling Co. v. Logue, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 342, 156 C. C. A. 122.

Preference created by transfer.—See to same effect as original annotation, Grandison v. National Bank of Commerce, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 800, 145 C. C. A. 620; Wolfe v. Bank of Anderson, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 343, 151 C. C. A. 359.

A security transferred for future advances, in the absence of fraud or collusion, does not constitute a voidable preference. Dunlap v. Seattle Nat. Bank, (1916) 93 Wash. 568, 161 Pac. 364.

A transfer to a third person may be a preference where done with intent to evade the statute. Grandison v. National Bank of Commerce, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 800, 145 C. C. A. 620; McKnight v. Shadbolt, (1917) 98 Wash. 665, 168 Pac. 473.

Insolvent partners of an insolvent partnership cannot rightfully devote the whole of their separate estates to the benefit of a single firm creditor under the guise of treating him as their private creditor, and so ignore their joint and several liability to all the firm creditors, and to do this operates to create a preference. Ft. Pitt Coal Co., etc., Co. v. Diser, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 443, 162 C. C. A. 321.

Preference created by attachment.—The provision of the Bankruptcy Act making void the preference gained by an attachment does not preclude the sheriff from asserting his superior right to have his fees paid upon the discharge of the levy. Gotham Nat. Bank v. Hickox, (1917) 100 Misc. 372, 166 N. Y. S. 644.

Preference created by mortgage.—A mortgage operates as a preference when it is executed within the four months' period and its effect is to enable one creditor to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than is obtained by other creditors of the same class. In re Hawkins, (N. D. Ga. 1917) 243 Fed. 792.

Preference created by payment—Payment of rent.—Where a tenant within the fourth months prior to his bankruptcy paid money to his landlord who instead of applying it to current rent applied it to the payment of back rent upon which he would have had only the right of an ordinary creditor it was held that such application was a preference. In re Louis J. Bergdoll Motor Co., (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 87.

Dividends paid by an assignee under a general assignment for the benefit of creditors do not come within the Bankruptcy Act's definition of preferences. In re Vorek, (D. C. Mont. 1916) 235 Fed. 655.

Money acquired after petition filed.—Bankrupts may properly pay a creditor money earned by them after petition filed or obtained from relatives and friends. Cohen v. Bacharach, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 385, 143 C. C. A. 505.

Money deposited in pursuance of contract to pay all lienable claims.—A contract between a railway company, a construction company, and the latter's sureties, which, after reciting the controversy as to whether the construction contract had been performed, the filing of claims for liens and attachment suits for more than the sum admitted by the railway company to be due, and the latter company's assertion of its right against the surety companies, fixed a sum to be paid by the railway company in full settlement of the mutual claims between it and the construction company, which sum, with an additional amount to be furnished by the surety companies, should be put into the hands of named trustees "to be used in paying all lienable claims" growing out of the construction contract, created an equitable lien in favor of all alleged liens which the parties should deem to have color of right, and the fund having thus been appropriated and set aside more than four months before bankruptcy proceedings against the construction company were begun, a preference was not created by the formal ascertainment of, and payment to, a specific beneficiary within the four months' period. Johnson v. Root Mfg. Co., (1916) 241 U. S. 160, 36 S. Ct. 520, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 934.

Banking transactions—In general.—A bank which is a creditor of a bankrupt who has in the usual course of business a sum of money on deposit to his credit at the date of bankruptcy is entitled to apply the same on its claim as a set off and such action does not create a preference. Wichita Fourth Nat. Bank v. Smith, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 240 Fed. 19, 153 C. C. A. 55.

If an insolvent, within four months antecedent to bankruptcy, should make deposits or give checks to a bank to enable it to secure a preference, the transaction would be inimical to the bankruptcy law, and would be held void as a preference. But when an insolvent customer makes a deposit with his bank, in good faith and in the usual course of business, at any time within four months before the petition in bankruptcy is filed against him, the bank is allowed to credit the amount on notes of the bankrupt held by it. American Bank, etc., Co. v. Coppard, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 597, 142 C. C. A. 229.

Preferential payments to bank.—Where it appeared that deposits which accumulated in a bank were paid over to it by the officers of the bankrupt company there was held to be a preference it clearly appearing that the money was received by the bank when its officers had every reason to know that a preference would result and that the bank would get more on its general claim against the bankrupt than other creditors of the same class. In re Fairburn Oil, etc., Co., (N. D. Ga. 1917) 240 Fed. 835.

II. CONSTITUENT ELEMENTS (p. 734)

In general.—A transfer by an insolvent person to constitute a voidable preference under this section as amended, must be on account of a pre-existing debt. In re Mosher, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 739.

Before adjudication bankrupts are at liberty to deal with their property as they see fit, so long as they do not give a preference to any creditor or impair the value of their estate. O'Connell v. Worcester, (1916) 225 Mass. 159, 114 N. E. 201.

In construing the meaning of the words "will be" in this section it has been declared that by the very language of section 60b the payment must operate as a preference at the time it is made, or not at all, and the belief of the creditor as to whether it will constitute a preference or not, must be of the time the payment is made. Peck v. Whitmer, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 893, 146 C. C. A. 89.

Insolvency.—In a proceeding to determine whether a transfer of a debtor is a preferential one, the state rule of insolvency is the one to be followed. Simpson v. Western Hardware, etc., Co., (1917) 97 Wash. 626, 167 Pac. 113.

Intention to give a preference is not material since the amendment of 1910. Golden Hill Distilling Co. v. Logue, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 342, 156 C. C. A. 122.

Time of obtaining preference.—The effect and object of the amendment was to extend the time within which the conveyance or assignment or preference could be assailed, and the property conveyed or assigned subjected as assets for the benefit of all the creditors alike, thereby avoiding the preference. It did not make void or voidable any mortgage, conveyance, assignment, or preference which would not otherwise have been voidable had it been made within the four months of the filing of the petition of bankruptcy; but it did have the effect to make the date from which the four months should be reckoned start from the recording or filing for resignation, rather than from the date of execution, though whether the transaction in question was void or voidable must be ascertained from the facts and circumstances existing at the date of execution, rather than from those obtaining at the date of the filing for record. Gray, etc., Hardware Co. v. Guthrie, (Ala. 1917) 75 So. 318.

In calculating the four months the preferential character of a transfer of property is to be determined as of the date of the filing of the petition. Rubenstein v. Loftow, (1916) 223 Mass. 227, 111 N. E. 973.

Where recording required.—Where registration and record of a deed was required and this was not done until within the prohibited four months' period, it is therefore voidable as to the excess over a homestead right. Sieg v. Greene, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 955, 141 C. C. A. 79.

A chattel mortgage is invalid against lien creditors and the trustee until acknowledged and where this act essential to validity is not performed until within the four months' period, the mortgage operates as a preference. In re Caslon Press, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 229 Fed. 133, 143 C. C. A. 409.

Instrument valid under state law.—The recording of a conveyance by an insolvent is not "required" by law, within the meaning of the provisions of the Bankrupt Act, §§ 60a and 60b, where, under the applicable local law (Ohio Gen. Code, § 8543), the failure to record a deed does not render it invalid as to the grantor's creditors, but only as to subsequent bona fide purchasers without notice. Carey v. Donohue, (1916) 240 U. S. 430, 36 S. Ct. 386, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 726, L. R. A. 1917A 295. See also Johnson v. Barrett, (N. D. Ga. 1916) 237 Fed. 112.

Where by the state law a deed is good between the parties and against all the world, except subsequent purchasers in good faith, and for a valuable consideration from the same vendor, whose conveyance is first recorded, a trustee in bankruptcy not having such a purchaser and not representing any such person, the conveyance is not by law required to be recorded against him. Marsh v. Leseman, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 484, 155 C. C. A. 260.

Necessity of diminishing estate.—Where a person agreed to loan money to a corporation on condition that she receive a mortgage for a like sum on designated property and delivered a check for the amount on like condition, it was held that a return of the money in a few days on her demand, because of a failure to give the mortgage, did not constitute a preference, as the money remained her money and no rights of creditors had attached. Wallerstein v. Gallagher, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 236 Fed. 602.

Where securities were loaned to a firm of brokers, the lender retaining title, for the purpose of hypothecation to aid the firm in financial difficulties a return of the securities to the lender was held not to constitute a preference. Robinson v. Roe, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 936, 147 C. C. A. 610.

Transfer for present consideration.—This section does not apply where the bankrupt receives a present consideration for the transfer. Lake View State Bank v. Jones, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 821, 155 C. C. A. 409; In re Sutherland Co., (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 663; O'Connell v. Worcester, (1916) 225 Mass. 159, 114 N. E. 201.

Where property is transferred by a bankrupt, part of the consideration for such transfer being a pre-existing debt, and the other part a present payment of money, such transfer will be held void, except to the extent that a present consideration was paid therefor. Payne v. Sehon, (W. Va. 1917) 94 S. E. 34.

A chattel mortgage is not a preference where given at the same time a loan is made to the mortgagor. In re Metropolitan Dairy Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 444, 140 C. C. A. 646.

Renewal of fire policies.—Where the fire insurance policy on a stock of goods was made payable to the seller and some of the policies were renewed within the four months' period and loss thereunder was paid to the seller within that period, there was held to be no preference. Sullivan v. Myer, (1917) 137 Tenn. 412, 193 S. W. 124.

The formal assignment of a policy on fire insurance has been held not to constitute a preference where the policy was actually pledged and the assignment actually made more than four months before bankruptcy. Hecker v. Commercial State Bank, (1916) 35 N. D. 12, 159 N. W. 97.

1912 Supp., p. 739, sec. 60b.

- I. Elements of voidability
- II. Recovery of voidable preference

I. ELEMENTS OF VOIDABILITY (p. 740)

In general.—"A trustee in bankruptcy is entitled under the Bankruptcy Act to recover a transfer of property if the following circumstances concur: (1) That a 'transfer' of the property of the debtor has taken place. (2) That the debtor at the time of the 'transfer' was insolvent. (3) That the transfer was made within four months before the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, or after the filing and before the adjudication. (4) The transfer must enable the creditor to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than other creditors of the same class. (5) The person receiving it must have had reasonable cause to believe that the enforcement of the transfer would effect a preference." Grandison v. National Bank of Commerce, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 800, 145 C. C. A. 620. See also Hagar v. Watt, (M. D. Pa. 1915) 232 Fed. 373; In re Terrell, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 743; Abele v. Beacon Trust Co., (1917) 228 Mass. 438, 117 N. E. 833; Putnam v. U. S. Trust Co., (1916) 223 Mass. 199, 111 N. E. 969.

An act on the part of the bankrupt whereby he surrenders or encumbers his property or some part of it for the benefit of a particular creditor, and thereby diminishes the estates, is what is meant by the provisions of this section. Bailey v. Baker Ice Mach. Co., (1915) 239 U. S. 268, 36 S. Ct. 50, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 275.

The word "required" in this section refers directly to statutes in many states relating to recording which through various forms of expression seek to protect creditors by providing that their rights shall be superior to transfers while off the record. Recognizing the beneficial results of these enactments and intending that rights based thereon might be utilized for the advantage of bankrupt estates, Congress inserted (amendment of 1910) the clause "or of the recording or registering of the transfer if by law recording or registering thereof is required." Purchasers are not of those in whose favor registration is "required," but the reference is to persons concerned in the distribution of the estate, i. e., "creditors, including those whose position the trustee was entitled to take." It properly follows that before a trustee may avoid a transfer because of the provision in question he must in fact represent or be entitled to take the place of some creditor whose claim actually stood in a superior position to the challenged transfer while unrecorded and within the specified period. Martin v. Commercial Nat. Bank, (1918) 245, U. S. 513, 38 S. Ct. 176, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

"The language of this provision requires the conclusion that unless a transfer, though it was made by the bankrupt within four months before the filing of the petition in bankruptcy, is one required by law to be recorded or registered, it is not voidable by the trustee unless the bankrupt was insolvent 'at the time of the transfer,' and the transfer then operated as a preference, and the person receiving it or to be benefited thereby, or his agent acting therein, then had reasonable cause to believe that the enforcement of such transfer would effect a preference." Martin v. Commercial Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 651, 143 C. C. A. 173. See also Hawkins v. Dannenberg Co., (S. D. Ga. 1916) 234 Fed. 752.

The insolvency must exist at the time of the transfer, and the transfer must then operate as a preference and the creditor must then have reasonable cause to believe that the enforcement of the transfer would effect a preference. Peck v. Whitmer, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 893, 146 C. C. A. 89.

Distinction between remedies under sections 60b and 67e.—The provisions of sections 60b and 67e, . . . disclose a wide difference as to what is required to show liability. To establish a liability under the former section no actual fraud need be shown. The section merely condemns a transfer by bankrupt within four months for the purpose of creating a preference, providing the party receiving the transfer has reasonable cause to believe that a preference was intended. The legal remedy is entirely adequate, and no relief is offered in equity that the law does not afford. To establish a liability under section 67e actual fraud must be shown, and suits under that provision are peculiarly within the cognizance of and should be entertained by the equity court." Simpson v. Western Hardware, etc., Co., (W. D. Wash. 1915) 227 Fed. 304.

"The exercise of a pre-existing right, lawful in the local jurisdiction, although occurring within the prescribed period, is not an illegal preference, unless made with intent to hinder or defraud creditors." MacDonald v. Aetna Indemnity Co., (1916) 90 Conn. 415, 97 Atl. 332.

Reasonable cause to believe transaction would effect preference.—The amendment of 1910 does not dispense with the necessity of proving reasonable cause to believe that such transfer would effect a preference. Maysville First Bank v. Alexander, (1915) 49 Okla. 418, 153 Pac. 646; Grandison v. Robertson, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 785, 145 C. C. A. 605.

The creditor who receives a partial payment on his debt, so far as the question of his having reasonable cause to believe that the enforcement of the payment would effect a preference is concerned, has the right to look at the bankrupt's estate at the time the payment is made, bankruptcy may never occur; but if it does, the creditor may not be charged with a knowledge of what an estate will pay out after it has undergone the shrinking process of the courts. Peck v. Whitmer, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 893, 146 C. C. A. 89.

Reasonable cause to believe that payments would effect a preference has been held to be established where in connection with other evidence it appeared that the sale of the property and distribution of the proceeds was in pursuance of a plan to pay the local creditors, regardless of nonresident creditors. D. C. Wise Coal Co. v. Small, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 524, 140 C. C. A. 508.

"The creditor, or his agent acting in the matter, must have had such information at the time as gave him reasonable cause to believe that the taking of the transfer would, as to then existing creditors, if the transfer were later enforced, enable such creditor to obtain a greater percentage of his debt than any other of such creditors of the same class. This necessarily means that the creditor taking the security, or his agent acting in the matter, must have had reasonable cause to believe such debtor was then insolvent, and insolvency must then have existed, as otherwise the enforcement of the security could not work a preference." In re Gaylord, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 234.

"Reasonable cause to believe" is usually inferred from such facts as from inability to pay bills in the usual course of business as they mature, from poor business, and from transactions of a character not ordinarily resorted to by solvent traders. In re Sutherland Co., (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 663.

"Where in any particular case it is shown that a creditor at the time he receives full payment of his debt knows that his debtor is insolvent or has knowledge of such facts, which investigated would show insolvency, it necessarily results that creditor had reasonable cause to believe that the enforcement of the transfer would effect a preference. But in a case where the transfer or payment amounts to but a small percentage of the total debt, knowledge of the insolvency of the debtor or of facts which if investigated would lead to such knowledge is not conclusive upon the question as to whether the creditor had reasonable cause to believe that the enforcement of the transfer or payment would effect a preference." Peck v. Whitmer, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 893, 146 C. C. A. 89.

Question of fact.—Whether a person had such cause is a question of fact to be determined from all the circumstances attending the transaction and the relations existing between the parties thereto. Marshall v. Nevins, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 476, 155 C. C. A. 252; Stephen Putney Shoe Co. v. Dashiell, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 121, 153 C. C. A. 347; MacDonald v. Aetna Indemnity Co., (1916) 90 Conn. 415, 97 Atl. 332; Putman v. U. S. Trust Co., (1916) 223 Mass. 199, 111 N. E. 969.

Each case is dependent on its own circumstances. Healey v. Wehrung, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 686, 144 C. C.

A. 96; Clifford v. Morrill, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 190; Peninsula Bank v. Wolcott, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 68, 146 C. C. A. 260, Ann. Cas. 1918C 477; Grant v. National Bank, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 201; Paris First Nat. Bank v. Yerkes, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 278, 151 C. C. A. 294; In re Sutherland Co., (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 663.

Presumption as to belief.—"The pledgee, taking possession in pursuance of and in the enforcement of his pre-existing right, is prima facie presumed to take in the belief in his right, and not in the belief that his taking is with intent to give himself a preference." MacDonald v. Aetna Indemnity Co., (1916) 90 Conn. 415, 97 Atl. 332.

The proof must show the insolvency of the debtor as defined by subdivision 15 of section 1. In re Walker Starter Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 285, 148 C. C. A. 645.

Positive knowledge unnecessary.—Knowledge of sufficient facts and circumstances to put a prudent man upon inquiry is all that is required. Grandison v. National Bank of Commerce, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 800, 145 C. C. A. 620; Maysville First Bank v. Alexander, (1915) 49 Okla. 418, 153 Pac. 646.

The trustee need not prove absolute knowledge, but only such circumstances as would lead an intelligent and prudent business man to entertain the belief that the transfer would give him a preference over other creditors. Jacobs v. Saperstein, (1916) 225 Mass. 300, 114 N. E. 360. See also Walter v. National Fire Ins. Co., (1917) 101 Neb. 639, 164 N. W. 569.

The knowledge which a creditor has that his payment is out of funds which (if liquidation were had) would be needed equally by other creditors brings him within the language of the statute. Scheuer v. Katsoff, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 473.

In the case of a transfer of accounts by a bankrupt to a bank within four months of the filing of the petition under such circumstances as naturally would have caused an ordinary person, had he been the creditor receiving the preference, to have believed that thereby a preference would be effected, it has been declared that property received under such circumstances constitutes a voidable preference and the trustee can recover for the benefit of the bankrupt estate. Aronin v. Security Bank, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 888, 143 C. C. A. 286.

Duty of inquiry.—"When put on inquiry and there is a failure to inquire, it may be presumed that inquiry would have disclosed the truth, all the facts; but when put on inquiry, and due inquiry is made and the truth is either wholly suppressed or so colored and explained that the creditor taking the security does not, in fact, have the information which would give reasonable cause to believe, knowledge cannot be imputed to him and he held to have had reasonable cause to believe." In re Gaylord, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 234; In re States Printing Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 238 Fed. 775, 151 C. C. A. 625. See also Jacobs v. Saperstein, (1916) 225 Mass. 300, 114 N. E. 360; Walter v. National Fire Ins. Co., (1917) 101 Neb. 639, 164 N. W. 569.

The question of knowledge ordinarily is one of fact dependent on the evidence in each case, and no rule can be formulated by which all cases can be mathematically adjusted. Jacobs v. Saperstein, (1916) 225 Mass. 300, 114 N. E. 360.

Mere suspicion is not sufficient to charge creditors with knowledge of, or reasonable cause to believe, the debtor is insolvent. There must be evidence of facts sufficient to put a reasonably prudent person upon inquiry, which, if pursued, would show that the debtor is insolvent and that a preference will be the result. Nichols v. Elken, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 689, 140 C. C. A. 563; Brookheim v. Greenbaum, (S. D. N. Y. 1912) 225 Fed. 635; Rosenman v. Coppard, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 114, 142 C. C. A. 520; Putman v. U. S. Trust Co., (1916) 223 Mass. 199, 111 N. E. 969; Rubenstein v. Lottow, (1916) 223 Mass. 227, 111 N. E. 973; Dunlap v. Seattle Nat. Bank, (1916) 93 Wash. 568, 161 Pac. 364.

Knowledge presumed.—In the case of a mortgage given to cover the whole of a stock of goods it has been declared that the giving and receiving of such a mortgage is an act entirely out of the ordinary course of business and is almost conclusive evidence of the intent of the mortgagor to give and of the mortgagee to receive a preference over other creditors. Schneider v. Bosley, (S. D. 1917) 165 N. W. 1.

A mortgagee is bound to draw such inference as would naturally follow from the facts coming to his attention; and, where those facts would ordinarily excite suspicion as to solvency and cause inquiry, he is to be held to such knowledge as a reasonable inquiry would have furnished. In re Sutherland Co., (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 663.

Where the purchaser and assignee of a chattel mortgage knew or ought to have known that it was voidable because of its preferential character and he obtained possession of the mortgaged property and, through foreclosure proceedings, converted it to his own use, it was held that he became liable for its value when the mortgage was set aside. Feilbach Co. v. Russell, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 412, 147 C. C. A. 348.

Where there is no room to doubt that a wife knew of, and, indeed, participated in, a series of nearly simultaneous transactions by which her husband was divesting himself of practically all his property for the payment of part of his debts, and that she knew he was leaving a large part unpaid and unsecured, it was said to follow that the preferential payment was voidable as against her and the money could have been recovered from her, if it had remained in her hands; and it followed, also, that any attempt by her to put it beyond the reach of a possible action by a possible trustee was voidable, as being in hindrance and defeat of that portion of the Bankruptcy Law which contemplated that the trustee should recover such preferences. Watson v. Adams, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 441, 155 C. C. A. 217.

Whether or not the debt secured by a lien is a pre-existing one must be determined as of its date of the creation of the lien. In re Mossler Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 262, 152 C. C. A. 250.

Intent to prefer.—The intent of the debtor is not of any consequence. In re Gaylord, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 234; Abele v. Beacon Trust Co., (1917) 228 Mass. 438, 117 N. E. 833; Payne v. Seton, (W. Va. 1917) 94 S. E. 34.

Facts of case as controlling.—Under the facts of the particular case there was had to be a preferential transfer in each of the following cases: In re French, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 255 (chattel mortgages and assignment); Rosenthal v. Bronx Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 691, 145 C. C. A. 577 (chattel mortgages); In re Alden, (D. C. Me. 1916) 233 Fed. 160 (mortgage); Feilbach Co. v. Russell, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 412, 147 C. C. A. 348; Scheuer v. Katsoff, (E. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 473 (payments); Security Trust, etc., Bank v. Wm. R. Staats Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 514, 147 C. C. A. 400 (mortgage).

II. RECOVERY OF VOIDABLE PREFERENCES (p. 744)

In general.—Where it is shown that all the elements of a voidable preference, as defined by this section, exist there may be a recovery by the trustee. State Bank v. Ingram, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 76, 150 C. C. A. 278.

"A long line of decisions has determined that the relief sought, if granted, under section 60, extends only to an avoidance of the preference secured by the lender himself as a creditor, or as the practical agent of one who is a creditor." Johnstone v. Babb, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 668, 153 C. C. A. 466.

A suit to recover property claimed to have been received as a voidable preference is not a part of the "proceedings in bankruptcy" but is a controversy either at law or in equity between the trustee and a third party. McCulloch v. Daven- port Sav. Bank, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 226 Fed. 309.

A contract of conditional sale which was not recorded until after the conditional purchasers had become insolvent has been held not to operate as a preferential transfer by them, within the meaning of this section of the Bankruptcy Act. Bailey v. Baker Ice Mach. Co., (1915) 239 U. S. 268, 36 S. Ct. 50, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 275.

Preference created by judgment.—A creditor who recovers a judgment, by consent or in invitum, and by execution sale collects his money within four months preceding bankruptcy, and with reasonable cause to believe, etc., receives a voidable preference, which he must repay to the trustee. Golden Hill Distilling Co. v. Logue, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 342, 156 C. C. A. 122.

Improvements made on property transferred.—Where a transferee immediately after taking possession of property transferred within the four months' period made large expenditures in improvements it was held that any property thus added was no part of the estate in bankruptcy. Sieg v. Greene, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 955, 141 C. C. A. 79, Ann. Cas. 1917C 1006.

Pleadings.—A petition is defective where it omits any statement that the recipients of a conveyance were chargeable with notice that a preference would result. Watson v. Adams, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 441, 155 C. C. A. 217.

A trustee must allege and prove all the statutory elements of a preference before he can recover from the defendant. Anderson v. Stayton State Bank, (1916) 82 Ore. 357, 159 Pac. 1033.

In a suit to recover property claimed to have been received as a voidable preference no allegation or proof of a demand and refusal is necessary. McCulloch v. Davenport Sav. Bank, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 226 Fed. 309.

Evidence.—"The burden of proof is on the trustee to show that the creditor had reasonable ground to believe that the transfer of the security would effect a preference." Dunlap v. Seattle Nat. Bank, (1916) 93 Wash. 568, 161 Pac. 364. See also In re Hull, (N. D. Ohio 1915) 224 Fed. 796; In re Gaylord, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 234; Rosenman v. Coppard, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 114, 142 C. C. A. 520; Peck v. Whitmer, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 893, 146 C. C. A. 89; Clifford v. Morrill, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 190; Marshall v. Nevins, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 476, 155 C. C. A. 252; Brown v. Weimar First State Bank, (Tex. Civ. App. 1918) 199 S. W. 895; Simpson v. Western Hardware, etc., Co., (1917) 97 Wash. 626, 167 Pac. 113; Putnam v. U. S. Trust Co., (1916) 223 Mass. 199, 111 N. E. 969.

The burden of proof rests on the trustee to show knowledge. Watson v. Adams, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 441, 155 C. C. A. 217.

Property transferred by a conveyance which operates as a preference can be recovered from any one who is not a purchaser in good faith and for value, and that the burden rests upon the person claiming to be such purchaser to show that he paid value. Watson v. Adams, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 441, 155 C. C. A. 217.

In order to establish that a mortgage was a preference it is necessary for the trustee to prove that the mortgage was given while the mortgagor was insolvent, that the effect of the enforcement of such mortgage would enable the mortgagee to obtain a greater percentage of its debt than other creditors of the same class, and that the mortgagee had reasonable cause to believe that it was intended thereby to give a preference. In re Walker Starter Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 285, 148 C. C. A. 645.

Suit under this section controversy in bankruptcy proceedings.—A suit brought under this section by a trustee in bankruptcy to set aside a conveyance on the ground that it was made with a view to giving a preference in violation of the Bankruptcy Act is a controversy arising in bankruptcy proceedings and the decree therein is final, under the Act of Congress of Jan. 28, 1915, 38 Stat. L. 804, and the only right of review by the Supreme Court is by a writ of certiorari. William R. Staats Co. v. Security Trust, etc., Bank, (1917) 243 U. S. 121, 37 S. Ct. 336, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 632.

Hearing on appeal.—The finding of the referee as to whether there has been a preference will not, especially when confirmed by the lower court, be reversed on appeal. Ullman v. Coppard, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 124, 158 C. C. A. 350; Stephen Putney Shoe Co. v. Dashiell, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 121, 158 C. C. A. 347.

Where the referee found as a conclusion of fact that the appellee bank had no knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that the debtor company was insolvent when, within four months prior to its bankruptcy, it transferred to the bank a certain note to apply upon or as security for a pre-existing debt, it was held that in the absence of a preponderance of opposing proof such as to warrant a reversal the decree appealed from would be affirmed. Owens v. Farmer's Bank, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 508, 143 C. C. A. 90.

1912 Supp., p. 747, sec. 60d.

A petition for re-examination is a condition precedent to any determination by the referee that any portion of the amount paid to an attorney, as specified in the section, may be recovered by the trustee for the benefit of the estate as an excess over and above what is reasonable. In re Union Dredging Co., (D. C. Del. 1915) 225 Fed. 188.

1912 Supp., p. 748, sec. 61a.

Deposit of funds in special bearing interest savings accounts.—Under the provisions of this section and section 47a(3) the placing of funds by the trustee in banks in special interest bearing savings account instead of depositing them in a general checking account is unauthorized. In re Dayton Coal, etc., Co., (E. D. Tenn. 1916) 239 Fed. 737.

1912 Supp., p. 749, sec. 62a.

Necessary expenses allowed.—Expense for rent.—If the premises are needed and used by the trustee for carrying on the business or other administration purposes, their rent, or, at least, their rental value, forms an expense of administration. Louisville Woolen Mills v. Tapp, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 463, 152 C. C. A. 341. See also In re Mullings Clothing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1916) 230 Fed. 681.

Attorney fees.—In general.—In a case in which compensation is sought by attorneys for services rendered by them in the commencement and prosecution of the preference suit in the name of the trustee and with his consent, and the services so performed have resulted in bringing a fund into the court, which is the only source of dividends open to the general creditors of the bankrupt estate, it has been held that they are entitled to an allowance for such services and also expenses out of the fund. In re Stearns Salt, etc., Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 1, 140 C. C. A. 461.

Fees of trustee's attorney.—As a general rule an allowance should not be made to a trustee in bankruptcy for compensation for an attorney employed by him for doing such things for the protection and benefit of the estate as do not require professional skill but are well within the ability of a person possessing ordinary intelligence and business capacity. In re Union Dredging Co., (D. C. Del. 1915) 225 Fed. 188.

Fees of attorney for receiver.—Fees should be allowed only for services beneficial to the estate. In re Williams, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 240 Fed. 788.

1912 Supp., p. 753, sec. 63a (1).

The date of filing the petition marks the line between claims which are provable and those which are not. Board of Commerce v. Security Trust Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 454, 140 C. C. A. 486; In re Leslie, etc., Co., (D. C.

Mass. 1916) 230 Fed. 465; In re Mullings Clothing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1916) 230 Fed. 681; In re Henry, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 238 Fed. 639.

The liability of a building and loan association to stockholders for amounts paid in and proportions of profits, if any, is fixed, notwithstanding the fact that it may require examination of books to ascertain the exact amount due to each shareholder, and a claim therefor is provable. Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Continental Bldg., etc., Ass'n., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 828, 147 C. C. A. 22.

Judgments.—The Bankruptcy Act expressly makes it unimportant whether or not the liability is payable at the time of the filing of the petition. If the debt was then a fixed liability in the form of a judgment the right to file the claim existed. A judgment is primarily absolutely owing when rendered and entered. If it has been paid before the petition in bankruptcy against the judgment debtor has been filed, or if some agreement of satisfaction has been had, or, perhaps, if the judgment is of a kind where it is very uncertain whether an actual duty to pay has arisen, in such cases the judgment would not be absolutely owing. Moore v. Douglas, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 399, 144 C. C. A. 541, affirming (S. D. Cal. 1915) 225 Fed. 683.

A debt founded on a judgment obtained in an action in which it was claimed that the bankrupt had obtained property by false and fraudulent representations is provable. In re Lockwood, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 158.

Where a judgment in a state court has not been paid, or has not been superseded on appeal by a bond given pursuant to the state law, the judgment debtor cannot avoid the effect of levy and execution, and it is a provable debt. Moore v. Douglas, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 399, 144 C. C. A. 541, affirming (S. D. Cal. 1915) 225 Fed. 683.

The reduction of an alleged debt to judgment in a state court before bankruptcy does not exempt it from attack by or on behalf of creditors who would be injuriously affected by its allowance, when such allowance is sought in bankruptcy proceedings. In re Continental Engine Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 58, 148 C. C. A. 74.

Notes.—Claims owing on notes may be proved. In re Wisconsin Engine Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 281, 148 C. C. A. 183; In re Astoroga Paper Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 792; In re Lance Lumber Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 357, 150 C. C. A. 371; In re Biehl, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 237 Fed. 720.

Where there was a deficiency judgment entered on the foreclosure of a mortgage given to secure notes which the indorsers had paid, it was held that on taking up the notes the indorsers were entitled to prove their claim for the full amount thereof and receive a dividend on the full amount of such claim and then apply the proceeds of the mortgaged property applicable to the payment of the balance of the claim on the bonds or deficiency judgment. In re Astoroga Paper Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 792.

Where the evidence as a whole justifies the inferences that the payees of notes, executed by individual members of a firm, understood that the loans were made to the firm and for its benefit; and that the notes were given with the intention of binding the firm, and in the belief that such a result was being accomplished, it has been held that the notes are provable against the estate of the firm. Frederick v. Citizens' Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 667, 145 C. C. A. 553.

The indorser on the note of a bankrupt who pays the note cannot prove up his claim on the note so paid and also on the implied promise of the bankrupt made at the time of the indorsement to repay him in case he is compelled to pay such note. In re Astoroga Paper Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 792.

A claim, evidenced by a note, for services rendered by a wife to her husband, contracts for which are permitted by the laws of the state, is provable and should not be made subordinate to the claims of other creditors. In re Starr, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 232 Fed. 416.

Checks.—One from whom a check was obtained by fraud does not have a provable claim against a bankrupt to whom it was indorsed and who occupies the position of a bona fide holder for value. In re U. S. Hair Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 703, 152 C. C. A. 537.

Indorsements.—The holder of a note indorsed by a bankrupt does not lose his right to prove his claim thereon by the fact that he accepts after the petition in bankruptcy a renewal note from the maker without the bankrupt's indorsement. In re Henry, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 238 Fed. 639.

Surety debts.—Where the condition in a contractor's bond was broken before his bankruptcy, claims thereunder then became a "fixed liability." U. S. v. Illinois Surety Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 653, 141 C. C. A. 409.

Rent.—Any amount which may have been due for rent of premises used by a bankrupt tenant, as well as any periodical payments reserved in a lease which have accrued at the time of the filing of the petition in bankruptcy are claims presentable and allowable against the estate. In re Mullings Clothing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1916) 230 Fed. 681.

Where the state law gives the landlord a lien for the unexpired term of the lease, or any part of it, the claim for rent for that period may be proved in bankruptcy and enforced against the proceeds of the property subject to the lien, even though the debt may not be provable against the general estate. Lontos v. Coppard, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 803.

Claims under lease of machinery.—Where under such a lease no formal notice or re-entry is required in case of the termination of the lease by insolvency or bankruptcy, termination is coincident with the bankruptcy itself and liability thereunder becomes fixed. In re Desnoyers Shoe Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 401, 142 C. C. A. 97.

The expenses and compensation of an assignee for the benefit of creditors may be proved and allowed where the services rendered were beneficial to the estate. Bramble v. Brett, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 385, 144 C. C. A. 527; In re Sobol, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 230 Fed. 652.

Interest.—In case of claims strictly against the assets of the bankrupt, interest is allowable only up to the time of filing the petition in bankruptcy. In re McAusland, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 173.

But this rule has no application to solvent estates. In re McAusland, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 173.

Contingent claims.—This act makes no provision for the payment of such claims and they are not provable. In re Mullings Clothing Co., (D. C. Conn. 1916) 230 Fed. 681; In re Astoroga Paper Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 234 Fed. 792; In re Mullings Clothing Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 58, 151 C. C. A. 134, L. R. A. 1918A 539.

1912 Supp., p. 760, sec. 63a (3).

Costs arising in connection with a writ of attachment in a state court which accrue up to the time of the institution of bankruptcy proceedings and which are provable and privileged under the state law, are provable and preferred. In re Romm, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 383.

When a trustee contests the claim of an outsider, the controversy is inter partes and costs follow as in any other case. In re All Star Feature Corp., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 232 Fed. 1004.

1912 Supp., p. 760, sec. 63a (4).

Contracts and open accounts.—Where a creditor has a claim of debt against a firm, evidenced by an absolute obligation in writing for its payment, and also an optional claim in tort for misappropriation of money or property (the damages in which are measured by the same debt), and also has a claim against an individual upon a separate and independent contract of bailment (damages flowing from the breach of which are measured by the same debt), he may prove his claim of debt against the bankrupt estate of the firm, and (after allowing credit for the dividend received) prove a claim for the balance due him against the bankrupt estate of the individual, notwithstanding the fact that the individual is a member of the firm and liable as a partner for the firm debt. In re Biehl, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 237 Fed. 720.

A claim for damages for the breach of an executory contract of lease, where the lessee is a corporation and has voted to wind up and its stockholders have applied to the court for the appointment of a receiver to wind up its affairs and dissolve the corporation, is a claim founded upon a contract and provable in bankruptcy. In re Mullings Clothing Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 58, 151 C. C. A. 134, L. R. A. 1918A 539.

Where a contract made upon a good consideration obligating him to pay the creditor a certain sum per day during the creditor's life, the undertaking is absolute, and the liability "fixed," "founded upon a contract" and therefore provable. In re Miller, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 225 Fed. 331.

Taxes on personal property of a bankrupt, and which are due or past due, are quasi contractual and are provable debts. Kaw Boiler Works v. Schull, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 587, 144 C. C. A. 641, L. R. A. 1916E 628.

Stipulated attorney's fees on foreclosure of mortgage.—A sale free from liens in the bankruptcy court is not the equivalent of a foreclosure by the mortgagee of the mortgage lien, which will permit the mortgage to an allowance of an attorney's fee under a stipulation in the mortgage providing for the allowance of an attorney's fee in case legal proceedings are instituted on the note or mortgage. Gügel v. New Orleans Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 676, 152 C. C. A. 510.

Breach occasioned by bankruptcy.—A claim for damages for the breach of an executory contract is a claim "founded upon a contract," within the meaning of the statute, and is provable in bankruptcy. In re Mullings Clothing Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 58, 151 C. C. A. 134, L. R. A. 1918A 539; In re Schultz, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 907.

Upon a breach of an executory contract occasioned by bankruptcy, a sum stipulated to be liquidated damages in case of a breach has been held to be provable. Board of Commerce v. Security Trust Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 454, 140 C. C. A. 486.

The filing of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against a corporation, followed by an adjudication of bankruptcy, is the equivalent of an anticipatory breach of its executory contract, where the trustee in bankruptcy does not elect to assume performance, and gives rise to a claim provable in the bankruptcy proceedings, as one "founded" "upon a contract, express or implied." Central Trust Co. v. Chicago Auditorium Ass'n, (1916) 240 U. S. 581, 36 S. Ct. 412, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 811, L. R. A. 1917B 580.

A bankruptcy court, in allowing as a provable debt a claim for damages arising out of the anticipatory breach by the bankrupt of its executory contract with a hotel company, should not limit it to the damages for the six months following such breach, although the contract reserved to the hotel company an option to revoke the privileges by giving six months' notice in writing of its election so to do, in which case both parties were to be released from further liability at the expiration of the six months. Central Trust Co. v. Chicago Auditorium Ass'n, (1916) 240 U. S. 581, 36 S. Ct. 412, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 811, L. R. A. 1917B 580.

Claims for tort.—A claim against a bailee for hire for the destruction of property in his possession although suable either in contract or tort is provable under this section. Fingold v. Schacter, (1916) 223 Mass. 274, 111 N. E. 903.

A claim for the conversion of money, founded on an implied contract to pay over any money collected, is a provable one. Sabinal Nat. Bank v. Bryant, (Tex. Civ. App. 1917) 191 S. W. 1179.

A claim for damages for the conversion of bonds and stocks has been held to be a provable debt. Pitcairn v. Scully, (1916) 252 Pa. St. 82, 97 Atl. 120.

The holder of collateral security has a special property in it which entitles him to recover its value, to the extent at least of his debt, if it be converted by the debtor. Such a liability, arising after the institution of the bankruptcy proceedings, would not, however, constitute a provable debt thereunder, and would not be affected by that law. Hardcastle v. National Clothing Co., (1917) 137 Tenn. 64, 191 S. W. 524.

A claim against stockbrokers who have repledged stock left with them as collateral is a claim provable in bankruptcy as being one founded "upon a contract express or implied." Wood v. Fisk, (1915) 215 N. Y. 233, 109 N. E. 177. Compare Pitcairn v. Scully, (1916) 252 Pa. St. 82, 97 Atl. 120.

1912 Supp., p. 765, sec. 63b.

Construction and application.—"It is thoroughly established that paragraph 'b' does not enlarge the class of debts which may be proved under paragraph a; it does, however, permit an unliquidated claim to be liquidated as the court may direct provided, always, such claim is one within the provisions of 63a." Moore v. Douglas, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230

Fed. 399, 144 C. C. A. 541, affirming (S. D. Cal. 1915) 225 Fed. 683.

This provision relates merely to procedure, and does not define an additional class of debts which are provable. In re Mullings Clothing Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 58, 151 C. C. A. 134, L. R. A. 1918A 539.

Reversed judgment.—Where a judgment in an action in a state court for breach of contract to marry has been reversed the claim is an unliquidated one. In re Martin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 184, 142 C. C. A. 540.

1912 Supp., p. 766, sec. 64a.

Construction and application.—The provisions of section 64 with relation to the payment of taxes, costs, filing fees, costs of administration, wages due to employees, and debts owing to any person entitled to priority, all pertain to the general assets of the estate, and have no relation to property which by reason of liens never became any part of the bankrupt estate. In re Hosmer, (S. D. Ia. 1916) 233 Fed. 318.

This section should be strictly construed and its benefit should not be extended so as to allow the owner of premises against which a tax has been levied to claim priority for the payment of such taxes out of the assets of a bankrupt tenant who by the terms of the lease is obligated to pay them. In re William A. Harris Steam Engine Co., (D. C. R. I. 1915) 225 Fed. 609.

This section has no reference to lien creditors, but is intended to apply only to general creditors, and should be read in connection with subsection "b" relating to debts that are to be paid in full. Bird v. Richmond, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 545, 153 C. C. A. 349.

Taxes entitled to priority.—Taxes valid under the state law are entitled to priority. Delahant v. Oklahoma County (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 31, 141 C. C. A. 139; In re United Five & Ten Cent Store, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 242 Fed. 1005.

Under this section taxes are placed in a class by themselves. They are not preferred claims against the estate; they stand ahead of preferred claims. In re Ashland Emery, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 229 Fed. 829.

If there be general assets in the estate, the taxes will be given preference "in advance of the payments of dividends to creditors," as provided by section 64a; but in the absence of a lien this is the only priority to which the claim for taxes is entitled. In re Hosmer, (S. D. Ia. 1916) 233 Fed. 318.

Taxes which are not a lien are not to be given a priority over liens. In re Hosmer, (S. D. Ia. 1916) 233 Fed. 318.

Interest.—The state clearly has the right to charge upon taxes not paid when due such interest as will make the payment, when received, equivalent to payment at the appointed time. This interest is part of the tax and entitled to priority. In re Ashland Emery, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 229 Fed. 829.

Penalty for failure to pay tax.—It cannot be said that a penalty imposed for failure to pay a tax is a part of the original tax, in the sense that interest is. A penalty, as applied to cases of this character, means a punishment imposed for failure to make the payment on time. Section 64a contains no provision for the payment of penalties; and it cannot fairly be construed to include them, especially when the estate is in course of administration during the entire period of their accrual. In re Ashland Emery, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 229 Fed. 829.

Duties on goods imported by the bankrupt are a "tax" within the meaning of this section. In re Rosenthal, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 235 Fed. 315.

Mere volunteers who pay taxes have no claim against the trustee for the amount so paid. In re Gracey, (E. D. Pa. 1917) 241 Fed. 981.

Power of court to reassess tax.—There is said to be no doubt of the power and duty of the court to reassess the tax in case objection is made, regardless of its original assessment by the proper state authority. In re Simcox, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 479. See also In re E. C. Fisher Corp., (D. C. Mass. 1915) 229 Fed. 316; In re United Five & Ten Cent Store, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 242 Fed. 1005.

1912 Supp., p. 770, sec. 64b.

Term "bankrupt estates" construed.—By the words "of estates," in section 62, supra, and "bankrupt's estates," in section 64, subsec. "b," is meant the unincumbered assets generally of a bankrupt, properly administrable in bankruptcy, as distinguished from that of the property of a bankrupt dedicated by law to the payment of a particular obligation, or upon which there is a specific lien. The last named section is intended particularly to give the order to be observed by trustees in the payment of such unincumbered estate. In re Rauch, (E. D. Va. 1915) 226 Fed. 982.

1912 Supp., p. 770, sec. 64b (1).

Claim of assignee for creditors for preserving estate.—An assignee or trustee who has in good faith protected and preserved property to the benefit of the estate of a bankrupt under an assignment or trust deed valid while he was acting under it is entitled to payment of his legitimate expenses and to compensation for his services and for the services of his attorney out of the proceeds of the property he has preserved which subsequently comes to the trustee in bankruptcy. Bramble v. Brett, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916), 230 Fed. 385, 144 C. C. A. 527. See In re Sobol, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 230 Fed. 652.

Clerk's fee.—In the order of priority established by the statute the clerk's fee takes precedence over the fees of the bankrupt's attorney, and a bankrupt cannot reverse this order by paying his attorney first and not paying the clerk at all. In re Darr, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 232 Fed. 415.

1912 Supp., p. 772, sec. 64b (3).

The term "costs of administration" to which orders of court authorizing loans to the bankrupt estate in order to enable it to complete a contract subjects such loans, has been held to cover not only court costs but to refer to all the expenses attending the execution of those orders of the court entered with reference to the furnishing of the contract asset of the bankrupt, and to include labor and material claims. In re Farley, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 378, 142 C. C. A. 74.

As to the allowance of costs in general, see In re Rauch, (E. D. Va. 1915) 226 Fed. 982.

Compensation to receiver.—Assets in the hands of the trustee are subject to reduction by paying out of the same the amount for which in equity the assets were chargeable as compensation to the receiver before they came into the hands of the trustee, and claim therefor is entitled to priority. Paine v. Archer, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 259, 147 C. C. A. 265.

Expense of appraisal.—Where an appraisal was reasonably necessary, in connection with the proper preservation and care of the property received by the assignee, the assignee, if he has paid the expense of it, should be allowed therefor in his account with the trustee. In re Cooper, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 243 Fed. 797.

Attorney's fees.—The only legal services which may be paid or secured are those directly connected with the bankruptcy proceeding. Magee v. Fox, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 395, 143 C. C. A. 515.

Receiver's certificates issued under authority of the state court are not liens on the property when it comes into the bankruptcy court which the attorney's fees allowed by law to the bankrupt cannot displace. Smith v. Shenandoah Valley Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 379, 158 C. C. A. 443.

Division of fee.—The court should not be called upon to settle differences between counsel for petitioning creditors as to what proportion of the total amount allowed each should receive. Hall v. Reynolds, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 946, 146 C. C. A. 142.

Services of counsel for trustee.—The fee should be reasonable and an excessive allowance will be reduced. In re Atkins, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 225 Fed. 639.

But it is for the trial court to determine the allowance to be made to attorneys for the trustee and the appellate courts will not reverse unless the decision is unmistakably wrong or unless a plain abuse of discretion is shown. In re Grant, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 132, 151 C. C. A. 208.

Attorneys' fees for creditors.—See In re Sage, (S. D. Ia. 1915) 225 Fed. 397; In re Williams, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 240 Fed. 788; In re Kinnane Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 769, 155 C. C. A. 357.

Attorney's fee denied.—Services rendered to bankrupt prior to bankruptcy are not included by the terms of this provision. Magee v. Fox, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 395, 143 C. C. A. 515.

Counsel fees for services in resisting adjudication if allowed at all should only be allowed in extreme cases where such action is plainly necessary to avoid great hardship and injustice. In re Murphy Boot, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1917) 242 Fed. 991.

An attorney for a voluntary bankrupt is not entitled to a fee for services in having a homestead exemption set apart for said bankrupt and attending a hearing before the referee upon objections filed by creditors to such exemption. In re Bohman, (S. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 287.

It has been held that the expense of opposing an offer of composition is not an "actual and necessary cost of preserving the estate," within this section. In re Kinnane Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 769, 155 C. C. A. 357.

The services of counsel in advising the bankrupt regarding its business during the period between the filing of the petition and the adjudication of bankruptcy, including legal services in opposing attachment and lien proceedings, are not within this section. In re Kinnane Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 769, 155 C. C. A. 357.

Effect of composition agreement.—In case of a composition the bankrupt must first pay the expenses of those who are entitled to payment out of the estate, including the allowance to the attorney for petitioning creditors, before the composition is approved, and, if necessary, the amount agreed upon by the bankrupt for his attorneys will be used to meet the expenses of the composition and of the bankruptcy proceedings. In re Miller, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 243 Fed. 242.

1912 Supp., p. 774, sec. 64b (4).

Application.—This section only relates to the distribution of assets coming into the hands of the trustee and does not apply to moneys transferred before the bankruptcy occurred. Riverside Contracting

Co. v. New York, (1916) 218 N. Y. 596, 113 N. E. 564, Ann. Cas. 1918C 1075.

Relation of master and servant contemplated.—To be entitled to priority as wages of workmen, clerk or servant the relation must be such as arises from the relation of master and servant. In re Footville Condensed Milk Co., (W. D. Wis. 1916) 237 Fed. 136.

The word servant does not include all cases where the formal relation of master and servant exists. In re All Star Feature Corp., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 251.

It means a restricted class of subordinate helpers who work for wages, but who are not salesmen, workmen, or clerks. Keyes v. Davie, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 688, 145 C. C. A. 574.

Priority in allowance of wages under Ohio Code.—See Emerson v. Castor, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 29, 149 C. C. A. 239.

The fact that the claimant's compensation was more than $1,500 per year does not of itself disentitle him to priority under this section. In re Schultz, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 907.

Who may claim wages.—Clerks.—Where under the laws of a state the owners of rented buildings have so-called "preferential" lien, and clerks, accountants, and laborers have a first lien only subordinate to the landlord's lien in the case of farm hands clerks are properly given priority. In re Woulfe, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 128, 152 C. C. A. 170.

President of corporation.—"It is clear on the authorities that the president of a corporation as such is not entitled to wages as a preferred claim under the bankruptcy act." In re Eagle Ice, etc., Co., (E. D. Pa. 1917) 241 Fed. 393. But see In re Capital Paint Co., (N. D. Cal. 1916) 239 Fed. 424.

A treasurer and director is not entitled to priority under this section. In re Boston French Range Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 916.

The secretary, general manager and superintendent of a bankrupt corporation is not a "laborer," as that word is used in state priority statute. Wintermote v. McLafferty, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 95, 147 C. C. A. 165.

General manager of business.—"Servant" does not include the general manager of a business. Keyes v. Davie, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 688, 145 C. C. A. 574.

A mining engineer who is paid $4,000 per annum to advise and assist the superintendent in developing and operating the mine is not a "workman, clerk or servant" and his earnings are not wages entitled to priority. In re Gay, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 233 Fed. 604.

An actress commanding $5,000 for a four weeks' engagement is not a workman or servant within the meaning of this provision. In re All Star Feature Corp., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 251.

Wife of bankrupt.—Where the statutes of a state do not deny the right of the wife to contract with the husband for services rendered outside of her marital duties, a claim by her for wages for such services has been held to have priority. In re Davidson, (M. D. Ala. 1916) 233 Fed. 462.

Assignee of wage claim.—A person who has cashed checks given by the bankrupt to his workmen is an assignee and stands in the shoes of his assignor and is entitled to priority in payment. In re Stultz, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 989.

Effect of reducing claim to judgment.—In the case of In re Haskell, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 228 Fed. 819, it is held, although it is said the question seems to be unsettled, that the priority given to claims for wages by this section is not lost by taking judgment on the claim before the institution of bankruptcy proceedings.

Order of priority—Preference or lien under state statutes.—In Lott v. Salsbury, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 191, 150 C. C. A. 337, it was held that a lien given a landlord for rent is entitled to priority over the claims of clerks.

1912 Supp., p. 777, sec. 64b (5).

Priorities accorded by state or federal laws.—Claims entitled to priority under state laws will also be entitled to priority in bankruptcy proceedings. Louisville Woolen Mills v. Johnson, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 606, 143 C. C. A. 128.

If a petitioner is entitled to "priority" by the laws of Porto Rico in respect of his debt, in the sense in which this section uses the term, the debt is within the provisions of this section. In re Vidal, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 733, 147 C. C. A. 499. See Gandia v. Cadierno, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 739, 147 C. C. A. 505.

Order of priority.—"The bankruptcy law does not undertake to displace or invalidate bona fide liens upon the property of the bankrupt. It declares null and void liens that were given or accepted in fraud of the bankruptcy law, but all liens given or accepted in good faith and not in contemplation of bankruptcy nor in fraud of the bankruptcy act are entitled to recognition and payment in accordance with the law creating them." Lott v. Salsbury, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 191, 150 C. C. A. 337.

Landlord's right to priority.—A priority accorded the landlord by state laws will be recognized and enforced in the bankruptcy court. In re W. R. Kuhn Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 13, 140 C. C. A. 473; Hattiesburg Bank v. Carter, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 127, 146 C. C. A. 319; In re Braus, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 835; In re Gerrow, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 233 Fed. 845.

Where the statutes of a state give the landlord a specific lien upon any goods on the leased premises for rent it has been held that the claim of the landlord for the rent of the premises in which the bankrupt was conducting his business is superior to and entitled to priority over the claims of clerks for salary for the three months immediately preceding bankruptcy. Lott v. Salsbury, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 191, 150 C. C. A. 337.

The priority of liens as between mortgage lienholders and a landlord is determined by state laws. Pretorius v. Anderson, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 723, 150 C. C. A. 55.

If the landlord is not entitled to priority under the state law he is not entitled to priority under the bankrupt law. In re Spies-Alper Co., (D. C. N. J. 1916) 231 Fed. 535.

Priority provided for decedent's estate.—Where by the laws of a state a direction by a testator in his will that his debts be paid serves to charge such debts on his realty, the fact that some of the decedent's creditors did business with the bankrupt executrix of his estate and received payment on account thereof, as well as on their claims against testator, and that some of the payments were made by her as executrix, does not change the status of these creditors with respect to the priority of their claims against decedent's property. In re McAusland, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 235 Fed. 173.

Equitable rights.—If a petitioner claims to have a lien upon the funds in the hands of the trustees superior to the right of any other creditors to have their claims paid out of such funds, it is entitled in a proper proceeding to have such contention heard and determined before payment of such claim is actually made. In re O'Gara Coal Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 883, 149 C. C. A. 195.

Misappropriation by bankrupt.—Where the trustee contends that the fact that appellee filed an unsecured claim for the amount in controversy, which was allowed and on which it received a dividend, without asserting any right of priority, operates as an estoppel against its now asserting any such priority, it has been held that the estoppel cannot be sustained in the absence of a showing in the record that the trustee was in any way induced to change his position by the act of appellee, or that he has paid out funds for costs or dividends that he would have retained for the satisfaction of the appellee's prior claim, had he been advised it was to be asserted, or that the trustee was injured by delay in asserting the alleged priority of appellee's claim in the way of making his proof or otherwise.

Wuerpel v. Commercial Germania Trust, etc., Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 238 Fed. 269, 151 C. C. A. 285.

1912 Supp., p. 781, sec. 65a.

Effect of oral promise by stockholder to pay creditor.—The fact that a stockholder who is also a creditor of a bankrupt corporation orally promised that the indebtedness to another creditor should be paid does not create any estoppel on the part of the stockholder from receiving dividends on an equality with such creditor. Moise v. Scheibel, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 546, 157 C. C. A. 658.

Valid liens remain undisturbed.—See to same effect as original annotation, Browning v. Gray, (1917) 137 Tenn. 70, 191 S. W. 525; Sullivan v. Myer, (1917) 137 Tenn. 412, 193 S. W. 124.

The state law governs.—In re Roberts, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 227 Fed. 177.

Chattel mortgages.—Validity of such mortgages is determined by state laws. In re Roberts, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 227 Fed. 177.

Mechanics' and kindred liens.—A mechanic's lien if ineffective under state liens will not be given priority. Varnier v. New Hampshire Sav. Bank, (1916) 240 U. S. 617, 36 S. Ct. 409, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 828.

Mechanics' liens are not liens created by or obtained in or pursuant to any suit or proceeding at law or in equity. Nor are they liens obtained through legal proceedings. They are liens created by statute, and by the act of the lienholders pursuant to the statute, without suits or legal proceedings, and paragraphs 67c-67f of the Bankruptcy Law cited are inapplicable to them. Kemp Lumber Co. v. Howard, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 574, 150 C. C. A. 456.

Materialmen's liens.—In Louisville Woolen Mills v. Tapp, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 463, 152 C. C. A. 341, a materialman's lien was held under the state statutes to be superior to the landlord's lien.

Landlord's liens.—Liens given a landlord under the laws of a state will be recognized and enforced in bankruptcy.

1912 Supp., p. 792, sec. 67e.

Distinction between remedies under sections 60b and 67e.—"The provisions of sections 60b and 67e, supra, disclose a wide difference as to what is required to show liability. To establish a liability under the former section no actual fraud need be shown. The section merely condemns a transfer by bankrupt within four months for the purpose of creating a preference, providing the party receiving the transfer has reasonable cause to believe that a preference was intended. The legal remedy is entirely adequate, and no relief is offered in equity that the law does not afford. To establish a liability under section 67e actual fraud must be shown, and suits under that provision are peculiarly within the cognizance of and should be entertained by the equity court." Simpson v. Western Hardware, etc., Co., (W. D. Wash. 1915) 227 Fed. 304.

Intent to hinder, delay or defraud essential.—See to the same effect as original annotation, Johnson v. Barrett, (N. D. Ga. 1916) 237 Fed. 112.

Mortgage given before not recorded until within four months.—Where a complaint in action to set aside a conveyance alleges that there was no change of possession of the property, but that it remained in the open and notorious possession of the grantor, that the deed was withheld from record for the purpose of enabling the grantor to obtain credit upon his reputed and apparent ownership, and that such credit was obtained, it has been held that if these allegations are established the plaintiff trustee is entitled to the relief he seeks. Manders v. Wilson, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 878, 149 C. C. A. 190, Ann. Cas. 1918A 1052.

A part payment on a debt barred by statute of limitations recreates the obligation and the promise thereby arising falls within the term "incumbrance" as used in this section. In re Salmon, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 239 Fed. 413.

Bona fide purchasers protected.—See to the same effect as original annotation, Grandison v. Robertson, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 785, 145 C. C. A. 605; Chambers v. Continental Trust Co., (S. D. Ga. 1916) 235 Fed. 441.

In an action to set aside a conveyance this section does not require proof of insolvency, as is the case with suits to recover voidable preferences, or to invalidate transfers held null by the laws of a state. Senft v. Lewis, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 116, 152 C. C. A. 158.

Extent of relief.—Where relief is sought by the trustee under this section it may extend to the extinguishment of the lien created, as having been so created for the purpose of hindering, delaying and defrauding creditors. Johnstone v. Babb, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 668, 153 C. C. A. 466.

1912 Supp., p. 797, sec. 67f.

I. Annulment of liens generally.

III. Judgment liens.

IV. Attachment and garnishment liens.

I. ANNULMENT OF LIENS GENERALLY (p. 798)

Purpose of statute.—It was the intention of Congress and the legal effect of this section to grant to the courts of bankruptcy the power to effect an avoidance in summary proceedings of liens of the character there specified, obtained against persons who were insolvent at the respective times the liens were obtained, and those only, and that the insolvency of the person at the time the lien is acquired is an indispensable condition of the existence and of the exercise of the power. Stone-Ordean-Wells Co. v. Mark, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 975, 142 C. C. A. 433.

This section relates merely to levies, judgments, attachments, and liens which are acquired through legal proceedings, and does not affect contractual liens or quasi-contractual lines or rights, except perhaps as to matters of procedure. Gray v. Arnot, (1915) 31 N. D. 461, 154 N. W. 268.

Under this section those liens only are excepted which are established against a debtor not insolvent at their date. Mowbray Pearson Co. v. Pershall, (1916) 92 Wash. 516, 159 Pac. 682.

Landlord's lien.—In Bird v. Richmond, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 545, 153 C. C. A. 349, it is held that the landlord's lien is not a lien created through legal proceedings, though perfected by levying a distress warrant. See also In re Mossler Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 262, 152 C. C. A. 250.

Where under the state law a vendor's lien is created as of the date of the contract of sale, a decree in a proceeding to enforce such lien, though rendered within the four months' period, is not subject to the provisions of this section. Farrell v. Wysong, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 281.

III. JUDGMENT LIENS (p. 800)

Judgment liens.—Where there is no order for the preservation of the lien of the judgment for the benefit of the estate, such lien is by this section rendered null and void. Finney v. Knapp Co., (1916) 145 Ga. 400, 89 S. E. 413. See also Dreyer v. Kicklighter, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 228 Fed. 744.

In Harvard v. Davis, (1916) 145 Ga. 580, 89 S. E. 740, where a borrower of money executes a deed to secure the debt and receives a bond for title as provided in Ga. Civ. Code 1910, § 3306, and suit is instituted for a general judgment and to subject the property to payment of the debt, as provided in Ga. Civ. Code 1910, § 6037, and within four months next after rendition of the judgment, but more than four months after the debt and record of the security deed, the debtor is adjudged a bankrupt upon his voluntary petition in bankruptcy, it was held that the judgment was not invalid under this section.

Execution liens acquired within four months are invalid. In re Fitzhugh Hall Amusement Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 811, 145 C. C. A. 121.

An execution lien which has become dormant may be revived by direction to the sheriff to proceed with the sale, and where this is done it becomes prior to any liens acquired subsequent thereto. The revival is not a revival of the lien but of its priority. In re Zeis, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 737, 158 C. C. A. 139.

Where judgment liens are void under this section it follows that levies made of executions issued on the judgments and sales made by virtue thereof are also void. Dreyer v. Kicklighter, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 228 Fed. 744.

IV. ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT LIENS (p. 801)

Attachment and garnishment liens.—As to a lien created by attachment, see Yumet v. Delgado, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 519, 156 C. C. A. 217.

Attachment liens within the four months are rendered void. In re Southern Arizona Smelting Co., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 87, 145 C. C. A. 275.

1912 Supp., p. 805, sec. 68a.

Mutual debts and credits may be set off. Clifford v. Oak Valley Mills Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 229 Fed. 851; Roger v. J. B. Levert Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 737, 150 C. C. A. 491.

The credits do not adjust themselves automatically. In re American Paper Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 790.

Any set-off or counterclaim must come within the provisions of this section. In re Neaderthal, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 38, 140 C. C. A. 364, so holding where a creditor of a bankrupt firm owed a debt to one of the partners.

Where a payment has been made to a creditor under such circumstances as to constitute it an illegal preference, he is not entitled to have a debt owing to him from the bankrupt set off against the payment so made. Rotan Grocery Co. v. West, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 685, 158 C. C. A. 641.

Set-off between bank and depositor.—A bank which is a creditor of one who has a sum on deposit to his credit, and which has knowledge of the depositor's insolvency, is entitled to apply the same on its claim as a set-off prior to bankruptcy proceedings. Wichita Fourth Nat. Bank v. Smith, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 240 Fed. 19, 153 C. C. A. 55; American Bank v. Johnson, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 312, 157 C. C. A. 504.

Whether the bank charges off the deposit of its customer and applies it on the indebtedness which it holds against the customer, or whether it draws a check in the name of the customer covering his deposit and applies it as a credit on the indebtedness, or whether it does neither of these things, but appeals to the law to do the same thing in effect, makes no difference as a legal proposition. Wilson v. Citizens' Trust Co., (S. D. Ga. 1916) 233 Fed. 697.

As against a primary debt due to a bank on a note which is provable in bankruptcy, the bank has the right to use deposits and also any obligations or securities which are in its hands for future collection, and without a specific agreement to apply them for the purpose of third parties. In re Friedman, (E. D. N. Y. 1917) 241 Fed. 603.

Set-off of deposit not reference.—See to same effect as original annotation, German-American State Bank v. Larimer, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 501, 149 C. C. A. 47; Putnam v. U. S. Trust Co., (1916) 223 Mass. 199, 111 N. E. 969; Dunlap v. Seattle Nat. Bank, (1916) 93 Wash. 568, 161 Pac. 364.

Set-off of judgment against interest on mortgage.—A judgment purchased by the mortgagor may be set off against the interest due on the mortgage where it appears that the judgment was not purchased with a view to a set-off nor after the filing of the petition, or within four months before such filing, with a view to such use and with knowledge or notice that the bankrupt was insolvent or had committed an act of bankruptcy. In re Colwell Lead Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 241 Fed. 922.

Unpaid stock subscriptions due an insolvent corporation are not subjects of set-off against ordinary claims held by the subscribers against the corporation. In re La Jolla Lumber, etc., Co., (S. D. Cal. 1917) 243 Fed. 1004.

The trustee of a bankrupt succeeds to the bankrupt's title to corporate stock and has the bankrupt's rights and remedies as respects dividends which have been declared or which ought to have been declared. In re Brantman, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 101, 156 C. C. A. 529.

Title of trustee is subject to existing equities.—In re Reading Hat Mfg. Co., (E. D. Pa. 1915) 224 Fed. 786; Charles Roesch, etc., Co. v. Mumford, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 56, 144 C. C. Liens invalid as to creditors.—"It was clearly the intention of Congress in adopting the amendment of 1910 to paragraph 47, cl. A, of the Bankruptcy Act, that thereafter the trustee should not stand in the shoes of the bankrupt with regard to unrecorded liens depending for their validity upon registration, and that, as to the general creditors, such liens should be void." In re Collins, (E. D. La. 1916) 235 Fed. 937.

III. TIME WHEN TITLE PASSES (p. 813)

Effect of commencement of proceedings.

—The title of the trustee in bankruptcy is fixed as of the time of filing the petition. Arnold v. Horrigan, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 39, 151 C. C. A. 115; In re Continental Coal Corp., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 113, 151 C. C. A. 189.

Property in custodia legis.—From the time of the filing of the petition the property of the bankrupt is in custodia legis. Friedlander's Petition, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 250, 147 C. C. A. 256; Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co. v. Wills, (1916) 240 U. S. 642, 36 S. Ct. 466, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 841.

Effect of adjudication.—Title passes to trustee as of date of adjudication. In re Progressive Wall Paper Corp., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 489, 143 C. C. A. 557, L. R. A. 1916E 563; In re Louis Neuburger, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 701.

The rights of a trustee in bankruptcy in the debtor's property as of the date of adjudication are at least as great as those of an assignee in possession. In re Howe, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 908.

V. BURDENSOME PROPERTY (p. 816)

Acceptance optional with trustee—

Generally.—"It is undisputed that a trustee in bankruptcy is under no obligation to accept a patent license burdened with executory obligations. It is, in this respect, like other property rights belonging to the bankrupt, whether resulting from a grant or conveyance coupled with executory obligations, like a lease of real or personal property, or from a purely executory agreement." In re Wisconsin Engine Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 281, 148 C. C. A. 183.

VI. EXEMPT PROPERTY (p. 817)

Title remains in bankrupt.—Title to exempt property remains in bankrupt and does not vest in trustee. In re Brown, (W. D. Ky. 1915) 228 Fed. 533; In re French, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 255; In re Vonhee, (W. D. Wash. 1916) 238 Fed. 422; In re Auge, (D. C. Mont. 1916) 238 Fed. 621; Norwood v. Watson, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 885, 155 C. C. A. 473; Watters v. Hedgpeth, (1916) 172 N. C. 310, 90 S. E. 314.

While it is true that title to exempt property does not pass to the trustee yet it is said that he has what may be termed a defeasible title and that he has temporary dominion over such property until the exemptions are made after which the title of the bankrupt becomes superior to that of the trustee and absolute. In re Vonhee, (W. D. Wash. 1916) 238 Fed. 422. See also In re Auge, (D. C. Mont. 1916) 238 Fed. 621.

Of "exempt property a certain amount of control, but not title, passes to the bankrupt's trustee, only for orderly administration and to set it aside to the bankrupt. . . . If there are creditors against whom the exemption fails, it is by reason of state law, and they are left to work out their remedy in the state court. The property is still set aside as exempt by the trustee, since he has not title; and as of the bankrupt's estate it is not administered in the bankruptcy court." In re Auge, (D. C. Mont. 1916) 238 Fed. 620.

Homesteads.—Federal homestead lands.

—Title to such lands passes to the trustee where under state law they are only exempt as to debts prior to patent and there are debts subsequent thereto. In re Auge, (D. C. Mont. 1916) 238 Fed. 621.

VII. RECLAMATION PROCEEDINGS (p. 818)

Right to reclaim.—The owner, other than the bankrupt, of property in the possession of the trustee may recover the same in some appropriate proceeding. In re Midland Motor Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 368, 140 C. C. A. 54; In re Pierson, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 889; In re National Home, etc., Supply Co., (E. D. Mich. 1915) 226 Fed. 840; In re New York Commercial Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 120, 142 C. C. A. 526; In re Bondurant Hardware Co., (N. D. Ga. 1916) 231 Fed. 247; In re Thomas, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 231 Fed. 513; McElwain-Barton Shoe Co. v. Bassett, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 889, 146 C. C. A. 85; In re Inter-ocean Transp. Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 863, 148 C. C. A. 461; Mitchell Wagon Co. v. Poole, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 817, 149 C. C. A. 129; In re Wright, etc., Drug Co., (W. D. Ga. 1916) 237 Fed. 411; In re Kaplan, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 459, 154 C. C. A. 291; In re Collins, (M. D. Ala. 1917) 242 Fed. 975; In re Sutton, (E. D. Mich. 1917) 244 Fed. 872; Jones v. H. M. Hobbie Grocery Co., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 431, 158 C. C. A. 495; In re Aboudara, (N. D. Cal. 1917) 246 Fed. 469.

Where a client furnishes a broker with funds on the agreement by the latter to buy certain shares of stock for him and apply the payment made to the purchase, and he does not buy the stock, but has the money in his possession when he goes into bankruptcy, no right to retain such money was created by his going into bankruptcy, and consequently no right passed to the broker's trustee. In re Wettengel, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 238 Fed. 798, 151 C. C. A. 648.

Where property claimed has been taken and used by the trustee and the claimant proves his right thereto he may be allowed the fair value of the property. Smith Wallace Shoe Co. v. Ternes, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 282, 148 C. C. A. 642.

The fact that a bankrupt bank converted and dissipated the proceeds of a note collection does not operate to give the owner of the note a lien upon or right to priority of payment from the general assets of the bankrupt, to the prejudice of its general creditors. Macy v. Roedenbeck, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 346, 142 C. C. A. 42, L. R. A. 1916C 12.

Where partnership assets are used by one partner to pay his individual debt without the consent of his copartners, the nonconsenting partner has the right to recover the property, and in case of bankruptcy, the trustee has the same right. A trustee in bankruptcy becomes vested with all the property rights of the bankrupt, and he is empowered to recover any property which the bankrupt could recover in order that it may be applied to the payment of his debts. Ryan v. Cavanagh, (S. D. Ia. 1916) 238 Fed. 604.

The burden of proof rests on the claimant.—Schroth v. Monarch Fence Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 549, 144 C. C. A. 9; In re Hunter-Rand Co., (E. D. N. C. 1917) 241 Fed. 175.

Reclamation precluded by act of claimant.—Filing and proving claim is binding as an election. In re Kaplan, (M. D. Pa. 1916) 236 Fed. 260.

II. INTERESTS IN REAL PROPERTY, ETC. (p. 824)

A desert entry under the laws of the United States is property which can be transferred within the meaning of this section, although final proof has not yet been made. In re Evans, (D. C. Idaho 1916) 235 Fed. 956.

Vested remainder passes to trustee.—In re Dorgan, (S. D. Ia. 1916) 237 Fed. 507.

Encumbered property.—This section does not mean that the status of the mortgagee is exactly that of the mortgagor for all purposes. In some particulars his rights are greater. The mortgagee, however, is the virtual owner of the land and entitled to the rents. In re Dooner, (D. C. N. J. 1917) 243 Fed. 984.

III. PLEDGES (p. 826)

Where life insurance policies have been pledged although they pass to the trustee they are subject to the indebtedness for which they were pledged and it is proper that the trustee in bankruptcy be directed on the delivery to him by the claimants of the two policies for that purpose, to receive from the bankrupt or collect from the insurance company such surrender value and apply the proceeds to the payment of the indebtedness of the bankrupt to them. In re Baird, (D. C. Del. 1917) 245 Fed. 504.

IV. CONDITIONAL SALES (p. 828)

Goods sold for purpose of resale.—A nominal understanding between seller and purchaser as to payment and title not intended to be acted on unless the bankrupt gets into financial difficulties has been held fraudulent as to creditors and invalid as against the trustee. In re Aronson, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 207.

In the following cases title goods sold on consignment contract was held to vest in trustee. In re Reeves, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 227 Fed. 711; In re Stoughton Wagon Co., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 676, 145 C. C. A. 562; Walter A. Wood Mowing, etc., Mach. Co. v. Croll, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 679, 145 C. C. A. 565.

If the sale is valid and binding in all respects the vendor may exercise the right to reclaim the property. In re I. S. Remson Mfg. Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 594, 146 C. C. A. 552; In re Hamil, (W. D. N. Y. 1916) 236 Fed. 292; Ewart v. Squire, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 239 Fed. 34, 152 C. C. A. 84; Shook v. Levi, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 121, 153 C. C. A. 157.

The burden of proving that a sale was conditional rests on the one affirming it. In re Farmers' Dairy Ass'n, (S. D. Cal. 1916) 234 Fed. 118; Shook v. Levi, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 121, 153 C. C. A. 157.

V. TRUST FUNDS AND DEPOSITS (p. 830)

Where bankrupt is beneficiary.—The interest of a bankrupt in a trust fund which was capable of transfer at institution of proceedings passes to trustee. Pollack v. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 861, 147 C. C. A. 535.

Where a testator bequeathed a certain sum in trust to pay the income to his son, during his life, with a remainder over to others, subject to the "wish . . . that . . . my said son shall have the principal of said trust fund whenever he shall become financially solvent and able to pay all his just debts and liabilities from resources other than the principal of this trust fund," it was held that on payment of the sum to the son after the latter's discharge in bankruptcy the trustee acquired no right thereto. Hull v. Farmers' Loan, etc., Co., (1917) 245 U. S. 312, 38 S. Ct. 103, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

The equitable life interest of the beneficiary in a trust created by a bequest of a fund to a trustee to pay the entire net income thereof to the beneficiary for life "free from the interference or control of her creditors" does not pass to her trustee in bankruptcy, where the local law treats such restrictions against interference or control by creditors as limiting the character of the equitable property, and inherent in it. Eaton v. Boston Safe Deposit, etc., Co., (1916) 240 U. S. 427, 36 S. Ct. 391, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 723.

Burden of proof.—Where a company in whose store complainant conducted a department agreed to keep the proceeds of the complainant's sales "in trust" for the latter's benefit, it has been held that the burden of proof is upon the complainant to clearly trace the proceeds of said sales into "some specific fund or property" in the hands of the trustee in bankruptcy. In re A. D. Matthews' Sons, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 785, 151 C. C. A. 635.

VII. SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR STOCK (p. 832)

Trustee may recover stock subscriptions.—Kelley v. Aarons, (S. D. Cal. 1917) 238 Fed. 996.

Where the state laws and decisions do not give a right of action to recover from stockholders who have not paid in full for their stock, no right to recover vests in the trustee. In re Huffman-Salvar Roofing Paint Co., (N. D. Ala. 1916) 234 Fed. 798; Courtney v. Croxton, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 247, 152 C. C. A. 235.

The claims of stockholders who have loaned money to the corporation will not, where there is no suggestion that they are not financially responsible, be postponed until the collection of assessments on unpaid stock subscriptions has been had and other creditors paid in full. Courtney v. Croxton, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 247, 152 C. C. A. 235.

Bona fide purchaser of voting trust certificates not the original subscribers, who have purchased in the open market have a right to rely on statements in the certificates that the stock is fully paid and are not liable for an unpaid balance thereon. Clark v. Johnson, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 442, 157 C. C. A. 604.

When the assessment on unpaid stock subscriptions is to be ascertained no dividends should be paid to a stockholder of such stock until the assessment is fully paid, but in case it is paid then the claim should be allowed and share equally in the payment of dividends with those of the same class. Moise v. Scheibel, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 546, 157 C. C. A. 658.

The amount of the assessment to be levied upon stock which has not been fully paid can only be determined in a proceeding brought by the trustee. Moise v. Scheibel, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 546, 157 C. C. A. 658.

Jurisdiction.—A suit to enforce the collection of unpaid stock subscriptions is properly brought on the equity side of the court. Kelley v. Aarons, (S. D. Cal. 1917) 238 Fed. 996.

The action of the bankruptcy court is conclusive, so far as the necessity of an assessment against any unpaid stock that may exist is concerned, and also as to the rate of the assessment, but beyond these facts the stockholder is not concluded by the action of the bankruptcy court. He is entitled, in the action brought by the trustee in bankruptcy to collect this assessment, to show that the stock upon which he has been assessed was not assessable because it was fully paid up when he acquired it, or if it were not, that that fact was not known to him when he purchased it, or any other defense which he may have upon the merits. Enright v. Heckscher, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 863, 153 C. C. A. 549.

VIII. MEMBERSHIP IN STOCK EXCHANGE (p. 832)

Membership in a board of trade is property which passes to the trustee. Board of Trade v. Weston, (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 332, 156 C. C. A. 112.

IX. CONTRACTUAL INTERESTS AND OBLIGATIONS (p. 833)

"Creditors participating in the distribution."—Creditors in respect to whose claims the court has ordered that the claim of each "be wholly withdrawn from said bankruptcy proceeding and expunged from the list of claims upon the record in this case and excluded from participating in the distribution of the estate . . . of the bankrupt," do not come within the meaning of this clause. Andrews v. Nix, (1918) 246 U. S. 273, 38 S. Ct. 249, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

When property traceable.—"Cash is never traced by showing that it went into the general estate." In re A. D. Matthews' Sons, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 785, 151 C. C. A. 635.

Contract invalid as to lien creditors.—Seller has no remedy where contract invalid because not properly executed or recorded. In re M. L. B. Sturkey Co., (W. D. S. C. 1915) 224 Fed. 251; In re Kruse, (N. D. Ia. 1916) 234 Fed. 470; Citizens' Coal, etc., Co. v. Custard, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 425, 157 C. C. A. 51.

Fire insurance policy.—Right of trustee to proceeds of fire insurance policy as against mortgagees, see In re Stucky Trucking, etc., Co., (D. C. N. J. 1917) 240 Fed. 427.

1912 Supp., p. 835, sec. 70a (5).

[Policy of insurance.]

An industrial policy payable to the executors or administrators only at the discretion of the insurer does not pass to the trustee. In re Gannon, (S. D. N. Y. 1917) 241 Fed. 733.

Policies not payable to bankrupt or his estate or personal representatives.—This section applies only when an insurance policy has a cash surrender value, payable to the bankrupt, his estate, or personal representatives, and a policy payable to the wife, in which is reserved no right to change the beneficiary, does not pass to the trustee. In re Majors, (D. C. Ore. 1917) 241 Fed. 538; In re Fetterman, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 243 Fed. 975.

Exempt policies do not pass.—In re Flanigan, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 339; In re Cohen, (S. D. Ga. 1916) 230 Fed. 733; Frederick v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., (W. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 639; In re Rosenberg-Oldstein Co., (E. D. La. 1916) 236 Fed. 812; In re Fetterman, (N. D. Ohio 1917) 243 Fed. 975.

When the insured has died, and the beneficiary has furnished due proof and made timely demand for the contracted sum, the company, "without notice of any character as to any adverse claim thereto," is not only justified, but contractually bound, to pay the money to her. Having done so, having fulfilled its promises, it is entitled to a surrender of the contract it has fully and in good faith fulfilled. Such being the case it is manifest that the trustee has no legal right to again collect the whole amount of this policy from the company. Frederick v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 125, 152 C. C. A. 167.

Effect of right to change beneficiary.—See to same effect as original annotation, Cohen v. Samuels, (1917) 245 U. S. 50, 36 S. Ct. 36, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —, reversing (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 796, 151 C. C. A. 38; In re Shoemaker, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 225 Fed. 329; In re Bonvillain, (E. D. La. 1916) 232 Fed. 370; Malone v. Cohn, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 882, 150 C. C. A. 144. Compare In re Arkin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 947, 146 C. C. A. 143.

Where there is nothing more than the naming of the wife as beneficiary, and this is revocable by the husband, there the trustee may surrender the policy and receive the surrender value, and he does not lose this right unless paid an equivalent sum. If, however, there had been a bona fide assignment to the wife of the whole policy, including the right to the cash surrender value as well as the insurance moneys; and a fortiori, if the assignment has been for value, or before any debts were contracted by the husband, so that the policy was the property of the wife, the trustee could not surrender the policy or successfully claim its surrender value. In re Flanigan, (E. D. Pa. 1915) 228 Fed. 339.

Question of fact.—Question of title, in reclamation proceedings, is one of fact. In re Aronson, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 207.

1912 Supp., p. 839, sec. 70b.

I. Appraisal of property.

II. Sales.

I. APPRAISAL OF PROPERTY (p. 839)

"An appraisal in bankruptcy is an estimate of the value of the bankrupt estate made by three disinterested persons. The appraisers are officers of the court and are selected with an especial regard to their fitness to give an opinion upon the value of the particular property comprising the estate." Jacobsohn v. Larkey, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 538, 157 C. C. A. 650, L. R. A. 1918C 1176.

The purpose of the appraisement.—In this connection it has been said: "It seems to me that when property is to be administered through the bankruptcy court, it is highly desirable to have a reliable inventory at the earliest possible date; and I think this is especially true where receivers are operating a business. An official inventory which is not to be relied on involves obvious possibilities of danger, and may be worse than useless. In assuming that they were to make a careful and accurate inventory, the appraisers were right; and they are to be paid on that basis." In re Mills Tea, etc., Co., (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 812.

II. SALES (p. 840)

Manner of selling assets.—The power to sell is under the direction of the court.—The trustee can only sell in accordance with the authority given by law. In re Eden Musee American Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 925.

A sale through proceedings in bankruptcy is a judicial sale, subject to the same rules as an auction. The bidder may withdraw his bid at any time before the hammer falls. In re Glas-Shipt Dairy Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 122, 152 C. C. A. 164.

Sale of assets free of incumbrances may be ordered. In re Whiteside, (N. D. Ga. 1916) 230 Fed. 937; In re West, (M. D. Pa. 1916) 232 Fed. 903.

When a lienholder accepts service of a petition to sell property free from liens such acceptance operates as a consent that it be sold on such terms. Gugel v. New Orleans Nat. Bank, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 676, 152 C. C. A. 510.

A mortgagee, who stands by and without objection or demand for the mortgaged property knowingly permits a court order sale by a trustee in bankruptcy for less than the amount of the secured debt, will be limited in his preferred claim to the proceeds of the sale. Furthermore, even if a mortgagee knows nothing of the bankruptcy, the sale, or the order, his recovery would be limited to the actual value of the property sold. In re States Printing Co., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 245, 154 C. C. A. 165.

Setting aside sale—Inadequacy of price.—"The rule is that mere inadequacy of price is not a sufficient ground for setting aside a judicial sale; but when the inadequacy is so great as in itself to raise a presumption of fraud or to shock the conscience of the court, it becomes gross inadequacy, and is a sufficient ground." Jacobsohn v. Larkey, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 538, 157 C. C. A. 650, L. R. A. 1918C 1176.

A contract of sale entered into by a corporation before bankruptcy will not be set aside for mere inadequacy of consideration where it would result in expensive litigation, involving delay and loss to the estate. In re Copiag-Linden-hurst Co., (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 240 Fed. 431.

Confirmation of sale involves exercise of judicial discretion. In re Finks, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 92, 139 C. C. A. 648.

"When in a given case a price is grossly inadequate and when upon that ground confirmation should be refused, are matters within the judgment and discretion of the tribunal ordering the sale. When a trial tribunal orders a judicial sale subject to its confirmation under authority expressly requiring of it the exercise of discretion in approving or setting aside the sale, an appellate tribunal will not reverse its discretion by substituting its own nor will it otherwise disturb or interfere with its exercise so long as it does not amount to an abuse of discretion." Jacobsohn v. Larkey, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 538, 157 C. C. A. 650, L. R. A. 1918C 1176.

An order directing the trustee to sell all his right, title and interest in the estate of the bankrupt is not subject to objection by an adverse claimant. In re Vanoscope Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 445, 157 C. C. A. 71.

Nunc pro tunc order.—An order of confirmation will not be treated nunc pro tunc of an earlier date where it would result in injustice. In re Finks, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 92, 139 C. C. A. 648.

1912 Supp., p. 844, sec. 70e.

Power conferred on trustee.—Trustees may impeach or set aside any fraudulent act or transaction of the bankrupt or assert any right which the creditor might have asserted. Stellwagen v. Clum, (1918)

245 U. S. 605, 38 S. Ct. 215, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) 252; In re Webb Co., (E. D. Pa. 1915) 224 Fed. 258; Cardozo v. Brooklyn Trust Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 333, 142 C. C. A. 625; In re Progressive Wall Paper Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 489, 143 C. C. A. 557, L. R. A. 1916E 563; Owens v. Daniel, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 101, 144 C. C. A. 399; In re Progressive Wall Paper Corp., (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 230 Fed. 171; Manders v. Wilson, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 878, 149 C. C. A. 190, Ann. Cas. 1918A 1052; Memphis First Nat. Bank v. Towner, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 433, 152 C. C. A. 311; Edison Electric Illuminating Co. v. Tibbetts, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 468, 154 C. C. A. 300; McGill v. Commercial Credit Co., (D. C. Md. 1917) 243 Fed. 637; Angle v. Bankers' Surety Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 401, 157 C. C. A. 27.

Power is conferred upon a trustee to recover all the property transferred in fraud of creditors, although such recovery may result in the possession by the trustee of property in excess of the entire indebtedness of the bankrupt. Davis v. Gates, (M. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 192.

The trustee may sue for tortious injuries inflicted upon the estate property intermediate the petition and the adjudication, as to hold otherwise would be to say that the estate may be destroyed with impunity. Arnold v. Horriggan, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 39, 151 C. C. A. 115.

The trustee can act for all the creditors in asserting their rights to liens upon property coming into his custody by legal or equitable proceedings. Sanborn-Cutting Co. v. Paine, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 672, 157 C. C. A. 120.

It is to be assumed in the absence of proof to the contrary that the trustee as representing creditors has been injured by a conveyance executed by the bankrupt in fraud of his creditors, but it is not necessary that the extent to which he has been so injured should be equal to the entire value of the property conveyed. Davis v. Gates, (M. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 192.

Where a check was delivered by the bankrupt before but not paid until after petition and adjudication it was held that the trustee was entitled to recover the amount of the check, the delivery of the check not operating as an assignment or segregation of the funds on deposit, nor impressing those funds with any trust in favor of the payee. In re Howe, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 235 Fed. 908.

Transfer which any creditor "might have avoided."—The provision that "a trustee may avoid any transfer by the bankrupt of his property which any creditor of such bankrupt might have avoided," etc., this means "which any creditor might have avoided" under the laws of the state where the transaction occurred. Manders v. Wilson, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 230 Fed. 536.

Bill in equity.—Trustee may file bill in equity to recover property which has been fraudulently transferred by the bankrupt. Davis v. Gates, (M. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 192.

Bona fide transactions are excepted.—Brent v. Simpson, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 285, 151 C. C. A. 301.

Pleading.—A trustee in a suit to set aside a conveyance by a bankrupt is entitled to the relief sought where the petition alleges that there was no change of possession of the property, but that it remained in the open and notorious possession of the grantor, that the deed was withheld from record for the purpose of enabling the grantor to obtain credit upon his reputed and apparent ownership, and that such credit was obtained. Manders v. Wilson, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 878, 149 C. C. A. 190, Ann. Cas. 1918A 1052.

1912 Supp., p. 846, sec. 70e.

[Jurisdiction.]

A court of bankruptcy has summary jurisdiction of a proceeding by the trustee to compel a third person to turn over to him property in the latter's possession and which is alleged to belong to the bankrupt's estates where the sole question is one of law. In re Midtown Contracting Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 238 Fed. 871.

1912 Supp., p. 847, sec. 70f.

After a composition has been confirmed the receiver has no right to receive any property as the property of the bankrupt and a pledgee of such property has no right to turn it over to the receiver; nor has the bankruptcy court jurisdiction to pass on claims made by third parties to any property thereafter turned over. In re Hollins, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 787, 151 C. C. A. 637.

1912 Supp., p. 848, sec. 72.

Bar to extra allowance.—This section and section 48a limit the court in its allowance to trustees. In re New York Commercial Co., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 445, 145 C. C. A. 439. See also In re Langford, (S. D. Cal. 1915) 225 Fed. 311; American Surety Co. v. Freed, (C. C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 333, 140 C. C. A. 19.

There is no law authorizing compensation to a referee and a trustee proportionate to the difficulties encountered in administering an estate. American Surety Co. v. Freed, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 333, 140 C. C. A. 19.

Referee as special commissioner.—It has been declared that there can be no reference by the court to special commissioners to perform the statutory duties of referees, and that, if such a reference is made, the compensation of the referee, though called a special commissioner, is limited to that provided in section 40. In re Nankin, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 811.

CARRIERS

Vol. I, p. 728, sec. 13.

Action on bond.—In an action on a bond voluntarily given to secure penalties incurred by violation of this Act, the court, to determine its meaning, may look not only to the language of the instrument, but to the subject matter and surrounding circumstances, and while the bond is not a statutory bond, it is valid as a common-law obligation. Findlay v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 337, 139 C. C. A. 207.

Mitigation or remission of penalty.—While the Secretary of Commerce has no authority to remit or mitigate any of the penalties incurred under this Act, he has revisory and supervisory authority to inquire and determine whether the statute has been violated and the extent of such violation, if any, and in accordance with such determination to direct the prosecution of the case or its abandonment in whole or in part as the facts found an examination may justify. Findlay v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 337, 139 C. C. A. 207.

CHINESE EXCLUSION

Vol. I, p. 756, sec. 2.

Authority of Secretary of Commerce and Labor to make rules.—Under this section the Secretary of Commerce and Labor had authority to adopt rule 7 of the regulations governing the admission of Chinese, exacting a bond for the granting of shore leave to Chinese sailors. U. S. v. Vaccaro, (E. D. La. 1916) 230 Fed. 943.

Vol. I, p. 758, sec. 4.

Power of collector of customs—board of examiners.—There is no conflict between the act of Congress extending the Chinese exclusion laws to the Philippine Islands and the action of a collector in selecting a board of examiners to determine the right to enter, in whom the power had been already lodged to act under the supervision of the collector concerning matters of immigration. Sui v. McCoy, (1915) 239 U. S. 139, 36 S. Ct. 95, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 183, affirming 22 Phil. Island 361.

Vol. I, p. 760, sec. 2.

Chinese laborers.—The words "Chinese laborers" as used in the Exclusion Act were intended to designate all immigration to the United States from China other than that of privileged classes. U. S. v. Jew Sung Qwong, (D. C. Ore. 1916) 232 Fed. 279.

Chinese merchants—Partnership or firm.—To the same effect as the original annotation, see U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752, wherein the court said: "It has been decided that membership in a firm is sufficiently proved if the name appears in the books of such firm and shows that the defendant was a member thereof."

Conducting factory.—One engaged solely in conducting a factory for the manufacture of materials furnished by others is not a merchant; but if, in addition to the work of a factory, he buys and sells goods, he is a merchant. Ong Chew Lung v. Burnett, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 853, 147 C. C. A. 47.

Adopted child of merchant.—The adopted child of a Chinese merchant takes the status of the person who adopted him and the fact that later on such adopted child becomes a laborer is no ground for his deportation. U. S. v. Lee Chee, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 447, 140 C. C. A. 649.

Nephew of merchant.—A Chinese boy, coming to this country with his uncle and under his charge and protection, should be given the status of the uncle; and being entitled to such status it would be lawful for him to enter the United States without a certificate, providing the person with whom he came was of the merchant class. U. S. v. Jew Sung Qwong, (D. C. Ore. 1916) 232 Fed. 279.

Change of status—Student.—The fact that a Chinese person, properly admitted as a student, was compelled to labor in order to support himself temporarily until he could secure remittances from China, did not operate to take him permanently out of the "student" class excepted from the operation of the Exclusion Act. U. S. v. Lau Chu, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 446, 140 C. C. A. 648.

Evidence.—For an extensive review of evidence held insufficient to show that a Chinese person resisting deportation was ever a merchant in the United States, as defined in this section, see U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752.

Vol. I, p. 763, sec. 2.

Country to which deported.—The admission of Chinese descent and failure to show native-born citizenship of the United States give rise to a presumption that the person is a subject of China and by virtue of the provisions of this section, when adjudged to be not lawfully entitled to remain in the United States, he must be removed to China. Ng You Nuey v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 340, 140 C. C. A. 26.

Wife of Chinese merchant.—The right of the wife of a Chinese merchant, to remain in the United States, is beyond question. Ex parte Chan Shee, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 236 Fed. 579.

Vol. I, p. 763, sec. 3.

Constitutionality.—A child born in the United States of Chinese parents domiciled in the United States becomes at the time of birth a citizen of the United States. It was competent for Congress, by the Chinese Exclusion Act, to empower a United States commissioner to determine the various facts upon which citizenship depends. Louie Lit v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 75, 151 C. C. A. 151.

Evidence—Admissibility of testimony of Chinese witnesses.—The testimony of Chinese witnesses is competent and admissible to establish the right of a Chinese person to be and remain in the United States. U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752, affirmed (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 948, 146 C. C. A. 144. See also Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed.

68, 151 C. C. A. 144; Yee Chung v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 126, 155 C. C. A. 656.

Evidence of pedigree.—The testimony of a Chinese person that according to his father's statements to him he was born in the United States, although hearsay evidence, is admissible and competent because the matter is one of pedigree or descent. U. S. v. Lem You, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 519.

Proof of merchant status by Chinese witnesses.—In Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144, it was held that the evidence of mercantile status was not insufficient because it consisted wholly of Chinese witnesses.

Sufficiency.—For evidence held sufficient to sustain the burden of proving native-born citizenship, see U. S. v. Chin Mum, (D. C. Me. 1915) 225 Fed. 799.

For a case wherein the evidence was held sufficient to establish the right of a Chinese person to remain in the country and revoking an order of deportation, see U. S. v. Jung You, (E. D. Pa. 1916) 235 Fed. 1012.

For evidence held insufficient to support the burden of proving citizenship, see Hoey Ay Sing v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 209, 142 C. C. A. 9; Yee Chung v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 126, 155 C. C. A. 656.

Certificate of commissioner as evidence.—A certificate of the United States commissioner that a Chinaman was brought before him charged with being unlawfully within the United States and was adjudged to have the right to remain in the United States by reason of his being a citizen, is not evidence of a judgment. Ex parte Chin Quock Wah, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 224 Fed. 138.

Burden and measure of proof.—The burden is on the United States to prove that the defendant is a Chinese person, or person of Chinese descent and that he was found within the United States. When this is done, the burden rests on such Chinese person or person of Chinese descent to prove to the satisfaction of the judge or commissioner, that he has a lawful right to remain in the United States. U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752; U. S. v. Quan Wah, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 420, 140 C. C. A. 114, following U. S. v. Hom Lim, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 223 Fed. 520, 139 C. C. A. 68.

Assertion of citizenship.—Where a person of the Chinese race claims to be a citizen by birth of the United States, the burden of proof is upon him to sustain the claim. Ng You Nuey v. U. S., (1915) 224 Fed. 340, 140 C. C. A. 26; Lum Kim v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 31, 140 C. C. A. 357; Jew Lee v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 1013, 151 C. C. A. -75; Young Ti v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 110, 158 C. C. A. 336.

And the assertion of a claim of domestic birth cannot shift the burden upon the government of showing that the claimant was not born within the United States. Woo Vey v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 838, 155 C. C. A. 426.

If the applicant is the son of an American citizen of Chinese descent, he is also such citizen and entitled to enter as such, but the burden of proving such relationship is upon the applicant. However that burden should not be increased by throwing extraneous matters into the scales against him, as for instance proof of the father's sense of allegiance to this country. Ex parte Wong Foo, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 534. See also Ex parte Lee Dung Moo, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 746; Ex parte Tom Toy Tin, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 747; Ex parte Ng Doo Wong, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 230 Fed. 751.

When a Chinese person relies upon his mercantile status for his right to be here, the burden is upon him to prove it. Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144.

Credibility of Chinese witnesses.—Mercantile status, at the time of the passage of this Act, providing for the registration of Chinese laborers, may be established by Chinese witnesses. Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144. See also U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752, affirmed (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 948, 146 C. C. A. 144; Yee Chung v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 126, 155 C. C. A. 656.

In determining the weight to be given the testimony of Chinese persons, the policy of Congress as declared in the Act of May 5, 1892, § 6, and Act of Nov. 3, 1893, § 2 (1 Fed. Stat. Annot. 764, 760), may be considered. U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752, following U. S. v. Lee Huen, (N. D. N. Y. 1902) 118 Fed. 442.

Prior adjudication.—The fact that the right of a Chinese person to remain in the United States has already been decided in his favor in previous deportation proceedings conclusively established his right to remain. And this right is not affected by subsequent misconduct. U. S. v. Lew Ah Jung, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 649.

Consulate attaché.—That a Chinese person is an attaché of a Chinese consular office in the United States is not a defense where the original entry of such person into the country was surreptitious. Such status cannot cure an irregular or illegal entry into the country. U. S. v. Gin Dock Sue, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 230 Fed. 657, affirmed (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 308, 157 C. C. A. 500.

Conclusiveness of findings.—The discretion exercised by the trial judge in affirming the commissioner's order of deportation should not be lightly disturbed. Young Ti v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 110, 158 C. C. A. 336.

While an appellate court should be very slow to disturb the findings of fact of the commissioner and the District Court, it is beyond question that appellate courts have jurisdiction to inquire into and to reverse such findings. Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144, wherein the court reversed an order of deportation on the ground that error was committed in failing to accord to testimony its natural probative force and in failing to find that it was of the force required by statute. See also Louie Lit v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 75, 151 C. C. A. 151.

Where the assignment of errors brings up the single question that the judgment is against the weight of evidence, the commissioner and the judge agreeing, the decision on the facts will not be disturbed by an appellate court. Lee Lew You v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 820, 145 C. C. A. 130; Chin Sing Quon v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 948, 146 C. C. A. 144, affirming (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752; Ng Jung v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 992, 147 C. C. A. 666; Chin Hung v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 341, 153 C. C. A. 267; Woo Vey v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 838, 155 C. C. A. 426.

And the fact that no evidence was introduced by the appellant before the commissioner, and all the evidence on the hearing in the District Court was by deposition, will not render this rule, limiting the right to repeated trial of facts in cases under this statute, inapplicable. Wong Woo v. U. S., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 673, 153 C. C. A. 471.

Vol. I, p. 764, sec. 5.

Bail.—The issuance of a writ of habeas corpus does not change the status of the relator. The writ does not disturb the custody but simply requires his production for the purpose of examining into the legality of his detention. The relator is not, in a legal sense, within the United States, and no power is given by the statute to the court to admit an alien by giving bail pending an appeal from a decision of the court finding that he has been accorded a fair hearing by the commissioner. In re Chin Own, (W. D. Wash. 1917) 242 Fed. 996.

Vol. I, p. 764, sec. 6.

Purpose of provision.—Exemption of merchants.—See Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144.

Evidence.—Certificate prima facie proof.—The certificate is primary evidence of the right to remain in this country and the executive authorities are not justified in arbitrarily disregarding its effect. After the certificate is issued, the burden is cast upon the government, in case of attack on it, to show by testimony which the law recognizes as evidence, that it should be annulled before an order for deportation is warranted. Wong Yee Toon v. Stump, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 194, 147 C. C. A. 200, reversing (D. C. Md. 1915) 227 Fed. 247. See also Lui Hip Chin v. Plummer, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 238 Fed. 763, 151 C. C. A. 613.

But where the holder of a certificate of residence leaves the United States and goes to a foreign country, he must on re-entering this country show that he has complied with the law and that his re-entry was not fraudulent. In such case the original certificate is not prima facie evidence of his right to remain. Bun Chew v. Connell, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 220, 147 C. C. A. 226.

Merchant subsequently becoming laborer.—The fact that one who has been admitted into the United States as a merchant subsequently becomes a laborer is not in itself ground for his deportation. But if one who has been admitted on certificate as a merchant immediately on his arrival proceeds to engage in and continues in employment as a laborer, that fact has a strong retroactive bearing as evidence of the intent with which he came. Lui Hip Chin v. Plummer, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 238 Fed. 763, 151 C. C. A. 613; Lew Loy v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

Where a Chinese person was a merchant at the time of the test of his right to remain in the country, namely, the registration period, and he thereafter acquired the status of a laborer, such change of status does not work a forfeiture of his right lawfully to remain in the country. But under the circumstance of his arrest as a laborer, there devolves upon him the necessity of overcoming the natural presumption arising from his status when arrested. Being a laborer when arrested, he is bound to produce a laborer's certificate or show a reason why such certificate could not or need not be produced by him. Louie Dai v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 68, 151 C. C. A. 144.

In U. S. v. Fong Foo, (N. D. Ia. 1916) 235 Fed. 452, it was held that where a Chinese person, under the status of a merchant, departed for China, and on his return a few years later was permitted to re-enter as a merchant, but did not thereafter engage in the business of a merchant or in any other occupation than that of a laborer, his status reverted to that of a laborer, and in the absence of a certificate of residence, as required by this section, he was subject to deportation.

Under Immigration Act.—The Department of Labor has power and authority under section 21 of the Immigration Act (1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Annot. 170) to determine the right of a Chinese person, charged with being in the United States in violation of this section, to remain in the United States. Ex parte Lee Ying, (W. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 335; Ex parte Woo Shing, (N. D. Ohio 1915) 226 Fed. 141; Sibray v. U. S., (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 1, 141 C. C. A. 555; Ex parte Chin Him, (W. D. N. Y. 1915) 227 Fed. 131; U. S. v. Prentis, (N. D. Ill. 1916) 230 Fed. 935; Wong Chung v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 410, 157 C. C. A. 36. But see the note under section 13 of the Act of Sept. 13, 1888, infra; this page.

Vol. I, p. 770, sec. 7.

Identification—Sufficiency.—For identification of a Chinese person, charged with entering in violation of this section, held to be insufficient to warrant an order of deportation, see White v. Tom Yuen, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 739, 157 C. C. A. 187.

Vol. I, p. 772, sec. 13.

Nature of proceedings.—Proceedings in the matter of Chinese exclusion are summary; they are not to be compared with the trial of either a civil or criminal suit, nor do they resemble hearings before a committing magistrate. The statute contains no prohibition upon asking a Chinaman questions regarding his right to remain in this country at any time or place, or by any officer or official, and what the statute does not forbid it is not in the interests of justice to read into the Act, because it is highly conducive to ascertain the truth to find out what the Chinaman will say when suddenly asked as to his right to remain. U. S. v. Lem You, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 519; U. S. v. Moy Toom, (S. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 520.

Hearing de novo.—The appellant has the right to have the whole case retried in another court, that is tried de novo, and disposed of there without any regard to the proceedings before the commissioner. U. S. v. Chin Sing Quong, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 224 Fed. 752; U. S. v. Chin Dong Ying, (D. C. Mass. 1916) 229 Fed. 813.

Prior adjudication.—An adjudication by a United States commissioner in deportation proceedings that the defendant was born in the United States, and the issuance to him of a certificate, establishes his right to remain in the United States, and subsequent misconduct will not deprive him of the right thus acquired.

U. S. v. Lew Ah Jung, (D. C. Mass. 1915) 224 Fed. 649.

Use of writ of habeas corpus.—The writ of habeas corpus cannot be used as a substitute for the appeal provided for in this section. U. S. v. McCarthy, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 228 Fed. 398.

Change of status—Student.—Where a Chinese person came to the United States, properly certified as a student, supported by his father in China, the fact that he supported himself temporarily during a period when his father was unable to send remittances, did not operate to take him permanently out of the "student" class excepted from the operation of the Exclusion Act. U. S. v. Lau Chu, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 446, 140 C. C. A. 648.

Under Immigration Act.—In Lee Wong Hin v. Mayo, (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 368, 153 C. C. A. 294, it was held that a Chinese person, being subject to deportation under the Chinese Exclusion Act, could not therefore be deported under the procedure provided for under section 21 of the Immigration Act (1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 170) unless such Chinese alien is held under a warrant charging a violation of some provision of the Immigration Act. Construing the procedure under both Acts, the court said: "Under [section 13] the Chinese person is entitled to a judicial hearing to determine his status, either before a justice, judge or commissioner, or before a United States court, and is entitled, if convicted before a commissioner, to an appeal to the District Judge, and from the order of the District Court is entitled to an appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals." See further the note under section 6, Act of May 5, 1892, supra, this page.

Vol. I, p. 774, sec. 14.

Consulate attaché.—An attaché of a Chinese consulate, whose original entry into the United States was surreptitious, is subject to deportation. U. S. v. Gin Dock Sue, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 230 Fed. 657, affirmed (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 245 Fed. 308, 157 C. C. A. 500.

Vol. I, p. 774, sec. 1.

"Chinese laborers" defined.—The words "Chinese laborers," as used in the Act, were intended to designate all immigration to the United States from China other than that of privileged classes. U. S. v. Jew Sung Gwong, (D. C. Ore. 1916) 232 Fed. 279.

Merchant afterward becoming laborer.—The mere fact that an alien who has been domiciled as a merchant thereafter becomes a laborer does not itself justify deportation. Ong Seen v. Burnett, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 850, 147 C. C. A. 44.

Chinese persons born in United States.—The Chinese Exclusion Act does not apply to persons of that race, even though laborers, if they were born in the United States, of parents living in the United States. U. S. v. Chin Hing, (D. C. Me. 1915) 225 Fed. 794.

Evidence of citizenship.—Where a Chinese person seeks to remain in the United States upon the claim that he was born in this country, the burden is upon him to prove it, and where the commissioner and the district judge determine the fact as to the place of birth, such determination will not be disturbed on appeal. Jew Lee v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 1013, 151 C. C. A. 75.

Vol. I, p. 778, sec. 6.

Force and effect of certificate.—The admission of a Chinese person into this country, under a merchant's certificate admittedly in due form, places him in the exempt class, and he cannot be deported from having fraudulently entered the United States unless there is some competent evidence to overcome the legal effect of the certificate. U. S. v. Fong Hong, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 233 Fed. 168, following Liu Hop Fong v. U. S., (1908) 209 U. S. 453, 28 S. Ct. 576, 52 U. S. (L. ed.) 888.

Certificate prima facie evidence.—The certificate is prima facie evidence only of the facts set forth therein and may be controverted and the facts there stated may be disproved by the United States authorities. U. S. v. Fong Hong, (D. C. N. J. 1916) 233 Fed. 168; Lo Pong v. Dunn, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 510, 149 C. C. A. 56.

The certificate of admission is prima facie evidence of such right. But it is open to the government to show that the entry was in fact not for the purpose of following the occupation of a merchant but for the purpose of immediately becoming a laborer, in evasion of the Exclusion Act. And the court, if so satisfied, is justified in holding that the entry was in violation of the statute and not the one so entering is unlawfully here. Lew Loy v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 242 Fed. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

Annulment of certificate.—While the certificate is prima facie evidence of the right to enter and remain in the country, and it may be overcome by competent evidence that it was fraudulently obtained, fraud in procuring the same cannot be merely imputed. It is incumbent upon the government to overcome its legal effect by evidence and not by presumption. It ought not to be annulled on suspicion and conjecture. Moy Kong Chiu v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 94, 158 C. C. A. 320.

Wife of Chinese merchant.—The right of the wife of a resident Chinese marchant to enter this country is beyond question. Ex parte Cham Shee, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 236 Fed. 579.

Children of Chinese merchants — Minor son becoming laborer.—It is well settled that a minor son of a member of the exempt classes, admitted as such into the United States, does not forfeit his right to remain by subsequently doing a laborer's work. Ex parte Wong Yee Toon, (D. C. Md. 1915) 227 Fed. 247, reversed on other grounds (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 194, 147 C. C. A. 200; Lam Fung Yen v. Frick, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 393, 147 C. C. A. 329.

The fact that one who lawfully entered as the minor son of a merchant has since become a laborer is not enough to destroy his right to remain. Lew Loy v. U. S., (1917) 242 Fed. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181. But it is open to the government to show that the entry of a minor son was not for the purpose of conserving the family relation or following the occupation of a merchant. So, the fact that a Chinese person, securing admission as the son of a merchant, is twenty years of age, immediately becomes and continues as a laborer, is strong evidence tending to show that he came into the United States as a laborer. Lew Loy v. U. S., (1917) 242 Fed. 405, 155 C. C. A. 181.

Vol. I, p. 782, sec. 10.

Who is "master."—The owner of the minority interest in a gasoline launch, without the knowledge or consent of the owner of the majority interest and in violation of agreement, had himself enrolled as master and used the vessel to bring Chinese persons to a United States port, where the vessel was seized under this Act. It was held that such minority owner was not the master of the vessel within the meaning of this section, and that the interest of the majority owner was not subject to forfeiture because of the former's action. The Calypso, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 962, 145 C. C. A. 156, affirming (N. D. Cal. 1914) 217 Fed. 669.

Vol. I, p. 782, sec. 11.

Conspiracy — Indictment.—Conspiracy for a violation of this section is not of itself a crime under the Exclusion Act; hence the acts need not be charged with the same particularity. U. S. v. Dahl, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 909, affirmed (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 618, 148 C. C. A. 384; Lew Moy v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 50, 150 C. C. A. 252.

Evidence.—For evidence held sufficient to warrant a conviction under an indictment for conspiring to violate this section, see Louie Ding v. U. S., (C. C. A.

9th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 80, 158 C. C. A. 306.

Effect of Immigration Act.—The offenses denounced in this section are governed by and punishable under the Chinese Exclusion Act only. The Immigration Act of Feb. 20, 1907, § 8 (1909 Supp. Fed. Stat. Ann. 165) is inapplicable thereto. Stoneberg v. Morgan, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 246 Fed. 98, 158 C. C. A. 324.

CITIZENSHIP

Vol. I, p. 786, sec. 1993.

Children born abroad.—Where a native of China seeks admission as the son of a native-born citizen, the question of relationship should be fairly investigated with a view to ascertain the truth and with a perfect willingness to admit him as a citizen under this law, instead of being investigated in a spirit hostile to the law, which, lacking the power to repeal, accomplishes the same result by denying to it effect. Ex parte Lee Dung Moo, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 746; Ex parte Tom Toy Tin, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 747.

A native of China, who claims admission as the son of a native-born citizen, should not be denied admission solely on the ground that his application was not made until some years after he reached majority. Ex parte Tom Toy Tin, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 747; Ex parte Ng Doo Wong, (N. D. Cal. 1915) 230 Fed. 751.

1909 Supp., p. 68, sec. 2.

To whom applicable.—In U. S. v. Howe, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 231 Fed. 546, it appeared that a naturalized citizen returned to his native country, where he had left his family, and resided there for nearly ten years, during which time he took no steps to register himself as an American citizen with any diplomatic or consular officer. On his return to America, his right to enter was questioned by the immigration authorities on the ground that he was an undesirable alien. On petition for habeas corpus, it was held that under this section the relator had lost his citizenship by his continuous residence abroad, that the Act applied to a naturalized citizen, and was constitutional and valid as to him, although it was not passed until after he left the United States. This decision was, however, partly based on a provision of a treaty between the United States and Sweden, that if a naturalized Swede or Norwegian, who has become a naturalized citizen of the United States, renews his residence in his native country without the intent of returning to America, he is to be held by the United States as having renounced his American citizenship.

However, in Stein v. Fleischmann Co., (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 679, it was held, in view of a treaty between the United States and Austria, providing that an emigrant should not forfeit his citizenship by returning to his original country, unless he shall, of his own accord, reacquire his former citizenship and renounce that obtained by naturalization, that an Austrian could not sue as an alien in the federal courts, notwithstanding the fact that he had resided in Austria for more than two years and had taken no steps to retain his American citizenship.

Enlistment in foreign army.—One who moves to another country, and enlists in a foreign army, taking the oath of allegiance to the sovereign of the foreign state, and actually enters service, thereby effectually expatriates himself under this section. Ex p. Griffin, (N. D. N. Y. 1916) 237 Fed. 445.

1909 Supp., p. 69, sec. 3.

Constitutionality.—This section is constitutional. Mackenzie v. Hare, (1915) 239 U. S. 299, 36 S. Ct. 106, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 297, Ann. Cas. 1916E 645, affirming (1913) 165 Cal. 776, 134 Pac. 713, Ann. Cas. 1915B 261.

An American woman married to a resident foreigner is not a citizen of the United States. Mackenzie v. Hare, (1915) 239 U. S. 299, 36 S. Ct. 106, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 297, Ann. Cas. 1916E 645, affirming (1913) 165 Cal. 776, 134 Pac. 713, Ann. Cas. 1915B 261.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Vol. I, p. 796, sec. 1980.

Evidence.—For evidence sufficient to sustain a conviction for violation of this section by conspiring to prevent colored persons from voting on account of their race and color, see Guinn v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 103, 142 C. C. A. 509.

Vol. I, p. 801, sec. 1990.

Punishment for failure to perform service.—A state statute has been held invalid making it a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment to fail or refuse without just cause to perform labor or service under a contract, or to fail or refuse to pay for money or other advances received by virtue of the contract. Goode v. Nelson, (Fla. 1917) 74 So. 17.

Vol. I, p. 802, sec. 5508.

Conspiracies against elective franchise.—State nominating primary.—In U. S. v. Gradwell, (1917) 243 U. S. 476, 37 S. Ct. 407, affirming (D. C. R. I. 1916) 234 Fed. 446, (S. D. W. Va. 1916) 236 Fed. 993, it was said that while this section as embodied in PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 484, § 19, was applicable to certain conspiracies against the elective franchise as decided by U. S. v. Mosley, [1915] 238 U. S. 383, 35 S. Ct. 904, 59 U. S. (L. ed.) 1355, that decision fell far short of making the section applicable to the conduct of a state nominating primary. Accordingly it was held that the lower court did not commit error in sustaining a demurrer to an indictment which charged that the defendants conspired to procure and did procure a large number of persons not legal voters of West Virginia to vote, and a number of them to vote more than once, in favor of one of the four candidates for the Republican nomination for United States Senator at a state primary.

Congressional election.—The right of voters to vote at an election for member of Congress is a right "secured by the Constitution and laws of the United States" and a conspiracy to deprive them of that right is covered by this section. Aczel v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 652, 146 C. C. A. 578; Guinn v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 103, 142 C. C. A. 509.

A conspiracy to bribe voters at a general election within a state where presidential electors, a United States senator, and representatives in Congress are to be chosen is not an offense within this section, which now constitutes section 19 in PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 410. U. S. v. Bathgate, (1918) 246 U. S. 220, 38 S. Ct. 269, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) —.

Threaten or intimidate.—Allegations of "peremptory ordering, requiring and directing" a voter are "without substance and of no legal effect." U. S. v. Wilcox, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 993; U. S. v. Welch, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 996, holding also that "a threat to use efforts to certain end cannot be regarded as in substance the same as a direct threat of the thing to be accomplished by such efforts," and that "if there is a conspiracy to coerce a voter the intended means should appear to have some adaptation to the end."

Intent in respect of the federal right is an essential element of the offense charged under this section. Buchanan v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 257, 147 C. C. A. 263; Guinn v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 228 Fed. 103, 142 C. C. A. 509.

Separate offenses in same count.—A count in an indictment which shows a conspiracy to injure voters in their right to vote is punishable under this section, and is not rendered invalid by the fact that it also contains charges with respect to the right to serve as election officers and the right of immunity from arrest, irrespective of whether such other rights are protected by the section. Aczel v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 652, 146 C. C. A. 578.

CIVIL SERVICE

1914 Supp., p. 45. [Collectors of internal revenue, etc.]

Constitutionality.—It was competent for Congress to exempt the marshal's office from the provisions of all laws relating to civil service and to subject the deputies to the terms of the exempting enactment. U. S. v. Lapp, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

Construction.—The fact that this provision was a rider in an appropriation bill cannot affect its construction. U. S. v. Lapp, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

Removal from office.—Under this provision a United States marshal may remove a deputy marshal at his discretion, and may be not controlled by mandamus. So much of the Act of Aug. 24, 1912, ch. 389, § 6 (see POSTAL SERVICE, 1914 Supp., p. 317), providing for the removal of persons from the classified civil service, as is inconsistent with this section must yield so far as the appointment of deputy marshals is concerned. U. S. v. Lapp, (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 377, 157 C. C. A. 3.

CLAIMS

Vol. II, p. 7, sec. 3477.

Compliance with statute necessary.—An assignment which does not comply absolutely with this section is void as between the assignor and assignee, as well as between all other parties. Manhattan Commercial Co. v. Paul, (1916) 216 N. Y. 481, 111 N. E. 76, overruling York v. Conde, (1895) 147 N. Y. 486, 42 N. E. 193.

Lien.—Since the purpose of this section is to protect the government and not the interests of the parties, an equitable lien, created by assignment, on moneys accruing under a contract with the United States is not invalid. Jennings v. Whitney, (1916) 224 Mass. 138, 112 N. E. 655.

Government contract.—In Hegness v. Chilberg, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 28, 139 C. C. A. 492, it appeared that a partnership contract was made between two parties for the purpose of bidding for a mail contract, which was to be carried out, if obtained by one of the parties. It was held that the contract was not invalid under this section because of a provision which required the partner in whose name the contract was taken to indorse warrants which he received from the government, and deliver them to the other partner.

Vol. II, p. 20, sec. 3482.

Operation of statute.—This section was intended to provide for losses to those engaged in military service in time of war. It was amended by the Act of June 22, 1874, ch. 395, but that Act was temporary legislation only intended to effect the consideration of a specific class of claims theretofore existing, if and when presented within the time limit prescribed by the Act and when the Act expired by its own limitation this section remained in force unaffected thereby. Griffis v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 170, modifying (1916) 52 Ct. Cl. 1.

Vol. II, p. 26. [Act of March 3, 1885.]

"Private property" defined.—The term private property as used in this Act includes all articles carried by the persons enumerated into the military service which were indispensable to the conditions of that service and comprehends privately arrived horses inasmuch as they are not specifically excluded by the terms of the Act. Andrews v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 373.

Property in military service.—This Act is expressly limited to times of peace, but the term "in the military service" has a universally accepted legal meaning and Congress clearly did not intend to make the Government an insurer of privately owned property while in the military service, but limited liability to the loss and destruction of such property directly caused by military service and in nowise attributable to the fault or negligence of the soldier. Andrews v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 373.

"In time of war" in proviso.—A loss occurring May 16, 1899, of private property aboard a transport bound from Porto Rico to New York which was wrecked, although the troops aboard were destined for service in the Philippines after refitting in New York was not "in time of war" within the meaning of this Act. Newcomber v. U. S., (1916) 51 Ct. Cl. 408.

Presentation of claim.—Claims under this Act must have been presented to the "proper accounting officer" within two years from the occurrence of the loss. Griffis v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 170, modifying (1916) 52 Ct. Cl. 1; Goodman v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 244. See also Andrews v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 373.

Presentation of claims under this Act to the Quartermaster General is not a presentation to "the proper accounting officer." Griffis v. U. S., (1917) 52 Ct. Cl. 170, modifying (1916) 52 Ct. Cl. 1.

The requirement of presentation within two years to the accounting officers is a condition precedent to the right of action. Newcomber v. U. S., (1916) 51 Ct. Cl. 408.

Jurisdiction of Court of Claims.—By virtue of its general jurisdiction of claims "founded upon . . . any law of congress" given in Judicial Code, § 145, 1912 Supp., p. 200, the Court of Claims has jurisdiction of claims arising under this act where (1) the facts are undisputed and the accounting officers misapply the law, or (2) they refuse to act on claims properly presented, or (3) payment by the treasury of their award is refused. Newcomber v. U. S., (1916) 51 Ct. Cl. 408.

Vol. II, p. 31, sec. 5438.

See notes to PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 414, § 35 infra, this volume.

Vol. II, p. 45, sec. 3466.

Priority.—Where a nonresident contractor failed to complete a building which he had undertaken to construct for the government, and his property was attached in the state court by the bank which had advanced him money, the surety on the contractor's bond replevied it, completed the building and claimed subrogation to any claim of the government. It was held that even if the words "absent debtor" as used in this section could be construed to mean a nonresident, yet the government had no priority to which the surety could be subrogated, since the attachment did not operate as a sequestration of the property for distribution among the creditors. People's Nat. Bank v. Corse, (1915) 133 Tenn. 720, 182 S. W. 917.

Priority as creating lien.—This section and R. S. sec. 3468 do not create a lien on the debtor's property as such. People's Nat. Bank v. Corse, (1915) 133 Tenn. 720, 182 S. W. 917.

Vol. II, p. 55, sec. 1059, cl. first.

Claims sounding in tort.—Where a steamer is seized by the proper military authorities during pendency of rebellion or insurrection upon the ground that it is the property of the enemy and was at the time being used in furtherance of the rebellion, and the vessel is subsequently used in the service of the United States, there is no implied contract to pay for the use thereof. The claim for such use sounds in tort, and the party cannot waive the tort and sue in assumpsit. Castelo v. U. S., (1916) 51 Ct. Cl. 221.

Recovery of taxes paid under protest to a collector of internal revenue may be had in a suit under this paragraph. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co. v. Lederer, (E. D. 1917) 239 Fed. 184, citing U. S. v. Emery, etc., Realty Co., (1915) 237 U. S. 28, 35 S. Ct. 499, 59 U. S. (L. ed.) 825.

Costs against United States.—In a suit brought under this section as re-enacted in Judicial Code, § 24, par. 20, 1912 Supp. 138, where judgment is rendered in favor of the plaintiff, costs may be awarded against the United States. U. S. v. Cress, (1917) 243 U. S. 316, 37 S. Ct. 380, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 746.

Vol. II, p. 96, sec. 3.

Amendment of petition.—Where in a claim under this act it appears that two separate depredations were committed, one by the Cheyennes and the other by the Sioux, and where the Cheyennes alone were named as the Indian defendants therein, it is not allowable to make a change of parties by an amendment to the original petition, so as to make the Sioux joint defendants, and the plaintiff is furnished no relief by the amendment of the first section of this Act by the Act of Jan. 11, 1915, ch. 7 (1916 Supp. 24). Coffield v. U. S., (1916) 52 Ct. Cl. 17.

COINAGE, MINTS AND ASSAY OFFICES

Vol. II, p. 116, sec. 3504.

Power of removal by superintendent.—The power of appointment of workmen was, prior to the passage of the Act of Aug. 23, 1912, ch. 350, § 1 (1914 Supp. 45), vested in the superintendent of the mint and his appointments were valid unless disapproved by the director, and in the absence of a statutory provision relating to the removal of workmen appointed by the superintendent, that power is incident to the power to appoint. Costello v. U. S., (1916) 51 Ct. Cl. 257.

1914 Supp., p. 45. [Act of Aug. 23, 1912.]

Power of superintendent.—This Act took effect from the date of its passage, and the power of a superintendent of a mint to remove a workman prior to that date was not affected by the date mentioned in the statute from which the Secretary of the Treasury should control. Costello v. U. S., (1916) 51 Ct. Cl. 257.

COLLISIONS

Vol. II, p. 155, art. 5.

Obstruction of lights.—A schooner is guilty of fault in so carrying her green light that it was screened by her sails from an approaching steamer. The Brand, (C. C. A. 3d Cir. 1915) 224 Fed. 391, 140 C. C. A. 77, Ann. Cas. 1917B 996, affirming (E. D. Pa. 1914) 214 Fed. 266.

Vol. II, p. 160, art. 16.

Rule absolute.—Under this article when a vessel is proceeding in a fog and a whistle is heard apparently forward of her beam the position of which is not ascertained, the duty to stop the engines, if the circumstances will permit, is imperative. Lie v. San Francisco, etc., Steamship Co., (1917) 243 U. S. 291, 37 S. Ct. 270, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 726, affirming (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 219 Fed. 134, 135 C. C. A. 32.

Violation of rule.—Where it appeared that steamer and a tug approaching each other, both sounding fog signals, and the steamer on hearing a whistle ahead, stopped for a minute, and hearing no response to the whistle she gave, was started forward, but her engine was almost immediately reversed on hearing another signal, it was held that she was in fault for violating this article. The Tillicum, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 415, 144 C. C. A. 557.

Vol. II, p. 174. [Definitions.]

A collision between a steam vessel and a schooner whose sails were furled and which was being propelled by a gasoline motor alone, is a collision between two "steam vessels" within the meaning of this preliminary article. The Machigonne, (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1916) 230 Fed. 777, 145 C. C. A. 87.

Vol. II, p. 176, art. 11.

Position of lights.—Where it is shown that the lights on a vessel at anchor were clearly visible, and in proper position except that the stern light was not more than 10 feet lower than the forward light instead of 15 feet as required by this article, that fact alone is not sufficient to charge her with fault for collision with a vessel in motion. The John G. McCullough, (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 239 Fed. 111, 152 C. C. A. 153.

Vol. II, p. 178, art. 16.

Moderate speed.—A sailing vessel proceeding with all sails set and drawing in a dense fog is going faster than necessary to maintain steerageway, is not going at the "moderate speed" required by the article, and is at fault for steaming at an excessive speed. The Robert M. Thompson, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 662, 157 C. C. A. 110.

Mutual fault.—Where it appeared that a steamship and a pilot boat collided in a fog which rendered each invisible to the other until within a distance of 500 feet, it was held that both were in fault for proceeding at an excess in speed after each heard the fog signals of the other. The Mamchioneal, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 243 Fed. 801, 156 C. C. A. 313.

Presumption and burden of proof.—The failure to observe this rule creates a presumption of fault and casts upon the vessel at fault the burden of proof to show even contributing fault in the other vessel. The Easton, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 239 Fed. 859, 152 C. C. A. 643.

Sailing vessel.—This article applies to sailing vessels as well as steam vessels. The Oceania Vance, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 77, 147 C. C. A. 147.

Vol. II, p. 178, art. 18, rule I.

Burden of proof.—A departure from this rule puts on the boat attempting to justify it, the burden of establishing that the other boat assented by proper signals to the departure. The Mercer, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 259, 148 C. C. A. 161.

Vol. II, p. 179, rule V.

Signal given at time too far past.—This rule was considered in The Daniel Willard, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 112, 148 C. C. A. 606, wherein it appeared that a steamer on leaving her pier passed out into the river on the north side of a long pier which completely shut off her view from the south and it was held that because of her failure to go at moderate speed or to give warning to other vessels after having given her slip signal, when leaving her own pier nearly 1,300 feet from the end of the long pier, she negligently violated this rule and was in fault for a collision with another vessel which was approaching from the south.

Vol. II, p. 179, rule VIII.

Violation of rule.—In The James L. Morgan, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 34, 140 C. C. A. 360, it appeared that a steam lighter was passing down a river, and desiring to pass to the starboard side of a ferryboat, gave a one blast signal but was answered by a two blast signal. The steamer continued, and about the same time the ferryboat changed her course to cross ahead of the steamer, which then went to starboard and came into collision with a tug which was also passing down. It was held that the steam lighter and ferryboat were both in fault for violation of this rule.

Vol. II, p. 179, rule IX.

Construction of rule.—The signals prescribed by this rule are only for vessels meeting, passing, and overtaking and do not relieve the vessel from the duty to give the signal prescribed by rule III. The Virginian, (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 156, 151 C. C. A. 232.

Vol. II, p. 180, art. 25.

Rule not inflexible.—This is not an inflexible rule but is to be construed in connection with rule 27 and is to be followed only "when safe and practicable;" and, where it is manifest that adherence to it will produce disaster, it is not only the right, but the duty, of the navigator to disregard it. The Santa Maria, (D. C. Del. 1915) 227 Fed. 149. See also The P. R. R. No. 32, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 118, 153 C. C. A. 154.

Rights of moving vessels.—This article is a rule of the road defining the respective rights of moving vessels in narrow channels, and as against a vessel not proceeding but wrongfully lying at anchor, there the right of a traveling vessel is superior in any part of the channel. The Belfast, (D. C. Mass. 1914) 226 Fed. 362.

East River.—The East River is not a "narrow channel" within the meaning of this article. The Wrestler, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 448, 146 C. C. A. 442.

President Roads.—President Roads and its approaches in Boston Harbor are to be regarded, generally speaking, as a "narrow channel" within the meaning of this article. The Vera, (D. C. Mass. 1914) 224 Fed. 998, affirming (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1915) 226 Fed. 369, 141 C. C. A. 199.

Vol. II, p. 181, art. 27.

Special circumstances.—The steering and sailing rules apply to vessels navigating on steady courses. Where one of them is maneuvering merely, as for instance to get into or out of a dock, or winding around to get on her course, the situation is one of special circumstances, within the meaning of this article. The John Rugge, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 861, 148 C. C. A. 459.

In The William A. Jamison, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 950, 154 C. C. A. 586, it appeared that a tug was navigating near the ends of piers, while another tug was bringing barges to make up its tow, and it was held that the case was one of special circumstances within the meaning of this article. To the same effect see The Washington, (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 952, 154 C. C. A. 588.

Vol. II, p. 196, rule twenty-two.

Duty of overtaking vessel.—Under this rule the overtaking vessel has the right to overtake and pass another if it can do so with safety to both; it must be its own judge of safety and assumes all risks except those due to the fault of the vessel overtaken, and a reply of the latter to a passing signal of an overtaking vessel is no more than an assent by it to what the overtaking vessel proposes to do at its own risk. Atlas Transp. Co. v. Lee Line Steamers, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 235 Fed. 492, 149 C. C. A. 38.

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Vol. X, p. 63, sec. 10.

Authority of Secretary.—The transfer made by this Act does not give to the Secretary of Commerce any greater power or authority, with respect of the subjects mentioned in this section, than that previously conferred on the Secretary of the Treasury. The practice of the department with respect of the remission or mitigation of fines, penalties or forfeitures is the same as that previously exercised by the Secretary of the Treasury under the advice of the Attorney-General. Findlay v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1915) 225 Fed. 337, 139 C. C. A. 207.

CONGRESS

1912 Supp., p. 43, sec. 1.

Effect on referendum of state Act.—There is nothing in this Act preventing the people of a state from reserving the right to approve or disapprove by referendum a state Act redistricting the state for the purpose of congressional elections. Davis v. Hildebrant, (1916) 241 U. S. 565, 36 S. Ct. 708, 60 U. S. (L. ed.) 1172, affirming (1916) 94 Ohio St. 154, 114 N. E. 255.

CONSPIRACY

Vol. II, p. 247, sec. 5440.

Failure to accomplish the purpose of the conspiracy does not deprive it of criminality. Goldman v. U. S., (1918) 245 U. S. 474, 38 S. Ct. 166, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) 215.

Corruption of congressional or presidential election.—A conspiracy to bribe voters at a general election within a state where presidential electors, a United States senator, and representatives in Congress are to be chosen, is not a conspiracy to commit an offense or to defraud the United States within the meaning of this section. U. S. v. Bathgate, (1918) 246 U. S. 220, 38 S. Ct. 269, 62 U. S. (L. ed.) 296, following U. S. v. Gradwell, (1917) 243 U. S. 476, 37 S. Ct. 407, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 857, which affirmed (D. C. R. I. 1916) 234 Fed. 446, and U. S. v. O'Toole, (S. D. W. Va. 1916) 236 Fed. 993.

Overt acts.—“Since the decisions in Hyde v. U. S., [1912] 225 U. S. 347, 32 S. Ct. 793, 56 U. S. (L. ed.) 1114, Ann. Cas. 1914A 614, and Brown v. Elliott, [1912] 225 U. S. 392, 32 S. Ct. 812, 56 U. S. (L. ed.) 1136, the overt act has become an essential ingredient of the statutory offense, and may be the sole basis of local jurisdiction. It must be something more than evidence of a conspiracy; thus a complete confession of a conspiracy would not be equivalent to an overt act, which must constitute execution, or part execution. Apparently it may be the act which completes the offense of defrauding, or an act so near the completion of the offense as to constitute an attempt, or an act so remote as not to amount to an attempt; but at least it must be a step toward execution. Whether a certain act was in pursuance of the conspiracy might, of course, depend entirely upon what the conspiracy was, and upon whether the parties conspired to accomplish their purpose by the means alleged. See Hyde v. U. S., [1912] 225 U. S. 347, 375, 376, 32 S. Ct. 793, 56

U. S. (L. ed.) 1114, Ann. Cas. 1914A 614.” Tillinghast v. Richards, (D. C. R. I. 1915) 225 Fed. 226.

“Overt acts” may be innocent acts in and of themselves, or criminal acts in their very nature or by virtue of some statute of the United States. U. S. v. Rogers, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 512.

“It is not necessary that each conspirator participate in each step or stage of the common general design. One of them may do one thing; another, another. Some may take major parts, while the participation of others may be in a minor degree.” Lew Moy v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 50, 150 C. C. A. 252.

Conspiracy to commit a crime.—In general.—There can be no punishable conspiracy to violate a penal statute which is unconstitutional. U. S. v. U. S. Brewers' Ass'n, (W. D. Pa. 1916) 239 Fed. 163.

To commit common-law crime.—It is an indictable offense at common law to counsel and solicit a person subject to registration not to register under the Selective Draft Act of May 18, 1917, § 5, in WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT, ante, p. 1018. While no statute of the United States makes such solicitation criminal, a conspiracy to commit the said common-law offense is punishable as a conspiracy to commit “any offense against the United States” under this section. U. S. v. Galleanni, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 977.

Subornation of perjury.—It is an indictable offense under this statute to conspire to commit subornation of perjury (see PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 438, § 126) in connection with soldiers' declaratory statements, to be filed by defendant as agent covering public lands under the Homestead Law, the perjury set forth in the indictment consisting in false swearing before notaries public and clerks of state courts to declaratory statements, although an affidavit to such statement is not required by statute, but by a regulation of the commissioner of the general land office, promulgated with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior. U. S. v. Morehead, (1917) 243 U. S. 607, 37 S. Ct. 458, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 926.

To violate Peonage Abolition Act.—A defendant cannot be guilty of conspiracy to violate PENAL LAWS, § 269, in 1909 Supp., p. 480 (re-enacting R. S. sec. 5526, in KIDNAPPING, vol. 4; p. 774) by conspiring to return a person to a condition of peonage, if the condition contemplated was not that of "peonage" as the latter term has been authoritatively defined. Taylor v. U. S., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 321, 156 C. C. A. 607.

Violation of national bank laws.—On an indictment for conspiracy to obstruct and misapply the funds of a national bank in violation of R. S. sec. 5209, in title NATIONAL BANKS, vol. 6, p. 770, if the defendants conspired to get the moneys of the bank and committed an overt act in furtherance of such conspiracy, they would be guilty even if they believed the moneys received from a co-conspirator, who was an employee of the bank, were his own moneys. Oppenheim v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 625, 154 C. C. A. 383.

Violation of Interstate Commerce Law.—An indictment will lie under this section for conspiracy to violate section 6 of the Interstate Commerce Act as amended, in INTERSTATE COMMERCE, 1909 Supp., p. 260, by the granting of unlawful rebates. U. S. v. Grand Trunk R. Co., (W. D. N. Y. 1910) 225 Fed. 383.

Conspiracy to defraud—In general.—"It is well settled that these words ["in any manner," etc.] are broad enough to include any conspiracy for the purpose of impairing, obstructing, or defeating the lawful function of any department of the government." U. S. v. Gradwell, (D. C. R. I. 1916) 234 Fed. 446, judgment affirmed (1917) 243 U. S. 476, 37 S. Ct. 407, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 857.

Conspiracy to defraud—Not limited to property rights.—The United States was entitled to have persons subject to registration under section 5 of the Selective Service Act of May 18, 1917, ante, this volume, at p. 1018, perform their duty and register according to law; and a conspiracy to prevent their doing so was punishable as a conspiracy to defraud the United States. U. S. v. Galleanni, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 977.

To defraud individual.—Although the government absolutely owns the Panama Railroad Company, and is the only person profiting or losing by its activities, still the railroad company sues and is sued just like any other corporation, in its own name; and a conspiracy to sell to the company goods deficient in quality is not a conspiracy to defraud the United States. Salas v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 842, 148 C. C. A. 440.

Limitation.—In Stager v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 510, 147 C. C. A. 396, the court said that, while the statute of limitations would be a bar to the prosecution in the instant case if nothing had been done since the date of the original conspiracy, "the overt acts set forth in the indictment and proved would show a continuance of the conspiracy sufficient to take the case out of the statute of limitations."

Venue of federal prosecution.—In view of this section and of R. S. sec. 731, now embodied in Judicial Code, § 42, 1912 Supp., p. 151, prosecutions for conspiracy may be maintained either in the district in which the conspiracy was entered into or in any district in which an act was done to effectuate the object of the conspiracy. Shea v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 97, 149 C. C. A. 307, applying that rule in sustaining a prosecution for conspiracy to violate section 213 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 463.

Where a conspiracy was conceived in Panama, the payment of certain drafts in New York, which were the property of the banks in which they were deposited, and not of the conspirators, was held not to be an overt act that would sustain a prosecution in the District Court for New York under Judicial Code, § 42, 1912 Supp., p. 151. Salas v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 842, 148 C. C. A. 440.

Indictments in general—Sufficiency in general.—"The decisions agree that certainty to a common intent is all that is necessary. The conspiracy or unlawful combination is the gist of the offense, and certainty to a common intent, sufficient to identify the offense which the defendants conspired to commit, is all that is requisite in stating the object of the conspiracy." U. S. v. U. S. Brewers' Ass'n, (W. D. Pa. 1916) 239 Fed. 163.

To insure the validity of an indictment under this section it "must contain a definite charge of conspiracy either to defraud the United States, or to commit an offense against the United States, and an averment of an overt act to constitute the offense." U. S. v. Grand Trunk R. Co., (W. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 283.

Evidential matters.—"The indictment is sufficient if it advise the defendants of the nature and cause of the accusations against them, with such particularity as to enable them to prepare the defense. Mark Yick Hee v. U. S., [C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1915] 223 Fed. 732, 139 C. C. A. 262." U. S. v. United States Brewers' Ass'n, (W. D. Pa. 1916) 239 Fed. 163.

Charging the conspiracy.—"As was held by the Supreme Court in a recent case, Joplin Mercantile Co. v. U. S., [1915] 236 U. S. 531, 35 S. Ct. 291, 59 U. S. (L. ed.) 705, February 23, 1915, the plan of the conspiracy must be found in the clause of the indictment which sets it forth. It cannot be enlarged by the overt acts alleged." Tillinghast v. Richards, (D. C. R. I. 1915) 225 Fed. 226.

Charging overt acts.—It is indispensable to a valid indictment under this section that it shall charge an overt act. Harrison v. Moyer, (N. D. Ga. 1915) 224 Fed. 224; U. S. v. Rogers, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 512. But it is sufficient to state the overt act without alleging the manner in which it tended to effect the purposes contemplated. U. S. v. U. S. Brewers' Ass'n, (W. D. Pa. 1916) 239 Fed. 163.

The fact that the overt acts set forth in an indictment were innocent and commonplace, when unconnected with the conspiracy, does not invalidate the indictment where they were done pursuant to a conspiracy and to effect an unlawful purpose. U. S. v. Grand Trunk R. Co., (W. D. N. Y. 1915) 225 Fed. 283.

In an indictment for conspiracy to conceal property of a bankrupt from the trustee in bankruptcy, an allegation that certain property "was thereafter concealed" from the trustee is ineffective as an averment of an overt act, if it be not alleged that such concealment was by the defendants. U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 741.

A conspiracy count in an indictment is not bad for the reason that, in charging overt acts, it appears that the crime which the defendants conspired to commit was actually committed by them. U. S. v. Rogers, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 512.

Only one overt act is essential to constitute a punishable conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States, and if one overt act is sufficiently charged a demurrer to the whole count cannot be sustained, whatever may be the deficiencies in other charges of overt acts. U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 741.

In U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 741, a demurrer to an indictment for conspiracy to conceal certain property in anticipation of bankruptcy was overruled.

In U. S. v. Orr, (D. C. R. I. 1916) 233 Fed. 717, the court said: "While the allegation of overt acts is unnecessarily voluminous, as is usual in these cases, and while it may be doubtful if all of the acts alleged can properly be regarded as overt acts, yet as only one overt act is essential, and as the indictment properly charges several, the indictment is not demurrable, even should other allegations be subject to objection for insufficiency or as surplusage."

Indictment for conspiracy to commit offense—Sufficiency in general.—Where defendants are indicted in one count for the commission of an offense, and in another count for conspiracy to commit the offense set forth in the first count, the count for conspiracy falls if the other count is found insufficient. Spear v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 485, 143 C. C. A. 67.

In U. S. v. Gradwell, (R. I. 1916) 234 Fed. 446, judgment affirmed (1917) 243 U. S. 476, 37 S. Ct. 407, 61 U. S. (L. ed.) 857, the court held that, even if it be a crime to conspire to corrupt an election for a representative in Congress, "the indictment is so vague, uncertain, insufficient, and duplicitous in its allegations that the defendants are not sufficiently apprised of the nature of the charge against them to enable them to prepare their defense thereto," and a demurrer was sustained.

Certainty in stating object of conspiracy.—"It is not essential to set forth the offense which is the object of the conspiracy with the same certainty and strictness as in an indictment for the substantive offense. U. S. v. D'Arcy, (D. C. R. I. 1916) 243 Fed. 739, also holding that "an indictment charging conspiracy to commit an offense need not negative exceptions found in the statute which defines the offense that is the object of the conspiracy."

Duplicity.—"When, in charging certain defendants with the commission of a crime, such as conspiracy, it becomes necessary to set out that one of them committed another crime, the count cannot be held bad for duplicity." U. S. v. Rogers, (N. D. N. Y. 1915) 226 Fed. 512.

Tenor of written instrument.—In an indictment for conspiracy to prevent persons from registering under the Selective Draft Act of May 18, 1917, § 5, in WAR DEPARTMENT AND MILITARY ESTABLISHMENT, ante, this volume, p. 1018, the failure to incorporate into the indictment an exact copy of the statement, the publication of which was alleged as an overt act done in pursuance of the conspiracy, the indictment containing a translation of such statement, was not a good ground of demurrer. U. S. v. Galleanni, (D. C. Mass. 1917) 245 Fed. 977.

Description of offense contemplated.—"In all charges of conspiracy, the conspiracy itself is the gist of the offense, and where a conspiracy is charged to violate the laws of the United States, if the conspiracy be specifically alleged, it is not necessary to allege the details of the law of the United States to be violated with the accuracy it would be if the charge were directly of the violation of the law of the United States, and not of the conspiracy to violate it." Lew Moy v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 50, 150 C. C. A. 252.

Certainty to a common intent sufficient to identify the offense which the defendants conspired to commit is all that is required. Aczel v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1916) 232 Fed. 652, 146 C. C. A. 578.

Setting on foot a military enterprise.—In U. S. v. Tauscher, (S. D. N. Y. 1916) 233 Fed. 597, on demurrer to an indictment, the latter was held sufficient to charge a conspiracy to set on foot a "military enterprise" within the meaning of that term as used in section 13 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 408.

In U. S. v. Bopp, (N. D. Cal. 1916) 230 Fed. 723, a demurrer to an indictment for conspiracy to commit the offense denounced by section 13 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 408, was sustained for insufficiency of the averments.

Scheme to defraud by use of mails.—

In McKelvey v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 801, 154 C. C. A. 503, the first clause of the indictment made the direct charge that the conspirators, to accomplish and effect the conspiracy, conspired to commit acts made an offense by section 215, in PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 464. The indictment then proceeded to charge a scheme to defraud certain persons, and alleged that it was a part of said conspiracy to use the mails and the post office establishment of the United States for the purpose of effecting and carrying out that conspiracy. Holding that the indictment was sufficient, the court said that "this last charge is not the allegation of an isolated fact, or a mere recital or conclusion of the pleader, but a direct and positive charge that the use of the mails and post office establishment formed a part of, and was the essential act of, the conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States."

In U. S. v. Aczel, (D. C. Ind. 1915) 219 Fed. 917, overruling a demurrer to an indictment for conspiracy to violate section 215, cited in the last preceding paragraph, the court said: "It is to be observed that by section 215 Congress does not attempt to punish the perpetration of the scheme or artifice to defraud, whether such scheme or artifice be a crime against the state or the United States. It merely prohibits the use of the mails 'for the purpose of executing such scheme or artifice, or attempting so to do.' The conspiracy or combination is properly averred in this count, and the only question that can arise on it is whether the acts which the defendants are charged with conspiring to do constitute the offense denounced by section 215."

Where an indictment charged "that the defendants . . . unlawfully, etc., conspired, etc., together . . . for the purpose of executing the said scheme and artifice to defraud . . . and attempting to do so, to place and cause to be placed letters in the post office," this was a sufficient averment of a conspiracy to use the mails in execution of the alleged scheme to defraud. Freeman v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 1, 156 C. C. A. 133, citing Stokes v. U. S., (1895) 157 U. S. 187, 15 S. Ct. 617, 39 U. S. (L. ed.) 667, and Emanuel v. U. S., (1912) 196 Fed. 317, 116 C. C. A. 137.

To violate Harrison Opium Act.—An indictment charging conspiracy to obtain certain drugs for purposes other than those specified in the Harrison Opium Act of Dec. 17, 1914, 1916 Supp., p. 101, need not set forth specifically what was the wrongful object or purpose. U. S. v. D'Arcy, (D. C. R. I. 1916) 243 Fed. 739, holding also that, upon reading the indictment as a whole, it sufficiently fixed the locus of the overt acts, although the particular paragraphs setting forth the overt acts contained no allegation of place.

To violate Espionage Act.—In U. S. v. Pierce, (N. D. N. Y. 1917) 245 Fed. 878, the indictment there quoted in part was held sufficient to charge a conspiracy to violate the so-called Espionage Act of June 15, 1917, ch. 30, § 3, in CRIMINAL LAW, ante, this volume, p. 122.

Violation of Bankruptcy Act.—In Frankfurt v. U. S., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 903, 146 C. C. A. 99, holding that a count in an indictment sufficiently charged a conspiracy to conceal the property of a bankrupt in violation of section 29b of the Bankruptcy Act of 1898 in vol. I, p. 605, the court said: "That count is very similar to the indictment which was passed on in the case of Cohen v. U. S., [C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1907] 157 Fed. 651, 85 C. C. A. 113; [1907] 207 U. S. 596, 28 Stat. 261, 52 U. S. (L. ed.) 357, with the exception that in the instant case the alleged bankrupt was a firm or partnership, while in the Cohen Case the bankrupt was a corporation."

An indictment charging a conspiracy in anticipation of involuntary bankruptcy to conceal property from a trustee subsequently to be appointed, was sufficient without an allegation that the alleged anticipation of bankruptcy had any basis. U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 741, where the court was also of opinion that it was "wholly immaterial whether the anticipated bankruptcy was to be brought about through voluntary or involuntary proceedings," citing Roukous v. U. S., (C. C. A. 1st Cir. 1912) 195 Fed. 353, 115 C. C. A. 255.

In U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 741, on an indictment charging a conspiracy in anticipation of involuntary bankruptcy to conceal property from a trustee thereafter to be appointed, a demurrer on the ground that the description of the property to be concealed was insufficient was overruled.

In U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 746, the indictment charged that the defendant bankrupts conspired to make and file before a referee in bankruptcy a false account of the amount of their assets and liabilities, and the single overt act charged was the filing of a schedule which the defendants "knew well to be false." A demurrer to the indictment was sustained, the court saying: "There is no allegation that the schedule filed was false, or to show wherein it was false; but merely the words 'knew well to be false.' This has been held insufficient. Bartlett v. U. S., [C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1901] 106 Fed. 884, 885, 46 C. C. A. 19; Boren v. U. S., [C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1906] 144 Fed. 801, 803, 75 C. C. A. 531. Unless it was false the filing of the schedule was not an overt act." The court also said the allegation of conspiracy was probably insufficient on account of the failure to set forth the elements of the offense defined in section 29b (2) of the Bankruptcy Act."

In U. S. v. Baker, (D. C. R. I. 1917) 243 Fed. 741, an indictment for conspiracy to conceal property of a bankrupt from a trustee in bankruptcy, an objection on demurrer that the allegations of ownership of the property were inconsistent was overruled.

Unlawful importation of opium.—In Shepard v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 73, 149 C. C. A. 283, affirming a conviction under an indictment for conspiracy to violate section 2 of the Act of Jan. 17, 1914, ch. 9, in IMPORTS AND EXPORTS, 1916 Supp., p. 62, by fraudulently importing and bringing into the United States certain opium, the indictment did not follow the letter of the statute, but omitted the words, "after importation," preceding the words, "knowing the same to have been imported contrary to law," and the defendant demurred for uncertainty, it was held that the demurrer was properly overruled.

"Charging of offenses in the conjunctive which are in the statute in the disjunctive is in accordance with a well-known rule of criminal pleading." Shepard v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 73, 149 C. C. A. 283, holding an indictment sufficient where this method of pleading was adopted in describing, as the offense which the defendants were alleged to have conspired to commit, the offense specified in section 2 of the Act of Jan. 17, 1914, ch. 9, in IMPORTS AND EXPORTS, 1916 Supp., p. 62.

Unlawfully bringing in Chinese.—In U. S. v. Dahl, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 909, an indictment for conspiracy to violate section 11 of the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882, as amended (CHINESE EXCLUSION, vol. 2, p. 782), the court said: "The offense charged is not of itself a crime under the Exclusion Act; hence the acts need not be charged with the same particularity. Reason suggests that in a charge of conspiracy to commit a crime, while the particular crime must be alleged, it need not be set out with the same particularity in an indictment as a charge for the crime itself. 5 Ruling Case Law, 1083. This conclusion finds support in the recent decision of the Supreme Court, in which it held that a conspiracy to commit a crime under section 37 of the Criminal Code may be prosecuted, even though the time for prosecution of the crime itself has expired, if limitation under the conspiracy section has not elapsed," proceeding to quote from the opinion in U. S. v. Rabinowich, (1915) 238 U. S. 78, 35 S. Ct. 682, 59 U. S. (L. ed.) 1211.

An indictment for conspiracy to violate section 11 of the Chinese Exclusion Act of 1882, as amended (in CHINESE EXCLUSION, vol. 2, p. 782), which charged that the defendants conspired together "and together with divers other persons to the grand jurors unknown" was not subject to attack on the ground that the conspiracy could not be entered into unless it included persons who were excluded by the Act. U. S. v. Dahl, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 909.

An indictment for conspiracy alleging, in substance, that it was a general conspiracy to bring in Chinese aliens not lawfully entitled to enter the United States was not open to objection because the names of the persons thus to be brought into the United States were not stated. U. S. v. Dahl, (W. D. Wash. 1915) 225 Fed. 909.

Interstate shipment of intoxicating liquors.—In Witte v. Shelton, (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 265, 153 C. C. A. 191, where the defendant was indicted for conspiracy to violate section 238, PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 472, and after a hearing before a United States commissioner at which the indictment, the testimony of the prisoner, and other evidence was introduced and considered by him, an order of deportation to another district for trial was made, it was held that this order was sustained by the averments and evidence.

Corporations contributing money for political elections.—An indictment for conspiracy to violate section 83 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 427, forbidding corporations to contribute money for political elections, was examined and pronounced sufficient in U. S. v. U. S. Brewers' Ass'n, (W. D. Pa. 1916) 239 Fed. 163.

Indictment for conspiracy to defraud.—Defrauding of customs duties.—In Smith v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1916) 231 Fed. 25, 145 C. C. A. 213, an indictment charged that the defendants conspired to defraud the United States out of a large part of the import duties on coal imported and brought into the United States by the Western Fuel Company "by making and causing to be made false weights and false and fraudulent returns of weights of such cargoes," etc. Affirming a conviction under the indictment the court said: "In view of these facts, and of the further fact that the plaintiffs in error were not misled to their prejudice, we think the charge, though general in terms and entirely lacking in particulars, was sufficient." But the court also said: "It must be conceded that the charge is very general, and we cannot yield our assent to the claim on the part of the government that an indictment in cases such as this need only charge in general terms a combination to defraud the United States. Keck v. U. S., (1899) 172 U. S. 434, 19 S. Ct. 254, 43 U. S. (L. ed.) 505."

Defrauding of internal revenue.—In U. S. v. Orr, (D. C. R. I. 1915) 223 Fed. 220, overruling a demurrer to an indictment the court said: "The indictment charges that the defendants conspired to defraud the United States of a large sum of money to become due for internal revenue taxes upon oleomargarine. The mode in which the taxes were to become due is set forth at considerable length, and also the mode in which the United States was to be defrauded; i. e., by the removal of the oleomargarine from the place of manufacture, for sale, etc., without coupon stamps representing and denoting the payment of a tax, and without such tax having been paid or secured by any person. It seems sufficiently certain that the conspiracy contemplated the production of a taxable commodity, acts upon which there would become due to the United States taxes thereon, the noncompliance with the provisions of law for affixing stamps, and the nonpayment of taxes by anybody, and the defrauding of the United States of the taxes to which it would become entitled upon the facts alleged."

In Tillinghast v. Richards, (D. C. R. I. (1915) 225 Fed. 226, an indictment for conspiracy to defraud the United States at Providence of sums to become due for internal revenue taxes on oleomargarine, by the unlawful removal of colored oleomargarine at Providence, was held insufficient.

In an indictment for conspiracy to defraud the United States of sums to become due for internal revenue taxes on oleomargarine not free from artificial coloration, since the object of the conspiracy was to defraud by an act prohibited by law, it was not essential to allege that the defrauding was to be accomplished by deceit, misrepresentation, or concealment, as the intent to defraud was supplied by the allegation that the prohibited act was to be done unlawfully and knowingly. Tillinghast v. Richards, (D. C. R. I. 1915) 225 Fed. 226.

An indictment for conspiracy to defraud the United States of taxes on artificial colored oleomargarine was held sufficient on demurrer, where it charged a conspiracy which included as a part of it the intended removal of the goods from the place of manufacture, the allegation that this was done being a sufficient allegation of the doing of an act to effect the object of the conspiracy as defined and charged in the indictment. It was "unnecessary to allege facts showing that the scheme was actually completed, or that the United States was actually defrauded." U. S. v. Orr, (D. C. R. I. 1916) 233 Fed. 717.

Evidence—Knowledge, motive or intent.—Where a defendant charged with conspiracy to ship misbranded bags of coffee denied all knowledge of the misbranding and asserted that it was "put over him" by faithless servants in his office, acting secretly with brokers, evidence was admissible on behalf of the government of other orders that had passed through his office for the misbranding of coffee, as a circumstance to be considered by the jury in determining whether he had knowledge of such nefarious features in the sale of coffee. Mitchell v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 357, 143 C. C. A. 477.

A defendant charged with conspiracy to defraud may properly testify to the absence of fraudulent intent and motive on his part. Sparks v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 777, 154 C. C. A. 479.

On the trial of an indictment for conspiracy to violate section 215 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 464, partly by means of suits and threatened suits for alleged disgraceful acts, evidence was admissible for the prosecution that the defendant had, at about the same time, instituted other suits of a like character and for a like purpose, from which the jury might infer the intent with which the suits involved in the prosecution were being brought or threatened. McKelvey v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 241 Fed. 801, 154 C. C. A. 503.

Intent to use the mails, in violation of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 464, § 215, is sufficiently shown by evidence that in the execution of the conspiracy the use of the mails was indispensable. Preeman v. U. S., (C. C. A. 7th Cir. 1917) 244 Fed. 1, 156 C. C. A. 133.

Other offenses.—On a prosecution for conspiracy to violate section 213 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 463, and defraud by fake betting on pretended horse races, evidence of other fraudulent acts by defendants at or about the same time, terminating in fake horse-race betting, were admissible as bearing upon defendants' motives or intent, though such other acts were offenses in themselves, and were not precisely identical in character with those involved in the case on trial, except as they were means to the same end. Shea

v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 97, 149 C. C. A. 307.

On a prosecution for conspiracy to defraud by using the United States mails in violation of section 213, cited in the last preceding paragraph, it was held that evidence of an alleged fraudulent mining-stock scheme had no direct tendency to prove a scheme to defraud through fictitious horse-race bets, the latter being the offense charged in the indictment, and that the admission of such evidence was prejudicial error. Shea v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 236 Fed. 97, 149 C. C. A. 307.

In Huff v. U. S., (C. C. A. 5th Cir. 1916) 228 Fed. 892, 143 C. C. A. 290, defendants were indicted for conspiracy to forcibly arrest one John Westmoreland for the purpose and with intent to hold him in a condition of peonage and to compel him to work for one of them to pay a debt. The government offered evidence tending strongly to prove concerted action of the defendants in arresting, whipping, and returning John Westmoreland to the employer whose employment he had deserted. On the trial the plaintiffs in error put in evidence attacking the character and reputation of the prosecuting witness John Westmoreland, evidence tending to prove an alibi for some of the accused on trial and the good character and standing of all the defendants as a defense to the indictment. A judgment of conviction was affirmed.

"Whatever may be the view of the courts as to the occasion when and the extent to which testimony as to similar transactions are admissible . . . the transaction must always be similar or substantially so." Erber v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 221, 148 C. C. A. 123.

Variance.—In Bernstein v. U. S., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 923, 151 C. C. A. 657, holding that there was no fatal variance where an indictment charged the presentation of a false claim in a bankruptcy proceeding, and the proof was of its presentation in a composition, the court said: "Even if such a refined distinction be allowed, it cannot be doubted that presentation and proof of a claim for purposes of a composition is presentation and proof for all purposes in the bankruptcy proceedings."

Where an indictment charged two named defendants with conspiring among themselves and with divers other persons unknown, it was competent for the jury to acquit either defendant and at the same time convict the other of conspiracy with witnesses who testified before the grand jury, but were not indicted, as the mere fact that they so testified did not show that the grand jury knew them to be conspirators. Mitchell v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 229 Fed. 357, 143 C. C. A. 477.

In Bernstein v. U. S., (C. C. A. 4th Cir. 1916) 238 Fed. 923, 151 C. C. A. 657, affirming a conviction on an indictment for conspiracy to present and prove a false claim against a bankrupt, it appeared that the indictment charged both the conspiracy and the overt act in the city of Richmond. The proof was that the conspiracy was entered into in the city of Philadelphia, and that only the overt act of presenting and proving the false claim was committed in the city of Richmond. Holding that this was not a fatal variance, the court said: "The point is settled beyond dispute by Hyde v. U. S., [1912] 225 U. S. 347, 32 S. Ct. 793, 56 U. S. (L. ed.) 1114, Ann. Cas. 1914A 614, wherein the court held in effect that a conspiracy formed in California was to be considered extended into the District of Columbia, where the overt act in pursuance of it was committed."

Acts and declarations of co-conspirators. "Where a conspiracy is once established acts and admissions of any one of the conspirators in pursuance of the conspiracy, and while it continues, are admissible against the others, upon the theory that the conspirators are agents for one another in the common enterprise. Connecticut Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Hilmon, [1903] 188 U. S. at p. [208], 218, 23 S. Ct. 294, 47 U. S. (L. ed.) 446. But the preliminary question whether sufficient evidence of a conspiracy has been adduced must always be answered by the court in the affirmative or the general rule of evidence excluding hearsay will render an admission of one of the conspirators inadmissible against the others." Stager v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 510, 147 C. C. A. 396, holding that it was reversible error to admit a letter prejudicial to the defendant from an alleged co-conspirator to another co-conspirator, which was written at a time covered by no other or prior evidence showing the formation of a conspiracy than the letter itself.

Where "the alleged conspiracy manifestly was at an end," admissions or confessions by one defendant then under subpoena to appear before the grand jury were not admissible against his alleged co-conspirators. Erber v. U. S., (C. C. A. 2d Cir. 1916) 234 Fed. 221, 148 C. C. A. 123.

On a trial for conspiracy evidence of things said or done by some of the conspirators after the execution or abandonment of the conspiracy is not admissible against other defendants, and should not be received without expressly cautioning the jury that it must not be considered as against the latter. Hendrey v. U. S., (C. C. A. 6th Cir. 1916) 233 Fed. 5, 147 C. C. A. 75.

Weight and sufficiency.—Where defendants were indicted and tried for conspiracy to defraud by using the mails, in violation of section 215 of PENAL LAWS, 1909 Supp., p. 464, and the overt act charged was that the defendants deposited and caused to be deposited a certain letter in the post office, evidence that the defendant procured another person to mail said letter, though he may not have acted with knowledge so as to be guilty himself, supports the indictment. Rose v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1915) 227 Fed. 357, 142 C. C. A. 53.

In Gernert v. U. S., (C. C. A. 9th Cir. 1917) 240 Fed. 403, 153 C. C. A. 329, affirming a conviction of conspiring to use the mail in furtherance of a fraudulent scheme, the plaintiff in error contended that there was no evidence given in the case tending to show that he was connected with the alleged conspiracy, but the court set forth in full a letter from him to a business associate and a letter from the latter in reply making certain false statements precisely as requested, and said: "We agree with the attorney for the government that comment upon these letters is unnecessary."

In Lew Moy v. U. S., (C. C. A. 8th Cir. 1916) 237 Fed. 50, 150 C. C. A. 522, a prosecution for conspiracy to bring into the United States Chinese persons not lawfully entitled to enter or remain in the United States, the evidence against the defendants was held sufficient for the consideration of the jury.
